ITALIANS SHELL CORFU, GREEK ISLAND; GREECE APPEALS TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS

At Least Fifteen Greek Civilians Were Killed by the Italian Bombardment—Greek Delegates Are to Submit Italo-Greek Dispute to the League of Nations Today—Premier Mussolini Announced That Greece's Answer to the Italian Ultimatum Was Equivalent to Complete Rejection—Declared That Italy Does Not Intend to Make an Act of War—Occupation of Corfu Was Merely to Bring Greece to a Recognition of Her Responsibility for Massacre of Italian Mission.

Rome, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—Premier Mussolini today informed the representatives of Italy abroad that Greece's answer to the Italian ultimatum was equivalent to complete rejection and therefore in order to bring Greece to a realization of her responsibilities a temporary landing of Italian forces at Corfu had been ordered.

"To the just demands of Italy, following the barbarous massacre of Italians in Greek territory, the Greek government has replied in terms equivalent in substance to a complete rejection.

"This unjustified attitude imposes on Italy the necessity of recalling Greece to a position of recognizing her responsibility and, accordingly, a detachment of Italian troops has been ordered to land at Corfu.

"By this measure, which is of a temporary nature, Italy does not intend to make an act of war but only safeguard her prestige and manifest her unshakable determination to obtain reparation due her in conformity with custom and international law.

"The foregoing does not exclude sanctions the ambassado's conference may take by virtue of the fact that the Italian mission was part of a frontier delimitation commission which was appointed by the conference itself."

BOMBARDMENT OF CORFU BY THE ITALIAN FLEET

Athens, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—The Italian fleet bombarded the police station and school on the Island of Corfu, says an official communication issued this evening.

The communication says when the governor of Corfu was informed the island was to be occupied he said he would ask instructions from the Greek government, but that before these arrived Italian troops landed and the latter bombarded the police station and school, which caught fire.

It has been semi-officially confirmed that several refugees in the police station at Corfu were killed by the Italian bombardment and that the building was destroyed by fire.

GREEK VERSION OF THE OCCUPATION OF CORFU

Athens, Aug. 31.—The landing of the Italians at Corfu was carried out under the guns of the fleet, which fired over the town. Fire also was opened from airplanes above the town.

According to the Greek version of the occupation, at three o'clock this afternoon an Italian naval captain disembarked at Corfu and told the prefect that detachments of the Italian fleet had established a blockade of the island and that at four o'clock the town would be peacefully occupied.

Shortly afterwards an Italian flotilla, consisting of several ships, entered the port. The commander demanded the handing over of the town and the hoisting of the white flag, which he said would be immediately replaced by the Italian flag.

The prefect asked for time to obtain instructions from the Greek government, but before these arrived the landing commenced, with firing from the fleet and airplanes.

Admiral Bellini took over the situation. The Italian demanded the surrender of the garrison and also of the gendarmerie, which will be disarmed, as well as the handing over of the barracks and of war materials.

AT LEAST 15 GREEK CIVILIANS WERE KILLED

Corfu, Island of Corfu, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—Corfu was occupied by the Italians this afternoon after a sharp bombardment in which at least fifteen Greek civilians were killed and many wounded.

The demand for the surrender of Corfu was given at two o'clock this afternoon and firing began at five o'clock.

The police school was demolished and the old fort fired upon. In the fort there were many casualties among the refugees.

Orphans under the care of the American Near East Relief were in serious danger from the shell fire.

ITALIAN FLAG FLOWN FROM OLD FORTRESS

Rome, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—The commander in chief of the Italian fleet in a report to the minister of marine tonight announces the landing of Italian naval forces on the Island of Corfu. The landing was effected without difficulty.

The report says at six o'clock this evening the Italian flag was flown from the old fortress, that a salute of twenty-one guns was fired amid the cheering of the Italian crews, and that the occupation of the town and the island was proceeding without disorder.

ITALY AND GREECE WILL BE ASKED TO PRESENT CASES

Geneva, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—When Greece formally submits the Greco-Italian dispute to the League of Nations tomorrow, both Italy and Greece, under the stipulations of the covenant of the league, will be asked to communicate as promptly as possible, statements of their respective cases, together with all relative facts and papers. The council of the league then will endeavor to secure a settlement of the controversy. If this fails it will publish its report, with a suggestion as to the most equitable solution, and then can bring the matter before the assembly of the league.

Article 16 of the covenant of the league, which Great Britain threatened to invoke in the Albanian affair, when Jugoslav troops invaded Albania, declared that if any member of the league resorts to war contrary to Articles 12, 13 and 15, that member will be deemed to have committed an act of war against all the other members. It also provides for the cutting off of commercial and financial relations with the offending state, and in a general way arranges for an economic blockade of the offending country.

The Italian spokesman tonight said the Greek affair concerned reparation for crime, that it was not a political incident and therefore he would oppose interference by the League of Nations. Moreover, he added, the matter was one for direct settlement between the two interested governments.

AMERICAN RELIEF WORKERS AT CORFU

Washington, Aug. 31. — A dozen Americans interested in relief work are stationed at Corfu, which has been bombarded by the Italians, according to Colonel W. N. Haskell, who until a few months ago served as Red Cross commissioned to Greece.

PARIS STUNNED BY THE ABRUPT ACTION OF ITALY

Paris, Aug. 31.—(By the A. P.)—News was received here this evening that Premier Mussolini of Italy had found the Greek answer to his government's ultimatum unacceptable and the decisions taken in Rome in consequence had a rather stunning effect on diplomatic circles in Paris.

Rapid developments in the crisis have taken the allied statesmen unawares, as they, since the war, have become accustomed to long drawn-out discussions in advance of vigorous action.

Action by Italy was entirely unexpected, at least before the time limit set for the inquiry and the payment of indemnity. Consequently a Rome dispatch saying the decisions had been taken already were very disquieting here. So great is the surprise that little comment is available. It is known, however, that while the allies generally consider Greece ought to do all that is reasonable to give Italy satisfaction for the crime which was committed on Greek territory, but they do not approve of Italy's precipitate action.

Allied action thus far has been limited to the protest of the council of ambassadors to Greece, but it is thought in official circles this evening that it is not improbable steps will be taken tomorrow to ask Italy to moderate her impetuosity to gain delays for Greece.

Surprise is expressed in diplomatic circles that the council of the league of nations, which is in session at Geneva, has failed to take any notice of the serious menace of armed conflict. Dispatches from Geneva indicate that the council is waiting for the matter to be brought to its attention by one of the parties to the conflict.

If the council holds that otherwise it cannot act it is regarded here to be in error, as Article 11 of the covenant, referring to any threat of war, says that such "is hereby declared to be a matter of concern to the whole league and the league shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

Under this article, it is held here, it is not only the province of the executive organ of the league to intervene but it is clearly its duty to do so. It is also pointed out that the league could intervene with much better effect than the allies whose relations with both parties have been complicated by post-war settlements.

GREECE TO APPEAL TO THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Geneva, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—The Greek delegation here received instructions tonight to submit the Italo-Greek dispute to the league of nations.

M. Politis, head of the Greek delegates here, announced tonight that, acting under Article 15 of the covenant of the league, he would formally submit the case to the league tomorrow morning by means of a communication to the secretary-general, setting forth Italy's demands and Greece's reply to them and explaining that Greece considers it her duty to have the league pass on the controversy, believing her attitude just and reasonable.

(Article 115 of the covenant says: "If there should arise between members of the league any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration in accordance with Article 13, the members of the league agree that they will submit the matter to the council. Any party to the disputs may effect such submission by giving notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary-general, who will make all the necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof.")

The Italo-Greek crisis stands out tonight as the all-absorbing subject in the anxious exchange of views of the delegates of a half hundred countries gathered here for the sessions of the council of the league and the league assembly. No reference was made to the conflict at today's meeting of the council, but privately the dispute was discussed by all.

The league's first interest in the situation is the preservation of peace and the prevention of any conduct whatsoever, but the league also has before it as a problem of immediate interest the floating of a loan of $1,000,000 for Greek refugees, which has every prospect of success. Officials voiced the fear that if there should be any increase in the tenaity of the situation it might wreck the humanitarian attempt to help the Greek sufferers.

London bankers have agreed to take £1,000,000 of the loan and Greek bankers the second million, and it is hoped to raise the third million in the United States or elsewhere. Representatives of American relief organizations will sit on the permanent commission which, under the present plan, will supervise the expenditure of the relief fund.

It was remarked today in league circles that Italy's demand for indemnity from Greece amounts to one-sixth of the proposed loan, and, while there was no criticism of Italy expressed, the fear was advanced that her insistence on such a large indemnity might unfavorably affect the chances of success of the refugee loan.

VIEWS OF OFFICIALS OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Geneva, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—Officals of the league of nations said today that the league council by itself had no right to inquire into the controversy between Greece and Italy but they pointed out that the dispute easily could be submitted to the council or assembly under the provisions of Articles 11 or 12 of the covenant.

It was recalled that Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, invoked Article 11 during the crisis with Turkey during the first Lausanne conference when a dispute arose over Mosul. He threatened to hale Turkey before the league as a potential disturber of the peace.

At that time Lord Curzon in invoking arbitration explained that he would act under the stipulation of the friendly right each member of the league has to bring to the attention of the assembly or the council any circumstance affecting international relations which threatened to disturb the peace or good understanding upon which peace depended.

Moreover, it was pointed out that if the Greek difficulty became critical and endangered the relations of these countries as members of the league they would be obligated under Article 12? to submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council and agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award by the arbitrators of the report was submitted by the council.

U. S. AND MEXICO RENEW DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

Washington, Aug. 31.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico were resumed today and the breach existing for more than three years between the two governments was closed.

The action of the American government is expected by officials here to be followed soon by recognition of the Obregon government by Great Britain, France, Belgium and Cuba, thus restoring Mexico to its former position in a family of nations.

The state department, through a pre-arrangement with Mexico City officials, announced the accord of the two governments for President Coolidge. A formal statement, issued at noon, gave full credit for the understanding which made recognition possible to Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, the commissioners appointed by President Harding to the recent Mexico City conference held with a view of expediting an arrangement for the restoration of friendly relations.

A similar reference was contained in the statement to the part played by the Mexican commissioners in their effort to have the Mexico City officials comprehend the American attitude toward their government. It was "in view" of the report and recommendations submitted by the four commissioners, the statement said, that the United States resolved to renew relations.

PAYMASTER SLAIN BY BANDITS IN ASTORIA

New York, Aug. 31.—Two bandits today shot and killed George Miller, paymaster of the Stratford Lumber and Coal Company, in a hold-up at McClellan place and Van Alst avenue, Astoria. They escaped without getting the $1,400 payroll.

The paymaster had gone to a group of unfinished houses to pay off the carpenters and other workmen, and was standing in one of the buildings, with the pay envelopes in his hand, when the bandits entered.

When ordered to throw up his hands Miller thrust the money into his pocket, still grasped in his hand. After shooting him, the bandits ran to an automobile which they had left outside, and sped away. The police said the car had been stolen from Douglas Gould, of Bayonne, N. J., last Monday and was licensed in New Jersey. Today it bore a New York license.

Miller was married and had a seventeen-year-old son.

LIQUOR RAIDS AT FOUR BEACHES IN MILFORD

Milford, Conn., Aug. 31.—Descending upon Myrtle, Woodmount, Walnut and Silver Beaches here this afternoon, eight state police officers, armed with bench warrants issued by the New Haven superior court, arrested eight alleged violators of the liquor laws, who are held in bonds of $500 each, pending arraignment in the Milford town court Thursday, September 6.

The raids culminate several weeks investigation by the state authorities, it is learned, evidence of sales having been secured in each of the places, it is said, prior to the unexpected visitations today. Contraband liquor was seized in several of the places visited, it is stated.

ALLEGED RUM RUNNER KILLED, FLEEING IN AUTO

PROHIBITION OFFICERS RAID PEQUOT CASINO

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 31.—The Pequot Casino was raided late this afternoon by county, prohibition enforcement and police officers and as a result of the visit of the dozen officers, John Carney, of New Haven, proprietor of the place, is under arrest, charged with violation of the liquor law. He was held in bonds of $1000 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow morning. Charles J. Ducey, one of the owners of the Capitol and Crown theatres, becoming surety on Carney's bond.

The Casino, which had long been suspected of supplying drinks to its patrons, had been under the scrutiny of the authorities ever since the place opened for the season. About 5 o'clock, County Detective William E. Jackson, Prohibition Enforcement Agents H. W. Avery and Joseph F. Fitzpatrick and Patrolmen William Graham, Clyde Murphy, Edward Daniels, Augustus Ray, James McKenna, John Courtney, Motorcycle Officer William Babcock and Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Frank Philopena, swooped down on the Casino and the officers searched the place from cellar to attic. All that the raiders uncovered was a quart bottle of sherry and a four-ounce bottle, partially filled with whiskey. These were taken as evidence and Carney was placed under arrest.

Carney, it is understood, admitted that he had sold liquor there recently, but he is also understood to have stated that he was not the only violator of the law there for men in his employ had provided guests with liquor, which was the property of the employes and not owned by Carney. The authorities the past few days have employed "stools" and only on Wednesday night two of them visited the Casino and made purchases of liquor, it is declared. The authorities state that they have in their possession six specific sales against Carney.

While it has been known for some time that liquor could be procured at the Casino the method generally employed to obtain it was to secure it through one of the negro help who appeared to be the custodian of the desired beverage.

MUST STAND TRIAL ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 31.—State's Attorney Hadlai A. Hull has made it known that he will cause Joseph Poretti, public service automobile operator and Sebastino Turesi of Williamantic, to be tried for manslaughter at the September term of the criminal superior court, which will convene in Norwich next Tuesday. Poretti has retained counsel in Attorneys Thomas E. Troland and Clayton B. Smith of New London, also Mayor David Fitzgerald of New Haven. It is claimed by the state that Poretti and Turesi caused the death of Frank Santora, formerly of No. 12 Home street, about three weeks ago, when Santora accompanied Poretti and Turesi from the former's home and accompanied the accused men to a place where the accused either directly or indirectly provided him with wood alcohol, which caused Santora's death about thirty-six hours after the victim was taken to his home in a stupor by two friends who found him in a comatose state on lower Bank street.

"LID" DOWN ON MILFORD BEACHES ON SUNDAYS

Bridgeport, Aug. 31.—Concessioners at the Milford beaches were disconcerted today when Superintendent of State Police Robert T. Hurley, of Hartford, denied their petition to do business on Sundays, the decision having been reached as the result of a public hearing at Milford about three weeks ago at which heated arguments were heard by the state police head on both sides of the question.

Virtually, the ruling means that concessioners who keep open for business Sunday are liable to arrest and prosecution, and it is with keen interest that residents of the town and beaches await the coming of the sabbath. The day, being the day before Labor Day, is regarded by concessioners as one of the best of the season.

Official notices of the ruling, it was stated, at the state police headquarters at Hartford tonight, are in the mail, and will probably be received by the parties concerned Saturday.

CHILEAN SAILOR KILLED BY BANDITS IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 31.—Juan Gonzales, a Chilean sailor, was shot and killed tonight by one of four bandits who held up a Greenwich Village tea room in West Eleventh street. The men escaped.

The gunmen first took the precaution of plunging the entire neighborhood in darkness by turning out all the street lights. They then entered the tea room and ordered everyone to stand up. Gonzales resisted their efforts to rob him and was immediately drilled by a bullet. He dropped dead. None of the bandits appeared to be more than 20 years old.

A FAR REACHING SERVICE

"It is a momentous, yes, a fearful truth, that millions have no literature, no schools and almost no pulpit but the press. Not one in ten read books, but every one of us, except the few helpless poor, provides himself with a newspaper. It is parent, school, college, pulpit, theatre, example, counselor, all in one. Every drop of our blood is colored by it. Let us make the newspapers and I care not who make the religion or the laws."

These are the words of Wendell Phillips uttered some time ago but nevertheless with full regard for the importance of the newspapers.

This incomparable sales force—the university of the masses—national or sectional, available at a moment's notice, can at once stimulate and stabilize any business. It can be localized right where your goods are on sale and extended to keep pace with distribution.

There is a service available through the columns of The Bulletin each morning that cannot with wisdom be neglected.

UNION NOTICE FOR THE SUSPENSION OF ANTHRACITE MINING TODAY STILL STA

Army of Men and Boys in the Hard Coal Fields Have Laid Up Their Tools and Quit the Mines—All the Operators Were Not Anxious to Quit Work, But Have Confidence That Their Leaders Will Bring About a Speedy Settlement to the Advantage of the Workers—Situation Unchanged When Joint Conference of Miners and Operators Adjourned at 5.45 P. M. Yesterday to Meet Again at 10 A. M. Today—Answers to Governor Pinchot's Proposals Proved That Representatives of the Operators and Miners Were Far Apart in Every Particular—Governor Pinchot Dismissed Both Groups After Holding Them for More Than Five Hours in Executive Discussions.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—All hope of averting a suspension of mining operations in the anthracite region vanished today. Operators and officials of the miners' union replied to Governor Pinchot's four propositions for settlement, responses that were variously qualified and limited in acceptance of the principles tendered. After holding them more than five hours in executive discussions, endeavoring to bring them together, the governor dismissed both groups, pledging them to return at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

It was shortly after noon today when Governor Pinchot took leaders on both sides into his executive offices and literally locked the doors upon them. Each side, as a last statement to the public, gave out the text of their formal replies to the peace propositions very shortly after they were delivered. The answers proved that the employers and the employes' representatives were far apart in every particular.

At all times the governor sought to have developed some construction of the four original points of his proposal that would allow agreement, in part he succeeded, but at the end there was disagreement. Union leaders walked away to be surrounded by eager knots made up from men of the miners' scale committee, while operators sought seclusion. Both sides had been enjoined to refrain from public statements.

In the governor's four-part peace proposal, the eight-hour day recommendation came first and got substantial acceptance from each group in the written responses.

His second proposal for a 10 per cent. flat wage increase met with objection from both sides but was accepted by the union as a basis for negotiation and accepted by the employers—under protest—provided that on it was founded a wage contract for a long term of years with annual adjustments up or down to be made by arbitration. The union sought a larger increase for men paid by the day, though expressing qualified satisfaction with the percentage increase in contract rates for mining coal. The operators said it would cost the consumer 75 cents more per ton in coal bills and that neither "private persons nor public officials" could assure an absorption of any part of the increase in transportation or distribution. The governor figured the total increased cost to be 60 cents per ton, with 10 cents to come in reduced profits from the operators.

Treating the governor's third proposal, which in substance asked the union to drop the "check-off" demand, the operators consented to an arrangement by which union agents would be allowed to collect union dues in company offices, stating that this was being done now. The union answer was an argument for the practice, by which the employers would be required to hold out union dues from each employe's pay check and turn it over to local unions.

The fourth and final proposal, for acceptance by both sides of collective bargaining principles, drew from the operators the observation that they accepted it if it meant the system now followed in the industry. The union answer also accepted, stating their understanding to be that it would require the operators "to forego their practice of contracting with individual employes for service at less than the prescribed rates."

Touching other paragraphs of the original peace proposal, the union took occasion to reaffirm opposition to any form of arbitration. The operators, besides declaring the flat wage increase to be "uneconomic," urged that the public was "entitled to a complete and durable settlement" which would prevent recurrence of strikes and give assurance that "the principle of orderly adjudication would now receive some recognition."

ARMY OF MEN AND BOYS QUIT THE MINES YESTERDAY

Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—While the bleeders of the anthracite operators and organized mine workers were parleying at the state capital today in an endeavor to reach an agreement on a new wage contract to replace the one that expires tonight, the army of men and boys in the hard coal fields gathered up their tools and mine supplies and quit the collieries not to return until an understanding shall have been reached. Approximately 155,000 men are affected by the suspension.

Reports from the coal fields tonight indicated that the suspension would be total, as no coal company has yet announced it will attempt to mile while the suspension is in effect.

The suspension order expressed the hope the union's plans and policies will be carried out lawfully, peaceably and with that proper spirit of cooperation and unity so necessary at this time.

In some parts of the coal fields the collieries were not shut down tight as they were in the long suspension of 1922 as there is still a ray of hope that the suspension might be quickly lifted, in the opinion of some of the mining officials. In furtherance of this belief, company officials in many places are not bringing the mules out of the underground stables.

Reports from Scranton in the upper fields and Shamokin in the lower territory mentioned that all miners were not anxious to suspend work but that they had an abiding faith in the union leaders to bring about a speedy settlement to the advantage of the workers.

But reports of eagerness on the part of mine workers to quit are also lacking.

The exodus from the mines was early today.

The largest number of men before the suspension were employed by the Pennsylvania Coal company at Pittston. Nearly a thousand either did not report or came early.

The final day of the 1922 suspension period also was marked by a number of strikes which dissolved themselves in the suspension.

District headquarters of the union at Scranton, Hazleton and Wilkes-Barre paid particular attention to the question of furnishing men to maintain the mines in proper order during the suspension. All indications point to it that the mines will be protected and steps are being made to see that all workers employed as maintenance men receive a wage to work where there is a surplus.

A shortage of coal in virtually every large community in the anthracite fields already has been reported.

TO MAKE SURVEY OF COAL SITUATION THROUGHOUT THE STATE

After the survey is made, the governor said, suggestions will be made to dealers and consumers on the matter of distribution and utilization of fuel.

COOLIDGE CONFIDENT OF COAL SETTLEMENT

Washington, Aug. 31.—Refusal by either side in the anthracite controversy to accept outright the Pinchot proposal of Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania that a compromise has not shaken confidence of President Coolidge in the ultimate success of the negotiations at Harrisburg.

The government's policy, it was declared today at the White House, continues to embody complete willingness for and co-operation with the Pennsylvania executive, with the department ready to use every power of the federal authority to assure assistance to the public should production cease in the anthracite fields.

Regardless of developments at Harrisburg, it was stated officially today, there would be no move to put into operation the elaborate machinery for the operation of anthracite properties [illegible] after Labor day, with the [illegible] that action along this line would be postponed until even a later date.

SEVERAL PENN. CITIES TO IMPORT COAL FROM WALES

Cardiff, Wales, Aug. 31.—Several Pennsylvania cities it was reported today, have agreed to place immediate orders for a million tons of anthracite coal in the event that the anthracite miners in the United States go on strike.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Free Vaudeville and Big Exhibits at N. L. County Fair

Those in charge of the 1923 or 69th annual New London County Fair have secured some of the finest acts of vaudeville the public of New London County has ever bee ninvited to witness, and all these headliners will work daily in front of the grandstand for no extra charge.

DePhil & DePhil, a man and woman act on high wires is one feature, Mr. and Mme. DePhil defying death by riding their Unicyle on a wire stretched fifty feet above the ground. Mme. DePhil will ride along the wire while her partner does difficult trapeze acts on a bar suspended from the unicycle. This act has played many big fairs and is rated one of the best.

The Noack Sensational High Equilibrists furnish more thrills by doing many difficult balancing acts a-top tables and chairs, and are rated among the best in their class.

An entirely different act is that of the Cycling Newman's a man and woman trick and comedy bicycle riding act which closes with a feature three round boxing go while they ride around the stage.

For fast work the Three Wheelers are known in the theatrical world as top-notchers and their exhibition of novelty and fancy high trapeze work will be well worth witnessing.

One of the largest acts, the biggest ever seen at a local fair has been secured after no little difficulty and the Olympia DesVall a flashy act will be at the fair for three days, some of their equipment already having arrived. This act is too large to be shown on the stage and is to be given on the race track in front of the grandstands. Direct from a four months play with Shuberts the act comes to the fair using four people, two horses and 15 dogs. Metropolitan papers have nothing but praise for the Olympia DesVall act and it should be a banner attraction at the 1923 fair.

Another feature is the balloon ascension which takes place at 4 o'clock each afternoon of the fair, one of the most daring women jumpers in the country to make the triple parachute drop.

More attractions are the motordrome with dare devil men and women riders, among the "Dot" Millicott who went over the top at Kingston last year; a big ferris wheel, merry-go-round athletic shows, Coleman Bros. Carnival, and many other midway attractions.

Then there will be the usual big exhibits of blooded stock, prize poultry, pet stock and pigeons and the interesting Women's and Juvenile departments. The farm machinery and lighting plant exhibit is a headliner this year, and other features are the automobile show, Whaling exhibit, State Hospital Exhibit, Connecticut College, Connecticut Bureau of Child Hygiene, Farm Bureau, League of Women Voters and other exhibits.

Everything for the 1923 fair is on a bigger and better scale than ever before and you cannot afford to miss taking in at least one day of the fair. Admissions are the same as in 1922. Adults 75c; children 25c; autos 50c; grandstand 75c-$1.00, autos inside track 50c. No tax. Plenty of parking space.

Breed Theatre.

A corking good picture is Goldwyn's film version of Austin Strong's successful stage play, "Three Wise Fools," which comes to the Breed theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It has been directed by King Vidor with all of his feeling for actuality in characterization, in atmosphere and in background.

It's story is that of three old bachelors who agree to take charge of the grown daughter of the girl who had rejected the love of all three of them in their youth. Comedy complications ensue fast and furiously and soon become interwoven in a series of dramatic incidents which are solved happily for all concerned after the girl has been jailed on a charge of aiding and abetting three criminals to break out of prison. "Three Wise Fools" have almost everything in it that the most jaded fan could wish for—comedy, romance, reality, thrills and spectacular moments.

Its cast is of the kind that Goldwyn has accustomed picturegoers to expect. Eleanor Boardman, who jumped into screen fame with her acting of the role of Remember Stedson in Rupert Hughes' "Souls For Sale," is the girl—and "three wise fools" are Claude Gillingwater, William H. Crane and Alec Francis. The case also includes John Sainpolis, Brisley Shaw, Fred Ehmelton, William Haines, Lucien Littlefield, ZaSu Pitts, Martha Mattox, Craig Biddle, Jr., Creighton Hale and Raymond Hatton.

Other pictures on the bill include Topics of the Day and an Educational comedy.

Vaudeville Holiday Show at the Strand Monday.

Starting Monday, the new season of vaudeville starts at the Strand with vaudeville for the entire week thereafter. The management has arranged a very appropriate holiday programme that is sure to find favor with all.

The feature attraction is Allen, Martin & May in a comedy novelty other attractions scheduled are as follows: Arthur Fenn, Ltd. in "Monkey Business;" The Legitimate couple, "Loring & Lessig in "A Smart Satire;" Kennedy & Kramer in "Dafining Items."

Keeping up appearances. This issue of the modern matron's existence, is seen to excellent advantage in Jack Holt's Paramount picture, "A Gentleman of Leisure," which will be the feature at the Strand thetre Monday. Mr. Holt is ably supported by Sigrid Holmquist, Casson Ferguson, Alec Francis, Adele Farrington and others.

It developes that Sir John and Lady Blount scheme to marry their nephew, Sir Spencer Deever, to Molly Creedon, a wealthy American girl. When Molly decides to return to New York, the Blount's accompany her. To obtain money for the passage, Sir John, unknown to his wife, pawns the Blount diamonds, which jewels are an important factor in the story. Sir Spencer's courting is anything but a success, and the hopes of Lord and Lady Blout are shattered when Mr. Holt, as the hero, steps in and captures Molly. Sigrid Holmquist plays opposite the star.

Many Novelties at Connecticut State Fair.

A big, clean midway, with countless new shows, rides and diversified attractions will be one of the popular features of the Connecticut State fair at Charter Oak park, Hartford, opening Labor Day, September 3, and continuing for the balance of the week. Not an objectionable feature will be tolerated on the big "white way," the management asserts, and the thousands of visitors t othe fair will find plenty of clean entertainment and novelty from one end of the long course to the other. The Twentieth Century Show Co., of New York city has signed contracts to furnish a three-abreast merry-go-round, or caroussel, this device being introduced here for the first time in addition to a giant Ferris wheel, Venetian swings, an athletic show with wrestling and other contests by professional and local talent, a miniature circus, side show, pit and snake shows.

"Yes, we have chocolate-covered bananas," will be one of the slogans during fair week. A New Britain concern has rented a large booth for dispensing this delicious confection novelty, which will be introduced at the Connecticut fair for the first time.

The Union Agricultural society of Glastonbury will have a special exhibit showing a hope-chest filled with over 100 articles made by members of the society. This hope chest, with contents, will be raffled off, the proceeds to go to the society. The Hartford Retreat's occupation department will have an exhibit of articles made by inmates of the institution.

In the new Exhibition hall an auto show and merchants' exhibit will be staged. The new hall, 160x90 feet, is of steel frame construction and ideally suited for a combined show of this sort. Many new models of 1924 automobiles will be shown for the first time during the fair wek.

Pain's fireworks will form the night feature, with "The Temple of Concord," a spectacular novelty, as the main number of a diversified programme. Free vaudeville and equestrian acts will be shown in front of the grandstand, day and night, and Colt's Armory band will furnish concerts.

The Grand Circuit race programme opens on Labor day and continues up to and including Friday, with an automobile race meet scheduled for Saturday the closing day of the fair. With reduced prices of admission this year the Connecticut State fair promises to eclipse all previous attendance records.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Picnics continued to afford amusement for Norwich people in 1873 while those who would not make the trips enjoyed sailing on the river.

The items of general interest of the week, taken from the files of the Bulletin fifty years ago, are in part as follows:

Monday, August 25, 1873—Lovell Brothers, the West Side Newsdealers, brought from Martha's Vineyard recently an exceedingly useful article, which as far as we know has never been used before in this city. It is a cuff made of material similiar to that of which the so-called Calcutta hats are made and when slipped over the wrist it forms a cool and exceedingly efficient protection for the linen cuffs and sleeve of those who write much. Many of them will be seen about the city in a short time.

Bony fishing has picked up suddenly and last week boats of G. S. Allyn and Co. took about 75,000. On Saturday last, one gang (Henry Holloways) took nearly 75,000 from one immense school off New London.

Major General H. W. Birge of this city was chosen president of the Thirteenth Regiment association, at the late reunion in Bridgeport.

A man living near the city killed a rattle snake yesterday having seven buttons. The snake had crawled into the horse stalls from the hay mow evidently having been carried into the barn from the hay fields.

Tuesday, August 26, 1873—A horse owned by Ernest Cady a grocer of Bean Hill became frightened yesterday on Washington street and ran away. When near the Elisa Huntington Memorial Home Patrick Scott of Bozrahville ran into the road and tried to stop the horse but was knocked down and the wagon ran over him. People rushed to his aid and found him unconscious. Drs. Bishop, Cassidy and Dyer were called and found the elbow and shoulder, and several broken ribs, splinters of which had passed into the lungs. He was rushed to the Thames Hotel and his condition is considered grave.

The horse continued to run and smashed several teams before it was finally stopped at the Norton Bros. store, after crashing the wagon of William Maloney on the corner of Main and Water streets.

Another runaway occurred yesterday when a team owned by Frank Durfey broke and ran down Mill street to Main street the lead horse, a valuable one hitting a tree, dying shortly afterwards.

Philip Reilly who was injured by walking out of a window in the upper story of the house owned by P. T. Murtha in Greeneville about three weeks ago, died Sunday at his home in Plainfield.

Wednesday, August 27, 1923—There are no fish in the local market today and Bluefish when they arrive will bring $14 the hundred weight. Dealers here are happy today however for the wind has changed and fish will be coming in soon.

Vegetable curiosities around the Thames hotel on Market street include a bunch of seven tomatoes on one stem which weighs considerably over five pounds, and five ears of corn on one staly, which have grown in the shape of a man's head.

Patrick Scott who was injured Monday in the runaway is improving and hope is held for his recovery.

A stationary boiler was recently tested in this city to stand a pressure by cold water equal to 132 pounds. After the test the person who applied it got under it to test a rivet, and happening o make a mis-stroke hit the side of the boiler sending the head of his hammer through the side, the metal here being only about the thickness of brown paper.

Another boiler condemned as unsafe at a pressure of over 20 pounds was taken out and sent to New York and a test made on Staten Island shows the boiler capable of standing a pressure of 220 pounds.

Thursday, August 28, 1873—Mr. Talcott, who has so long been deservedly popular as the accomodating proprietor and driver of the Colchester Stage, has retired from that sphere of usefulness. He will now run his big Concord coach to connect with the Air Line railroad. He will now be driver, railroad ticket agent, Adams Express Agent, mail carrier, and doer-of-all-errands-in-general.

A meeting of Company C, 3d Regiment C. N. G. was held at the armory last night to elect a first lieutenant. Second Lieutenant Frank Henderson was elected for that rank and F. N. Saunders was made second lieutenant.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

ARE YOU MISERABLE WITH DAILY BACKACHE? FEEL TIRED, STIFF ALL WORN OUT? THEN WHY NOT FOLLOW THE ADVICE OF THESE NORWICH PEOPLE?

ARE you crippled with a bad back? Do you get up lame and stiff; suffer torturing rheumatic twinges—drag through the day feeling tired, nervous and dispirited? Evening find you utterly worn out—too weary to rest or relax?

Then you know something is wrong and you owe it to yourself to find the cause and correct it.

How about your kidneys? Have you given them any thought? Likely you haven't. But you should!

Your kidneys are the blood filters. When they weaken and fall behind, poisons accumulate, upsetting blood and nerves. The effect of this body-poisoinng is quickly apparent.

Your bach aches; you suffer sharp, stabbing pains at every sudden move; your head aches; you have dizzy spells and there's apt to be some annoying bladder irregularity. It's little wonder you feel weak, irritable, nervous and depressed.

But why continue in this miserable, half-sick condition? Why not help the kidneys before the trouble gets a firmer hold? Delay may mean dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Norwich Folks:

ALBERT P. DUNHAM, 9 Durkey Lane, says: "Bending and walking so much as I have to do at my trade as a spinner, worked hard on my back until my kidneys gave out. I suffered with constant pains in my back just over my kidneys. When I bent sharp pains shot through my back. I had to get up a number of times to pass the kidney secretions. A couple of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills from the Lee & Osgood Drug Co. cured the trouble."

MRS. JAMES E. MORAN, 33 Second street, says: "A cold settled in my kidneys and weakened them. My back ached continually for some time and I could hardly get around to do my housework. My kidneys didn't act right at all. I had known of Doan's Kidney Pills helping another member of the family, so I used them and found relief. Lately I had another attack of kidney trouble but Doan's were just as sure in curing me again as they were the first time."

HARRY GREB TAKES MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE FROM CHAMPION ON POINTS

Polo Grounds, New York, Aug. 31.—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh "wind mill," who has been knocking at the championship portals with varied success for a number of years, tonight dethroned Johnny Wilson of Boston as world's middleweight titleholder at the Polo grounds, outfighting his opponent in nearly every round. Greb received the judges' verdict after 15 rounds that for the most part proved considerably below championship standard.

Taking the aggresive from the start, Greb pummeled the champion relentlessly about the head and body. He weakened Wilson in the fifth with a series of right jolts to the jaw, and had the champion in distress in both the eight and ninth rounds with a slashing attack to the head. But Wilson blocked in most of this offensive attempts and finding the Pittsburgher a shifty and elusive target, fought back gamely. He stood up under a heavy bombardment in the last four rounds with his left eye practically closed with blood dripping from cuts about his mouth.

Wilson's attack was directed chiefly to Greb's body and at times he seemed to hurt the challenger with short left hooks to the ribs and stomach but Greb inevitably checked his opponent by blocking and maneuvering in the twelfth and thirteen rounds, Wilson showed a few flashes of championship form, but they were only momentary. Puzzled by his opponent's methods he invariably stayed on the defensive or lost opportunities to shoot over effective punches by his slowness.

Neither fighter scored the semblance of knockdown during the entire fight. Once, in an early round, Greb slipped to the floor after missing a wild swing but he was up quickly and drove Wilson to the ropes with a shower of rights and lefts but while Greb had the titleholder hanging on at several stages under a terrific bombardment, the challenger was never in danger. Wilson's hardest body blows, while they seemed to temporarily slow up Greb, were not delivered with enough frequency to weaken the Pittsburgher.

A crowd estimated by promoters at 12,000 the smallest that has attended a championship fight this summer, witnessed in Wilson's downfall the fourth match of the season in which world's titles have changed hands. All four, only second, have passed to new hands at the Polo grounds, for it was here that Johnny Kilbane lost his featherweight crown to Eugene Criqui, of France, who a few weeks later was dethroned by Johnny Dundee, while Pancho Villa removed the flyweight title from Jimmy Wilde on the same battle ground.

Wilson, who won the middleweight title from Mike O'Dowd in 1920, passes from the title class with a record for inactivity almost unprecedent in championship ring history. As a matter of fact Wilson's fight tonight was the first real battle he has fought in defense of his laurels, for a good share of the time he has been under suspension in a number of states as a result of failure to accept Greb's challenge for a match early last year, filed with the New York State Athletic commission. The ban placed upon Wilson here, and lendorsed elsewhere, was not lifted until a few months ago when he finally agreed to terms with Greb.

Greb has been fighting for years in middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight ranks. He held the American light heavyweight title until he lost it on a decision to Gene Tunney last winter at Madison Square Garden in a 15 round match.

AUSTRALIANS AND AMERICANS BREAK IN FIRST DAY'S PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—Proving an unexpectedly formidable menace to America's tennis supremacy, Australia's Davis cup challenging forces broke even with the United States today in the two singles matches marking the opening of 1923 play for the historic trophy that carries with it the emblem of world's team championship.

William M. (Little Bill) Johnston, one of Uncle Sam's chief hopes in the title struggle, went down to defeat before James O. Anderson, Australian captain, in a spectacular, gripping five-set battle, 4-6, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, but William T. Tilden, national champion, evened the score for the United States when he crushed John B. Hawkes in a dazzlingly brilliant exhibition in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

Anderson's victory over the diminutive Californian who this year won the title of world's champion at Wimbledon, came as a startling surprise to tennis followers who had considered Johnston and Tilden virtually invincible in the realm of international play, upsetting the hopes and calculations of the cup defenders, it faced America with the most dangerous challenge she has had in the past four years, a challenge which can only be flung back by victory in two of the remaining three matches of the series.

Tomorrow Hawkes and Anderson will face Tilden and R. Norris Williams, America captain, a new international combination, in the third match, while on Monday Tilden will play Anderson and Johnston will oppose Hawkes in the remaining singles matches. Thus the winner cannot be determined before Monday and should Anderson maintain the dazzling pace he has displayed today, the bid of the Antipodeans for victory will be no less powerful than it is determined.

Tomorrow's programme, in addition to the cup doubles match, will include two exhibition Vincent Richards, fourth member of the American international team, will pair with his Wimbledon partner, Francis T. Hunter, in a doubles contest with the reservists of the Australian team, Ian McInnes and Richard Schlesinger. Manual Alonso, of Spain, will oppose Brian I. C. Norton, South African star, in a singles exhibition.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY AT NORWICH STATE HOSPITAL

The anual field day for the patients of the Norwich State Hospital will be held Monday, Sept. 3; on the hospital athletic field. Superintendent F. S. Wilcox, together with his staff of physicians and employes are endeavoring to make this a gala day for the patients at the local institution. A series of entertainments have been arranged for the next several days. Last evening a dance was held which was enjoyed by 500 male and female patients, music being furnished by the hospital ochestra.

Today the Riverview club of the hospital will entertain the patients with a baseball game, the management having scheduled a game with the Federals of Hartford. Monday, after being served with a special dinner, the patients will assemble on the athletic field to enjoy their annual field day. The events will start at 12.30 p. m. sharp. Music will be furnished during the afternoon. The baseball game will start at 3 p. m. and the Riverview club will have a strong Meriden Cutlery Co. of Meriden as their opponents. Wednesday—This will be the last day of the present series of entertainments. The patients will leave the hospital in specia' cars at 1 p. m. for the fair grounds to attend the New London County Fair. Nurses and attendants will accompany the patients, conducting them through the various exhibition halls and the grand stand where they will be served cold drinks, etc., and enjoy the horse races and other special features.

MARGARET DILLON BEATS OUT SINGLE G. IN THE FREE-FOR-ALL

Readville, Mass., Aug. 31.—Margaret Dillon, the bay mare that has been challenging Single G. for pacing honors all season, defeated the veteran in straight heats today in the free for all pace on the closing day's programme of the Grand Circuit meeting here. Lee Worthy piloted by White, won the Blue Hill free for all trot, the other feature of the day. Junior Hal captured first place in the Justin Edwards 2.15 pace.

A fourth heat was necessary to decide the winner of the 2.12 trot, won in the final heat by Mary Anne, driven by Murphy. Murphy won his third victory of the day by winning the 2.16 trot with Volo Chimes.

The defeat of Single G. was the second of the year for the veteran pacer, now in his twelfth season. Murphy drove Margaret Dillon around in front all of the way in the first mile and held a lead too great for Single G. to overcome on the stretch. Sir Roch led two-thirds of the distance in the second mile. Single G. finished third.

Peter Florentine won the 2.14 trot after Bengal, spectacular winner in the first heat, broke and was distanced in the second. The scheduled 2.03 and 2.09 paces were called off owing to the length of the programme.

HOMERS BY GEHRIG AND HAUK WIN FOR HARTFORD CLUB

Hartford, Aug. 31.—Home runs by Gehrig and Hauk were enough to defeat Bridgeport here today. Earl Johnson was effective with men on the sacks and held the visitors to one run while the Senators scored four. Clary was touched for ten hits most of which were timely and helped in the scoring. Gehrig's homer, his fourteenth was the fifth in three days. Score by innings.

PONIES WIN FOURTH IN A ROW BY TRIMMING ALBANY

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 31.—Springfield won its fourth straight game today, beating Albany by 12 to 6 here. The game was loosely played and poorly pitched on both sides. The hitting of Shanley and the third base play of Benes featured. The score by innings:

RIVERVIEW PLAYS TWO GAMES AT HOSPITAL

The Riverview club has two hard games scheduled for Saturday and Labor Day. The Federals of Hartford will play here on Saturday and the Meriden Cutlery Co. of Meriden will appear Monday afternoon. The Federals of Hartford have been playing good ball and boast of a strong pitching corps together with a fast hitting and fielding outfit. Sayers of Villanova college will probably ascend the mound against the Riverview club. The rest of the Federal lineup is as follows: Welch c, Beaulo cf, Parker 2b, Cotter 3b, Maier ss, McKernan lf, O'Leary 1b, Charron rf, relief pitchers Fisher and Coomer.

The Meriden Cutlery Co., of Meriden, have the strongest club in that city and will no doubt offer strong opposition to the Riverview club. "Ed" Walsh, son of the famous "Big Ed" Walsh formerly of the White Sox, will twirl for the Meriden club. This boy has been pitching good ball and was the ace of the twirling staff of St. John's Prep School of Danvers, Mass.

Toney West will be on the mound for the Riverview club and the visiting clubs will have a busy afternoon trying to locate the flying apple. Bill Reddy will catch West's shoots in both games. The Riverview club has strengthened up considerably for the remainder of the season. Couillard will cover first, Burns and Moore of the Sub Base will cover second base and short stop and Harry Mills will take care of the hot corner. Clabby, Lesseman, Hart, Walsh and Schaffrick will play the outfield. These games will start at 3 p. m. d. s. t. sharp. Zemke will officiate.

DEMPSEY KNOCKS OUT ONE SPARRING PARTNER

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.,—(By The A. P.)—Jack Dempsey's hitting powers were revealed again today when the heavyweight champion knocked out Jules Rioux, a 200-pound French Canadian lumberjack, and severely punished the other two sparring partners who faced him in the gruelling five rounds of boxing.

As a result of shaking off the cold that has bothered him for a week, Dempsey worked with greatly improved form. He hit more accurately and with greater power back of his blows. He was faster in boxing and footwork and his wind was excellent. The champion radiated health indicating to his handlers that the cold has left his system.

LEFTY HAROLD TO PITCH AGAINST TAFTVILLE TEAM

The attraction at the J. B. Martin diamond on Sunday will be the second game between Baltic and Taftville to settle a long dispute as to the relative merits of the baseball talent in these two villages. Baltic won the first game and is determined to end the series Sunday and as a means of making this more probable has secured the services of Lefty Harold and Harkey, of the Submarine base for the battery work. The remainder of the team will be made up of Baltic talent with the possible exception with one or two positions in the infield.

Taftville has cast their lot in this game on Morin, the former Canadian league pitcher. Belair will do the backstop work and playing back of this duo will be the best baseball timber that can be found in the thriving village of Taftville. Manager Troland has no fears but that his team will be able to pull out as victors even though the former Annapolis pitcher is in the box for Baltic.

THE HENRY FORD WINS THE FISHERMEN'S CUP

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 31—The luck of Captain Clayton Morrissey changed today and his schooner Henry Ford won the fishermen's race, the Sir Thomas Lipton cup and a purse of $1,000. The Ford, the pride of Gloucester, and one of the hopes of Gloucestermen to win the International fishermen's race this fall, winged home over a 31-mile course fifty seconds ahead of the Elizabeth Howard of New York and leading the New Shamrock of Boston by nearly 15 minutes. All Gloucester turned out to greet Captain "Clayt" returning victorious.

But Morrissey has a rival for the limelight in Captain Ben Pine of the Howard. With a smart schooner, but one admittedly lower than the winner, Pine treated the racing fleet today to an exhibition of gameness and seamanship that will be talked of on the street corners of Gloucester for many a day. On the last three of the five legs of the race the Howard made faster time than the Ford.

Pine's consolation for losing was the J. W. Prentiss cup and a purse of $800. The Shamrock, ending away behind, won a cash prize of $800. The race from the starting gun was between the Ford and Howard for first place, while Captain Marty Welch and his Shamrock ran a good race, but was out of her class.

A southwest breeze light at the start and dying away to nothing for part of the second leg, gained later to a ten and twelve-knot wind. The committee on the destroyer Sharkey picked Number 2 course providing a five-mile run to Milk Island, a seven-mile beat south by east, a reach off shore seven miles, another seven-mile reach back to Milk Island, and a five-mile beat to the finish.

| | Start. | Finish. |
| Ford | 10:46:37 | 3:02:30 |
| Howard | 10:45:29 | 3:03:29 |
| Shamrock | 10:46:03 | 3:17:28 |

The Ford covered the 31-mile course in four hours 16 minutes 53 seconds.

Johnson, of this city, in the first match which will be played at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The drawings are as follows: Faust vs. Johnson. Ely vs. D. Dumont. Ashby vs. Briggs. Caron vs. R. Smith. Frost vs. Kilby, B. Dumont vs. Johnson. Harwood vs. Scott, Austin vs Angeles, Faust vs. Abbot. Bates vs. Olcott. Clapp vs. Trayson. Brown vs. Sangs. Hodgston vs. Sampson. Lyman vs. Bogan.

The cups which will be offered for prizes are now on display at the club. The courts at the golf club are available for practice without fee to all entrants beginning today and continuing through the tournament.

THREE RECORDS SMASHED IN NATIONAL A. A. U. MEET

Chicago, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—Ancient rivals again settled an old score—for the time being—today on Stagg Field at the University of Chicago, when the Illinois Athletic club's team laid claim in performance to the National A. A. U., junior track and field championship after a struggle through half the card with the favored team of the Chicago Athletic association. The victors closed their books with 48 points. The Cherry circle scorers reached only to 45.

The University of Iowa and the Boston A. A., tied for third place with 10 points each, and the University of Missouri took fifth place with nine.

THE NORWICH FAIR.

We have now reached the season of fairs, those great outdoor gatherings for pleasure and profit, for entertainment and the renewal of old acquaintances, for the display of prized products and the study of the work of others.

There's an attraction about a fair that exists nowhere else. There's a charm and a diversity that appeals. It is one of those annual events that are long anticipated and not soon forgotten.

The New London County Agricultural society has put forth arduous efforts over a long period of years for the purpose of giving to the people of this county the very things that are expected of a fair. Possibly had there been greater cooperation on the part of the people, for a fair conducted as the Norwich fair is, must be looked upon as a cooperative effort, it would be a greater attraction than it is. But the enterprise that has been displayed in the past several years and the efforts to stimulate cooperation must create recognition of the fact that it is by no means too late for all the towns of New London county to rise to the situation and see that it is not only the greatest fair in this end of the state but that it grows from year to year in keeping with expectations.

Such a fair is of much benefit to the agriculturally inclined. It means much to the horticulturists, to the poultry raisers, to the dairymen, to those few who are interested in sheep husbandry. It attracts those who are fond of good horses, who are fond of sports who have no other opportunity to greet their many acquaintances from other towns, and who like to break away from the hum drum of every day life to enjoy the fun and mingle with the crowd that likes the variety that is afforded by a fair.

A fair is restricted only by the cooperation it gets from those for whom it is intended. It is an institution in whose development the other county towns as well as Norwich should be deeply interested.

AUTOMATIC TRAIN CONTROL.

Nearly a year and a half remains in which the railroads of the country can comply with the requirements of the Interstate commerce commission for the establishment of automatic train controls on at least 5,000 miles of track.

This is a move for the purpose of insuring a greater degree of safety to the traveling public, and out of which the railroads must of course derive no small benefit through the added protection that will be given to their rolling stock and the lessening of the damage claims against them.

The demand for automatic train controls comes as the result of the many frightful train accidents which have resulted from the failure of the engineer to see or respect signals set against him. Head-on and rear-end collisions have caused the loss of many lives. Happily those occasions are few when the engineer fails to safeguard the many lives in his care, but every instance accentuates the importance of preventing any more fatalities of that character. The automatic train stops will go a long way to do that if they can be perfected, and it is the opinion of the commission which has ordered them installed that the automatic control of trains "has long since passed the experimental stages."

Not only does it mean that the careless or sleepy engineer will be prevented from sending himself and passengers to eternity, but there will also be a safeguard against such a tragedy because of those cases where death silently and quickly calls away the man whose hand is on the throttle.

That the roads are alert to their duty in this respect is indicated by the recent test on the Big Four road of automatic stop devices which work when incapacity or failure to see a signal set against him handicaps the engine driver. Experts have been engaged in overcoming such defects as have developed in connection with such a system and from such progress as has been made there seems to be good reason for believing there will be no cause for failing to comply with the requirements of the commission of inefficient devices.

ITALY AND GREECE.

An opportunity to show what the organ of nations is good for and what it can accomplish is furnished by the situation that has developed between Italy and Greece.

It is enough to make any country indignant when one of its commissions endeavoring to straighten out a tangle concerning a boundary is set upon and murdered in cold blood in a neighboring country. First impressions of such an act are expected to be rash, and when Italy makes the demands which it has upon Greece they are not tempered by coolheadedness which might be expected under other circumstances. Likewise it is to be realized that there is not the best of feelings between the Italians and the Greeks. For that reason such a deliberate murder spurs on the feeling of enmity and even extensive demands such as Greece claims extend to the point of humiliation.

There seems to be no reason to believe that the Greek government is responsible for the murders. Whether its subjects or those of Albania were the actual murderers is not established. But Greece is responsible for the protection of the subjects of other countries. Naturally it should be interested in bringing the murderers to justice and in indemnifying the families of those killed. Likewise it could be expected to express its regrets and indicate its own indignation that any such thing should occur on its territory.

Apparently Greece is willing to do all asked up to the point where it considers it is being humiliated. Should Italy undertake to press those features no delay should be permitted in appealing to the league of nations, to which both belong and turning the task of adjusting the matter over to that organization.

Neither of the countries can be desirous of entering a war. Europe most certainly cannot wish for anything of the kind, so that those directly as well as those indirectly concerned must look to the league for the maintenance of peace in the Mediterranean.

THE COAL NEGOTIATIONS.

Some evidence of the eagerness to be in and participate in the treasuring that President Lewis of the mine workers has promised the operators, and thereby indirectly the public, is manifested by those miners who began the strike on Friday, before it had been determined whether the negotiations would succeed or not.

Negotiations, as it develops, has not prevented a suspension of the mine activities, though what they may do between now and the time for the resumption of work after Labor day there is no way of telling. The three days afford time to indicate whether success can be expected or not.

Concerning the proposition of Governor Pinchot exceptions are taken by each side. The miners are not satisfied with the ten per cent increase for all but want exceptions made in the case of some, even though their wages are not on the same level now, and they are insisting on the check-off.

The operators are pointing out the burden of the increase, flatly and unalterably opposed to the checkoff and are seeking the extension of the agreement over a long period with chance for annual revisions.

To the public not very much consideration seems to have been given. The public knows full well that it is already paying too much for anthracite and it cannot see where it is going to be greatly helped as to price in the future if the agreement goes through. It cannot become very enthusiastic over the possible prevention of something which brings no relief.

THE REASON WHY.

When a watch is kept at a number of railroad crossings and it is found that those using them pay, to a very large degree, no attention to the warnings that are established for the safeguarding of the public, it plainly shows why there are so many fatalities at those points.

There are crossings where a view both ways can be obtained from a considerable distance. With nothing in sight there is of course no reason for the driver of the vehicle to stop, any more than at a cross road. But all crossings do not permit of a long distance view of the railroad sufficient to inform the driver as to whether a train is coming or not. It is then that the appeal to "stop, look, listen" should get careful attention.

Treating a blind crossing in the same manner that an open one is negotiated is one of the grave mistakes made by too many crossing users. It means taking a chance for which there can be no justification. There is a howl for better protection at crossings and even when everything is done to direct the attention of drivers to the danger ahead it is promptly disregarded and yet criticism of the crossing situation follows as if no attempt had been made to protect them.

It is far better to slow up and make sure before crossing a railroad track every time, though a train may be coming only once in a hundred, than it is to take chances and get caught on that one occasion where negligence serves as a guide. The penalty is too great, locomotives too unmerciful and life too sweet to do otherwise than exercise a proper degree of care.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

There is a marked inconsistency in the attitude of certain Southerners in regard to the employment of white physicians in colored hospitals. I say inconsistency because in all the irritationships of life the color line is drawn very closely between the whites and blacks in the southern states. There are separate cars, separate schools, separate churches and separate hospitals. None other but colored nurses are allowed to attend patients of these hospitals. Why, then, should there be such insistence that only white doctors should be allowed to practice in these colored hospitals? There is certainly a "nigger" in the woodpile somewhere, and we don't have to dig far to see the "nigger." The plain fact is the state makes good appropriations for the medical care of such hospitals, and white physicians forget the difference in social relations when such plums are dangling before their eyes.

It is nearly a month since President Harding was called to his reward. In his lamentable death we see something of the unifying influence of a great sorrow. It was not a party, but a nation, that felt the blow. The American people forgot their shallow differences of political beliefs, and looked to something that lies back of, and is bigger than creeds, and that is the sterling qualities of manhood that President Harding so richly possessed. In his death the nation lost a richly-endowed spirit. He was not a political genius, neither will he be enshrined among the intellects of the first order, but he was fitted for his great office by a rare commination of heart and mind that inspired confidence. It was a united people that believed in the moral integrity of his purposes. The nation felt that its destinies were safe in the hand of a man of such character. A united people followed Warren G. Harding with tears to his final resting place.

There is one feature of the death of our beloved president for which we may all be profoundly grateful—and that is that he was not stricken down by some cowardly assassin. When the news flashed across the country that the end had come, there was but one emotion that filled the hearts of all people and that was profound sorrow, not sorrow mingled with indignation and anger. The awful deed of April 14, 1865 staggered the nation as it had never been before. To the deepest sorrow was added a righteous wrath. For rank injustice it had few, if any, parallels in all history. To this was added a great fear. How widespread was the conspiracy? Were forces at work that were to doom the Union so recently emancipated? Twice since then—in 1881 and again in 1901—has grief mingled with other feelings when our presidents have been stricken down in cruel assassination. Let us be very thankful that it was the will of God and not the hand of man that removed President Harding.

"To err is human;" this undoubtedly is a sad confession, but some relief is found in the fact that it applies just as truly to collective, as individual, mistakes. As nations being made up of men also come under the federal headship of Adam, they, too, come short of the perfection mark. While the average man does not like to be told of his mistakes, the average nation likewise squirms when brought face to face with its sins. Now the American people wiggle a good deal when informed that they worship the almighty dollar. Doubtless there is much tommy rot about money, especially by those who haven't brains enough to get any. Still there is some ground for the indictment, and yet our cousins (including uncles, aunts and grandmothers) living on the other side of the Atlantic cannot make it with very good grace, because there is not a European from Belfast to Constantinople who will not stretch forth his arm's length to grab the American dollar when it comes within three feet of him. There is, however, ground for the criticism, and you may call it preaching, lecturing or just plain scolding, but the fact remains that danger arises when the material is over-emphasized when in individual or national life. "Man shall not live by bread alone" nor by that which produces bread.

Pope in "The Quiet Life" has much to say about the man "whose few paternal acres" furnish all the simple requirements of his rural wants. This poem is a beautiful picture of pastoral England a century and a half ago. But I very much question if pastoral England of Pope's day had anything on northeastern Connecticut of our day. Our house of sojourn is the typical New England farmhouse with a touch of modern life. It is on a gentle slope back from the road with firs and spacious elms in front between whose hugh trunks are fine views of rich, smooth fields with high rolling hills in the distance. Nothing breaks the stillness but the bellowing of a cow, distracted because of the presence of a summer boarder or the absence of her own calf. Roaming chickens make your acquaintance at a safe distance. Corresponding to the four points of the compass are beauty, landscape, quietude and space. Inside is old-fashioned comfort, consisting of spacious rooms, a good table with eggs, milk, butter and vegetables of all kinds actually fresh, and all presided over by a genial hostess. If you are seeking real solid rest this is the life.

When one goes into the country for an outing he wants to get the far outlook. If he has ambition mixed with Christian curiosity and physical vigor he will climb all the hills of interest for the vision of just beyond. He likes the wider horizons that take within their scope a multitude of lesser hills and valleys interspersed with cultivated fields and forests. He likes to have a citizen of that town name the conspicuous bumps in the distant horizon; to hear him say without wincing that yonder faint dome is Monadnock which in all human probability is not Monadnock at all, for that much abused mountain must be nearly, if not quite, one hundred miles away. If is to be honestly doubted whether atmospheric conditions will permit anyone to see from any vantage point in Connecticut one hundred miles away in the month of August. Yet time and again have I heard people exclaim from many elevations in this state: "There it is, just over there, that's Monadnock." Well, whether it is or not, one is getting the vision.

Isn't this the right attitude to have toward all the possible outlooks of life? Are we justified in standing on the top of foothills when the higher and nearby mountains are accessible? That is just the trouble with so many of us. We are so satisfied with the little smattering of knowledge that we won't take the trouble of climbing higher. The heights beyond have no attractions for us. The reason why science has been gripping the world is because it has been advancing by leaps and bounds during the last half century. Suppose the world should be run on the scientific schedule of 1740, what would happen? With some people and along some lines there has been little progress since the days of Jonathan Edwards. With many people there is not so much interest in the distant view as in the backward. Let us be neither afraid nor ashamed to try new mountains if they are worth climbing.

SECRETARY HUGHES UPHOLDS MONROE DOCTRINE

The full text of Secretary Hughes' address on the Monroe Doctrine before the American Bar Association follows:

"Taking the doctrine as it has been and as it is believed to remain, I desire to comment upon certain points, which, as I believe, deserve special emphasis at this time.

"First. The Monroe doctrine is not a policy of aggression; it is a policy of self-defense. It was asserted at a time when the danger of foreign aggression in this hemisphere was very real, when the new American states had not yet established a firm basis of independent national life, and we were menaced by threats of Old World powers directed against republican institutions. But the achievements of the century have not altered the scope of the doctrine or changed its basis. It still remains an assertion of the principle of national security. As such, it is obviously not exclusive.

"Second. As the policy embodied in the Monroe doctrine is distinctively the policy of the United States, the government of the United States reserves to itself its definition, interpretation, and application. This government has welcomed the recognition by other governments of the fact and soundness of this policy and of the appropriateness of its application from time to time.

"But the United States has not been disposed to enter into engagements which would have the effect of submitting to any other power or to any concert of powers the determination either of the occasions upon which the principles of the Monroe doctrine shall be invoked or of the measures that shall be taken in giving it effect. As President Wilson observed: 'The Monroe doctrine was proclaimed by the United States on her own authority. It always has been maintained and always will be maintained upon her own responsibility.'

"This implies neither suspicion nor estrangement. It simply means that the United States is asserting a separate national right of self-defense, and that in the exercise of this right it must have an unhampered discretion.

"Third. The policy of the Monroe doctrine does not infringe upon the independence and sovereignty of other American states. Misconception upon this point is the only disturbing influence in our relations with Latin American states. The declaration of our purpose to oppose what is inimical to our safety does not imply an attempt to establish a protectorate any more than a similar assertion by any one of the great southern republics of opposition to conduct on the part of any of the others endangering its security would aim at the establishment of a protectorate.

"I utterly disclaim, as unwarranted, the observations which occasionally have been made implying a claim on our part to superintend the affairs of our sister republics, to assert an overlordship, to consider the spread of our authority beyond our own domain as the aim of our policy, and to make our power the test of right in this hemisphere. I oppose all such misconceived and unsound assertions or intimations. They do not express our national purpose; they belie our sincere friendship; they are false to the fundamental principles of our institutions and of our foreign policy which has sought to reflect, with rare exceptions, the ideals of liberty; they menace us by stimulating a distrust which has no real foundation. They find no sanction whatever in the Monroe doctrine. There is room in this hemisphere, without danger of collision, for the complete recognition of that doctrine and the independent sovereignty of the Latin-American republics.

"Fourth. There are, indeed, modern conditions and recent events which cannot fail to engage our attention. We have grown rich and powerful, but we have not outgrown the necessity, in justice to ourselves and without injustice to others, of safeguarding our future peace and security. By building the Panama canal we have not only established a new and convenient highway of commerce but we have created exigencies and new conditions of strategy and defense. It is for us to protect that highway. It may also be necessary for us at some time to build another canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, and to protect that. I believe that the sentiment of the American people is practically unanimous that in the interest of our national safety we could not yield to any foreign power the control of the Panama canal, or the approaches to it, or the obtaining of any position which would interfere with our right of protection or would menace the freedom of our communications.

"So far as the region of the Caribbean sea is concerned, it may be said that if we had no Monroe doctrine we should have to create one. And this is not to imply any limitation on the scope of the doctrine, as originally proclaimed and as still maintained, but simply to indicate that new occasions require new applications of an old principle which remains completely effective. What has taken place of late years in the region of the Caribbean has given rise to much confusion of thought and misapprehension of purpose. As I have said, the Monroe doctrine as a particular declaration in no way exhausts American right or policy; the United States has rights and obligations which that doctrine does not define. And in the unsettled condition of certain countries in the region of the Caribbean it has been necessary to assert these rights and obligations as well as the limited principles of the Monroe doctrine.

"In 1898, the United States intervened in Cuba in the cause of humanity and because of a condition of affairs at our very door so injurious to our interests that it had become intolerable. In view of the distress, miseries, and barbarities that existed, our action, as John Bassett Moore has said, 'was analogous to what is known in private law as the abatement of a nuisance.' In the settlement that followed the establishment of Cuban independence Cuba agreed 'that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property, and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba. Cuba also agreed not to enter into any treaty with any foreign power which would tend to impair her independence nor in any manner authorize or permit any foreign power or powers to obtain by colonization or for military or naval purposes or otherwise lodgment in or control of any portion of said island.' There were also restrictive provisions as to the contracting of debts. The United States thus holds a special position in relation to Cuba, but it should be pointed out and clearly understood that, while in view of this position we have acted as the friendly adviser of the Cuban government, our action has been solely for the purpose of aiding in maintaining the independence and stability of Cuba and thus not to create but to preclude the necessity of intervention under the treaty by encouraging the Cuban people to eliminate waste and corruption, to reduce public expenses to the normal requirements of government, and to secure the just and efficient administration which will safeguard the desired independence of Cuba and promote the prosperity which, with their abundant natural resources, the Cuban people are entitled to enjoy.

"It is impossible for me to review in any detail the events which led to the occupation of Santo Domingo and Haiti. In Santo Domingo, during the 40 years prior to 1907, there had been 16 revolutionary movements, and complete political and economic demoralization had resulted. A military government was established in 1916 and until recent months was continued in the interest of public order. This occupation was due to the demonstration, to use the phrase of President Roosevelt, of an impotence resulting in the lessening of the ties of civilized society and thus requiring intervention. But the point that I desire to make is that instead of using this opportunity, as has falsely been charged, to establish a permanent control of Santo Domingo, the government of the United States has been solicitous to arrange for the termination of the occupation and the withdrawal of its forces and has devoted its endeavors earnestly and effectively, to the assistance of the Dominican people in establishing a sound basis for an independent government. It is expected that elections in which the authorities of the United States will not intervene will be held about the middle of September and in due course the permanent government will be established.

"In order to understand conditions in Haiti, it should be recalled that since the republic of Haiti gained its independence it has been the scene of almost continuous revolution. This is true of its recent history, as well as of the earlier years. The government of the United States is seeking to make its relation to Haiti beneficial to the Haitian people; it has no other aim but to establish peace and stability. It does not seek to acquire or to control the territory of Haiti and it will welcome the day when it can leave Haiti with the reasonable assurance that the Haitians will be able to maintain an independent government competent to keep order and discharge its international obligations.

"The disturbed conditions and revolutionary tendencies in some of the Central American republics have given great solicitude to the government of the United States, and its efforts have been directed to the promotion of tranquility and stability. This is in the interest of the maintenance of the unimpaired integrity and sovereignty of these republics.

"Fifth. It is apparent that the Monroe doctrine does not stand in the way of Pan-American co-operation; rather it affords the necessary foundation for that co-operation in the independence and security of American states. With the aim of furthering this Pan-American co-operation there have been five Pan-American conferences, the last of which was recently held in Santiago. The best results of these conferences are not to be found in any formal acts or statements but in the generation of helpful and friendly influences which draw peoples together through a better mutual understanding.

"The essential condition of co-operation is peace, and this government is constant in its endeavors to promote peace in this hemisphere by using its good offices whenever they are welcome, in eliminating the causes of strife, and in making provision for the settlement of disputes that cannot be adjusted by diplomacy. Almost all the disputes in Latin America have been settled, and those that remain are in process of adjustment.

"Finally, it should be observed that the Monroe doctrine is not an obstacle to a wider international co-operation, beyond the limits of Pan-American aims and interests, whenever that co-operation is congenial to American institutions. From the foundation of the government we have sought to promote the peaceful settlement of international controversies. Establishment of a permanent court of international justice, which might make available the facilities of a permanent tribunal (instead of the less satisfactory provision of temporary tribunals of arbitration) to governments desiring to submit their controversies to it, has been a distinct feature of the policy of the government of the United States for many years. We are also interested in measures of conciliation and in the facilities of conference.

"Our attitude is one of independence not of isolation. Our people are still intent upon abstaining from participation in the political strife of Europe. They are not disposed to commit this government in advance to the use of its power in unknown contingencies, preferring to reserve freedom of action in the confidence of our ability and readiness to respond to every future call of duty. They have no desire to put their power in pledge but they do not shirk co-operation with other nations whenever there is a sound basis for it and a conscientiousness of interest and aim. Co-operation is not dictation, and it is not partisanship. On our part it must be the co-operation of a free people drawing their strength from many racial stocks and a co-operation that is made possible by a preponderant sentiment permitting governmental action under a system which denies all exercise of autocratic power. It will be the co-operation of a people of liberal ideals, deeply concerned with the maintenance of peace and interested in all measures which find support in the common sense of the country as being practicable and well designed to foster common interests.

"To such aims the Monroe doctrine is not opposed, and with the passing of 100 years it remains a cherished policy, inimical to no just interest and deemed to be vitally related to our own safety and to the peaceful progress of the peoples of this hemisphere."

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

FOLLOW ME

Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of Men Matt IV-18.

It was probably early in the morning, in the freshness and stillness of the day, that Jesus walked on the shore of the lake. Earth had scarcely a fairer scene to spread before the Lord. Shut in by terraced hills, rich with vineyards and fig groves and palm trees, and all manner of fruits, whilst beyond there were the hills of further Galilee, and further still was the snowy height of Hermon. As the blessed Master passed along the white margin of the shore, one side of Him were the rippling waters of the lake. The birds gladdened Him with their song. The groups of fishermen were busy and the fishing boats dotted the water. The whole scene was shut in by the deep, blue sky, touched, it may be, with the ruddy gold of the dawn.

So the Lord Jesus goes on His way, just entering upon His work, thinking perhaps, of the kingdom which He is come to set up; of the extent of it, and the cost of it, and the difficulties that beset Him. How shall He accomplish it How shall He go forth to Rome and summon the legions of Caesar? Or go to Athens and secure the intellect of the age? Will He stand in the Temple of Jerusalem and gather the priests and rulers about Him? But what can He find here As He goes along His way there are Peter and Andrew casting the net, and a little beyond these are John and James, mending their nets. And Jesus said unto them: "Follow Me and I will make you fishers of men."

So He begins His work. So He lays the foundation of it, and so He carries it on. How do you count the resources of the church? How do you estimate its strength? By the stately fabrics which men have dedicated to the service of God? By the crowds of worshippers that gather to celebrate His praise? By the names of learned ones who are found in its ranks. By the wealth of its congregations? No. Christianity began without any of these and is in no way dependent upon them. The strength of the church, its foundations, its forces, its triumph, is in the simple and loving followers of Jesus Christ: "Follow Me and I will make you fishers of men." "Follow Me," saith Jesus Christ and My triumph is secured And then comes another truth: If I will follow Him He will make me what I should be. Do not begin to think of all that you want in order to do any good in the world or you will be frightened into doing nothing. Ten thousand wants will began at once to worry and distract us.

"Follow me," saith Christ; and He will do the rest. That is all our business. The best service that I can render to the world is to keep close to Jesus Christ; my fitness for service is in following Him.

I must loose myself from all that holds me back from Him. The Lord Jesus can do wonders with us if we will let Him have us. But He can do very little with us unless we are altogether His. I am His Disciple that through me and the love which loves me loves the world. I am His disciple that through me He may reach others. It is this great self surrender of ourselves to Jesus Christ for the good of others which is the very glory and dignity of the Gospel. "Follow me' and I will make you as everlasting blessing to others. This is our calling and business. We are fishers of men.

But fish have to be caught and we must make it our work to catch them. Put on bait that is attractive. "The Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." Get religion enough to recommend it. Follow Jesus closely enough to get His sweetness, the fragrance of the Lily of the Valley, love is the bait that can win the world.

Singleness of heart is the great secret of winning souls. The man who has but one aim always and in everything—and that the good pleasure and glory of the Lord Jesus Christ—is the only successful Christian. The man who is rent between duty and Christ and selfish advantage has not much faith in himself; and other people have no faith in him. Whole-hearted Christians alone will make the world believe in religion. Follow me means in everything supreme. He who is that Christ has the heart and is ever rent and torn between Christ and self will find it difficult enough to work out his own salvation, much more to save others.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Are We Doing Our Duty

Mr. Editor:—I have read with interest, the letters to the editor written by Mrs. Ladd, and H. F. Palmer While Mrs. Ladd's letter was written mainly to apply to local court action, the same conditions are found all over the state. Its very well to say that officers and officials are sworn to do their duty, and those of judical office to dispense the law as written, but nevertheless we human beings are so constituted that we are governed more or less by the support of the constituency which we represent and the backing which we may expect of forces higher up. Article ten, Chapter 291 Acts of Conn, 1921 is very easy to read and interpret, also the right of appeal is given all accused, which is of course one of the fundamental rights of four glorious constitution. Therefore it is only reasonable to expect that the small town officials will react according to the strength it receives from the factors which govern it. It has been my pleasure to get in touch, more or less, with officials in different parts of the state and to get their viewpoint on the most talked of act today, namely the enforcement of the eighteenth Amendment to the constitution Connecticut has passed an act providing for the enforcement of this amendment. This act was passed by senate and representatives elected by the people of the state. It is the law and should be enforced to the letter. If the law is not what the majority of the people of the state want, the surest way to repeal it, is to enforce it, and my conclusion is, after talking with many of the judiciary and other officials, that the law is going to be enforced, and this fall may see many test cases in the higher courts which will be watched with much interest by all. As a people we are facing a bigger danger than the war, or the flu epidemic. Auto and truck drivers on the road, many times not of their own inclination, but being tempted fall, and sometimes not wanting to give offense they drink various concoctions which render them a menace to hundreds of innocent law abiding citizens trying to use the highway at the same time. This with the fact that the physical, mental, and moral condition of our future men and women of tomorrow are being ruined, by side of the road auto parking parties made merry by something brought in a bottle on the sly, made of no one knows what, and at any cost asked, prompts the question, are we doing our duty to allow this condition to exist without doing our utmost to remedy by some means? I believe we are not doing it, without doing what ever falls to us to do, to help the situation, and all honor to the officials in high or low capacity who unflinching, to do their duty regardless of criticism, which can be avoided only by doing nothing. Lets 'hear other views.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

James A. McFarland, the new national commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, was one of the organizers of the association and held the office of national vice commander before election to his present post as head of the organization. Commander McFarland is a Georgian and went to France early in 1918 as a first lieutenant of an infantry regiment. He saw active service from the beginning of the American offensive on the western front until a few weeks before the armistice was signed. When he finally returned home he took up the study law in the university of Georgia. ### MONTHLY LETTER OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Secretary John O'Rourke of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce has mailed out to the chamber members the August membership letter of the chamber activities. The letter covers the proposed deepening of the Thames river channel, parks and playgrounds, the New England railroad situation, and other subjects of general interest to the chamber members.

With regard to the financial campaign to be held soon for the purpose of raising a fund to provide for a new home for the nurses at the Backus hospital, the monthly letter says:

Continued meetings and conferences have been held during this month which discussed plans for a campaign to raise funds for our local hospital.

The example of Westerly is before the people of this community as an urge and a challenge to support and provide funds to carry on the humanitarian work of this benevolent institution. We cannot afford to let the work of our hospital be curtailed or hampered. Norwich is big enough and sufficiently proud to place our hospital on a substantial financial basis.

The matter of "suit clubs" also comes in for discussion. Touching on this subject the letter says: Norwich has had her share, to the sorrow of a number of our residents, of experience in the so-called "suit clubs."

The federal trade commission recently condemned the operation of these suit clubs. The commission states that methods employed in the plan create unfair competition, injures the reputation of reputable men's wear dealers and violates the law.

We urge our people to be extremely careful about giving any money, signing any checks, or contracts with strangers, until they have been fully investigated. "Investigate before you invest."

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

That many automobile drivers have absolutely no regard for the safety of others who use the highways, was clearly demonstrated Friday evening when a woman who was driving a Willys-Knight touring car struck and knocked to one side the sign board posted across Mechanics street where the sewer excavations are. The lamp that was hung on the board was thrown into the road and the light consequently was put out. The woman drove on without stopping to replace the warnings that had been put there. Later on, a resident near there set up the sign and lantern again. If this had gone unnoticed it is probable that an accident would have occurred because the street is narrow and very much used.

Miss Corinne Reeves of Taftville, was a recent visitor with Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds of Mechanics street.

In his position as paymaster, Mr. French made a host of friends who will be sorry to hear that he is leaving Danielson.

One of the most important features of the celebration of Labor Day in this territory is the trap shoot to be held by the Danielson Rod and Gun Club. The shoot is to be held at the club's range on Allen Hill and is to begin about 8.30 o'clock, standard time. Many out of town shooters are planning to attend this event.

Another Labor Day observance that is bound to attract many people is the Old Home Day celebration which is to be held at South Killingly. A clambake by "King" George Jacques of East Killingly will be the headline attraction. The new community house, for which dedication services were recently held, will be given the "once over" by those attending. Participants in the celebration who come in automobiles are to leave their machines in a big lot in the rear of the church and the community house. In the afternoon there will be a number of addresses by well known speakers, including, Rev. W. S. Beard of New York city, Rev. Mr. Wood of Lakewood, R. I., Rev. E. P. Ayer of Montville, Conn., and Rev. Henry Goodsell of Westport, Conn.

Some of the residents of the borough are already making sweet cider from early apples. Those who have taken the trouble to go out in the country and look report that the wild grape crop is not so good as it might possibly be. This means sharp competition between those who pick the fruit to make something for private use.

PUTNAM

Two more divorce writs have been returned to the clerk of the court for Windham county.

Mrs. Laura Brodeur Corcoran of Center street has filed a petition of divorce from her husband, Thomas J. Corcoran, a manufacturer, of Monson, Mass., whose property in Putnam is being occupied by Mrs. Corcoran. The writ is returnable the first Tuesday in September. Mrs. Corcoran has retained Attorney William A. King of Willimantic with whom is associated Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam. The residence of the defendant in Putnam has been attached, including the household furniture and automobile, the whole property estimated to be worth $25,000. The couple were married April 13, 1892. There are no children. The complaint alleges habitual intemperance and intolerable cruelty without alleging specific instances. The plaintiff alleges that her husband is worth $50,000 and asks for alimony.

The Corcorans came to Putnam ten years ago when Mr. Corcoran became agent of the French River Textile Co., for the Sayles interests. He left the mill in Mechanicsville and took charge of a mill in Paecoag, R. I. When this mill was closed he entered business for himself, obtaining control of a worsted mill in Monson, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran are well known and have been prominent in the social affairs of the city.

The second divorce filed is that of Mrs. Dewey Tetreault who seeks separation from her husband on statutory grounds. The couple have been in the limelight ever since their hasty marriage. The husband was a waiter in a Front street restaurant and next door in a bakery a young woman came to work. The young woman occasionally went into the restaurant and within twenty-four hours of the first meeting of the couple they were married. In a short time friends learned that the marital life was not running smoothly and soon the bride had left. There was a subsequent uniting of the pair, followed by another separation and a charge of non-support made by the wife. The husband was arrested and refused to agree to furnish Mrs. Tetreault any support, so was sent to jail. Three nights in a cell somewhat changed his view of things and his father came to the rescue and furnished a bond that the support ordered by the court would be supplied. Now comes what may be the final chapter of a badly shattered romance, the petition for divorce.

A four-stroke fire alarm rang at half past six o'clock Friday morning, calling the hook and ladder truck to Water street, where a chimney fire was quickly extinguished.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Allison Potter, who came into public notice a year or more ago when Mrs. Potter brought divorce proceedings against her husband which he successfully contested continue to appear in court rolls. The latest is a suit instituted by Mrs. Potter to recover $1500 she alleges to be due her as her interest in certain property. The previous trouble was when the wife brought an action for non-support which is pending in the superior court on appeal by Mr. Potter from a justice court in Woodstock, where he was found guilty and ordered to pay his wife a weekly allowance.

The first in a series of events that will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Canadian Athletic club of the north end of the city was the attendance of members at the Bradley theatre, Friday evening, as guests of the management, Hyde Smth and Jacob Alpert. The Condition of a State Is No Better Than the Quality of Its Citizenship

WE ARE PROUD OF OUR INDUSTRIAL POSITION, AND BELIEVE IN SUSTAINING POSITION AND PROGRESS BY AN APPROPRIATE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Read what the State of Connecticut cooperating with the Town of Putnam is doing for boys and girls in this section of the State; through classes in trades and home economics at the State Trade School, Putnam.

THE AIM OF THE SCHOOL

Is to provide educational opportunity in the trades for young men over 14 years of age, fitting them to become all round mechanics and making possible, where native ability permits, further progress to supervisory positions.

THIS AIM IS ACCOMPLISHED

By providing thorough instruction with modern equipment and on actual jobs, under usual trade conditions, together with such mathematics, drafting, and science as the particular trade requires. All instruction is individual. The boy is advanced from operation to operation as rapidly as he acquires the skill and knowledge involved in each, and is not kept on any job for the sake of production. He is thereby offered a wide range of experience during his course.

INSTRUCTION IS FREE TO RESIDENTS OF CONNECTICUT

Students are required to purchase a few personal tools, depending on the trade selected.

COTTON MANUFACTURING DEPARTMENT

For the boy who wishes to follow the cotton industry this course offers a thorough training in spinning, weaving, carding, loom fixing, warp preparation, yarn calculations, designing, cloth analysis, drafting, and a necessary amount of machine shop practice. A very broad general training in cotton manufacturing. Instruction in this department is given on actual mill products meeting textile trade standards.

MACHINE DEPARTMENT

Instruction here is given on work of a practical and necessary nature meeting trade requirements. About one-third of the students' time is devoted to mechanical drawing, mathematics and design.

CARPENTRY DEPARTMENT

Students taking this course receive instruction in cabinet making, mill work, and house building. Contracts are taken by this department for house building, which the students execute in accordance with trade practices. Shop talks, architectual drafting, and mathematics constitute one-third of this course.

DRAFTING DEPARTMENT

Drafting is the language of engineering and invention; and men from this trade often rise to high positions. Students in all departments devote part of their time to drawing as required by the various trades. Cabinets, electrical lay-outs, house plans, machines and tools are designed with a view to practical methods of construction. Architectual drafting and mechanical drawing may be taken as separate courses.

ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT

The school is fully equipped with electrical apparatus, and the student is familiarized with modern methods of electrical construction and installation. Many types of electrical jobs are taken in the department and completed successfully. Approximately one-half of the students' time is devoted to related subjects, shop talks, drawing, mathematics, machine and carpentry shop practice.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Besides providing studies and practice in the home-making arts for girls of the local high school, this department offers free part time, evening and summer courses in the various phases of cooking, sewing and laundry practice. These courses are proving very popular.

TYPES OF COURSES OFFERED

Regular All Day Trade. This course requires 4800 hours to complete; one-third of the students' time is devoted to academic subjects.

High School Cooperative Course. A trade training and high school education in four years.

Part Time Courses for those employed may be arranged for by consultation with the School Director.

Evening classes run thirty weeks in the year, beginning in October.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

Athletic activities are promoted by an organized student association with weekly periods for participation of all students.

FACULTY OF THE SCHOOL

Is composed of members qualified in professional preparation, technical knowledge and skill to teach their respective subjects, and who possess an understanding appreciation of the learners' difficulties.

Laddie Boy.

News item: "Laddie Boy, President Harding's pet dog, sits anxiously in his master's chair, waiting for him to return."

In his silence, sad and humble,
Watching in his master's chair,
Laddie Boy sits waiting, wondering,
When his loved one will be there.
There he dreams with eager longing,
To forget his loneliness,
Of the happy, glad reunion
And the usual kind caress.

Laddie Boy keeps listening, listening,
With a worried, anxious frown,
For he hears a mournful sobbing,
That all other noises drown;
Terrified, he scans the faces
Of a throng of sorrowing men,
Searching for the much-loved comrade,
He will never see again!

Laddie Boy! the voice is silent
That you loved so well to hear,
And a tie of weeping mourners
Now pay homage at his bier.
Back your proudest, happiest welcome,
Do not make your master sad!
In the country he has gone to,
He will hear you and be glad.

Wanted—A Minister's Wife.

Wanted—a perfect lady,
Delicate, gentle, refined,
With every beauty of person,
And every endowment of mind;
Fitted by early culture
To move in fashionable life,
And shine, a gem in the parlor:
Wanted—a minister's wife!

Wanted—a thoroughbred worker,
Who well to her household looks—
Shall we see our money wasted
By extravagant Irish cooks?
Who cuts the daily expenses
With economy sharp as a knife,
And washes and scrubs in the kitchen:
Wanted—a minister's wife!

"A very domestic person";
To callers she must not be out—
It has such a bad appearance
For her to be gadding about;
Only to visit the parish
Every year of her life,
And attend the funerals and weddings:
Wanted—a minister's wife."

The Old Woolen Jacket.

How dear to my heart are the clothes of my childhood,
Though rarely, if ever, I had any new.
The straw hat, the jumper, the pants that were patched good,
No bare spots appeared till my feet came in view.
The old woolen jacket that hung by the door;
I found it the source of exquisite comfort
To button it tight when the weather was cool.
The old woolen jacket,
The patch-cover jacket,
The heavy, warm jacket
That hung by the door.

That old woolen jacket, when new, was a beautie,
And worn by the brother then oldest in line,
From brother to brother it slowly descended
Until at the last that jacket was mine.
'Twas stretched in the arm-holes, 'twas torn in the collar;
It's colors were many, like Joseph's, of old,
Though striped in front and patches around it;
In the cold winds 'twas better than gold.

SOCIAL CORNER EVENTS

CORNER INTERESTS MORE THAN MEMBERS.

Dear Corner Folks: I must write a few lines and thank the editor for my July prize and the sisters who remembered my birthday with cards and cheery greetings. Both prize and cards were much appreciated and helped to make my anniversary a happy one.

I think the August letters have been very interesting, although few in number, and I know there are many who look forward to reading this department of The Bulletin who are not members of it as well as those who are. Sometime ago I called on a lady one Saturday afternoon and almost the first thing she said was, "I have just been reading the Social Corner." Then she told how much she and other members of the family enjoyed it, especially letters which had recently been written, telling of drives and familiar places in towns where they were acquainted many years ago. I wished then that the sisters who wrote those letters could know how much they were appreciated by people they probably never knew nor even heard of.

The following recipe is for A. P. and I think was given me by a Corner sister:

Grape Conserve: One peck grapes, washed and stemmed. Cook and mash through a sieve. Add one pound English walnuts and one pound raisins, chopped fine; also juice and rind of one lemon. To each cup of grape pulp add two-thirds cup sugar. Cook until it forms a jelly.

PLENTY OF SUNSHINE AT LEFFINGWELL PICNIC.

Dear Editor and Sisters: Regardless of the cold wind and drizzling rain Wednesday, the 12nd, there were 62 that gathered at the church in Leffingwell. They brought sunshine with them, for about 10 o'clock the weather was clearing. When once inside where the yellow flags were casting their glorious colors, and the sisters' greetings so audible, there was no time or thought for the weather outside. Too much sunshine within. Such a grand, comfortable place for such a gathering. Plenty of room for the sisters with their various kinds of work from crocheted rings to bedquilts. A few visitors were present, including the minister and family, but many of the sisters were missed. At the noontime hour after singing the Doxology the people were invited to sit at the four tables arranged for their accommodation with delicious baked beans, salads, tomatoes, cucumbers, pickles, rolls, sandwiches, cake, pies and coffee prepared by the hostesses, Wildflower, Golden Glow, Bumble Bee, Gypsy, U. C. E., Friendship, Snow Drop and their helpers. By the suggestion of Calla Lily and approved by the sisters a collection of 5c each was taken for the use of the church and to show an appreciation for their kindness shown it was realized at this time. A social hour was spent in readings and entertaining one another. A poem by Betty Brown entitled A Little Bug Will Get You Sometime, made us wonder if there was anything without a bug. Surely not by what she said. We will have to go on a diet of stale bread and milk for I guess that was all she left out. The day came to a close at last, the same as all previous ones, to the regret of all. Two ladies were so eager to attend they arrived at 8.30 a. m. and left at 5 p. m.—the first there and the last to leave. For once I guess they stayed as long as they cared to. What say you, E. B. M.?

Remember Sept. 12. If stormy the next day. By stormy I mean so we cannot be comfortable outdoors. Bring plate, cup and fork and something to fill the inner man. Come prepared to help entertain and we will have a grand time as usual. I guess you know where to find me—the same place as last year. There will be a way for those that are not able to walk the short distance, to ride up the hill. Hubby expects to be there, as usual, with "Lizzie's" help. All are invited and bring your friends to the home of

WAYS OF DOING UP GRAPES

Dear Corner Editor and Sisters: Haven't noticed that anyone has missed me but in order not to be forgotten altogether think I better write.

Student: At last I wish to thank you for the card you sent ages ago. I really was pleased with it and meant to tell you so right away.

And if it isn't too late would like to thank the one who answered about starching and ironing collars. The key word to that letter was the name of the starch. I used to use Elastic, but got into the habit of accepting something "just as good" till I found I could not do up collars as they should be. I am using "Elastic now and have good luck.

Notic A. P. wants to know about grape canning so will send a few rules.

Grapes Canned Whole: Put grapes in granite dish and pour boiling water over them. Let stand ten minutes. In meantime have thick syrup cooking. Pour off boiling water and scald second time, letting stand ten minutes. Fill jars full and pour in boiling syrup and seal. The juice is like wine and the grapes have a very natural flavor.

Grape Marmalade: Put green grapes into pan and cover with water. Boil till reduced to mash and strain out seeds through sieve. To each pound of pulp add two pounds of sugar and boil till consistence of jelly.

Canned Grapes: Squeeze the pulp from the skin; boil the pulp till seeds begin to loosen, having the skins boiling hard and separately in a little water. When the pulp seems tender, put it through the sieve, then add the skins, if tender, with the water they boil in if not too much. Use a large cup of sugar to a quart can; boil till thick and can usual way.

Grape Juice: Ten pounds grapes, 2 quarts water. Boil ten minutes. Do not squeeze when you strain the juice. Green grapes can be preserved, but it is quite a job. Cut in half and put immediately into cold water. Allow one pound sugar for each pound of fruit. Can with syrup like any preserves. Should be seeded.

Grape jelly is better mixed with other tart fruit. Green grape jelly makes an excellent invalid drink.

We like grape conserve very much. If you haven't the rule, will send it.

DON'T WORRY.

ANOTHER FIRELESS COOKER.

Dear Social Corner: Directions for making a fireless cooker, recently furnished by a Corner member should be of great value to many housewives whose kitchen fires are of such discomfort to them through the summer months.

I should like to describe another form of fireless cooker which is so simple of construction, so entirely inexpensive and so easily managed that some have preferred it to the more modern patented article.

A zinc-covered trunk and plenty of excelsior are the first requisites, though in some localities where sheep are kept waste wool is preferred. As for the trunk, they are still to be found in garrets or barn lofts.

Pack the excelsior as solidly as possible up to within about six inches of the top of the trunk and with a round iron kettle—presumably one of a former generation of kitchen utensils—work out a nest in the solid packing into which the kettle will fit closely. And let me assure you that is by no means an easy task. The cover should be fitted with clamps and when the kettle, with its contents at the boiling point, is set in place and well covered with a thick feather pad, your fireless is complete, unless you are the fortunate possessor of two of these kettles, for which there is plenty of room.

I hope someone will try this cooker.

CANADA.

SUMMER SUGGESTIONS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Like Neighbor Everready, here I come again with a few summer suggestions and a poem written by B. F. Brown of Brooklyn, Conn. He lived on the farm that was once the home of General Israel Putnam. He now lives in Providence. I have a copy of his poem and a very sweet little book it is.

Summer Suggestions: A thin application of a good hat dye, of the same color your hat was originally, will make a faded straw hat look like new.

To avoid spotting when applying the dye, squeeze the brush almost dry, attempt to cover only a small space at one time and then brush quickly and lightly to work the liquid into the spaces.

A paste of sulphur and lemon juice applied to light colored straw hats (Milan, Leghorn, Panama, and the like) acts as an excellent bleach and stain remover. Hydrogen peroxide is also a good agent for sunburnt light strawed.

Plain white paper napkins crushed and placed in the bottom of the pan in which fried foods are drained will absorb the surplus fat and prevent it from soaking into the food of sticking to the outside.

The same plan may be followed when reheating doughnuts and crullers.

I use the oil paper that comes from baker's bread, angel food or sponge cake should not be cut with a knife. Pull it apart instead, using two forks back to back. Not only is the grain of the cake better, but the task is more easily accomplished.

One of the most attractive rugs I have heard of was made by crocheting three-quarter inch strips, cut from old silk stockings. The result was a very soft rug, easily washed.

P. S.: This was left out of my last letter.

I wish you could all see the shadows at "Nipnet," as well as the lawn on the next place, which belongs to an acquaintance and is well named Shadow Lawn.

THE LAST ROSE OF SUMMER.

A VISIT TO THE WIGWAM.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I want to tell you about the Wigwam, or Mohegan festival. I was there all day Thursday and had a fine time and a good dinner. I had the best succotash I ever ate, doughnuts, cake, ice cream with yokeag for my dinner. I bought some yokeag to take home with me for I am very fond of it and no one can make it to taste like what they make.

For the benefit of those who have never seen any I will explain how it is prepared. They take the common yellow field corn, parch it and grind it in a large mortar until it is as fine as flour. You eat it with ice cream, milk or dry. It is delicious. It sells for a dollar a quart and one man from New London bought seven quarts and ordered three more made for him. I know him and I think he is going to supply all his neighbors as well as himself.

I had not been to the Wigwam for a good many years and all those I used to see there of the Mohegan tribe have passed to their happy hunting grounds. But there are some of their descendants who keep up the old time customs of their ancestors.

It is 63 years since they held their first Wigwam festival and it is still conducted in the same manner as at the start, for I used to go every year when the elder Fieldings were in their prime.

The Wigwam is made new every year in front of the little church. They drive posts into the ground, put poles across and cover these with cedars. There is a kitchen attached to the church where they make their clam chowders and succotash. It is a pretty little church with carpeted floors, cushioned seats and a small pipe organ. They have a woman speaker every Sunday who has been with them 14 years. It was open so people could go in and rest if they desired.

There were a good many baskets made in fancy shapes and colors. I saw one lady take all the ten-cent ones. They had 25 or more. I think she was preparing for Christmas. They said they sold most of their fancy articles on Wednesday. Most of their aprons were sold before night Thursday and they were expecting a big crowd Thursday night. They had quantities of home made food and their cake was fine. I saw one loaf sold for $5. They told me some of it was baked that morning. I guess every housekeeper stocked up on cake for there were two or three kept busy wrapping it up all the afternoon.

There was a Mr. Hamilton there who travels with a Victrola. He played and also sang with the records which was very entertaining. He makes it a business to attend such festivals and said he had traveled for 35 years.

People came from everywhere. I saw one from Los Angeles, several from Mystic, one from Vermont, two from Massachusetts and several Corner sisters from Norwich and Willimantic. I met a good many old acquaintances whom I had not seen for a long time. I arrived home at 6 o'clock and considered the day well spent.

Hoping the Corner page will be full to overflowing I will say au revoir.

DOM PEDRO.

GREETINGS FROM PEGGY ANNE.

Dear Cornerites: Have just been reading a few of the Corner pages that were sent to me and was glad to see so many of the old writers amongst the letter writers.

It has been a long time since I've written, but I've kept interested just the same. I often think of the many good times that I've had at the meetings and picnics.

I attended a Sunday school picnic at Mohegan park Aug. 2 and met a great many sisters of Club No. 3, some of whom were new members.

Jill: Our first meeting was under very trying circumstances. Am very glad our last was different.

Ella Lu: Was glad to have a short visit with you.

L. H. K.: Have you been huckleberrying this summer? I have picked and sold seven bushels, and expect to pick more if the weather permits.

Aunt Sarah: Hope to see you on Labor day.

Rhody Louise: I am wondering if I know you. Do you live near Neighbor, only around the curve towards Chestnut Hill?

Olive: I shall try to find you some day, though we are not in the same town.

How many of the members who are Pythian Sisters, except to attend the convention in New London in October? I do, for one.

Jane Ann: Hope you'll take good care of Nat so that he'll be able to attend his pigs, etc. Was glad to meet you Aug. 2.

Dom Pedro: What a nice vacation you must have had. Am familiar with the places you spoke of in your letter.

Best wishes to the Corner.

PEGGY ANNE (May 2)

SMALL JOB FOR A BIG FAMILY

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: I should put into practice what I preach, and should write for the Corner as well as to ask you all to write and will now try to do so. Surely such a large family, and continually increasing should be able to fill the Corner page. It does not need to be New Year's day or a birthday to make new resolutions. But resolutions alone will not do, we must make them and keep them, so not only let us say we will, but let us do, leting nothing interfere with our writing a letter if our health will permit. And if we can't write just when we would let us do so as soon as we feel that we can.

I must grieve our good editor to see the letters for that column falling short each week. There might be an excuse if our membership was less, but such a large family should be able to fill the page without fail. So let each of us try to do our bit from this time on. For the sake of our editor and sisters, who have gone to the Eternal Home let us keep the Corner page a live and useful page in the future as it has been in the past.

Just think summer is on the wane, September is at hand and the vacation season will soon be past. It has been a disappointing season for crops in this vicinity. Crops are poor and fruit scarce, still we should not be discouraged. Maybe 1924 will make up for the past two years.

Everyone is now interested in the coal situation and we are glad that we can feel that President Coolidge will do his best to relieve the situation. Of course we known that there are sides to this question as well as to all others, but if every year or every years the price of coal increases as it has the past few years I don't see how many can provide this necessity and it does seem as if something should be done, if it can be done, to prevent the price of coal from advancing in the future. One has looked forward each year, hoping that the price would be cheaper another year; instead, strikes and high prices still confront us, but, we will hope on and look forward to a change in the situation in the future.

How you must all enjoy your outdoor picnics. I enjoyed reading the account of your day spent at the beach and also many post cards I received giving me an idea of the beach where you derived so much pleasure.

I thank each sister who remembered me on that day with a card, and may you all have many more such good times.

I hope the sick members are better, and the invalids as comfortable as possible, and that each one of you have benefitted by the rest you have had during the summer and that those who have not been able to go away have been able to enjoy themselves at home.

Best wishes.

DIANA.

LEARNING THE TRADE.

Dear Social Corner Friends: Grace was the youngest of six children, all of whom were trained to humor the baby. When Grace went to school, she was not interested in school work and so did not wish to do much of it.

The teacher, knowing the attitude of the family, did not wish to offend them and so allowed Grace to do as she pleased.

A substitute teacher required her to learn her lessons and behave properly but was told by the sister that Grace was younger and not expected to do things.

After the death of the parents, Grace became unmanageable and was finally sent to an institution, while the other five became capable and respected citizens.

Grace was just as intelligent and capable a child as either of the others, but the unfortunate circumstances allowed in the home and in the school ruined her life, just as it has so many others.

The training of each child in the home and in the school should make it impossible for such cases to occur.

We would not allow a factory to send out automobiles that could not be used, so why expect and allow a worse system for the home and the school? Why not learn the right way to train the child and do it? And why was Grace brought up different from the others in the same home?

Because the family, being poor and having to work hard, needed the help of the older children, and so they naturally learned responsibility by helping.

Grace was allowed to do all the things an untaught, spoiled child will do, the others were not, because it would have been impossible to live in such a home with six spoiled children. But everybody likes to pet and spoil a child without seeming to think of the effect on that child's life.

Each child and each automobile should be expected to work perfectly and independently.

An auto that has to be pulled home by another is about as useful as some people.

One young couple began housekeeping with the idea of having everything they wanted, with the result that they soon wanted much more than they could earn.

The husband soon learned a more businesslike way of managing but the wife did not and continued to waste away their income in spite of his wishes and soon bitterly envied other families who were wiser.

Another couple began with the idea that the new home was just a business proposition, the same as any business, and that it would be a disgrace not to make a success of their business, and so with thoughtful planning and careful buying and saving they succeeded until they owned a pretty home and could afford to have everything they needed.

Unless the child develops the power to decide by reasons, he can only be guided by the physical or animal instincts. Without much attention a child will pick up a few ideas from the home or from his companions and make those the major ideas for his conduct. Often he takes just the opposite ideas of those in his good home, for the reason that we do not sufficiently explain reasons and motives so that he can understand why they are right and the best, and the best reasons are beyond his comprehension and distasteful to the lively inexperienced child.

The discussion of self-government for institutions should be based on the fact that before you can make use of it you must create the character and bring back the self-respect that the person has lost, through force of wrong circumstances earlier in life.

Self-government is the only form of government that gives good results, but it cannot be made to work unless the persons are willing to be guided by character and reason and justice. A system of government that only recognizes crime and punishment will not do much good.

Underneath the wrong conduct is still the same ability to do right that every child possesses and the right methods would develop and create the desire to do better and to live a useful life if the person could know that the disgrace could be blotted out and forgotten, and that they would be respected.

JEREMY.

GRAPE CONSERVE.

Dear Social Corner Friends: I have a plain white platter which some one left at Wildwood Park the day of our picnic. Hope to hear from the owner and to see her at my home some day.

Was very much interested in how Dorinda spent her prize dollar and if I only knew where she got her paper would like to spend one in the same way.

One of our Corner readers told me a while ago that she thought I was wrong when I stated in one of my letters that it was two miles from the Dark Lantern school house to the Fisk place.

Now if I made a mistake am always glad to be corrected, so hope she will ride over that road some day and tell us all about it in the Corner page for it has been many years since I went over that road. We are looking for new writers all the time so hope to hear from her.

As A. P. is calling for different ways of using grapes I am sending in one which is very nice and very rich. It was given to me as "heavenly jell," but I think a more appropriate name would be

Grape Conserve—Four pounds of grapes, five pounds of sugar, one and one-half pounds of raisins, four oranges. Cook grapes in as little water as possible, cool and sift. Put oranges and raisins through food chopper and add to grapes and sugar and cook till thick, then put in sterilized tumblers and seal with paraffine. If grapes and oranges are not very sour I would use less sugar.

Mary Gusta. It is about time you wrote a letter, so why not tell us about the nice time you had during your vacation? And I know we all would appreciate a 1492 letter.

TWICE TWENTY.

A REMINISCENCE OF AUG. 8.

Dear Social Corner Pals: Just a few lines to help do my bit to the Corner.

One summer's day we went to play on a sandy beach not far away. Our cameras we took with us for fun and when the sun came out the frolic began.

We each sat, or stood, with such smiling faces, and were delighted to be in such places. We wandered about for excitement, or pleasure, and we sure did find it in an unexpected measure. The Jap and his wares with our purse did share, while our joys were mixed (?) with little Jocko's tricks. The homeward journey then filled our minds, and with sighs and regrets we left waves and sand.

Best wishes to all.

HOPE COBWEB.

With a salary of $1,000,00 a year, Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific system, is said to be the highest paid railway executive in the world.

GOING TO PENNSYLVANIA BY AUTO.

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Editor: When I read Rural Aunty's nice interesting letters I feel ashamed of myself because I do not take time to contribute my bit to the Social Corner as she does. Am glad she won a prize. I always feel I don't have anything to write that will interest others, but will send a line this morning.

We had hard showers last night and all are glad, as it was needed. This morning the air is pure and sweet and all nature seems to rejoice. Some of the sisters ask us to write of our pleasure trips so I'll tell you of mine. Hubby and I spent one day at Rocky Point and two at Lord's Point with our children and grandchildren and enjoyed it very much. Last Sunday we went to Willimantic Camp meeting and heard a wonderful sermon by Rev. Frank Kingdom of Boston. I thought, as I looked on the large audience, perhaps some of the Social Corner sisters are here, but I did not recognize one. My son and his wife and baby of Auburn, R. I., were there and it was a pleasure to meet them; also other friends. But I must tell you of our trip to Pennsylvania. My son-in-law invited Hubby and I to go with him and his wife and son on a motor trip to Pennsylvania and in the early morning on August 1st we started in his nice Cadillac car and by evening were at our destination near Scranton having had a fine ride of 308 miles.

Our trip took us from Hartford to Poughkeepsie where we crossed the Hudson river and went from there to Newburg and on to Point Jervis and crossed the Delaware river. Then to Stroudsburg and on to Scranton. It was a delightful drive. We had fine cement roads and could speed along with no traffic officers to bid us halt. All along the way were parking places for tourists where they could purchase a lunch if they wished. Our relatives were royal entertainers wanting to take us to all places of interest and one day we enjoyed a picnic at a beautiful lake.

Scranton is built over coal mines and the men went down in one mine, but I did not care to go. The mountains interested me more. They were grand. On our return trip we spent one day with cousins in Port Jervis and they took us on the sky line drive to Point Peter. On the summit a flag is waving and we were 1,200 feet above the city. I enjoyed it very much. We also went to the tri-states rock on which is a monument and when you step on this rock you stand in three states. It was a wonderful trip for me and something I shall always treasure in my memory. We reached home safely after a week's delightful outing.

Now comes canning and busy fall work. Schools will soon open and many will be leaving home, but it is a beautiful world and we can be happy in doing our bit in making others happy. I hope I haven't made this letter too long, but I will be glad to see the page full.

Best wishes to all.

GRANDMA GRAY.

MORE PICNICS.

Dear Corner Friends: Some one said to write more letters and I think we need to until there are more writers.

Was pleased to read last week, of the trips and picnics, as, my happiest days this summer have been when I have taken lunch and spent part of the day by the brookside in the pasture where everything was beautiful and there was nothing to annoy. Sometimes I was alone and sometimes I had a companion but was never lonely with the birds and trees.

One day I was invited to take a ride and we took lunch for the horses as well as for ourselves. We ate our dinner on a rock in the middle of a beautiful brook where the trees made a canopy overhead. This was a perfect day. (June 30.)

Must not forget to mention our Sunday school picnic which was held at a lake in our neighboring town. The weather was fine and we were pleased to see all the people.

Early in the season I went with friends to one of our state parks. It was very nice though a rainy day picnic. We got some good pictures.

Only once have I been to the shore and as it is quite a distance, we did not have long to stay.

Now I have one more trip planned which I hope not to miss. It will be by train and lunch is to be at some tea room.

Think this will bring the picnic season to a close.

A VACATION AT THE SHORE

Dear Social Corner Friends: I think it is about time I wrote to you all, as you want to know where we spend our vacations.

I spent mine at Groton Long Point. Hubby and I went for a week and stayed three weeks. It was hard work to get away then but it is nice to go when the going is good so you can make another visit some time.

I had several invitations to Groton Long Point but never stayed so long before. When it gets built up more it will be quite a pretty place, but there is so much wild carrot there now. That spoils any place I think and it is against the law of Connecticut to have wild carrot on your land, but laws do not awount to much unless enforced.

When someone rapped and I went to the door to find Bug I was as surprised to see her as she was to see me I do not think much of Bug's pen name. If I had it I would change it. I do not know what kind she is but there is no kind that I like. When I used to know Bug years ago she was a sort of Jenny Lind. Why would that not make a good name for her? Wish she would try it for a while and see if she doesn't like it better.

I am sorry not to go to more of the picnics for I do enjoy them. I planned to meet the sisters at Ocean Beach but my cousin was sick so I would not leave her as I wanted one of her daughters to go with me. So I will go there some other time.

We had many auto rides while on our vacation. I had never been to Quonochontaug, and did not fall in love with that place, but did like Watch Hill. I used to go there often 25 years ago, but there has been such a change I would not know where I was. I went to the bathing beach which was as fine as ever, but I could not find my way to the old hulk and do not know whether it is there or not. They used to tell me it was burned there in 1865.

Then we went to Pleasant View. That has changed since I was there but the waves are good though. Then one day we had a caller from Plainfield. She wanted to go to Lord's Point and we took her. There are not as many cottages as at Groton Long Point. Did not like the sand fleas for they bit me something terrible. All those things like me for some reason.

We used to go to Noank in the boat and went there several times. Between the boat and the auto I was on the go somewhere a good deal. Some time there was one auto and sometimes four and they always wanted Rose Lee to go with them, and I didn't want to hurt their feelings by refusing to go.

We enjoyed the sea food so fresh and nice. We had lots of round clams for chowder, fresh lobsters and fresh fish. I never like the kind that is caught in 1922 and eaten in 1923.

Men came along with long clams for 30 cents quart but here in W. they are two quarts for a quarter. Tomatoes are 35 cents a pound at the shore and here I can get all I want fresh at seven pounds for a quarter. They ask all the law will allow here we think some times but it's robbery at the shore.

AN EASY WAY TO WASH.

Dear Sisters: I thought I would tell you how I manage with the family washing. I thought it might help some sister. A good many people think that wash day is the hardest day of the week. It's no use to stand and rub the clothes two or three hours. Let the soap take some of the dirt out. This is the way I manage. First pick up all the soiled clothes and then put the wash boiler on the stove and fill it half full of cold water. Then put in a heaping cup of washing powder or other soap accordingly and add two tablespoons of kerosene oil. That helps to remove stains. Let them come to a boil stirring often and then take out and rinse in two good waters. You don't need to rub any of the pieces, only rinse up and down in the water. You might have to rub the collars and wristbands a little but that's all. Put everything in that's white and while they are on the stove make suds for the colored clothes of cold water. Next take the cleanest and put them through this. Have the water cold and when the white clothes are taken out put in others to scald a few minutes and so on until they have all been scalded. Rinse in cold water. I do my washing and have a lot of time for other work. Hope some one will try this way and let me know how they like it.

Some one was asking me to tell of my trip to Pennsylvania. I think she made a mistake about my going. I think she must have meant Grandma Gray. She has just returned from there. I hope she will tell us about it soon. Well I have got my collection nearly done to take to the fair at Brooklyn, a set of table mats, a hand bag, a night dress yoke, a baby carriage robe and a graphanola scarf, all knit but the yoke, so you see I have been pretty busy.

Will send a recipe for pickle lily which is very good.

Pickle Lilly: One peck of tomatoes, two large head of cabbage, two tablespoons each of cinnamon, clove and alspice, and about two cups of vinegar and two cups of sugar and about five or six cups of water. Put on stove and cook one hour. Put in jars and seal hot.

Be content with what you have,
The skies will brighten o'er you.
Be content with what you have.
There's better days before you.

Three cheers for the Social Corner.

RURAL AUNTY.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

THE MAGIC RING AND NAPKIN

Now, it's a very uncomfortable feeling to be hiding in a closet and hear people hunting high and low for you. So, at last, Little Jack Rabbit boldly opened the door and hopped out.

"I am a traveller and would be thankful if you would give me a night's lodging," he said to the three little men, holding out his paw.

"Who hid you in the closet?" asked all three little men at once, looking suspiciously at the poor little parrot.

"I did," she answered.

"Begone! You careless bird," shouted the three little men, pushing the poor little parrot out into the night.

"Now, you go," they cried, turning to the little bunny boy.

"Most willingly," he answered, "but keep your hands off or I will burn you with my magic feather," and the little rabbit waved the feather at them as he slipped out of the doorway.

"Come with me, little parrot" he said, "you and I will be comrades," and picking up the little bird, he placed her upon his shoulder and hopped away into the darkness.

By and by they came to a forest where they slept under a tree till morning. Dear me! They were very hungry when they woke up but there was nothing to eat except herbs and nuts.

"Come, let's look for a mouse," cried Little Jack Rabbit, hopping down a path that led through the forest. After a while he stopped at a hollow tree where a little dwarf sat dressed in a green suit and a high peaked hat.

"We are very hungry," sighed the bunny boy, stroking the parrot. "I have money to pay for food."

"Sit down," said the dwarf, and going inside the hollow tree, he soon came back with a tray covered with a white cloth on which was spread delicious food. When the bunny boy and the parrot had eaten their fill, the little dwarf said: "Take the napkin with you. It is a magic one. say to it, "Be covered with food and drink and your command will be obeyed."

"Take this in return," replied Little Jack Rabbit handing the dwarf a magic ring. Then, the bunny boy and his feathered friend went upon their way and after a little distance they heard a voice singing:

"Oh, I'm so hungry I could eat
A peppermint stick of forty feet,
A layer cake as big as a house
And a chocolate coated caramel mouse."

"Now's a good chance to use our magic napkin," said Little Jack Rabbit to the little parrot, and then shouted: "Who sings?" Whoever you are come here and you shall have your wish."

Then, spreading the magic napkin on the ground he said:

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

NEW LONDON RAILROAD UNIONIST TO BE TRIED UNDER SPECIAL LAW

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 31.—The police this morning conducted two raids at places where it had long been supposed that liquor was being dispensed. At one of the places a quantity of alcoholic beverages were seized, while at the other no evidence of the existence of liquor was found, but the owner of the place was taken into custody, charged with attempting to bribe an officer.

The alleged briber is Mrs. Helen Potowsky, North Bank street. She was held in bonds of $300 for her appearance in the police court tomorrow morning and furnished a surety. When arrested the woman was nursing an infant and after being placed in a cell the babe was brought to the station house and delivered to the mother.

Armed with a search warrant, Sergeant Nelson Smith, Motorcycle Officer William Babcock and Patrolmen William Graham, Clyde Murphy, Augustus Ray, James McKenna and Edward Daniels went to the Potowsky house shortly before noon. As the officers entered the place Mrs. Petowsky became excited and rushing toward Sergeant Smith, she is alleged to have inserted her hand in his pocket. When the officer removed the contents of the pocket he found a $10 bill there that he did not have when he entered the house. Mrs. Potowsky was taken into custody after a thorough search of the house had failed to reveal any signs of the illegal sale of liquor.

After the raid upon the Potowsky home, the officers went by automobile to the home of Harry Wolf, 5 Grand street. Wolf was not at home, but provided with a search warrant the officers entered the place and ransacked the entire building. A fifty-gallon keg, practically full of wine, was seized; an alcohol container, a gallon of home-made gin and a dozen bottles of alcohol were found, some of the alcoholic beverages being found secreted beneath burlap coverings and in out-of-the-way places. The liquor was conveyed to the police station. Wolf was held in bonds of $1,000 and furnished a surety in Abraham Gordon.

The officer had awaited the coming of Wolf and within ten minutes after the liquor had been started for the police station Wolf appeared in his automobile. Just before he reached the point where the officers were located in an automobile two women informed Wolf of what had occurred and he attempted to make a get-away, but he became so nervous in the handling of his machine that he was easily captured.

When the raid was being concluded Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Frank Philopena, under orders of the states attorney to run down rum-runners and illegal sellers of liquor, with Prohibition Enforcement Agents H. W. Avery and Joseph F. Fitzpatrick put in an appearance for the purpose of raiding the Wolf home.

It is claimed that Wolf has enjoyed a most profitable business at bootlegging for a number of months and the officers were armed with a warrant to search Wolf's automobile, in which, it is claimed, he made numerous daily delivery of pints and quarts of liquor to customers. It is claimed by the police that no later than yesterday Wolf was followed to the home of a customer and that he delivered a package containing liquor, just in advance of the arrival of the officer who traced him.

Sergeant Hick, Patrolman Philopena and Prohibition Enforcement Agents Avery and Fitzpatrick stated that they intercepted Wolf on Bank street a short time before the raid occurred and made a search of his automobile, but no liquor was found in it. However, the raiders declared that a can that had contained alcohol was found in the machine when Wolf was held up.

Mrs. Tony Visentetto of Westerly and Salvatore Silvestri of Tenth street, patients at Lawrence hospital, were able to go to their respective homes today.

Thomas W. Murphy, 22 Bunker avenue, Brockton, Mass., today communicated with the New London police, stating that his brother would arrive in this city Saturday for the purpose of taking charge of the former's automobile, which was seized last Tuesday night when the police apprehended Emil Valentine of Woonsocket, R. I., and John O'Brien of Avon, Mass., whom they believed had stolen the car. The young men were taken into custody when Valentine drove the car through the safety zone on State street; he did not possess an operator's license. In the police court the following day Valentine was fined $10 for violation of the automobile law and the car was held to await its owner.

Mrs. Rubin, 68 Jay street, reported to the police this afternoon that limbs of a tree in front of her home were falling into her yard and that pedestrians were liable to be struck by the decayed branches. The matter was reported to the highway department.

Miss Annie A. Magnan, 76, a maid in the employ of Miss M. E. Perkins, 355 Pequot avenue, died at Home Memorial hospital this morning, where she had been under treatment but a short time for infirmities attending age. Miss Magnan was a native of Ireland and had been in the employ of Miss Perkins 15 years.

Elizabeth Ferri, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Ferri, 78 Walbach street, died at Lawrence hospital yesterday morning as a result of burns which the girl sustained the night before, when her clothing became ablaze, the police claim, while using alcohol in the manufacture of home-made gin. Her funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at 62 Washington street. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mattie P. Harris has sold to Harry J. Remmert Sr., and Goldie M. Remmert a building lot on Crystal avenue.

Joseph F. and Edward T. Corcoran have sold their interest in the dwelling house at No. 652 Bank street, to Nellie Corcoran Cook.

When construction is started on business blocks to be erected on the Williams property, corner of Huntington and State streets, recently acquired by Frederick W. Mercer, J. P. Taylor Armstrong and Theodore Bodenwein, blasting will have to be resorted to. A huge bed of rock has already been uncovered.

The work of making alterations to the room of the Harbor school has been completed.

Because the regular meeting night of the city council falls on Labor Day, the meeting will adjourn to the following night. It is planned by City Manager James E. Barlow to submit a tentative budget, covering the expenses of the city from October 1st for another year. With the submitting of the budget numerous meetings of the council, as a committee, will take place until such time as the definite amounts for the several departments have been determined. A year ago the complete budget was not prepared until about nine months after the fiscal year had been begun.

The largest number of small craft to be at the Thames Towboat company's marine railway for repairs in a long time is that now at the yard receiving repairs or waiting their turn to be hauled out. Most of the craft are of the pleasure type.

James C. Wheeler, chief agent in charge of the prohibition force in Connecticut was in New London yesterday and paid a visit to States Attorney Hull. The state's attorney and Chief Agent Wheeler were in consultation for some time.

Adolph Hirsh of New York, driver of a pleasure automobile, was arrested in New London last midnight, charged with evading payment of toll when crossing Saybrook bridge. He was taken into custody when he appeared in New London following speeding across the bridge by Motorcycle Officer John Cavanaugh and after paying 55 cents at the police station, Hirsch was allowed to continue to his destination. Hirsch declared that he was not driving fast and did not realize that he passed over a bridge where toll is exacted.

Fire Chief John Stanners, who tendered his resignation to the city council a fortnight ago, was formally retired late this afternoon when City Manager James E. Barlow summoned Chief Stanners to the former's office in the municipal building and formally retired him. At the same time City Manager Barlow appointed Deputy Chief Charles Rose in place of Chief Stanners. Thomas Shipman, a member of the Niagara Engine company and former driver of the company's apparatus, was appointed to succeed Deputy Chief Rose. The appointments become effective tomorrow.

Chief Stanners has been a member of the New London fire department about 45 years and has been chief of the department about twenty-five years.

An automobile, owned and operated by William Hoffs, 147 North Bank street, and a machine, owned and driven by Peter Verenes, 58 Golden street, were in collision late this afternoon on Bank street. Damage was slight.

Harry Elmer French, a sailer, attached to the submarine, S-50, stationed at the submarine base, now under arrest at the base upon a charge of rape, will be delivered to the civil authorities tomorrow morning and in all probability will be given a hearing in the police court during the forenoon. The New London police were advised this evening by Lieut. Commander Crexfield, commandant of the submarine, that French will be brought to the public landing at 11 o'clock in the morning, under guard. Commander Crexfield requested that the civil authorities have an officer there to take charge of the prisoner.

"I desire to call to the attention of all citizens the fact that September 6th will be Lafayette-Marne Day, a day set apart for the celebration of the double anniversary of the birth of General Lafayette and of the battle of The Marne.

"The day is prominent in local history as the anniversary of the heroic defense of Fort Griswold by Colonel Ledyard and his men. Our people are asked to recognize that day by displaying our flag and the tri-color of France.

"It is ordered on that day that our flag be displayed on the municipal building and on the school buildings of the city, in observance of such anniversary."

The city council took up the matter of selling the steamer Mohegan, now used as a ferry boat between New London and Groton, and unanimously voted against the sale of the boat. The city was offered $13,000 for the boat by New York parties. The council also decided to continue the operation of the boat as at present under the management of Charles T. Willard. Groton was represented at the meeting by Warden Hempstead and by Burgess Whaley and Henry C. Miner.

Application for appointment as city manager was received from Hervey C. Rogers and from H. G. Hinkley. The council in committee of the whole considered these applications with others now in hand.

Ernest W. Schiffler, railroad unionist, who was tried in the police court here and in New Haven for sabotage, will come before the superior court at its term next week on the same charge on which he was given a hearing in the police courts. It was found at the time Schiffler was presented in New Haven that there was no law on the statute books that would apply to just the offense he was accused of, so State's Attorney Alling of New Haven had the legislature pass one that fitted the case. On that Schiffler is now to be tried.

COUGHS DISTURB SCHOOL WORK

School teachers should give the same advice to children who have coughs as did this Florida teacher. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates. Ingredients printed on the wrapper. Quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup. The Lee & Osgood Co.

HOW COOKING WAS DISCOVERED

AN OLD CHINESE LEGEND

Bo-bo, son of the swineherder Ho-ti, discovered the secret of roasting a pig.

Charles Lamb tells the story with the utmost gravity and the world is content to believe.

It was in an obscure Chinese village, centuries ago. Bo-bo was left in charge of the cottage of Ho-ti. Bo-bo was fond of playing with fire and let some sparks escape into a bundle of straw which, kindling quickly, spread the conflagration over every part of the house until it was reduced to ashes. With the house perished nine young pigs.

While Bo-bo was regarding the ruins, a tantalizing odor assailed his nostrils. Lamb says, "A premonitary moistening at the same time overflowed his nether lip." Bo-bo bent down to one of the pigs to see if there was any life left in it. In poking at it some of the hot juices burnt his finger and he straightaway put it in his mouth to relieve the pain. In this fashion he discovered that as far as eating is concerned, roasted pig is preferable to raw pig—a thing his ancestors had never discovered.

It was not long before the news spread, and the legend goes that soon fires broke out in every corner of the Chinese Empire. Fuel and pigs grew enormously dear, and the custom of firing houses continued until a sage arose who made a discovery that the flesh of swine, or any other animal might be cooked without the necessity of consuming a whole house.

It is a ludicrous and pathetic legend. Think of a primitive people, firing their homes in order that they might enjoy that roast pork which our modern range turns out, browned to just the right degree.

The modern mind laughs at the story of Bo-bo and his discovery, and the modern epicure would turn away from a roast that was accomplished amidst the debris of a dwelling, its straw, rafters and furnishings.

Thus has the world progressed. From Bo-bo and his bonfire to the twentieth century housewife and her Sterling Range.

Think of the ease with which she roasts her meats nowadays. With an efficient Sterling Range, cooking becomes a delight. Think of the economy! Whether she burns coal or gas in the Scientific Sterling, every bit of fuel is converted into heat. How different from the poor makeshift of Bo-bo, who had to destroy his entire dwelling, and then there was no assurance that the pig would be roasted to a turn.

With the Sterling Range, the cook takes no chances. It has been scientifically built by men and women who know, and this insures accurate cooking results at a minimum cost.

The Sterling, whether baking a barrel of flour with a single hod of coal, or roasting the holiday dinner, is the ideal range of today.

If you have an old range in your kitchen you, like Bo-bo, burn up a lot of unnecessary fuel to accomplish results. Fuel costs real money nowadays—money it will pay you to save. Call on your Sterling Dealer today. Choose just the model that suits you best and then ask him about the convenient budget plan of payment which enables the range through the savings it effects to earn a big share of its purchase price.

In Plum Gut, Long Island, it is reported that five-pound bluefish are being taken, and these fish are looked for off Watch Hill point a week or ten days from now When the cooler weather starts snapper bluefish start running into the coves, where they are caught near the cove outlets with jigger rigs on pole lines. Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Driscoll told their stories to Deputy Sheriff J. T. Dolan, the former claiming that a warning lantern was lighted and displayed at the close of work. The latter claims that no lantern was showing when he hit the mixer. Witnesses tell of a number of cars approaching with blinding headlights from the north at the time. There is an electric street light that was in operation almost over the place where the mixer stood. A fact of the collision that permits of no argument is that for some reason or other the driver got mixed with the mixer, which he failed to see. The occupants of the Hudson were uninjured.

MARKET WAS QUIET.

New York, Aug. 31.—Constructive factors were at work in today's stock market with the result that prices stiffened considerably after an early period of heaviness. Trading, however, was of the usual quiet pre-holiday character.

Morning paper reports of war-like preparations on the part of Italy against Greece and predictions that Governor Pinchot's proposals would not be accepted by both parties to the miners' wage dispute brought a fairly large volume of selling orders into the market at the opening, the recessions running as high as 4 points. There offerings were well absorbed, however, and within half an hour the market was pointed upward again.

The rally did not assume very extensive proportions, however, until after the official announcement of the resumption of diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States which was followed by moderate buying demonstrations in the stocks of companies interested in Mexican government itself. This announcement, which was followed by a report that the miners had accepted the Pinchot plan as a basis for further negotiation and that the operators, while objecting to the 10 per cent. wage increase, would accept it on condition that an agreement putting it into effect over a long term of years be effected, imparted a firm tone to the rest of the list.

Dun's Business Review states that "Signs point more clearly to a gradual breaking away from the summer lull in some branches of business adding that "while conservatism continues to govern most operations, with some hesitation induced by prevailing uncertainties, more interest in forward requirements is noted and September is expected to bring about a further quickening of demand." Bradstreet's sets forth that "there are more cross currents visible in trade, crops and industry, and business operations generally have reflected the desire to make the most of the last week of the vacation season, but the more cheerful tone recently noted continues unabated."

U. S. Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, American Can and most of the other pivotal stocks showed small fractional gains on the day. Davison Chemical, whose spectacular fluctuations featured yesterday's market, ranged between 51 and 56, closing at 52 2-4 for a net loss of 2 3-4. Official investigation of yesterday's fluctuations was ordered by the business conduct committee of the exchange this afternoon.

A jump of 5 points in Willys Overland Preferred was attributed to the perfection of arrangements to care for a large block of stock that has been overhanging the market and rumors of an early resumption of dividends. Merchandising issues, particularly Cluett Peabody, were strong on reports of improved trade conditions. Buying by shorts was held responsible for the advance in Famous Players, which got as high as 77 1-4.

Call money opened at 5 1-2 per cent. but dropped to 5 before the close. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges receded slightly, demand sterling falling 1-2 a cent to $4.54 1-4 and French Francs falling 5 points to 5.59 1-2 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—European news of a bullish character, along with higher cables and strength in the hog market, gave a firm tone to the wheat market today. Toward the close, however, support fell off and values failed to retain advances established earlier in the day. At the finish wheat was unchanged to 1-4c lower, with Dec. $1.04 7-8 to $1.05 and May $1.10 3-4 to $1.10 3-4@7-8; corn was up 1-8 to 1 1-8; oats 1-8@1-4c. Higher and provisions gained 5 to 15c.

News from abroad, especially that pertaining to Italy and Greece, was readily absorbed by the bulls and wheat values started with an upward swing. Higher Liverpool cables helped to lift values here, as did hog values, which were the highest of the season. Firmness in the cash market also was a bullish factor, but when buyers withdrew, the market became easier, offerings were light, receipts being estimated at 275 cars.

Trade was light, commission houses being moderate buyers. The Seaboard confirmed sales of 300,000 bushels hard winter wheat to the United Kingdom and it was expected that 200,000 bushels more would be worked before night. Sales of 100,000 bushels wheat was made to go to store.

Corn was firm with the September delivery leading the upturn, strength in the cash market being an influence to some extent, buying was scattered with some profit-taking on the advance.

Buying by a leading cash interest was a helpful factor to higher levels in the oats market.

Provisions were strong and higher in an active trade.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Aug. 31.—Activity of Mexican bonds featured today's irregular trading in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange. Both the 4s and 5s of the Mexican government climbed more than a point in transactions immediately following formal announcement of the resumption of diplomatic relations between the Republic and the United States. Subsequently, however, the 5s yielded slightly and closed only fractionally above yesterday's final figures. The 4s were 1 3-8 higher on the day.

Domestic rails and industrials moved irregularly within a narrow trading area. Advances of a point or more were recorded by Gerro De Pasco 8s, Detroit Edison Refunding 6s, Goodyear 5s of 1931, Kansas Gas & Electric 6s and Sinclair Oil 7s.—Virginia Carolina Chemical 1-2s, with warrants, off 1 1-8, was the only outstanding heavy spot among the industrials.

Railroad mortgages inclined downward but the majority of these issues closed within fractions of yesterday's closing prices. Union Pacific first 4s and the refunding 4s, each dropped a point on reports that the road was negotiating for $20,000,000 loan, Chicago Great Western 4s fell off 1 3-8 and St. Paul 4s of, 1925 declined a point.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Aug. 31.—Price fluctuations in today's curb market were narrow and irregular, but with the most active issues inclined to continue their rise to higher ground. Trading was dull and lifeless.

Standard Oils of India and New York, mutual and international, registered nominal gains while Vacuum and Gulf of Pennsylvania were slightly reactionary. Imperial of Canada dropped 2 1-2 points on a few sales.

Brooklyn cities railroad was fractionally higher on publication of the annual report showing net income of $2,265,214 as compared with $1,765,528 in the previous fiscal year. Glen Alden coal closed fractionally lower. Motors were again sluggish.

The bond market was featured by the activity of Mexican 4s which closed more than a point higher on sales of approximately $140,000.

MOOSUP

At a nuptial high mass celebrated by Rev. Joseph E. McCarthy at All Hallows' church in Moosup Monday morning, Miss Rose Frances Wakeley of Central Village became the bride of Augustus Louis Couture of Moosup. The bride wore white satin and a veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Stella V. Duxbury of Central Village, wore blue canton crepe and a black velvet hat and carried pink roses.

The bride received many gifts, including money, cut glass, linen and silver. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the best man a gold stickpin. The bride's gift to the groom was a pair of gold cuff links and to the bridesmaid a pearl rosary.

A breakfast was served at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Couture left for Old Orchard, Me. On their return they will reside in Moosup.

...er the lack of it, usually is the deciding factor in determining the success or failure of a business institution.

Some tire dealers confine themselves to selling nothing but "made-up-to-sell-cheap" or "Gyp" tires. These dealers usually are unsuccessful, because their business is economically unsound.

Many dealers feature a GOOD brand of tires together with a "Gyp" brand catering to both classes of motorists—the quality purchaser and the "price-shopper".

Customers of these dealers often are undecided which grade of tire to purchase—and frequently are misled.

MONTFORD TIRES

We wish to go on record as advocating the purchase of NOTHING BUT THE BEST. Don't be tempted to "save" some money by buying cheap tires. It is NOT saving—it is EXTRAVAGANCE. Why gamble GOOD MONEY against inferior materials, under-size, too few plies of cord, and cheap, hasty workmanship.

Our wholesale direct-to-the-public plan gives you the opportunity to secure unusually low mileage costs. One MONTFORD will outlast, outwear and stand more abuse than TWO or THREE "cheap" tires. MONTFORD is the equal of any GOOD tire ever built—and the superior of most of them.

SUES SPIRITUALIST ASSOCIATION FOR DAMAGES OF $5,000

The Connecticut Spiritualist Camp Meeting association of Windham, Reuben B. S. Washburn of Norwich and John E. Haviland of Portchester, N. Y., are made defendants in an $5,000 damage suit brought by George N. Mahaney of New York and filed with the clerk of the superior court for New London county. A controversy over a right of way at the Spiritualist association's camp grounds at Pine Grove is the basis for the suit brought by Mr. Mahaney.

The plaintiff in the complaint states that he is the owner of three lots purchased from Mabel F. Root, who purchased them from the Spiritualist association, and known as 15 and 16 River street, Niantic. It is alleged that the association leased a lot known as lost 17 to Mr. Washburn, which lot occupies a portion of the street between the plaintiff's land and the river and used by the plaintiff as a right of way to reach his property. Mr. Washburn, it is alleged, erected a building on lot 17, which building interferes with the plaintiff's use of the right of way.

It is also alleged that Mr. Haviland has come into possession of a lot known as lot No. 13, which lies entirely within the limits of the road or street in dispute. Mr. Haviland has made improvements on the lot which interfere with the use of the right of way by the plaintiff.

The plaintiff asks the superior court to issue a mandatory injunction compelling the defendants to remove all obstructions they have placed on the street and restraining the association from further occupying the street. Damages of $5,000 are also asked.

MADE MANAGER OF NEW PALACE THEATRE

William H. Harding of Pawtucket, R. I., for the past two years manager of the Strand theatre in that city, will arrive in Norwich soon to take over the management of the new Palace theatre in this city, to be opened in a few weeks.

The Strand theatre of Pawtucket was built by A. A. Spitz, who has built the Palace theatre here. Mr. Harding comes to Norwich highly recommended.

Both Mr. Spitz and Mr. Harding were in Norwich Friday, looking over the new theatre and watching the work of installing the new, large and handsome organ which is to furnish music for the theatre. It is expected that the theatre will be opened early in October.

Mr. Harding started in the show business in 1896 with the B. F. Keith company and attracted the attention of Mr. Spitz. Under his direction in Pawtucket many successful theatre gatherings have been held in Pawtucket for the benefit of charitable, patriotic or social organizations. He recently received an offer from Goldstein Brothers' Amusement company, but preferred to remain with Mr. Spitz.

Mr. Harding, who is known in the theatrical world as "Smiling Bill," is married and has four children, one of them in the second year in high school.

Although he regrets to leave Pawtucket, Mr. Harding states that it is a pleasure to come to Norwich to manage a theatre for Mr. Spitz, who taught him the theatre managing business.

OLD HOME CELEBRATION AT WESTMINSTER MONDAY

Old Home Patriotic Day plans for Monday are progressing, and it looks as if there will be a large attendance of residents, former residents and descendants of the early residents and their friends. The exercises in the church at 10 a. m. will consist of devotional service, patriotic recitations from children of Westminster's various schools, addresses by a speaker to be sent by the state board of education, by Mrs. Frink, state representative at the last assembly, and reminiscences by former Westminsterites, or descendants of such. Old time hymns will be interspersed.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock on the church green near the cemetery. Patriotic songs, led by instruments, will be interspersed with the speaking. Some of those expected to speak are Mrs. Henry Dorrance of Plainfield, who has fully identified the 26 Revolutionary graves here; George S. Godard, state librarian, Hartford; George Hale Nutting, Boston, a trustee of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and A. C. Greene, sixty years a resident member of Westminster church.

There are many other graves of known Revolutionary soldiers in other cemeteries of Westminster; one in the private Spicer cemetery, also on Westminster Hill. Having a bronze marker. In time, it is hoped individuals or societies will have all these graves of America's defenders in all the wars marked. Meanwhile having these 26 marked in the one yard by Westminster church, is a town event of considerable moment.

MRS. COFFMAN ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sidell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am never too busy to tell some suffering sister of my help, and you can use my name and letter to spread the good news of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."—Mrs. IDA M. COFFMAN, R. R. 2, Sidell, Ill.

POETRY

The ships that go forth to the eastward
To the land of heart's desire,
Have beautiful sails unfurled—
Like great white birds they soar.

Or a sea that is yet uncharted
Where the wind of chance prevails,
Spirits the ships onward,
In the pride of their shining sails.

Fast they speed, and
And [illegible]
And we know not [illegible] under
Our [illegible] ships may bring.

The ships that sail home to the westward
To the harbor of lost desire,
Have masts alight in the sunset,
And sails of crimson fire.

Their cargoes of [illegible]
The keels [illegible]
And the wind that [illegible] home
Is the breath of a [illegible]

How many will be the twilight,
Where the lights of the harbor shine!
Yon ship so over-laden—
Friend, is it yours, or mine?
—Dorothy Davis Cobbam, in Boston Transcript.

FALL SOON COMES TO TOWN.

My hollyhocks fade in my garden side,
The crickets cries grow shrill as night drops down;
The chill on my porch at twilight flows—
Alas, I know that Fall soon comes to town!

The south wind blows more strong at fall
Of dusk,
Ah, and the dark so soon comes falling down
The sumachs line their petticoats with red—
Alas, I know that Fall soon comes to town!

The white moon's silver buckle in the West
Seems with the warm to shine less warmly down;
The dusty fields grow tawny brown and dry—
Alas, I know that Fall soon comes to town!

It seems unkind to greet Fall, with a frown,
And yet and yet—why must she come to town?
—Agnes Choate Wesson, in Boston Globe.

Fires broke out everywhere and the flames, fanned by the strong wind, spread in all directions. It was impossible to control them, as the water supply failed at the critican moment.

When the correspondent left at 9 o'clock in the evening many of the government offices had been burned, including the home department and the metropolitan police station.

The correspondent estimates that 300,000 houses were reduced to ashes, and the fire was still burning in many places. Estimates of the casualties for the moment are uncertain, but they are believed to have been enormous.

Troops and doctors were doing splendid work in rendering first aid. Many workmen were killed or injured in the government printing offices. Six hundred persons were killed at the Nihonbashi electric plant.

P.)—Tokio, Yokohama and neighboring cities tonight were burning ruins while more than 100,000 persons in the vicinity of these cities were reported dead as a result of Saturday's earthquakes, according to advices received in San Francisco by the Associated Press from its Shanghai correspondent and by the Radio Corporation from its station at Tomioka.

Death and destruction were spread over an area roughly comprised within a radius of fifty miles of Tokio. How extensive casualties and the material damage outside that zone, has not been determined, as all communications with Japan are still interrupted except for brief connections by radio with Tomioka and occasional dispatches from Japan to Shanghai.

With railroad lines, telephone wires and all other means of communication paralyzed between Tokio and the remainder of Japan and the outside world but city Tokio and the other cities on the Central Eastern Seacoast on the island of Hondo are isolated in their desolation.

The cities of Tokio and Yokohama were described by the superintendent of the Japanese Government wireless station at Tomioka which operates via Radio Corporation as "like hell."

Buildings were falling; fire was spreading eveerywhere; dead and dying were on all sides; there were explosions and cries of horror and fear by the panic-stricken populace.

What quake and fire did not destroy on land, tidal waves are reported to have crushed or sunk at sea.

The fate of the ships in Yokohama Harbor and what ships were there, still remained to be determined.

The best available reports received today said hardly a structure was left standing in the Yamanote district, which includes the Tokio wards of Honjo, Fukagawa, Akusaka, Shitaya, Nihonbashi, and Kanda.

Thousands are without food and water and no means of getting any at present.

In Yokohama the fire started in the bund., or foreign section, spreading rapidly to the business district which was wiped out.

Tens of thousands of guests at resorts in the Hakone district near Yokohama in the mountains, were driven from their quarters by quakes and fires. They were panic stricken. The number of casualities is undetermined. The town of Atama was demolished, six or seven thousand persons being killed. At Ito, on the Idzu Peninsula, more than 500 houses were washed away by tidal waves. Six hundred persons are reported to have perished when a railway tunnel at Sasako collapsed.

The city of Negoya is virtually destroyed. The Japanese Neval Station near Yokohama was engulfed by a tidal wave and the Imperial Palace at Tokio is endangered by fire. Nagoya has a population of 620,000. It is about ninety miles west of Tokio.

New earth tremors were reported today by various seismographs. The Manila Observatory seismograph recorded shocks today at 8 A. M., and 10 a. m., here today, according to Father Serra, chief of the observatory.

The big terrestrial disturbance of yesterday, Father Serra said, was the greatest shock he has seen in his 30 years experience. He said it recalled the memorable earthquake of 1891 when Tokio and Yokohama were burned. The disturbance he said, lasted five hours, and was about 4,000 kilometers from here.

RECESS IN ANTHRACITE WAGE NEGOTIATIONS

Philadelphia, September 2. — The recess until next Wednesday in the anthracite wage negotiations came as a welcome respite to the group of miners and operators who have been attempting to heach an agreement on a new contract between the coal companies and the 155,000 mine workers. It was believed that the recess, to which each side readily agreed, prevented an immediate break, as the conference at the state capitol yesterday appeared to be in an almost hopeless deadlock.

Governor Pinchot is still optimistic of a settlement. No important developments are looked for before the middle of the week. Labor day in the coal fields, where the suspension of mining is completed, will be observed in the usual way, as though no struggle between the mine owners and the workers were in process. Mass meetings will be held in many places, while many miners will spend the day at picnics or on excursions to others.

Fall Trade Prospects Reported Favorable

Freight Traffic Shows Goods Have Been Moving Into Consumption at Good Rate.

New York, Sept. 2.—(By the A. P.)—More confidence over fall trade prospects reflected by a quiet forward movement in stocks and improved sentiment all round were noticeable in financial quarters during the past stock market has not proceeded far enough as yet to attract the public, which naturally becomes shy of reentering after a long period of declining prices, many active traders are reported to be working on the constructive side. The advances resulting from a bidding up of prices by "pools," which have been active this week, are ordinarily possible only when conditions are favorable for a rising market.

The breakdown in the negotiations between the mine operators and the Unions looking toward avoidance of a suspension of mining is reprted to have had a restraining influence in trading with some operators characterizing it as a depressing influence. It was pointed out by some, however, that the effect of industry would be neither immediate nor disastrous. The oil situation is still unsettled, the chief difficulty of the oil companies being described as the necessity of taking lower prices in order to lighten the stocks on hand.

Signs meanwhile are increasing that trade is breaking away from the summer lull. Conservation is still the rule, according to the weekly mercantile reviews, but more interest in forward requirements is being manifested. Employment has fallen off somewhat and this is construed in many quarters as indicating less likelihood of further inflation of labor costs and the probability that manufacturing profits are likely to be maintained. Maintenance of record freight traffic meanwhile shows that goods have been moving into consumption at a good rate.

In the steel industry good authorities point out that activity may not increase a good deal in September. The base their assertion on the fact that there was very little slump during the summer and therefore maintenance of the present rate of operations would not be an unfavorable sign. The steel market undoubtedly is in a much stronger position at this time than a majority of observers a few months ago thought would be possible, and whether there is sound basis for it or not, sentiment is noticeably cheerful. The pig iron market is also showing a better tone, price fecessions having dropped.

Another reason for confidence in fall business is the growing belief that the worst has been passed on the farmers. Western farmers are said to be in a more cheerful mood with a good yield of corn to offset losses in industry claiming their attention. The grain markets too have taken on a better tone and wheat prices are several cents above the recent low.

The Government cotton condition report confirms the belief that the Boll Weevil and drought in the southwest will greatly reduce the cotton yield. While this will mean less revenue for many planters, it will at the same time mean higher prices for the others. When announcement was made on Friday of the Department of Agriculture's estimate of a sharp drop in condition of the crop with an indicated yield of 10,788,000 bales as against an estimate of 11,516,000 bales a month ago, prices rose around $5 a bale on this market. Moreover, now that there is more certainty as to the size of the crop, cotton spinners, domestic and foreign, who have been reluctant to make committments, are expected to come irto the market, and their buying probably will have a stimulating effect on industry.

Foreign exchanges have been quiet but rather flat, and money turned somewhat firmer due to end of the month requirements.

Harding For League, But not Wilson League

Assertion Made by Prof. Irving Fisher in Address at East Liverpool, Ohio.

East Liverpool, Ohio., Sept. 2.—(By The A. P.)—The assertion that the late President Harding was in favor of America's entry into the League of Nations, and that any impression given by him was for political purposes only, was made by Professor Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, in an address prepared for delivery today at the East Liverpool Methodist church.

Professor Fisher declared he had this information first from Mr. Harding's own lips in an interview at Marion, Ohio, in July, 1920, when the then Senator Harding was conducting his famous "front porch" campaign for the presidency. The letter from President Harding to newspaper publishers, recently made public through The Associated Press by Walter Wellman, author and journalist, in which the president discussed his hopes for a world association, led him to infer, Professor Fisher said, that the president "never forsook his intention to form his 'association of nations' out of the existing League of Nations, by securing whatever amendments were necessary to effect the transmutation."

"It was at his campaign headquarters at Marion that I talked about the league with Mr. Harding. Professor Fisher said, "although I had twice heard him speak, this was the first time I had ever met him personally.

"Plunging into the subject, I asked him what his real stand on the league was and how he could expect to create an entirely new association of nations.

"He answered, 'I'll tell you, provided you will not publish it in this campaign. I must control the publicity of my own campaign.'

"Then he said: 'I want the United States to get into the league just as much as you do.'

"On noting my amazement, Mr. Harding showed some amusement and then proceeded to reconcile his amazing statement with the common expression as to his attitude by adding:

"'Of course, I'm opposed to the Wilson league as I have always said; but the league can be changed. My idea is to call the nations together and ask them to make such amendments as are necessary to secure the approval of the United States.'

"'But, I said, 'Do you think the other nations would accept such conditions?'

"'Most certainly,' he replied, 'they would be only too glad to get us in on any terms.'

"'Why not,' I said, 'make Yourself clearer in the campaign?'

"'Well,' he said, 'a political campaign is like a military campaign. I am the Marshal Foch of the republican forces. It is not good tactics to tell every detail to the opposition. I want to draw their fire first.' (Governor Cox's speech of acceptance had not yet been published.)

"'But, I said, in your own party what will Senator ——— say, for instance.'

"'Oh!' he said. 'Senator ——— doesn't care. I know him better than you do. When he takes his extreme stand, he is doing so for political effect. I must ultimately, I realize, come to a definite programme, but with my own forces divided on details my first concern is to get those forces together. For the present it is enough to make it clear that I am against the present Wilson league but for an association of nations of a different sort.'

"In response to questions from me as to how far my lips were sealed, he said, 'I won't call this talk confidential; but it is personal. I mean you must not go out of that door and quote me to the reporters waiting for you there. But you are free, even in this campaign, to tell your friend.'

"This I did, telling, among others, ex-president, now Chief Justice Taft, whom I visited the following week at Pointe Au Pic, Sanada."

GREECE MAKES ENERGETIC PROTEST TO THE ALLIES

Protest Against the Bombardment by the Italians of Cor[fu] and the Killing of Refugees—Two More Greek Islan[ds] in the Ionian Sea Have Been Occupied by the Italians. There Have Been Anti-Italian Demonstrations on the [Is]land of Crete.

Athens, Sept. 2 (By the A. P.).—The Greek government's version of the controversy with Italy has been presented by Premier Gonatas to the American delegates leaving Athens for Geneva to attend the international Near East relief conference beginning Sept. 7 as the representatives of the American humanitarian organisations here.

The premier received the delegates in the war office. After expressing pleasure that the Americans as well as Greeks would represent Greece at Geneva, he said:

"The present unfortunate clash with Italy comes just at the close of my first year as premier, which has been perhaps the most difficult and most troubled year in the history of modern Greece, involving the final stages of a long war, an unparaleled refugee situation and, finally, labor difficulties, culminating in the recent strike.

"In this new crisis which our neighbor Italy seems trying to create from the tangled threads of a dastardly border crime, we need the support and assistance of all our old friends who have been so helpful throughout our varying fortunes of the past year. The Greek government does not fear an impartial investigation of the Tellini murders. We firmly believe that they were not perpetrated by Greeks; certainly there is no foundation for insinuations that they were committed by Greek bands whose existence was winked at by the government.

"The British and French delegates on the Tellini commission are familiar with the border conditions and realize the difficulties of maintaining normal order along a frontier which has not yet been determined and where the population is sparse and the life of the mountaineers primitive. We find Italy's summary demands unjust, because Italy does not possess any proofs upon which she can in the slightest way hold the Greek government responsible.

"We will gladly render fullest honor to the dead, which is an act of international courtesy we would have performed in any case. We will gladly pay indemnification to a reasonable amount to the families of the dead, recognizing the fact that the murders are committed on Greek soil. We will gladly permit and invite the Italian military attache to accompany, cooperate with and assist in an investigation by our judges at Janina; in fact, this we did spontaneously within a few hours of the murders.

"But beyond these just claims we cannot admit Italy's right to demand acts inconsistnt with our sovereignty and humiliating to our national dignity. We cannot humiliate ourselves before the Italian flag, when we never had the slightest intention of insulting it; we cannot pay a huge fine, when payment of such a penalty would be admission of guilt; we cannot turn over the authority of our courts and judges to Italian officials, when such action would admit that they were incapable of administering justice. We have committed no wrong; our national honor will not permit us to plead guilty of a crime.

"We have suggested through the powers that Italy lay her case before the league of nations tribunal, of which both Italy and Greece are members. We will gladly accept any reasonable arbitrament, in full confidence and fortified by our consciousness of innocence and honesty. We hope the outside world will support this demand.

"Meanwhile Greece lodges a strong protest with the civilized world not only against the unjustifiable occupation of Corfu, where Greek and Armenian refugees were ruthlessly killed, but also against the anti-Greek acts which have been permitted in Italian cities in the past few days, such as the expulsion of Greek journalists, the tearing down of the coat of arms of the Green consulate, the burning of the Greek flag and assaults on Greek schools."

GRECO-ITALIAN SITUATION CONTINUES TO BE TENSE

London, Sept. 2 (By the A. P.).—The lapse of another day finds no diminution in the tension or gravity of the Greco-Italian dispute. No further overt or hostile act is recroded, but a grave aspect of the situation is the Italian determination, expressed beforchand, to refuse to recognize the status of the league of nations in the affair, or respect its decision.

The English leader writers have found consolation, in commenting on thedispute, in the consideration that in 1914 no international tribunal, such as the league of nations, or council of ambassadors, existed, on which the Austro-Serbian dispute might have been submitted with some hope of avoiding war. This hope will, they say, be shattered if Italy refuses to recognize the league.

Both Greek and Italian governments are energetically occupying themselves in placing their respective cases before the world. The Italian press does not hesitate to impute criminal motives to Greece. The Greek government, on its side, is eagerly offering to submit the question of responsibility for the Janina murders to an international tribunal and to abide by any decision and pay the compensation such tribunal decrees.

Italy contends that the Greek government has not been recognized by the powers and lacks the status or right of appeal to the league, which ought to repudiate its application, and argues that otherwise Greece will secure recognition through assassination.

Meanwhile the council of the league which is considering the dispute is proceeding leisurely and has adjourned until Tuesday, and even then may still further adjourn the case.

Another disquieting feature of the affair is a report from Rome of anti-Italian demonstrations in the Island of Crete which, it is feared, may be a prelude to a descent upon that island, like Corfu.

International statesmen are preserving a discreet silence on the subject. M. Poincare of France made his customary Sunday speeches but carefully avoided reference to foreign politics. Lord Curzon returned to London tonight, brought back prematurely through the threatening international situation. He also declined to say anything about the dispute until he had time to study all official reports. He permitted himself the significant comment, however, that the league of nations had taken the matter in hand and that seems to be the inevitable and preliminary step. "Everybody's efforts," he added, "should be devoted to strengthening the league's hand."

It is not known yet whether Premier Baldwin will hasten his return from Aix-Les-Baine on account of the crisis.

TORSO AND LEGS OF WOMAN IN SUIT CASE

Tyngsboro, Mass., Sept. 2.—A second suit case containing the lower part of the torso and the legs of a woman was found in the Merrimac river today, two miles below the spot where yesterday other parts of the same woman's body were recoveerd floating in a similar receptacle.

No trace of the head has been found and although the police dragged the river today in search of further clues, they expressed the opinion that the head had been either burned or buried.

Today's discovery shed no new light on the mystery, the police said. The suit case, of black imitation leather, was new and exact duplicate of the one found yesterday. It was bare of identification marks.

The police of Lowell, Nashua, N. H., and Manchester, N. H., are also working on the case and are endeavoring to trace an open automobile which crashed through a fence early yesterday after crossing a bridge a short distance above the spot where the first suit case was found.

M., in Merrow and dropped into a four foot culvert, badly damaging the machine. The driver and a male companion escaped injury. Reader was traveling in a westerly direction, headed for Stafford Springs, and upon the approach of another machine from the opposite direction he crowded his car to the right but on account of a heavy fog he failed to notice the culvert, so the machine went over the concrete curbing and into the ditch. Photographs were taken of the location of the accident by Lawyer N. Gentry of this city, with a view of having the state investigate the position of the concrete curb which is considered dangerous, due to its proximity to the highway.

Later in the evening, Walker was seen to drive down Main street at a rate of forty miles an hour by Officers Bombria and Hurley and he was placed under arrest. Walker appeared intoxicated but no liquor was found on his person or in the machine. The charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor was nolled. ## JEWETT CITY

Mrs. L. G. Buckingham, in looking over a collection of old books and papers, the property of a relative who died many years ago, found a book, which later notes go to prove, was a rare volume, Ten Years Among the Mail Bags. Within its covers are 425 pages of the notes from J. Holbrook's diary, he being at that time, when James Campbell was postmaster general, a special agent of the post office department. The bulk of the matter narrated in this book is a complete account of the daring mail robberies of 1856, the date in which the book was published. Not only is the method of the robbers explained, but the entire and detailed tactics of the sluths of that time, who were given he weighty job of effecting their capture. The mail robber of today would laugh at the crudeness of some of the schemes which were gotten away with in the stories, also, he would shudder, at the total disregard of human life which some of the horrible plans included.

Mrs. George A. Ross, who makes a success of rare rose growing, is proving equally skillful in dahlia cultivating. A rare La Carmencita is over 10 inches in diameter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Daintiest of Choruses

"No matter how good a musical comedy may be in itself, it will never succeed unless there is a good chorus." These are the words of Edward Royce, the great London musical comedy producer, who, since his arrival in this country has staged three of the biggest musical successes on the American stage, namely, "Sally", the Ziegfeld Follies and last but not least "Good Morning Dearie," which will be seen at Bradley theatre, Putnam. With a reputation that makes its coming a real event, this musical sensation which played 400 nights at the Globe theatre, New York, claims the distinction of having the greatest dancing chorus that has ever been seen here, and includes the sensational, thrilling steppers from London, The Sunbeam Girls, who at the suggestion of Mr. Royce, were brought to this country especially for Good Morning Dearie."

These dainty English lassies have been trained to work with the precision of a Swiss watch.

Their dancing comes as near perfection as naything is likely to in an imperfect world.

Besides the "Sunbeam Girls" the production boasts not only a bevy of show girls, but a double quartette of young men whose singing and stepping make them interesting factors in the performance.

Bread Theatre

A blending of charming comedy, thrilling, reality and fascinating romance is promised in Goldwyn's first King Vidor production, "Three Wise Fools," from Austin Strong's popular stage play produced by John Golden and Winchell Smith, which is the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today and Tuesday. Vidor is known as one of the most gifted of the younger directors. His stories and characters have the aspect of reality without sacrificing romance and charm. In this photoplay he is said to have surpassed his own previous good work.

Goldwyn gave him a most capable cast to interpret the story. There is Eleanor Boardman of "Soul's for Sale" fame as Sydney Fairchild, the daughter of the woman with whom the "three wise fools" had been in love in their youth. She had married another man, and, upon her death gave her daughter to the care of her three old admirers. The three men are played by Calude Gillingwater, William H. Crane, veteran of the stage, and Alec Francis. Others in the cast are John Sainpolis as Sydney's father, unjustly imprisoned as a forger, William Haines as her sweet heart, Lucien Littlefield, ZaSu Pitts, Martha Mattox, Fred J. Butler, Charles Hickman, Craig Biddie, Jr., Creighton Hale and Raymond Hatton.

The picture has one great spectacular scene in which three convicts break jail in an armored car which is later wrecked. This scene is guaranteed to furnish thrills aplenty. The story ends happily with Sydney's father returned to her. The photography is beautifully clear and the exteriors contain many "shots" of charming scenes.

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe news and an Educational comedy. Continuous show today, 1.30 to 10.15.

Holiday Program at the Strand Theatre

A real fine holiday program of B. F. Keith vaudeville and a Paramount photoplay are the attractions at the Strand theatre for three days starting today.

The feature vaudeville attraction is Allen, Marten & May in an artistic musicall offering of class.

The Legitimate Coupie, Miss Kathryn Loring and J. Edwin Lessig in A Smart Satire, offer some new comedy that is sure to be well received.

Arthur Finn, Ltd., in Monkey Business, is a victorious fight for clean fun and good songs with a bit of bagpipe music to complete the measure.

In England it is considered bad form to make an open show of sentiment. In the United States young folks think nothing of uttering cooing words, exchanging flirtatious glances or even of appearing in public with "his" arms about "her" waist.

It is this intrusion of American carefree display of romance into the staid course of English custom that makes "A Gentleman of Leisure," a Paramount picture starring Jack Holt now on view at the Strand theatre, such a decidedly different and entertaining photoplay.

When Mr. Holt, enacting the role of a wealthy American with lots of money falls in love with an English girl of royal birth, played by Sigrid Holmquist, he brushes every convenance aside and rushes through a romance as exciting as it is flurried. The picture is well worth whiled.

A news weekly is also on view.

Sells Building Lot Plot.

John A. Moran, real estate agent, has sold for Norman C. Lathrop, eight acres from his property near the Eastern Connecticut Power Co. plant, in Montville. The buyer is B. G. Hewitt and the plot sold is a piece of choice level land from which Mr. Hewitt will survey lots upon which he will build houses. Mr. Hewitt is a large holder of property in this section for investment.

Beware of the chronic hand-shaker, he is apt to develop into a leg-puller later.

POETRY FOR WIDE-AWAKES.

MY LITTLE LAD.

It seems but yesterday my little lad lay soft
Within my arms, his downy head so baby sweet,
That even now I see his aimless, waving hands,

It seems but yesterday I watched his wavering steps
Go toddling through the rooms their baby way,
How often would I soothe and comfort little pains,
Make well the hurt by kissing tears away.

Was it but yesterday? For now my little lad
Is five years old—the springs so quickly pass!
The autumn school-path soon will know his trudging stepe—
My little lad will be grown up, alas!

—Agnes Choat Wonsen in Boston Globe.

THE CHIPMUNK.

The chipmunk sits upon the wall
And doesn't seem to care at all
That it is summer, will be fall!

He pops out from some crannied nook,
Surveys you with a curious look,
Then in, as though he'd got the hook.

Yet he proceeds as undismayed
As though in sable stole arrayed.

He strips the pignut of its sheath
And casts it on the ground beneath
The while he gnashes his teeth.

He rattles them like castinets
While cuss words come from him in jets,
Yet he's untortured by regrets.

He gracefully ascends a tree—
Or does he not? A mystery
On which two factions disagree.

However, he that as it may,
He's unaffected, frank and gay
As he pursues his stony way.

Why clings he there from clock to clock,
In spite of every gibe and mock?
Is he a chip of country rock?

He steals a little—moral slip!
He chews and gwears, he likes a nip,
But none resents it. Happy chip!

—Maurice Morris in the New York Herald.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO WIDE-AWAKES.

Every American boy and girl is interested in the president of their country—in his principles, his acts, his family and his ideas.

Most of them are also interested in the scout movement, whether they are the Boy Scouts or the Girl Scouts or kindred organizations.

There are two boys in President Coolidge's family and both of them are Scouts. It has been the desire of President and Mrs. Coolidge that they should be "helpful, kind, thrifty, human—especially human" and in attaining such a goal the organization for boys has done much, backing up and amplifying as it did the training they received at their home.

Only recently President Coolidge was asked to become the head of the Boy Scouts of America. In accepting that honor he wrote: "I have always been deeply interested in the work of the Scouts, which I regard as an ideal mode of citizenship development and character construction. Both of my sons are Scouts and my observation of the benefits they have derived from their affiliation has strengthened my conviction of the organization's usefulness."

The importance of citizenship cannot be over-estimated. There is a duty and a service which every boy and girl owes to his or her country and that is to become a worthy citizen and thereby help to better the citizenship in general. Whatever encourages that development is worth striving for.

The ambition of the president to have his boys "helpful, kind, thrifty and human," is only what every boy and girl should in face wish for themselves.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

Queer Ways of Saying Howdy-do

Dear Uncle Jed: The little American boys and girls say howdy-do when one meets them on the street. Did you ever think how children all over the world greet their friends. What they say in their own language that means howdy-do?

The little French boy and girl in their quaint black apron, hail you with a how do you find yourself? The brown-eyed Italian girl says, with soft accent How do you stand? The funny little Dutch boy, with his queer clothes and big wooden shoes, says, How do you fare? The little Chinese says, How is your stomach? Have you eaten your rice? The little Egyptian child says a very funny thing, How do you perspire? The Persian child says solemnly, May thy shadow never grow less. In Russia he asks, How do you live on? and in Poland the children say, How do you keep yourself? All of which means much the same thing.

Betty's Doll House

Dear Uncle Jed: Betty had a lovely doll house, but the little girl that lived next door, did not have any. Betty's doll house had four rooms, a living room, a kitchen, a bed room and a bathroom. The floor of the kitchen had real oilcloth on it in a tiny blue and white pattern. Every room was completely furnished. There was even a tiny telephone and a little piano in the living room. The bathroom had a real bathtub with a spigot and if you put water into the tank attached to the spigot, you could turn on the spigot, and fehwater for the little doll's bath would really run into the tub just as it does in a real one.

When the doll's house first came Betty took good care of it. Every Monday and every Friday she cleaned the rooms and dusted the furniture and put everything in its place. Yes at first Betty was a good little housekeeper but after a while she got very careless. She let the floors get dirty and the furniture dusty and everything was upset. The kitchen stove would be in the bath room and the bathtub would be in the living room and the doll would be in the water for a number of days.

So one day Betty's mother said, "I want you to lend your doll house to the little girl who lives in the next house for a month. I am sure that she will take better care of it than you do."

So Bettey lent her doll house to the little girl next door for a month. Every Monday and every Friday the little girl would clean the room and dust the furniture and put everything in its right place and every time Betty went there she found it just as clean and everything was put in its place.

When the month was nearly up Betty was ashamed of herself to think how fortunate she was to have such a nice doll house.

Betty said, "I shall always keep the doll house as clean as you did and every day you may come and play with it and it will be just as if we both had one of our own." And Betty smiled to the little girl next door.

Speeder's Story.

Dear Uncle Jed: When I was about five years old my master sold me to a lady. After she had me for about a year she went to Europe and I was cared for by the gardener. Oh! how he treated me. Instead of feeding me three times a day as my mistress did, he fed me only once a day, and so little that I was almost starved.

I became very thin, and when my mistress came home she sold me to an old man. He had three sons Soon the old man died and his oldest son took me home. He had a boy named Walter. Walter was 10 years old.

Every morning I would take him to school. He would sit on my back and wave his hat to his mother.

I am still in this happy home, and I hope I remain there as long as I live.—"Speeder."

Impressions of Hollywood.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am spending my vacation here in California and am having quite a pleasant time. I wish to thank you for sending me a copy of the Norwich Bulletin which contained a letter published of mine.

I had a chance to see Hollywood and as I have lived a time in New York I could make a comparison.

Wicked Hollywood is dead! There are the movie studios of course, but only a few people can get an inside view of them. If anybody wants excitement keep away from Hollywood. For the average city dweller, the far-famed movie village would prove quite dull. It is crowded with a swarm of people seeking jobs and many of them failing, turn thieves, and reap a harvest.

Speaking from personal experience I would rather try to walk "kitty-cornered" across Fifth avenue, New York city at 42nd street, probably the most crowded point in the world than any street in Hollywood. Why? Because the motorists there don't recognize any speed limits. A little jaunt of 4 miles an hour down Hollywood boulevard is a slow pace. And at corners most autos rub against the curb and not such a small number go up on the pavement. Just a few inches of course, but it is enough.

As I have said, Hollywood is dead! The main interests are the speeding and the thieving. A few expositions are held, but they stimulate only momentary interest. Sometimes I believe that the many hold-ups and murders are part of a movie fraud to bring people to the town. Many people go there, but few stay. The ones who stick it out take everything as a matter of course, the murders and robberies, I mean. Many of them read the headlines to see if any of their friends have been victimized, but they never read the detail.

Although many people migrate to Hollywood, few find interest there. The climate is wonderful of course, but if you are planning to see Hollywood and enjoy its 'speed" don't be dispapointed. I advise you to stay in your old home town.

A Summer Visit

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you and the Wide-Awakes about my visit to my grandmother's.

I went down to spend a week with her.

I started at nine and got there about noon time. One day during late week my grandmother took me to Ocean Beach. I played in the sand and went in wading.

One afternoon we all went crabbing. We only caught five crabs, which my grandmother cooked for our supper.

After supper we went for a boat ride.

On Sunday I attended Sunday school with my aunt.

That's all I can tel you about my visit.

John's Mistake.

Dear Uncle Jed: John's mother had decided that on Saturday John and some of his friends could go on a picnic. John was very happy and could hardly wait for Saturday to come.

The day before the picnic John's mother asked John to go to the store for her. John was very angry and would not go to the store for his mother. John had made a great mistake in not going to the store because his mother had wanted him to get the things needed for the picnic. His mother had not told him what she wanted him to go for.

The next day John was up early and ready to go. When he went downstairs he saw that his mother was not ready; he asked her if she was going. She said: "You would not go to the store to get the lunch, therefore we will not go."

John saw that he had made a great mistake; he was very much disappointed But it had taught him a lesson to be ready to help his mother.

The Kittens.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have two kittens. Their names are Trixie and Dixie. They are very smart and very cute. When it is time for their milk they come to the back door and cry. They are in the habit of going in and out of the bed of golden glows and breaking them down. When the dogs have their meals they help eat their food. One day as I was walking along the walk one of them saw my legs moving and started to climb up my leg. They are very cute and I love them very much.

The Midnight Fire.

Dear Uncle Jed: One night, being restless, I woke up about 12 o'clock. Happening to look out the window, I saw a bright light in the backyard. Wondering what it was, I got out of bed and looked closer out of the window. Not knowing what to make of the bright light, I ran downstairs and woke up my mother, and we both went out to the backyard.

Before us stood our barrel in a blaze of flames. Hastily we went into the house for pails of water. After much effort we extinguished the fire.

If it hadn't been discovered, a little later it would have done much damage to a nearby fence and shed.

The fire was caused by the other tenant in our house emptying some hot ashes into our barrel.

Making Their Nest.

Dear Uncle Jed: I watched two birds one day as they looked among the branches of a big poplar for a good place for their nest. They soon found a place hidden from the reach of guns and boys throwing stones. Then they started to build. First they got hay, straw, rags and bits of string; all these they put closely together to make the sides and bottom of the nest. After that they put feathers and cotton, making a soft warm bed for the baby birds that would soon be in it. About ten days later I came to see if I could see the birds, but I could only see the big birds. They were flying to and fro with worms in their mouths for their young ones. I never went back to see them again, but when I see a bird with hay or anything in its mouth I always think of the birds that I saw that day.

Willie's Answer.

Dear Uncle Jed: A mother, too poor to keep her son, told him that he would have to go to work. When asked what he would like to work at, the boy said: "I would like to work at a foundry." So the next day his mother took Willie, for that was his name, to the manager. "Do you want a boy?" she asked. "Yes," he replied, "I do. Next week I will take him on."

Next week Willie, looking smart and clean, came to work. When dinner time came he sat in the yard and began to eat his lunch. A man, seeing him there, came over and sat beside him. Taking from his pocket a bottle of beer, he poured out a mugful and offered it to the boy. "I do not drink beer, thank you, sir," said Willie. "I never touch strong drink." "Just take this mugful," urged the man. "No, thank you," replied Willie again. "If you don't drink it I will throw it over you," said the man, getting angry. The boy replied: "You can throw it over my coat and spoil it, but you can't throw it over my character and spoil that."

I hope all the Wideawakes are as good and noble as this boy was who had to work so hard.

His First Story.

Dear Uncle Jed: I would like to join the Wideawake Circle. So I will tell you my first story. It is about a king, a queen and a princess.

Once there lived a king, a queen and a princess. One day the king made a pie. He killed five blackbirds and put them in the pie. Then he sent the princess with a cup of hot soup. She climbed up a tree and while she was climbing she fell to the ground. All of the hot soup fell on her and she got wet. Then down from the tree came a spider and said:

"One foot up, and the other foot down,
That is the way to London Town."

Then she went up again.

When Tommy Ran Away

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time there was a boy named Tommy. He had gotten a licking for breaking some jars.

His mother told him to sit on a chair for half an hour.

Little Tommy thought that that hour seemed to go slowly, so he ran away.

He took a bundle of clothes and started off. He liked it until it grew dark.

When it was dark he saw the owls and Tommy was afraid.

THE LITTLE JACK RABBIT PICTURE FOR COLORING

Little Miss Mouse was very lonely for dear, kind Uncle Lucky, the old gentleman rabbit bunny had gone to Carrot City on business. The little white mouse on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrot street seemed so empty without him. Even the ticky, tick, took of the Old Grandfather clock lacked its usual happy tone.

"Dear, oh dear!" exclaimed Little Miss Mouse, looking out of the window at the Old Red Rooster sawing wood for the kitchen stove, "I'm so lonely, I could cry.

"Wish today was by and by,
How I miss the dear old bunny,
Always generous with his money!"

Again the tiny lady mouse sighed and then ran down to her little room under the floor to comb her bobbed hair.

"Who's calling, I wonder!" she exclaimed, hastily laying down the comb and smoothing out her pink apron, she scampered up to the sitting room and then over to the front door. Peeking through the crack over the door-sill, she saw two big feet, clad in rubber boots.

"Dear, Oh, dear, and dearest me!" she whispered to herself so softly that not even a little fly on the red curtains heard her, "who can this great big caller be!"

Again the knock came, only this time two at once, it was so loud,

"I'm afraid to let you in.
This is not our calling day.
I'm all alone in here.
Uncle Lucky is away,"
she called through the keyhole.

"Open, open, quick the door,
Or I'll smash it with my paw!"
answered a deep, growly voice, all of a sudden, just like that, quick as the wind that blows off your hat," and now dear children while you are coloring this picture, I'll write the rest of the story for you.

AMERICANS NEED BUT ONE MORE WIN TO HOLD POSSESSION OF DAVIS CUP

(Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 2—(By the A. P.)—Holding a lead of two matches to one in defense of the Davis cup, America will play its two "aces," William T. Tilden and William M. Johnston, tomorrow afternoon against the Australian challengers in two singles contests that will conclude the international championship series.

Victory in but one of these matches will clinch America's possession of the historic trophy for another year. Tennis critics looked for "Little Bill" Johnston, despite the spectacular setback he received Friday at the hands of James O. Anderson, to settle the issue when he faces John R. Hawkes on the first encounter tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock. Tilden will oppose Anderson in the final engagement.

Hawkes yesterday proved himself a far better doubles than singles player when he and Anderson forced Tilden and R. Norris Williams to five terrific sets before the Americans won in a match that set Davis cup history. The left-hander does not class with Johnston as a singles performer, but should he win and account for an even more astonishing upset than did Anderson on Friday, the decision would hinge upon the struggle between Tilden and the Australian captain.

Regardless of its importance, however, to the final decision, the Tilden-Anderson encounter should prove a thrilling battle between two of the most dynamic and resourceful figures on the courts today. Last year they met in the final match of the challenge round and Anderson carried the American champion to five sets, but on that occasion Johnston had already clinched the cup by defeating Gerald Patterson.

Despite their rather forlorn prospect of victory, however, and regardless of the final outcome, the Australians have covered themselves with glory by their plucky fight so far. Anderson's sensational defeat of Johnston in five sets the first day, while Tilden was disposing of Hawkes, and the gallant stand of the Antipodeans in the doubles yesterday have won the keenest admiration of tennis followers.

The closely-fought brilliance of that doubles encounter will live long in international tennis history. The Americans, by a remarkable finish, pulled it out after a tense struggle lasting nearly three hours by scores of 17-15, 11-13, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. The match not only set a new Davis cup record for duration but, in the first set, equalled for length the famous first set had paved the way to victory by Maurice McLoughlin, California "comet" over Norman E. Brookes in 1914 at Forest Hills.

Upon the outcome of the series tomorrow depends the leadership in number of Davis Cup victories. America and Australia each have won the trophy six times since it first was competed for in 1900. The only other winner, the British Isles, has held the cup five times.

CARDS HOLD REDS DOWN AND WIN, 4 TO 1

Cincinnati, Ohio., Sept. — Haines pitched effectively today, while Donohue was hit freely and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati, 4 to 1. # TAFTVILLE WINS BASEBALL FARCE COMEDY FROM BALTIC HORRIBLES

In a game that was saturated with errors and dumb playing on the part of Manager Collins' alleged baseball players, Taftville A. A. walked away Sunday afternoon at the J. B. Martin diamond with as easy a victory as was ever won by a team, representing Taftville. It was really pitiful to see the puny and futile efforts of the assembly of men in baseball uniforms supposed to constitute a baseball team representing that flourishing little village nestled among the green fields of Sprague. Every conceivable misplay known to baseball was made by the Baltic representatives and a few that were inaugurated into baseball for the first time were contributed by these same alleged players.

From the very start it was seen that Baltic had not the slightest chance of being returned a victor. Taftville started off with a crashing attack in the first inning and scored two runs and continued this attack in the next inning, when four more runs resulted. The next inning was a bad one for Taftville they failed to score, but amply made up for the bad inning when they annexed another quartet of runs. After this Posick was sent into the box to stem the tide of defeat that was fast submerging the afleged players in Baltic uniforms. Posick faired a trifle better than Papineau, his predecessor, and in the five innings he pitched Taftville only scored six more runs.

Baltic's lone run came in the eighth inning, largely through the good will of Taftville, the Taftville team being tender hearted and not wishing to see such nice visitors going home without a run to their credit. Fred Dugas, the veteran of many a diamond conflict, fattened his batting average by getting five hits, three being doubles and the othep two singles, out of seven times at bat. Many of the other Taftville players boosted their average at the expense of Baltic.

This was the second game of the Taftville-Baltic series and as Manager Collins advertised a good battery for this game the large crowd of fans was sadly anddisgustedly disappointed with the game. It was evident that Baltic was going way out of its class when it undertook to beat Taftville with such a motley array of ball players.

STAFFORD SPRINGS WINS CLOSE GAME FROM THREADMAKERS

Willimantic, Sept. 2.—Stafford Springs rode home the winner over Bert More's Threadmakers by a 2 to 1 score in a thrilling pitchers' duel between Schmidt for the locals and "Ginger" Cleary for the visitors at Recreation park today.

Stafford counted once in the first and duplicated in the eighth when Hart, the local second sacker, erred on Calchera's bounder. The Thread team had a fine chance to tuck the game away but cast it to the four winds by some bad base running. Bowden's play featured for the locals, he being the only player to solve Cleary's delivery with any degree of success. Howard led at the bat for the invaders and he and Plank featured afield. One of the fielding gems of the game was a fine running catch made by Brundage in the seventh.

TEXTILE TEAM WINS FIRST GAME OF SERIES

The first of a series of three games between the Westerly Textiles and Westerly Independents took place on the ball-bound diamond off High street Saturday afternoon, when the Textile etam won by a score of 7 to 4. A fair sized attendance was present. The hits were nearly even, and Mooney, for the Independents, pitched a good game. The victory was assured by the fast infield play of the Textile team while the Independents made a poor showing at third base. The hitting of Maine was the feature of the game. The second game of this series will be played next Saturday on the same grounds. The score:

TAFTVILLE MEET EXPECTED TO BE A BIG AFFAIR

That Taftville will have the largest and best field day ever held in this part of the state is the verdict of the different committees representing 25 organizations who make up the Taftville Field Day association. Opening the afternoon's program with a monster street parade, the 25 organizations, headed by three bands and a drum corps, will make a good headline and show the people of this part of the state that Taftville always does things right.

The events committee has provided 24 high class events for the expected crowd to watch, also fine drilling and gymnastic exhibitions to be staged by the boys and girls classes of the turning section of the Taftville Maennerchor club. These classes have given such exhibitions as will be given on the Providence street grounds at Providence, R. I. Fitchburg, Mass., New Haven, Bridgeport and Norwich and have gained considerable prominence under the able direction of their instructor, Karl Kalin.

The village is looking forward to Sept. 8th, when they can show the surrounding towns that they are in a class by themselves in giving the public something worth going many miles to see. The events committee have secured several entries and will welcome more, especially good runners and a good tug of war team. All entries should be addressed to John H. Murphy, Taftville, Conn., before 12 o'clock noon, daylight saving time, Saturday, Sept. 8th.

RIVERVIEW WINS EASY GAME FROM HARTFORD FEDERALS

Riverview won an easy 5 to 1 victory Saturday afternoon at the State hospital grounds against the Federals of Hartford. The game was uninteresting and was replete with errors on the part of the Hartford players. Errors and misjudgments of fly balls accounted for at least three of the Riverview's runs. Hartford had an outfielder who apparently never had played ball before as he misjudged two flies and muffed a couple more. The catcher for Hartford also gave Riverview a counter.

West was not forced to exert himself in this game as his team gave him exceptional support especially Burns and Moore at second and short. The only player on the Hartford team that showed any signs of life was Red Charon, a former Baltic boy.

LARGEST NUMBER OF ENTRIES FOR N. L. COUNTY MEET

More entries have been received to date than have ever before been recorded for the big field meet to be held on the last day of the Norwich Fair. Among the entries received yesterday was the name of Reinecher, former Yale track star who copped a number of prizes at the fair two years ago.

The State Hospital under the guidance of Neil Crowley is coming up strong with a big entry list, including a tug of war team, and a relay team. To date no team has expressed any desire to pull against the present county champions, but this big number no the program is an assured event, as Jewett City has a strong armed squad ready in case they are needed.

Plainfield will be represented by a relay team and also several contestants in other events.

Norwich and Norwich Town will have quite a representation, the name of "Chick" Spivery is the latest entrant from the Rose of New England.

Westerly was also heard from yesterday when Stephen Berardinelli sent in his application together with an inquiry regarding the relay race.

The prizes which are the best ever offered for this meet are attracting much attention and creating favorable comment. They are on exhibition in the Boston Store Window.

The previous statement that the entry list would be held open until the day of the meet holds good in spite of the already big list at hand; however in order to facilitate preliminary arrangements by the promotor all entries should be handed in as soon as possible.

NATION'S BEST IN RACES AT CHARTER OAK TODAY

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 2—The free-for all trot, with Lee Worthy, Czar Worthy and the Great Volo among the starters, is the feature of the first day's card of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park tomorrow. The 2.12 pace, with six starters, and the 2.20 trot for three year olds, with fifteen entries, are also on the card. Indications for the week are that the fields will be small but the racing will be high class. Only eighty eight trotters and pacers have arrived at the track from Readville, where the circuit staged its meeting last week.

RODRIGUEZ OUT OF GAME FOR REST OF SEASON

Bridgeport, Sept. 2—Second Baseman Joe Rodriguez, of the Bridgeport Eastern league club, will probably not be seen in uniform again this season. Rodriguez is suffering from a slight concussion of the brain as the result of being hit on the dead by one of Jess Winters' curves in Hartford on Saturday.

Infielder Orme and Catcher Smith are also on the injured list.

LABOR DAY

Labor day is not a new institution. Taking a holiday that the importance of labor may be set forth has been practised for many years. It gets a national observance, and yet like other things it has undergone great changes. There were the days when it was devoted to great parades and special addresses. There are localities where such plans are still adhered to, but to a large extent labor devotes the time to recreational purposes, and endeavors to get as much pleasure out of the day as possible.

The struggle between labor and capital, however, goes on now as in the past. There are those who have recognized the wisdom of adjusting their disputes on the basis of facts and without experiencing some of the distasteful and costly results of old time labor fights. But whether the time will ever come when such will be the general practice is problematical.

Since the last great war the world has witnessed the leading nations pledge themselves to curb their naval navies for the purpose of economy and the promotion of peace. They recognize the error of past practices and seek the benefit of different policies. Whether labor and capital, taking into consideration that great third party, the public, will come to such an agreement is by no means certain today. Too often lately the case, as in the present coal situation, that the public gets too little consideration even when it is the public that is certain to be the sufferer though not directly participating.

It was a year ago that a prolonged coal strike was undergoing adjustment. Labor day this year finds the coal mines stopped because of a strike. How long they will remain closed no one knows, but the feeling is growing more and more strong that where public distress is threatened the strike works that same havoc and devastation that are caused only on a larger scale by war. Adjustments with justice as a basis for all concerned, without such interruptions of production, might well be the aim.

MUCH TO DO AT HOME

Probably everyone has been impressed by the action of the American Tree association in sending large quantities of tree seeds to France for the purpose of providing the people of that country with the means of reforestering the devastated sections of that country, which suffered so severely from the ravages of the war. The movement is in keeping with the help that has been given to the Russian people, where not only was food sent but along with the necessary supplies for immediate use went seed that grain might be raised for the coming months.

The need in Russia was for the people who had been broken in health and left in a destitute condition. French people suffered enough and their needs were not overlooked but the importance of overcoming the destitution of the land on which so much dependence is placed was not to be overlooked. France had need for its forests. Their loss means that they must be replaced and the quicker that can be done the quicker it can supply its needs in that direction. Hence the seeds are what it requires.

But while such a response is being made to the forest requirements of France right should not be lost of the situation that exists in this country. Devastation of the character experienced by France hasn't befall us, but tremendous inroads are being made into our standing timber supply. There is need for replacement that should not suffer from neglect. The woodsman is cutting faster than the timber is growing and in addition to the woodsman fire is continuing its extensive havoc.

Reforestation demands are to be encountered in many directions. It is a problem that concerns many states. The solution lies in a general participation in such work that will get underway before the time arrives when our timber supply is exhausted. There is no questioning the need of the seed that has been sent to France, but there should be the gratification of still greater quantities of tree seed right here at home for our own relief and protection.

REGULATING FIREARMS

Insistent has been the demand for better protection through the regulation of the manufacture, sale and use of firearms. Because of the use of such weapons in the taking of life attention has been directed to the need of checking such lawlessness by making it more difficult to obtain revolvers and requiring those who do obtain them to first secure a license to carry them. If they are to be carried with the intention of [illegible] that purpose and [illegible] recently enacted new legislation, under which it stipulates that

None but citizens, personally known, or properly identified to a licensed dealer in firearms, are permitted to purchase revolvers, and a record of sales must be filed with the police.

Owners of firearms are not permitted to carry them on their persons without a license from the police.

Dealers are not permitted to display pistols or revolvers.

Manufacturers' serial numbers, or other identifying marks, must not be altered or erased.

Persons who have been convicted of a felony and aliens are not permitted to possess pistols.

This marks another step in the right direction. It doesn't insure the keeping of the firearms from the criminal class, since the avenue of getting them by mail or in other states is not closed, but it makes the acquisition a bit more bothersome and still gives the householder the opportunity to protect himself against the burglar. And this is done without stopping the manufacture.

When the time comes that all states have reached this same viewpoint so that there can be uniformity among the states the effectiveness will be even greater, and it is through the sales rather than through preventing the manufacture that the most satisfactory regulation will come.

JAPAN'S DISASTER

Earthquakes are no respecters of persons, countries or things. They come with little or no warning and they destroy without mercy or limit. Whatever lies in their path must take the consequences, the only hope in such instances being that they may be light rather than severe.

Japan has by no means been free of serious earthquakes, but the one of last week is in all probability the worst visitation of its kind that the island kingdom has experienced. However the tendency may be to exaggerate at such a time the reports which come from Japan make it evident that the loss of life has been enormous while that of property has been equally severe.

The wiping out of cities as the result of fires following the work of the quake lands a terrific blow on that country. World sympathy must go out to it in the appalling losses experienced. Like the horrors of war imagination cannot picture the havoc and desolation that has been wrought in a brief space of time, and while there are expressions of regret being extended it will not be surprising if there are expressions of regret being other countries at the same time.

In times of such great disasters it requires no extended pleas to picture the need of early assistance to relieve suffering humanity. Japan is resourceful and thrifty, but with sources of communication broken, transportation interrupted and the general machinery of administration disrupted and huge stores of supplies gone it faces an emergency which staggers. The rest of the world will lose no time in going generously to her assistance.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

A step of vast benefit to Mexico has been taken by the extension of recognition by the United States to the Obregon government. For a long time that has been hanging in the balance. Almost from the time that Obregon stepping into power it was realized that he had set up a government of a much higher caliber than his predecessors. He desired to and has been giving greater protection to the subjects of other countries. Revolutionary efforts have been promptly squelched and from an internal as well as an external standpoint Mexico has advanced.

In view of these known facts the demands have been more insistent for the recognition of the government. Equally promising Mexican governments had been recognized so often only to have their promises amount to nothing that the administration was determined to make more sure of its position. It has been insisting upon something definite promises that American rights will be respected and that after recognition constitutional provisions will not be warped and twisted to do exactly opposite to what they call for.

It is because it was impossible to get satisfactory assurances from Mexico that recognition has been so long delayed. Mexico knew what was sought and it has refrained from meeting the requirements until through the commission that was sent to Mexico diplomatic assurances were obtained. Thereafter the way was quickly cleared for what not only means much for the future of Mexico but also for the good relationship of countries which must continue to be neighbors. It is unfortunate that Mexico stood in the way of such action before.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Sprinkle very fine salt on a piece of wool and polish your mirror with it.

Sliced oranges and strawberries make an attractive and appetizing cocktail.

Tomato omelet is an appetizing dish with which to start a spring morning.

When stoning cherries for cherry pie boil the stones five minutes and strain into the pulp to give added flavor.

Uncooked prunes, pitted and stuffed with nut meats make good dessert for a meal that has been light.

Scorched egg shells sprinkled on the pantry shel will keep the bugs away.

Before using fruit jars that have been standing around empty, sterilize them thoroughly by boiling in soda water.

Brush your hat after each wearing if you want to keep it presentable for several seasons.

Cook your omelet over a very hot fire if you wish to avoid toughness. Do not make the mistake of using too large a pan.

Keep the cracks in your kitchen cupboards filled and have no food standing around uncovered if you wish to make the bugs unwelcome.

Your steak is apt to be dry if you cook it too much or too slowly. The fire should be very hot and about eight minutes should be allowed for a steak an inch thick.

Set the plates you are going to serve your salad on in the ice box for a while before they will be used. Cold plates for cold dishes are quite as important as heated dishes for meats.

If you use a dish mop to wash dishes be sure to get it clean after each using. Wash it out in a hot soda solution and rinse in boiling water before you hang it up to dry.

FOR CRADLE NETTING

Mosquito netting is only mosquito netting to you and me, but it is a blank impenetrable wall to a baby when it opens its droway little eyes after the hot afternoon nap. Several rows of inch-wide baby blue or pink ribbon with some rosettes in the corners will make the mosquito netting and the prospects of life in general much more interesting to his majesty and in all probability they will catch his eyes and change that lusty cry to a pleasant cooing laugh.

CARE OF BOOKS

Books kept in glass-fronted bookcases are subject to attacks from bookworms, moths, etc., in greater degree than if on open shelves. To preserve your books from these pests sprinkle shelves occasionally, say once every six months, with half an ounce of camphor, half an ounce of powdered bitter apple (well mixed together). Do not keep books in a very warm room. Gas light affects them very much. Russia leather bindings in particular.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

It is a good plan to rest the feet during the hot weather by wearing low broad heel canvas oxfords, and for dress-up; low, heel canvas pumps, or plain kid sandals with heels as low as possible.

Before washing the arms, rub them with olive oil or cleansing cream, scrub this out with soap and water. Use oakmeal soap, which is bleaching and rub vanishing cream into the elbows if they are rough or dark. Such little treatments will do wonders for your arms.

Common kitchen salt is an excellent occasional dentifrice, as it whitens and preserves the teeth, removes tartar and hardens the gums. It should not, however be used every day, as it has a tendency, like all gritty substance, to injure the enamel if used constantly.

It doesn't cost anything to keep a little orange wood stick on the bathroom shelf, and to push back the cuticle around the nails whenever the hands are washed. Yet this little habit will do wonders in improving the shape of the nails, giving them length and an artistic appearance in time, and from the very start, keeping the edges smooth and doing away with the need for frequent manicures.

CHANGING THE DIET

Are you the sort of housewife who serves hot pork with lots of gravy several times a week in the spring just as you did when the thermometer hovered around zero? Yet, if you are not guilty of this error, there are lots who have made no change whatever in the kind of food served the family.

Suppose that instead of the usual heavy Sunday dinner, you plan to serve a cup of fresh asparagus soup, any four fresh vegetables, baked potato, broiled fresh fish, fruit salad and tea or coffee. Or for a week day dinner, plan a cup of clam broth, cream potato, boiled onions, poached eggs on graham toast, baked apples and perhaps molasses cookies.

If a housewife is to get anywhere, she will simply have to plan the meals for several days at least and that on paper. It is not until you write it down and see it in black and white that you realize that you are having potatoes every day instead of breaking the monotony by having savory rice or buttered noodles substituted occasionally.

Vegetables, vegetables and then more vegetables and especially green vegetables should appear in each day's menu. Salads of lettuce, endive, watercress, chickory, romaine and any of the other varieties found in a given locale should be used, a different kind each day so as to get the largest possible variety of mineral salts.

HAVE EFFECT OF PLAID

Many new evening frocks of georgette have the appearance of being plaid because of the ribbon, which is stitched across the material horizontally and vertically. One especially attractive gown of lotus blue georgette achieves a plaid effect by the use of almond green and ambercolored ribbons, one of each running in both angles. It has a huge soft bow of wide two-toned green and amber satin ribbons at the girdle, from which falls a long spray of brilliantly shaded ribbon flowers.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Very flattering to most faces is the large hat of black in filmy tulle, lace or transparent straw.

A frock of brown satin has pleatings of beige crepe used in tiered effect down the front of the skirt.

Already the modes have definitely taken on an autumn coloring. The prevalent hues today for afternoon frocks, for example, are blonde, mouse gray, dull green and wood brown.

A simple frock of black flat crepe has its blouse embroidered all over in an intricate outwork pattern.

Delightfully youthful is a red and white checked gingham dress cut on simple, straight lines. It has a round, white collar and elbow sleeves and a large black silk bow tie.

A chic thought is the tailored suit of moire silk. It will be seen this fall chiefly in black, touched up with a sash, a coat lining, or a pocket piping of cherry or sky blue.

Late summer gowns of organdie, crepe de chine and linen now are bursting into a veritable foam of little lace and muslin frills. In many cases the very short sleeves as well as the side panels are made of frills altogether.

Once again the fans are enormous. If very long plumes, slightly curled at the tip and mounted on several sticks instead of one. Some of them shown today are about the size of small screens.

Ribbon and fur unite to trim many of the suites beginning to appear today. It is a pretty decoration, and since the fur itself is laid on in ribbonlike strips there is little suggestion of too much warmth so early in the season.

Nothing in the new clothes is complete today without the Russian sash. This is usually not a sash at all, but a rather large bow with long ends, concealing the side fastening of coat or gown.

RIBBON POWDER CASES

As long as women powder their noses—and who among us cares to look upon them after they cease doing it?—they will carry powder cases and it goes without saying that as long as they carry them they will be made of ribbon. One of the very latest models is fashioned in the shape of a square envelope with the flap curiously adorned with rosebuds of gold-colored sealing wax and tiny rosettes in contrasting colors. These cases are made up in all colors, so that one has no difficulty in matching one's frock. Emerald green, coral and peacock blue are among the favored colors.

COLORFUL WATCH BANDS

For the dainty wrist watch worn designs or metal, either silver or gold, by the up-to-date girl ribbons in plaid are high in favor. These colorful ribbons are purchased by the yard or cut in lengths to fit the wrist. Shaded grosgrain and hand blocked ribbons are also utilized as wrist-watch bands.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

Always pull a thread and cut by that when you are making curtains. Then they will always hang "true".

Semimade bloomer dresses for little children make pleasant summer work, particularly when they are of unbleached muslin and brown and white checked gingham. A touch of embroidery on the pocket adds to their attractiveness. There is a shade hat to match.

When making buttonholes in very soft or thin material, rub a little library paste on the wrong side of the goods and let it dry before cutting the buttonholes. This gives a firm surface to work on, and the paste will not discolor the most delicate fabrics.

In working an eyelet leave the end of the thread long enough to go around the eyelet hole and work over it. It thus pads and makes a firm, even eyelet.

When you wish to put wide lace on a luncheon-cloth or a large centerpiece, try rolling your lace, beginning at one end and rolling very tight. Now tie with a clean cord in three or four places, wet thoroughly one inch at the bottom. When this dries, you will find your lace will fall in a graceful circle ready to be sewed on your centerpiece.

Long narrow belts are easily turned by a small safety-pin stuck in one end and run through to the other end.

YARNS OF PAISLEY

The old paisley shawls that for so many years were relegated to the garret and dark corners have had a new fling sponsored by fashion. Rare old shawls have been cut into coats, capes dresses and bags.

Milady has demanded worsted yarns of paisley mixture for sweaters, scarfs and frocks. Mystic yarns, which reminds one of Joseph's coat of many colors, came and held away for a time, but paisley is now in favor. So much so that in wonderglow, which is silk and wool combined, there are sixteen different paisley mixtures, giving a fair choice of the old paisley patterns and allowing for wonderful reproductions of the old paisley in the hand-knit garments now in vogue.

WASHING MOPS

Wet mops may be washed in hot soap-suds and rinsed in clear hot water. They should be dried quickly. Dry mops may be oiled or oiled ones renewed by pouring a few drops of lubricating oil or any good floor oil into an old dish and setting the mop on this for a day or two; or the mop may be sprinkled with a little oil and allowed to stand till the oil spreads.

Dustless dusters should be washed frequently, and the oil in them may be easily renewed by rinsing the cloth in water containing one tablespoon of kerosene or one-half tablespoon of light lubricating oil to each quart of water. The heavy woolen cloths used in polishing floors may be soaked for an hour or more in hot water and washing-soda, using three tablespoons of soda to a gallon of water, and then washed in hot soapsuds and finally rinsed in hot water. A little kerosene or light lubricating oil added to this last water will soften the cloths.

Among cleaning materials which it is well to keep on hand in addition to water and soap are ammonia, borax, washing-soda, lye, oxalic acid, gasoline, kerosene, floor oils, turpentine, cleaning powders and abrasives.

rniture polish and floor wax. Time and effore are saved by having these materials ready at hand. Some of these materials are poisonous, some are explosive, and others are injurious to the skin or to furnishings if wrongly used. They should therefore be very carefully stored and handled. —Designer.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The outstanding feature of ocean travel this year is the increasing number of women travelers.

A woman can be nominated for membership to communal councils in Rumania, but cannot be elected.

The first American woman to own a French vineyard is Mrs. B. Prets, late of New York, who has settled in Nice.

One wealthy woman of Los Angeles journeys to Kansas every summer and cooks for all the hired hands on her big farm there.

Oxford, Pa., is proud of Miss Anna Cohe, who, though blind since infancy, has graduated from the local high school with highest honors.

TURN MATTRESS

Turn your mattress frequently, from end to end and side to side. Then it will wear evenly and be more comfortable.

PILLOWS TO MATCH

RECIPES

Butterscotch Sauce for Ice Cream—Into a double boiler put one cup of sugar, one cup of dark corn sirup and one cup of cream; stir until well blended and let cook for one hour. The water in the lower part of the boiler should be kept boiling constantly. After one hour of cooking beat in two tablespoons of butter and about one half teaspoon of vanilla. Serve when cool with Philadelphia or caramel ice cream.

Red Raspberry Ice—Make a sirup by boiling four cups of water and one and three-fourths cups of sugar eight minutes; cool and add two cups of red raspberry juice and the juice of one lemon. Strain and freeze, using equal parts of cracked ice and rock salt. To prepare the raspberry juice pick over and mash red raspberries; then squeeze through a double fold of cheese cloth or a jelly bag. Serve in stemmed glasses with small cakes or a slice of sponge cake.

Enforcing the Law.

Mr. Editor:—I read with interest the letter of my neighboring townswoman, Judge Edith W. Kennedy of Mocsup. She is without a doubt honest in her views. In fact I know she is, but the "but" that enters into the case is one worth considering.

She is an official elected, and sworn to do her duty like a lot more of us and whenever asked will be found on the job,—"but" the small town officials to begin with are not Nick Carters and not Vidocqs and are not paid for being such. The small town officials if they do their duty will mind their own business. The great trouble is that people stand around in public places and wonder why the authorities don't enforce law? but not a mother's son of them, or daughter either, will hold up their right hand and swear that they know the rumors they are peddling are the truth. The state and federal officers have no more right to violate the constitution of the United States than a rum seller has and when they search or raid without positive proof they are stepping on the constitutional rights of of the person they are searching or raiding.

The whole trouble is, not the constitutional amendment, but the so-called enforcement or Volstead act, and rules made under that act are changed so often even Volstead don't know where he stands.

Judge Kennedy mentions motor vehicle drivers being tempted to drink all kind of "various concoctions" etc. Does she intend to convey the idea that drunken autoists should be pitied? To my mind any one who is weak enough to drink "various concoctions" is too weak to hold a motor driver's license, and the "by the road side parties" she refers to were well known in pre Volstead days.

Judge Kennedy has probably enjoyed some of the experience that I have, that is, has probably listened to men and women howling about the constables, the grand jurors and justices of peace not doing their duty, when the fact is to mind their own business is doing their duty prefectly. A justice of the peace has no right to look into a case of any kind and then try it. The moment he or she starts investigating an alleged law violation he or she cannot be a fair justice as far as that case is concerned. A grand juror is sworn to investigate and prosecute if he can get sufficient evidence, but a grand juror and justice of the peace have no right to talk over the case and agree on what to do before the evidence is presented in court.

A constable or other police officer can and should, on immediate information arrest a law violator but such officer has no business making such arrest without a warant, unless the violator is caught in the act.

The whole thing in a nut shell is the citizens who air their views in public places and blame those they call "the authorities" for not doing their duty, will not raise their finger to give assistance to such officer in doing his duty.

It's all right to say "John Doe" is selling more rum than he did when he had a license, but why not hold up your hand and swear to it.

I for one do not believe there is a single officer, great or small, anywhere in Connecticut, who will fail the people if the people will do a little more swearing and a little less tattling.

C. B. MONTGOMERY, J. P.

Stories That Recall Others

Not End of World.

The other afternoon when a sudden darkness spread over the city, Hattie and Barbara ran to their grandfather greatly excited and inquired what it meant. He told them with a chuckle that it might be the end of the world was coming.

"No," said Hattie, the Bible says that the next time the world is destroyed it will be burned up, and with everything on fire, it couldn't be so dark.

But the darkness soon passed and they returned to their play.

Fortune Teller.

A woman was down in her basement doing laundry work. It was midforenoon and she was not expecting callers, but presently the door bell rang. At first she paid no attention to it, but the ringing persisted, and thinking the call might be something important, she smoothed her hair a trifle, discarded her apron and went to the door.

A well dressed man confronted her and politely inquired whether she would not like to have her fortune told, but he couldn't get a chance to present credentials or recommendations.

"You get away from here!" the matron exploded. "You're not much of a fortune teller or you would have known that I was in the laundry and didn't wish to be bothered."

PRIEST SCORES CHURCH AND CIVIC LEAGUE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 2.—At the three masses in St. Mary's Star of the Sea church this morning, Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, rector, touched up the Methodist church and Civic League, for their activity in the coming election for selecting members of the city council, the priest comparing the church and the league to the Ku Klux Klan. Father Crowley referred to the activity of the Methodist church in forwarding communications to voters inviting them to attend a meeting at the church recently to obtain their expressions as to law enforcement, particularly prohibition, also the communication that was forwarded the several candidates for election, inquiring their stand on prohibition and general law enforcement. He also referred to the action of the Civic League in going on record as favoring the election of candidates not of the Catholic faith. Fr. Crowley was forceful in his denunciation of such acts of the religious and civic bodies.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Louise Kubanska, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kubanska of West Main street, was instantly killed Saturday morning about 11:50 o'clock on West Main street when she was struck by an automobile driven by George Chase of this city.

Mr. Chase was driving down the West Main street hill when the child suddenly started out from the sidewalk in front of the American Waste and Metal Co. to cross the street to her home on the other side. Mr. Chase locked his wheels with his brakes and brought his car to a stop within 24 feet, but the child was hit by the bumper, thrown against the mudguard and then between the wheels. When the car came to a stop the body lay near the left rear wheel. The child's neck was broken.

Officer Myron Morgan was sent to the scene of the accident from police headquarters and medical examiner C. C. Gildersleeve also arrived and had Mr. Chase taken to police headquarters, as soon as he had learned the facts in the case, and pending word from Coroner J. J. Desmond. Mr. Chase was shortly afterwards released on his recognizance, and Coroner Desmond said Sunday night that he saw no reason yet for holding him as far as his investigation had proceeded. The coroner said Mr. Chase had made a voluntary statement and he had also taken testimony of two witnesses, but would probably not conclude his investigatin until after Labor Day.

Francis McCarthy, Angelo Alfieri, George A. Hawley, and Eugene Lackanbach, all witnesses of the accident, were among those who gave it as their opinion that the accident was unavoidable and one that Mr. Chase could not be blamed for. Medical examiner Gildersleeve had the little girl's body taken to the undertaking rooms of Shea & Burke, where he made examination of the injuries which she had sustained.

Sunday at Y. M. C. A.

The parlors of the "Y" building were well filled Sunday afternoon at the 4 o'clock meeting. The opening exercises consisted of the singing of popular hymns, the reading of scriptures and pleasing vocal solos by Hugh Kinder. Several reels of educational moving pictures were shown, including animal and insect life, and from the pictures lessons of industry and protection were learned.

Between the reels Secretary Hill gave a brief talk. He told of an exciting time at Silver Bay during his stay there, when a young lady was lost in the mountains, and as night came on and there were no signs of the return of the girl, a searching party was carefully organized and in a very systematic way the search was carried out under the leadership of a guide who knew almost every inch of the mountains. If the girl was found during the night, the whistle at Silver Bay would be sounded. Great anxiety was felt by the many people at Silver Bay, and the speaker with many others waited up until about 11.30 p. m., hoping to hear from the searching party, and then retired, wondering what the fate of the lost girl would be. During the night the welcome sound of the whistle was heard, and there was great rejoicing that the lost was found.

The speaker contrasted the eager search for and the great interest in the lost girl, who was a fine Christian character, and even though she had perished on the mountain, it was well with her soul, while all around us are men and women, boys and girls, who are lost in sin, and the average Christian seems to be indifferent to this sad fact. He urged all who profess to be followers of Christ to get busy seeking out the spiritually lost and endeavoring to win them to the Saviour of the world.

Four Baptized in River.

A baptismal service was held at 5 o'clock Sunday morning in the Thames river near Dawley's lumber yard by Rev. R. L. Thomas of Grace Memorial Baptist church. Two young men and two young women were baptized.

PORTEOUS & MITCHELL CO. BUYS MAIN STREET REAL ESTATE

By the purchase on Saturday of the two pieces of real estate known as The Bulletin building and Richards building, 75 to 95 Main street and 98 to 116 Water street, the Porteous & Mitchell Co. acquired the location where it has been in business for over 50 years. At present the company occupies the greater part of the combined property, which is one of the most valuable pieces of real estate in the business section of the city, having a frontage of 124 feet on Main street and 133 feet on Water street, with approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space.

The Bulletin building is the older of the two, having been erected about 1860 by The Bulletin association, of which John P. Huntington is now president and William B. Young treasurer. Its original incorporators included the names of some of the best known citizens of that day, such as Governor William A. Buckingham, H. H. Osgood, David Smith, Lorenzo Blackstone, Erastus Williams, James D. Mowry, George Pratt, William D. Manning. The Richards building was erected by the late Charles L. Richards just before 1870 and has continued in the ownership of the Richards family ever since.

It was in the Richards building that John Porteous and the late Archibald Mitchell began business in April, 1873, with 1,800 square feet of floor space, considered a store of some size at that time. But enlargements followed from time to time with their growing business and more space was taken in both buildings until in 1906 the entire Bulletin building was leased, thereby enabling them to give the people of Norwich and the surrounding territory a department store, which in stock and equipment is unsurpassed by any store in Eastern Connecticut.

Speaking of the purchase, John Porteous, president of the company said: "So far as the company is concerned we have not given any consideration to what changes we may make in the property. We have been doing business in our present location for more than half a century and the growth and success of our business in this location made us feel that ownership of the property would be a good thing for the company insofar as it would give us a permanent home and enable us, as time goes on, to make changes that will improve our service to the public.

While we have nothing definite in view at this time, it is very probable that in the near future we will make some changes in the buildings, both in the interior and exterior, but that is a matter and until it is fully worked out we cannot say anything about our plans that would be of public interest."

Mr. Porteous declared that it would continue to be the aim of the company to follow out the principle that it had followed from its beginning, the idea of "service to the public," and the concern feels that in taking over this property it is laying the foundation of a store that will be better in every way.

MISS LILLIAN WIGGLY INJURED ON HILL NEAR DANIELSON

Danielson, Sept. 3.—State police officers of the Danielson barracks spent a busy Sunday, checking up week end motor vehicle accidents. A Buick sport car belonging to William Scribner, of Framingham, Mass., was badly smashed early Saturday evening, when it crashed into a trolley car on Main street near the corner of Hutchins street. According to Mr. Scribner a truck was proceeding down Main street and the trolley was coming up, when his driver attempted to pass between the two. He misjudged the distance, however, and the rear end of his machine crashed into the trolley. Of the two occupants of the car one was slightly cut by flying glass. State Police Officers Stephens and Williams investigated the accident.

In a double accident at Dark Lantern Hill, Saturday evening, a Harley-Davidson motorcycle driven by H. C. Wicker of Detroit, Mich., skidded into a Maxwell touring car of Thomax H. Gouley, 20 Commercial street Adams, Mass., that had also skidded and overturned. Officer Stephens investigated the accident. The motorcycle was slightly damaged and the touring car was later righted and towed away.

A short time later, a Studebaker coupe, owned and driven by John W. Wiggly, one of the proprietors of the Piggly-Wiggly system of stores, met the same fate on the same hill. The car was badly smashed and Miss Lillian Wiggly, the driver's daughter, was cut by flying glass and received injuries to her back. She was taken to the office of Dr. F. P. Todd and given treatment. State Police Officer Bigelow investigated this accident.

While proceeding along the highway between Danielson and Wauregan, Mr. Wyatt, Putnam, felt something give way on his car and then suddenly swinging across the road into the bank. A mechanic from a garage was called and after examining the car it was found that a front wheel had come off and rolled into the woods nearby.

Officer Christopher Andrews, of the Danielson police department, as he was making his round, was witness of a freak accident early Sunday morning. One of the wheels of a freight train that came tearing through the town had become loosened and was rolling alongside of the train and held by a short piece of the axle on the car. As the train passed the wheel came in contact with a concrete walked and chipped off a part of the edge for the entire length, emitting a great snower of sparks as it did so.

Nicholas Farrio of Johnson, R. I., was arrested by State Policeman Stephens for reckless driving through South Killingly Sunday afternoon. His case will be tried this (Monday) morning.

As Mrs. E. C. Babson of Brooklyn, was driving a car by the blacksmith shop in East Killingly she was forced off the road when a Chevrolet sedan driven by Sorcisele Mandaround the curve ahead. State Police Officer Stephens found that as the Chevrolet came around the curve it had the choice of either bumping into the car or driving off the road into the building. It hit the latter. Mandville was consequently arrested and his case set for next Saturday afternoon.

NORWICH POLICE MAKE TRAFFIC SIGNAL REQUESTS

Members of the Norwich police department who will be on traffic duty during the three days of the fair have requested that operators of automobiles take special pains during the rush of traffic to make all signals clear, that there may be no confusion.

Some autoists, according to the officers, have a habit of pointing their hand from behind the windshield. Reflections in the glass make it impossible for the officer to see the motion of the driver and it is not until they signal ahead that the officer can see that the driver wished to make a turn.

Signals recognized as the best and which the police are trying to make universal in New England are the following. To stop, hold hand straight out, palm facing ahead. To turn to left, hand straight out, index finger pointing to left. To turn to right; hand straight out making slow circle, hand moving from top of circle toward front of machine. To back up, hand straight out, describing circle from top of circle toward back of car.

These signals if made with hand out of the car can easily be read by the traffic officer and by other operators behind and if adopted by all will make driving in heavy traffic easier.

BOY'S DEAD BODY FOUND BESIDE NOANK TRACKS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 3.—Randall Shaw, 11, residing with his parents at Noank, was struck and instantly killed early this evening by a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train a short distance west of the Noank street. Just how the accident occurred is not known, as there were no witnesses to it. The first section of the Boston express that left New London at 6.02 o'clock had passed when the crew of a westbound freight discovered the mangled body beside the eastbound rails.

The boy and his parents resided in the West View section of Noank and moved to the village from Glasgo, this state, about a month ago.

COUNTY FAIR GROUNDS READY FOR ANNUAL EVENT

With a promise of fair weather for today, Labor Day, people of Eastern Connecticut will be given an opportunity to see the largest fair the New London County Agricultural society has ever held, said Secretary Gilbert R. Raymond, Sunday. Every member of the various committees is hard at work today getting things ready for tomorrow and things are coming in fast.

All over the grounds there was nothing but activity, business houses were busy preparing for their exhibits, tents were going up and up and down the midway stagings and platforms were being built as fast as possible, and everything was moving like clockwork. Superintendent Elmer R. Pierson and his men have been busy preparing the various buildings for the arrival of the exhibits and every available space has been allotted for the 1923 fair.

The main exhibition hall was trimmed Sunday and most of the exhibits were in place giving an idea of the wonderful display that will take place during the next three days. The poultry and pet stock halls were receiving truck loads of exhibits with indications that before night everything would be filled.

The automobile show tent which had been placed Friday was laid out Sunday and during the afternoon all the automobiles to be exhibited there had been put in place and decorations completed.

All machinery exhibits were in place Sunday and were tested out during the day by various companies.

Along the midway the many booths were rapidly going up and stock being placed while others which had arrived Saturday had already been placed and some were open for visitors. Three carnivals which form a part of the midway attractions arrived in town Sunday and by nightfall had been set up in various parts of the grounds.

Over thirty horses were on the grounds Sunday ready for the nine events which form the racing card for the fair, and the stock sheds were receiving their allotments of blooded stock for exhibit.

The policy of keeping everyone off the grounds Sunday except those having business there aided greatly in speeding up the work and as various owners came in each was quickly assigned to his location, vaudeville equipment to its destination and there was not the confusion which reigned at the fairgrounds on the Sunday preceding annual fairs of past years.

In the 100 yard dash first prize, a dress shirt, donated by Herman Bruckner, was taken by George Seidle who finished ahead of a big field. The fat men's race was won by "Cas" Quinley, who received a suspender outfit donated by Samuel Taylor. The baseball game was entirely one-sided and Taftville Moose overwhelmed the Norwich lodge by the score of 32 to 6. The pipe race, a feature event, went to Richard Kyle, who received a box of cigars donated by Richard Krohn.

The event that attracted the most attention was the tug-of-war between Norwich and Taftville members, the men from the village winning after a long pull. The team members were:

Avery and Joseph Fitzpatrick Saturday afternoon and evening raided the homes of Tony Piederfieci of 46 Truman street and Michael Wiczorek, 60 Federal street. Both Piederfieci and Wiczorek furnished sureties upon their bonds for appearance in the police court tomorrow morning. At Piederfieci home the raiders found a quantity of whiskey, alcohol and gin. A meeting of the local Musicians' union was held Sunday evening at 6 o'clock in the union rooms on Main street with President Walter W. Lang presiding. ### STATE ATTORNEY MOVES AGAINST PEQUOT CASINO

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 3—A further evidence that State's Attorney Hadlai A. Hull desires to cause all the violators of the liquor law in New London to be disciplined in the superior court at the criminal session of that tribunal which will open at Norwich next Tuesday, was displayed Saturday night when County Detective William E. Jackson, Sergeant Nelson S. Smith and State Policemen J. K. Palmer and William Caron arrested John Carney, proprietor of the Pequot Casino on Pequot avenue, a place resorted to by New London's elite and summer residents, Carney's chef, Henry Pillysoni, and William Smith, the pair being jailed on into custody no bench warrants signed by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court. All three were taken to Norwich and arraigned before Judge Brown and were held for trial before the superior court. A bond of $7,500 was ordered for each in the case of Carney and Pillysoni and Smith was ordered to furnish a bond of $5,000, in each case Henry R. Bond of New London became surety.

Craney was arrested Friday night but his case was continued in the police court Saturday morning, Carney being held in bonds of $1,000 furnished by Charles E. Ducy. It is now alleged that Pillysoni was one of the dispensers of liquor at the Casino.

Smith has been employed for several months by Michael Macrino at a Potter street place. Several weeks ago Macrino's place was raided and Macrino held for trial in the superior court. Smith was at the place the morning when the raid took place and it is understood that evidence has been obtained by the state's attorney's force that Smith has dispensed liquor there.

MASSACHUSETTS AUTOMOBILE LEFT ON EAST SIDE

Why a Massachusetts automobile, a Peerless touring car in good condition, has been standing on Main street, East Side, near the Reliance Yarn Co. mill, since Saturday afternoon was a question that was puzzling the police Sunday night.

According to a telephone message from an East Side resident Sunday night of Sergeant Thomas Murphy at police headquarters, the machine was left by the side of the road between 1 and 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and has not been moved since then. The car is No. 91-388 Mass. and the registration found in it is that of Roger W. Nevins, 34 Ellington street, Longmeadow, Mass.

PUTNAM

St. Mary's church was crowded at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the exercises of blessing the corner stone of the new St. Mary's school building began with an address in French and English by Rev. F. R. Desrosiers of Occum, whose remarks along educational lines were interspersed with words of praise for what has been accomplished in St. Mary's parish. The sermon was followed by benediction after which the large congregation went to the new school where the building was blessed by Bishop John J. Nilan of the Hartford diocese.

Among the special guests were clergymen from Hartford, from several of the larger cities of the state and from the smaller parishes surrounding Putnam. The bishop and clergy were guests of Rev. Charles F. Bedard, pastor of St. Mary's, both before and following the exercises.

Nearly all in the large gathering took the opportunity offered to inspect the new, modern school building with its up to date equipment, also the older remodeled and renovated school building which will still be utilized in housing the nearly a thousand pupils that will enter the institution when school opens Tuesday. It was a notable day for the parish and a day of extreme pleasure for Father Bedard who sees the successful culmination of the latest of a series of projects that he has personally planned and supervised for the benefit and enhancement of the welfare of the parish.

The town's original appropriation was $30,000, but when it was found that the work could not be done for this amount a special town meeting appropriated $5,000 additional so that the completed work comes within the total appropriation. Besides Chairman Bugbee, Henry J. Thayer, Silas M. Wheelock, Alexander Gilman and Ray Bosworth were on the committee. Judge M. H. Geisler acted as secretary. The new addition is fireproof and adds six rooms to the school.

Divorce petitions continue to be filed with the clerk of the superior court for Windham county. Among those recently filed is a petition from John Brisson of Killingly who seeks a divorce from Leda G. Brigson of the same town, alleging desertion. The couple were married in Danielson in 1915.

Arthur Racicot of Putnam asks to be separated from Emma Racidot, of Thompson, claiming that she has deserted him. They were married in 1913.

The third petition is filed by Laura A. Tourtellotte of Putnam, who alleges that her husband, Alexix Tourtellotte, has been intolerably cruel to her. The petitioner asks for the custody of three minor children, in addition to a divorce.

The 25th anniversary celebration of the organization of the Canadian Athletic club of Putnam, begun Friday evening when club members were guests of the Bradley theatre management, was continued Saturday and Sunday and will be concluded today (Monday).

Saturday night was observed as ladies' night and in the prettily decorated club rooms there was unusual gayety. There was music, dancing, entertainment features and refreshments. Sunday morning, after members returned from mass, they assembled at the club rooms for roll call and spent the day in quiet sociability.

This (Monday) morning there will be a parade, athletic events on the Nightingale-Morse baseball grounds, followed by a clambake at Hopkins grove, River road.

Walter Clemens of NewBritain, formerly of Pomfret, was senior president of the class, which numbered 38. After the banquet there were short talks by the class members mostly of a reminiscent nature.

The golden anniversary of St. Joseph's church, North Grosvenordale, is being celebrated today (Monday) with religious service, dining and sports. The last come as a sequence to the more solemn exercises that began Sunday. Bishop John J. Nilan will be the honored guest today and there will be visiting clergymen from many parts of the state.

The anniversary observance had its beginning Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock with a solemn high mass of thanksgiving; at two o'clock there was solemn vespers. At three o'clock there was a procession of all the parish societies. The march was to St. Joseph's cemetery where an impressive service was held in memory of those who aided in the upbuilding of the parish. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Arthur Routhier of St. Mary's church, Putnam.

The day's program closed with a second concert in Union hall by the Gemmell quartette, of Worcester, with assisting artists and an orchestra from Providence.

Today (Monday) at nine o'clock there will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church a pontifical high mass, Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, celebrant. It is stated that this is the first time that a pontifical high mass has been celebrated in St. Joseph's church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. U. O. Bellerose of Taftville, who as a boy lived in North Grosvenordale.

At noon Rev. Bernard M. Donnolly, pastor of the church, will have the bishop and visiting clergymen as dinner guests at the rectory.

The evening observance will center in an open air carnival on St. Joseph's school grounds which has been going on for a week and there will be a display of fireworks.

Tuesday the last of the 50th anniversary observances will take the form of a solemn requiem high mass for the repose of the souls of the departed members of the parish.

Father Donnolly has had the head of the parish 13 years ago. He has administered to the spiritual needs of the parish while working faithfully for the physical upbuilding of the church and school. His untiring labors and his being influence have been a factor in the village and he has ever taken an interest in public affairs of the community in a quiet, unostentatious way. He has endeared himself to Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, and even beyond the confines of the parish he is respected as a man and loved as a pastor and leader. The parish has expanded under his ministrations and is a prosperous and happy community.

In the early days there was no Roman Catholic church in either the village of North Grosvenordale or Grosvenordale, and worshippers of this faith had to go either to Putnam or Webster. The first pastor to hold services was Rev. William E. Duffy of Pascoag, R. I., who came every Sunday also celebrated mass in Putnam—when Putnam was given a resident pastor the Grosvenordales were annexed as a mission.

In 1872 Rev. Eugene Vygen, many years pastor at Putnam, purchased 12 acres of land and erected on this plot, which was between the two villages, St. Joseph's church, a frame structure of Gothic design, at a cost of $10,000. The church was dedicated September 29th, 1872. In January, 1873 the parish was expanded to include all the town of Thompson, with the exception of Mechanicsville, West Thompson and Quadic.

The building of the rectory was begun in 1873 and completed in October of that year. From then on the growth of the parish was steady and the population of the parish increased. The parish was enlarged and included the whole town of Thompson until 189, when the Sacred Heart church at West Thompson was built. This church remained a mission of the Grosvenordales until 1886, when it became an independent parish.

WESTERLY

Saturday evening, at eight minutes of eight, the twenty-two new 1,000-candle power "white way" electric lights were turned on for the first time, to bring the Westerly street lighting system to a more up-to-date standard. Frequent tests had been given them by the employes of the Westerly Light and Power Co., and several weeks ago the work of stringing new wires for the circuits began so that when the juice was turned on there was not a hitch and the new lights burned steadily throughout the night. Work of dismantling the old street lighting equipment will proceed until it has been entirely removed.

Perhaps the most favorable impression of the new service is obtained as one crosses the Pawcatuck river bridge into Westerly when the lights along Broad street on its south side appear in even line with a more thorough distribution of light along the street. The new lights are placed three on the west side of Main street, four on the south and two on north side of Broad street, seven lights are staggered on High and three are located on the north side of Railroad avenue, giving the best results from the limited number asked for by the town council. The addition of a few more lights would help at the street corners, but the present installation is a long step in the right direction. The electric current used in Saturday night's street lighting was generated at Montville. From the Montville station on the Thames river three wires bring a 33,000 volt current to the Westerly transformers on Canal street, where it is "stepped down" to 2,300 in the oil-coiled transformers. From the transformers in the enclosures north of the Canal street station underground cables carry the current to the switchboard, which is of most modern type, being recently installed, from which it passes through rectifiers which control the brilliancy of the lights, to the three main street circuits, south of Granite street, and the new circuit for the white way lights. A new panel on the switchboard has the switch operating in oil which acts alive the new lamps.

The amperage at the board is 6.6 but a controlling device at each lamp steps it up to 20 amperes for the 1000 c. p. nitrogen filled bulbs, costing about $5 each.

The old lights displaced by the new were 600 c. p., and the yearly cost to the town of Westerly for each light is $100, which makes about $300 more total cost of lighting for the rest of the year than if the old ones were continued, this amount coming within the budget lighting figures. Later the three closely lights now in use will be changed over to single 250 c. p. bulbs, which will a modern fixture to Westerly's street lighting system.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

The Queen of the Flowers.

No sooner had Little Jack Rabbit finished speaking than an immense layer cake appeared on the magic napkin and close beside it lay a striped peppermint stick as long as a telegraph pole, while a little chocolate coated mouse ran helter skelter here and there. All this happened because, in the last story, you remember, the little dwarf had told Little Jack Rabbit how to use the magic napkin.

All of a sudden, a great big giantess strode through the forest and, sitting down beside the napkin, picked up the peppermint stick and broke it in two. Then she bit a piece as big as a barn door out of the layer cake. At this the little chocolate mouse became so frightened he ran away.

Then the giantess walked home, leaving the bunny boy and the parrot to go their way. By and by, after a while, they came to a mossy cave where a wonderful white flower grew.

"Do not touch my petals white,
Nor pluck me from my stalk,
Or you will rob me of my life
And end my flower talk," sang the flower.

"I won't harm you," answered the little bunny, "but, tell me, what do you do here all day in your mossy cave?"

"I am the queen of the flowers," she replied, "and all the butterflies are my winged messengers. I send them from flower to flower to bring me news of my flowery kingdom." And she opened her beautiful petals wider and sang:

"Butterflies, hasten upon your wings,
Over the meadow's sparkling grass;
Tell the red rose she must not look
At her face in the looking glass."

"You see," said the wonderful white flower queen, "Red Rose is very vain and instead of giving her perfume to the wind, she spends much of her time gazing at herself in the mirror."

Just then the butterflies flew away, so Little Jack Rabbit and the parrot said goodby to the flower queen and hastened on their journey. By and by, they came to a small cottage in the doorway of which a little girl stood weeping bitterly. She was crying because her parrot had flown away.

When the bunny boy's little feathered friend heard this, she said: "Let me stay with this little girl." So the little rabbit hopped away until he came to a pond where a mother duck was scolding her young ones because they wouldn't go in swimming. She would swim for a little while and then come up to the bank and try to coax them into the water.

As soon as Little Jack Rabbit saw them he began to laugh for the young ones were not little ducks at all—they were chickens, only of course the poor mother duck didn't know that for nobody had told her, you see.

"Madam Duck, you have a brood of chickens," explained the bunny boy politely.

When poor Mrs. Duck heard that she began to cry, she was so dreadfully disappointed and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

POETRY

THE MELODY OF TOIL.

They were Labor's dark-hued sons,
Types the idler ever shuns;
Each sturdy hand a calloused imprint bore.
Toil to them had ever been Something they could glory in—
"Grab a-hold! Lif' it high!
Let it go! Good-by!
Oh, lawdy!"

They were lifting rails of steel,
Each move timed with singing zeal;
Their unity of action eased the load.
It was good to hear and see
Song and Toil in harmony,
The rails went tumbling down beside the road:

Considerable excitement was caused in the town Thursday afternoon about five o'clock when a Jewish rag peddler of Norwich was assaulted by a well known man of the village, on one of the village streets. The aged peddler was no match for his youthful opponent and was dragged about by the beard and beaten unmercifully until after the affair was halted by a clergyman and a town official who fortunately chanced to be in that section of the town. Their interference no doubt saved the old man more serious injury, and they finally persuaded the younger man to go into his house. The affair caused a large crowd to collect, but being all women and children, they were unable to reason or interfere with the peddler's assailant, who had so suddenly lost his temper.

The local employes of the State Highway Department enjoyed their annual clambake at Fenton's Wednesday afternoon. Chief Benoit served a delicious menu of clam chowder, steamed clams, lobster rolls, coffee and cigars. The specialties of the afternoon included a boxing match between Shorty Poyerd and Slim Faucher. The bout terminated when Shorty shoved one under Slim's chin and made him see stars. The members voted to hold the annual bake about this time each year. The committee in charge consisted of Pat Breault, Slim Faucher, Tom Corcoran and Shorty Poyerd.

WEST MAIN ST. WORK HAS UNFINISHED SECTION

Work on the northerly side of West Main street which was to have been done in time for the opening of the New London county fair today (Monday), was slowed up and because of delays a part of the road is not finished. # DUNHAM STREET CELLAR YIELDS STILL AND BARRELS OF LIQUOR

Police activity for the detection of those alleged to be in the business of illegal possession, sale or manufacture of intoxicating liquor, continued Saturday night with one successful raid and two in which no violation of the Volstead law was found.

At the home of Peter Paraldo, 88 Dunham street, an extensive array of evidence was seized. This consisted of a copper wash boiler fitted up with a coil as a still an oil stove on which the boiler was sitting, a dozen cases of bottled goods which is believed to be home brew beer, two barrels, two half barrels, and two kegs, believed to contain liquor, and an earthenware crock containing mash. All of the articles were taken to police headquarters in the patrol wagon. Paraldo gave bail for his appearance in police court Monday morning.

When the police went into the cellar of the Paraldo house, they found what they were looking for. Here the still was set up with its coil led down through a barrel of water. The distilled liquor was slowly dripping from the pipe. The barrels, half barrels and kegs were arranged in the cellar, and there were two copper boilers besides the still, which it is believed were used in the manufacture of the home brew beer. The cases of bottled beer were found in the barn.

Raids were made also at the beverages places of John G. Shea, 195 West Main street, and John Antone, 108 Franklin street, but without finding any violations of the Volstead law.

Other cases for the police court this (Monday) morning will be provided by nine arrests for intoxication and the arrest of Michael Froshello, son of Frank Froshello of School street, on the charge of tampering with an electric light meater at his home.

MANSFIELD DEPOT RECEPTION FOR NEW PASTOR AND WIFE

At Mansfield Depot Wednesday evening, a reception was given at the Eben Dunham Memorial church to the new pastor, Rev. W. Carpenter, and his wife.

The church was beautifully decorated with hydrangias and golden glow. In spite of bad weather there was a large attendance, including many young children. The Brotherhood club game in as a body and occupied the whole left wing of the church.

The meeting opened with an anthem sung with harmony by the choir. Following this Rev. Leonard Smith, as chairman, offered prayer and delivered the opening address.

Rev. W. V. Allen, pastor at South Willington, gave a short speech and related some amusing anecdotes. He also rendered two excellent solos. Miss Helen Brown of North Westchester and Miss Ebba Smith, sang several pleasing solos and very generously gave encores.

Mrs. Alguire, who has charge of the music of the church, was at the piano and the organ. She also sang two delightful selections.

Rev. Mrs. Carpenter heartily thanked the congregation for the friendly welcome given him and Mrs. Carpenter, and expressed the hope that his pastorate would be successful through the co-operation of all.

Rev. and Mrs. Carpenter were then formally presented to the congregation by Rev. Leonard Smith.

Ice cream and cake were served by members of the church. The people left about 10.30 all delighted with the evening and well impressed by the personality of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter.

THREE KILLED IN TRAIN-AUTO ACCIDENTS

Railroad trains and motor vehicles came together in thirty-six collisions in Connecticut during the first seven months of this year, injuring seventeen people and killing three more, according to a statement forwarded to the motor vehicle department by the safety bureau of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

During the first seven months in 1922 there were twenty-nine such collisions, injuring thirteen and killing five persons. Twenty of these twenty-nine accidents involved passenger cars and trains while nine involved trucks, compared with twenty-four passenger cars and twelve truck collisions this year. For the 1922 period under survey there were twenty-two motor vehicles hit by train and seven trains hit by motor vehicles. This year there have been twenty-three motor vehicles hit by trains and thirteen trains hit by motor vehicles.

Supplanting this statement, the motor vehicle department has announced that in addition to the Memorial Day crossing accidents in Newington in which an entire family was killed, there has been one more fatality, which occurred at Lime Rock, on August 7, and in which Harry Munson a 30-year old truck driver was the victim.

For the last five years, crossing deaths have been happening throughout the United State at the rate of 1820 each twelve monthsConnecticut has one-eighteenth of all the automobiles in the country and more congested traffic conditions than the average state. If Connecticut had one-eighteenth of all the grade crossing deaths in the country so far this year, there would have been fourteen death for the first seven months instead of the three that are listed.

DUTY OF BROTHERLY LOVE FR. GUERRIERO'S TOPIC

Preaching at the 9 o'clock mass in St. Patrick's church Sunday to a congregation that nearly filled the auditory and galleries, Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero, the assistant pastor, considered the duty of love of neighbor. It was the fifteenth Sunday after Pentecost, the day's epistle being Galatians 5:25-26, and 6:1-10; the gospel read in all the masses was Luke 7:11-16, the latter narrating the miracle of the restoration to life of the son of the Widow of Naim.

The preacher said that God has enlighted man by His holy spirit, has left His chosen people to be His representatives, here on earth. It is not enough to so carry out God's commands that one's soul is kept unspotted by sin; there must be, not alone passive goodness, but active service. Man must avoid evil and do good; and in this practice of the commands of the Lord, charity, kindness, forgiveness, good will toward one's neighbor, must be the rule of conduct. It may be that it become one's duty to even correct a neighbor's fault. But this must be done without malice or revenge, or uncharitableness. To love one's neighbor as one's self—if this admonition of the Lord is the guide of conduct, the Christian's life cannot fail to meet God's approval.

The low mass was read by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who was assisted by Father Guerriero, in giving holy communion to the large number at the altar.

TO LECTURE HERE ON HUMANE SOCIETY

General Manager H. Clay Preston, of the Connecticut Humane society, and Mrs. Preston of Hartford, the latter director of the department of humane education, of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, were visitors in Norwich recently.

It is Mrs. Preston's intentions if satisfactory arrnagements can be made to come to Norwich during the early fall and lecture before the schools here, along her line of work, in which she is deeply interested. Her instructive talks are widespread and much good has been accomplished in the places she has visited, where she is always received. The following is an excerpt from the address given by Mrs. Preston, to the students of the Buffalo Normal school, August 8th, when referring to the late President Harding: "Today, almost at this moment, the nation is paying its last tribute to our dead president. Of all the qualities which endeared him to a sorrowing world his humanity and his humaneness stand out preeminently. Humanity has been defined as relating to man's treatment of his fellow being—humaneness as relating to his treatment of others than human beings.

One of the choicest memories of my life will be the half hour spent in president's office, when, with his hand on "Laddie Boy's" head he kept a delegation waiting while he related anecdotes of the pets of his boyhood days, his love for animals, his hatred of cruelty and his desire to help in every way possible in the teachings of the principals of mercy and justice. No better example of kindly, gentle, children than he to whom the nation's upright manhood could be given your tion at this moment is paying its last tribute."

The society which Mrs. Preston represents having created a department of humane education, has set aside a large fund to be used exclusively for promoting humaneness in the schools of New York city and throughout the state. With the active co-operation of all the school authorities—commissioner of education, district and city superintendent, principals and teachers, there has been a vast amount of work accomplished during the past three years. Notably so with regard to essay and poster contests which aroused wide-spread interest on the part of both teacher and student. In all normal schools where lectures have been given, there has been a quickened response shown in making the subjects of humaneness practical in the school work.

The following endorsements of humane education as a part of the regular school curriculum have been received by the department humane education, American S. P. C. A. State board of education, Hartford, Connecticut: "At the last session of the legislature the general statutes with respect to the subjects required to be taught in the public schools were amended so as to include instruction in the humane treatment and protection of animals and birds and their economic importance.

"The state board of education of this state has distributed among the schools and recommended for use a syllabus on humaneness with the expectation that later a more complete treatment will be included in the monographs dealing with the elemenary school subjects.

(Signed) A. B. MEREDITH, Commissioner of Education.

Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, Washington: "I am deeply interested in the cause of humane education. I think it appeals strongly to our American people and am hopeful that proper legislation may be enacted as rapidly as possible in every state in the Union to promote the teaching of humanity in our schools. I confidently believe that all our state commissioners of education and superintendents of public instruction will heartily cooperate with the movement.

(Signed) JNO. J. TIGERT, Commissioner of Education.

NEW LONDON BALLOTS NOT LEGAL, ACCORDING TO STATE SECRETARY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 2—The automobile owned and operated by Albert B. Perkins of Waterford and a machine owned and operated by Miss Charlotte M. Johnson were in collision late Saturday afternoon at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Bank streets. Both machines were damaged.

John Murphy of Brockton, Mass., came to New London Saturday evening and took possession of an automobile owned by his brother, William Murphy, also of Brockton, which was taken in charge by the police several days ago, when two youths were detected in the car, which was believed to be stolen. The youths were given permission to operate the car, but because neither had an operator's license the car was held until such time as a proper representative of the owner claimed the machine.

Officer Ladwith of the Stonington police force was in New London Saturday in search of Philip P. J. Buttons, wanted for non-support. Buttons was said to be a frequenter of the dance hall at Ocean Beach, but a search there failed to find the accused, it being understood that he has left the city.

It is probable that the city council at its weekly session Tuesday night will elect a city manager to succeed James E. Barlow, whose recent resignation will take effect the 15th inst. The probable successor to City Manager Barlow is William A. Holt, and it is understood that Mr. Holt has the support of Mayor Murray and Councilors Scott, Gragan and Thompson, a sufficient number of votes to secure the appointment. Several days ago it was believed that former Mayor E. Frank Morgan was the logical candidate for the office, but following a meeting of the members of the council, sitting as a committee, Friday night, the sentiment appeared to favor Mr. Holt, except that Councillor Waldo E. Clarke was in favor of Mr. Morgan. The other local candidates, Thomas R. Murray and Harvey E. Rogers, have practically been eliminated from the running. Whether the new city manager will continue to draw down the $7,500 salary that has been paid Mr. Barlow the past two years is doubtful. It is believed that the salary of the new appointee will be about $5,000.

Several days ago it was revealed that when the ballots for the election to be held here Sept. 10th for choice of members of council were printed a legal difficulty would arise. That difficulty appeared Saturday when a proof was received by City Clerk Julian D. Moran from the office of Secretary of State Donald J. Warner, who refused to affix the words "Official Ballot," and neither will he affix his signature of endorsement. The statute specifically provides that each ballot shall bear the words "Official Ballot." Secretary Warner has ruled, and his ruling is backed by Attorney General Healy, that the ballots are illegal because of the absence of party columns, the name "Republican" and "Democrat" not appearing above the names of the candidates seeking office.

The office of the secretary of state was communicated with after the reception of the proof of the ballots and Chief Clerk Lunsbury declared that the ballots would not be printed as being official nor with the endorsement of the secretary of state. Director of Law Frank L. McGuire was consulted and took the question of legality under advisement.

If the ballots to be used election day are not official ballots, there is a legal question as to whether the candidates receiving the greatest number of votes will have the right to take office, a question that would have to be determined by the courts should the validity of the election be questioned.

The reason for omitting the party column from the ballots is that under the operation of the present charter no candidates of a specified political party are seeking election, for it is contended that politics is eliminated by the operation of the council manager form of government.

Katherine Miller, a gypsy, is a prisoner at the police station, having been arrested Saturday night, charged with theft, and is being held in bonds of $700 for her appearance in police court Monday. The woman was unable to secure a surety on her bond, although her companions endeavored to furnish one, and as a result is in confinement.

The woman was arrested upon complaint of Harry R. Miller of 1057 Ocean avenue, who alleges that the gypsy stole $530 from him, but that he recovered all but $30. The accused is one of about twenty nomads encamped outside the city. About 7.30 o'clock the woman was with several of the band in the vicinity of Ocean Beach and when passing the residence of Miller she alighted from an automobile and going to the veranda of the Miller house, where Miller was seated, she requested permission to tell Miller's fortune. According to Miller, the woman, pretending to reveal his future, managed to thrust her hand into the back pocket of his trousers and remove a wallet containing $500, also took from a side pocket $30. When the woman was about to leave the house Miller discovered the loss of his wallet and after accusing the woman of the theft, he finally secured the return of the money, but he did not miss the $30 until later. Miller then informed the police and Motorcycle Officer William Babcock intercepted the band and placed the woman under arrest. At the police station the $30 Miller claims was stolen from him was found in the handkerchief of the accused.

Fred Berg and James Bennett, both of Hartford, and Dr. Wilfred Robinson of New Britain are patients at Lawrence hospital as a result of injuries sustained shortly before Saturday midnight, when the automobile, a Ford coupe, was wrecked at the foot of Durfee Hill, East Lyme. Berg sustained a fractured skull. He was operated on a short time after his admission to the institution and his condition Sunday afternoon was critical. Dr. Robinson suffered head injuries and his condition is fair. Bennett suffered a laceration of the foot, injuries to his body and arm.

About 11.30 o'clock the automobile was headed toward Niantic. The machine descended Durfee Hill grade at a fast rate of speed and apparently the driver did not observe a tar tank at the crossroad leading to the Mago Point land development project, for the machine crashed against the metal tank with terrific force, the occupants being hurled from the car and the automobile wrecked. Passing motorists found Berg lying close to the tank and unconscious, bleeding from the ears, indicating a serious fracture of the skull. A telephone message summoned the New London hospital ambulance. Because of Berg's condition an immediate operation was performed. Relatives of the men were summoned and arrived at the hospital early this morning. Dr. Robinson, it is understood, had been at the state military camp at Niantic and was en route there when the accident occurred.

For the Kind of Home That Is a Home

You are to be congratulated if the quality of heat in your home is ideal. If it is not, this message is run exclusively for you.

When we say "ideal," quoting from the leading Heating Engineers of America, we mean, pure, warm, ever-changing air, permanently free from dust, gas and smoke and healthfully moistened. Anything less than this is a compromise of the most serious nature—one that is undermining the vitality and health of the family—one that prevents you from being at your best.

If you are using steam or hot water, you have observed how dry the air really is. Creaking furniture, wall paper coming loose at the corners, difficulty in raising plants, tendency to coughs and colds in Winter months—all these are indications of dry air.

On the other hand, if you are using furnace heat the slightest suggestion of dust, smoke or coal gas is quite as indicative of a compromise.

Do not confuse any of these types of heating with the service rendered in Round Oak heated homes.

When we say to you that these homes are enjoying the last word in comfort and safeguarding of health, we mean exactly that. The reasons why are of particular interest to those who feel that they owe it to themselves to have the best.

When by investigating—and joining Next Winter's Comfort Club—now—you can own a Round Oak without interfering with your money plans and increase the value of your home more than the low club price—why not have one?

FATALITIES FROM QUAKE AND FIRE IN TOKIO ALONE ESTIMATED AT 150,000; NO BUILDING IN SIGHT IN YOKOHAMA

Both Tokio and Yokohama Are Reported to be Virtually in Ruins—Hundreds of Towns on the Izu Peninsula Have Been Levelled—Police Chief of Yokohama Sent Wireless Message to Osaka Appealing for Help, Declaring That "Yokohama is a Sea of Flames"—Former Premier Matsukata Has Died From Injuries.

Kobe, Japan, Sept. 4.—(By The A. P.)—Great destruction and loss of life have resulted from the earthquake which Saturday struck Japan the most severe blow received in her history. Both Tokio and Yokohama are reported to be virtually in ruins, hundreds of cities and towns on the Izu Peninsula have been levelled by fire and tremors and the casualties at the present time cannot be estimated.

Yokohama is completely isolated and is declared to have burned or be burning. It is learned that the chief of police of Yokohama sent a wireless message to Osaka appealing for help and declaring that "Yokohama is a sea of flames."

The city of Kobe was shaken by the tremblor and Toyama was affected. The shocks, according to reports here, seemed to have centered in the Izu Peninsula.

The United States consul at Kobe, immediately upon the receipt of word of the disaster, commandeered the shipping board steamer Wesa Orowa, loaded with food supplies and dispatched it to Yokohama for the purpose of relieving the distress which is believed to be prevalent in the foreign community of the stricken city.

Although little authentic news is obtainable from Tokio, it is reported that the destruction there includes the Imperial hotel, the Imperial theater, the foreign office, department of education, the Imperial university, the departments of interior and finance, the railway department and all the large department stores. It is said the Imperial Palace was afire but the blaze was extinguished. The Prince Regent Hirotto and suite, were said to have left the city and are believed to be safe. The emperor and empress are at Nikko in safety.

It is stated that all of the Tokio newspapers were destroyed with the exception of the Nichi Nichi and the Hochi. The resorts of Miyanoshita and Hakone, noted for their hot springs, were destroyed. Refugees arriving from Hakone report many deaths in the vicinity of this resort. There has been no news whatever from Miyanoshita, and it is feared the casualtids there are heavy. Hakone is much frequented by foreigners.

There is the greatest anxiety here in regard to the large foreign settlement at Yokohama, but no names of those who lost their lives or were injured have been received. It is feared the death toll was heavy in the settlement.

Railway communication with Tokio is reported to have been restored to within seven miles of the city although Yokohama appears to be isolated. Because of the fire the ships which survived the tidal wave are declared to be keeping well out in the harbor.

TRANSPORTS ORDERED TO PROCEED TO YOKOHAMA

Washington, Sept. 3.—A wireless message received tonight by the Navy Department from Admiral Anderson, in command of the Asiatic fleet, said the destroyer tender Black Hawk, now enroute from Port Arthur to Chefoo, China, would be loaded with one million pounds of rice and 500,000 pounds of beans and other non-perishable food and rushed to the relief of earthquake sufferers in Japan.

No information in the message as to when the Black Hawk would reach the stricken area. It was presumed here that she would take supplies aboard at Chefoo. Earlier in the day, Admiral Anderson had reported the Black Hawk was accompanying his flagship, the cruiser Huron, to that port.

Later the War Department sent cable instructions to Manila for the Army Transports Meigs and Merritt to proceed to Yokohama with food and medical supplies, tentage, bedding and cots.

Both vessels are now at Manila, the Meigs a freighter of 11,000 tons, the Merritt a 28,000 ton ship with accommodations for 500 passengers. It was estimated here, that, once loaded with supplies, it would take the transports six or seven days to reach Yokohama.

FOOD RIOTS HAVE BROKEN OUT IN TOKIO

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Food riots have broken out in Tokio, according to radiogram received to night by the Radio Corporation of Iwaki station, 155 miles from Tokio. The Gendarmeries are reported in these advices to have exerted the most strenous measures to suppress the disorders, even attacking the rioters with their swords.

Nogeyama, a better class residential section of Yokohama: Iseyama, another section where stood a notable statue of Io Naosuke, Prime Minister of the Shogun at the time Japan was opened to foreign intercourse, and Kamonyama, a third section, all were destroyed, leaving thousands in extreme misery.

There has been no news received in Japan from the Bonin Islands, on which is located a cable relay station and it is feared the advices declared that the land there was submerged by the tidal wave following the tremor.

The advices also confirmed earlier reports of the submergence of the island of Enoshima "Picture Island," one of Japan's most beautiful spots. This island, the message said, was swept away by a tidal wave, as were also Honomuku and Isoko, villages in the vicinity of Enoshima.

Many Europeans, visitors and residents of that section are missing.

The famous Ryogoku Bridge, spanning the Sumida river in Tokio, collapsed at a time when thousands of refugees fleeing to the mountains were upon it, with resultant loss of life described as "innumerable."

Keiji University at Tokio, the higher technical school, the Kurnamae Women's Higher Normal School and the First High School, have been burned.

Yotsuya, a ward of Tokio east of Imperial Palace, was burning at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, no further advices thence having reached the stations.

ONLY RUINED WALLS VISIBLE IN YOKOHAMA

Nagasaki, Sept. 3—(By the A. P.)—There is no building in sight in Yokohama, only ruined walls are visible, according to the captain of the Shinyo Maru, which has just arrived here from Yokohama. Thousands of refugees gathered in a park were half drowned by a flood caused by th bursting of the city water pipes.

The fire in Tokio, it is reported, subsided about five o'clock Sunday evening, which is held to mean that nothing inflammable was left in the city. The Chinese legation was among the destroyed buildings. The inmates of the Tokio prison, including recently arrested Socialists, were liberated when the building caught fire.

From today army airplanes will fly daily between Tokio and Osaka to carry important news and official mails.

ESTIMATED LOSS OF LIFE 120,000 TO 200,000 200,000 HOUSES BURNED.

Osaka, Sept. 4 (By the A. P.)—Almost the whole of Tokio and Yokohama have been destroyed by earthquake, followed by fire, and the loss of life now is estimated at from 120,000 to 200,000 or more.

Two hundred thousand houses have been burned down in the two cities.

Water mains have been broken and food supplies destroyed by the fire so that the people are near starvation and suffering much from thirst.

LOSS OF LIFE IN TOKIO ALONE PLACED AT 150,000

Osaka, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—The minister of marine today estimated the fatalities from the earthquake and fire in Tokio alone at 150,000.

NAVAL BASES DESTROYED AND BRIDGES SWEPT AWAY

Liverpool, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—The Japanese naval bases at Kamakura and Yokosuka, were entirely destroyed in the earthquake, according to despatches received by the Japanese consulate here. Eight of the fifteen districts in Tokio were partially destroyed and the fires are not yet under control in some districts.

All the bridges over the river traversing Tokio were carried away by the tidal flood. The small volcano on the island of Koshima, 30 miles from Tokio is erupting.

Washington, Sept. 3—Yokosuka was the oldest and one of the most important of the Japanese naval bases.

In Japanese circles here today it was said to be quite likely that the bulk of the Japanese fleet was at or near Yokosuka at the time of the disaster. It is feared many of the ships may have been lost.

CALL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS FROM ORGANIZED LABOR

New York, Sept.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, announced today that he would call on every member of organized labor in the United States to extend their fullest sympathy and contribute a part of their earnings for relief in the Japanese disaster.

Mr. Gompers made the announcement during an address before 10,000 members of organized labor in greater New York and their families, at Fort Hamilton, today. The audience wildly cheered.

John Sullivan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council of greater New York, proposed a resolution that President Coolidge and Congress be urged, in the name of organized labor in greater New York to act immediately on the despatching of relief supplies to the destitute in Japan.

SIX U. S. DESTROYERS BOUND FOR YOKOHAMA

Pekin, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Six United States destroyers left the port of Dairen for Yokohama this afternoon, carrying a number of doctors and large quantities of food supplies to aid the earthquake victims in the stricken city. The flagship Huron, of the Asiatic fleet picked up Admiral Anderson at Cheefoo and is proceeding to Japan.

The Japanese legation here issued a statement to the effect that the foreign office at Tokio had burned. No other authentic news has been received from the stricken area although it is rumored there are ten thousand deaths in Yokohama.

FORMER PREMIER MAISUKATA DIED FROM QUAKE INJURIES

Nagasaki, Japan, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former Premier and Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, has died from injuries sustained in the earthquake, according to a report received by the Nagoya railway bureau.

President Calls For Aid For Japan

Contributions May be Made Through Any Red Cross Chapter—Fate of Americans Unknown.

Washington, Sept. 3—The United States moved quickly today to bring the full force of the government and the people to the aid of stricken Japan.

While government executive departments were directed to assist in the work, the public was urged in an appeal issued by President Coolidge to contribute funds through the American Red Cross for aiding the unfortunate and giving relief to the people of Japan.

The Red Cross at once announced that it had started the fund with a contribution of $100,000 for the relief of victims of the earthquake and in addition had appropriated from its reserve funds $10,000 for the assistance of Americans caught in the disaster zone. Arrangements were made at the same time for individual contributions to be received either through the National Headquarters or through any Red Cross chapters. The funds will be sent through the State Department to the Japanese Red Cross, an efficient organization.

Efforts, it was emphasized, will be directed toward assisting the sister nation on the farther shores of the Pacific by every available means, not merely because of the long friendship which existed unbroken through the years between the two countries but because of the broad humanitarian considerations inolved in the great catastrophe, nor is it forgotten by the United States, in thus being the first country to tender its assistance, that similar services were given quickly by Japan through its Red Cross to San Francisco after the devastating earthquake and fire of 1906.

The desire of the Washington Government to be of any service possible was made known personally to Ambassador Hanihara, of Japan during the day when he visited both the State Department and the White House for conferences with acting Secretary Phillips and President Coolidge.

"To the people of the United States: "An overwhelming disaster has overtaken the people of the friendly nation of Japan. While its extent has not been officially reported, enough is known to justify the statement that the cities of Tokio and Yokohama and surrounding towns and villages have been largely if not completely destroyed by earthquake, fire and flood, with a resultant appalling loss of life and destruction and distress, requiring measures of urgent relief.

"Such assistance as is within the means of the executive department of the government will be rendered, but ralizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come, I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive to contribute in aiding the unfortunate and in giving relief to the people of Japan.

"In order that the utmost co-ordination and effectiveness in the administration of relief funds be obtained, I recommend that all contributions, clearly designated, be sent to the chairman of the American National Red Cross at Washington or to any of the local Red Cross chapters for transmission to Japan."

The Japanese Ambassador in turn expressed through a public statement, his appreciation for the sympathy that has risen in America for his country it its hour of trouble.

American plans for extending relief were discussed during the day at the White House and at the State, War, Navy and other departments. Concerted action looking to relief on a huge scale, was taken in every possible way upon the basis of information contained in press dispatches and brief messages from American Naval officers in the vicinity of Japan without waiting reports from Ambassador Woods or other American Embassy officials in Tokio, concerning whom nothing had been heard at the State Department tonight.

Red Cross Headquarters announced that measures for despatching relief supplies and nurses and other workers were ready and would prove effecive, if developments should show such assistance was needed in addition to the financial contributions. The Navy Department was one of the first executive branches of the Government to take action, through Admiral Anderson in command of the Asiatic fleet despatching several destroyers from Port Arthur, one of which is expected to arrive at Nagasaki tomorrow and the other six at Yokohama on Wednesday. All are carrying medical supplies and food while other stores are being taken aboard larger vessels of the fleet at Chefoo, China.

The entire Asiatic fleet has been placed at disposal of the Japanese Minister of Marine for such use as he may care to make of it in relief work.

Although more than two days has elapsed since the earthquake, nothing has been heard of American officials or private citizens who were in the affected zone. Communication, it is explained, has been impossible, even the message of President Coolidge dispatched to the Japanese Government Saturday night being returned today. This message, it is hoped to forward soon, however, by wireless to the Asiatic fleet.

As a result of the uncertainty as to the fate of Americans the State Department has directed Nelson T. Johnson, American Consul-General-at-Large, who is in Northern China, to proceed at once to Yokohama and report on the safety of American citizens and members of the Embassy Staff at Tokio and the Consulates at Yokohama and Naguya. Consul Ballentine, at Dairen, also has been ordered to Japan to aid in the work and both will keep the State Department advised of conditions and send the names of Americans who suffered in the catastrophe.

American flags which the world over have been at half mast for the past thirty days as evidence of the nation's mourning for President Harding, were hoisted to full staff yesterday at sunrise.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 3—The body of Angier B. Duke, 39, who was drowned off the Indian Harbor Yacht club early today when he fell out of a rowboat, was discovered under the float at the yacht this afternoon by Sam Peters, launchman at the yacht club. Peters conducted a search for several hours.

Mr. Duke was a son of Benjamin Duke, tobacco manufacturer, and resided at 511 Fifth avenue, New York City. He also had a house at Port Washington.

The body was taken to a local undertaker's parlor and later at the request of Anthony Biddle, a brother-in-law of the dead man, it was taken to New York City

Mr. Duke with three men and three women arrived at the yacht float in an automobile about 2:30 o'clock this morning and all were taken in a rowboat to Mr. Duke's yacht, the Althea, which was anchored in the harbor. Mr. Duke was the last to step into the rowboat and as he was doing so his feet slipped and he fell into the water, overturning the float. It is believed that Mr. Duke's head struck the float or boat. His body disappeared under the float.

Premier Mussolini to Recall Italians from Conference of the League of Nations Does Not Share His Viewpoint Concerning the Conflict With Greece—Italian Forces Have Divided the Island of Corfu Into Zones Which Are Presided Over by the Military.

ITALIANS HAVE DIVIDED CORFU INTO MILITARY ZONES

Rome, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—New precautionary arrests have been made on the Island of Corfu by the Italian occupying forces and the governor has divided the island into zones which are presided over by the military. No serious incidents have occurred.

The consuls of foreign governments resident in Corfu were informed today by the Governor that merchandise on boats in Corfu before the Italian occupation began, and from those boats which the Italians have permitted to dock, excepting those of Greece, might be unloaded

EXCITEMENT ALONG THE GRECO-ALBANIAN FRONTIER

Rome, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Reports from Janina, Albania, published by the Rome newspapers today, say that the Greeks had prepared a previous attempt against General Tellini, the head of the Italian section of the Greco-Albanian commission who was murdered with his companions. It was to have been made August 14 at Dema, Albania.

There is much excitement along the Greco-Albanian frontier, according to reports reaching here which say that armed bands partly composed of Greek officers and soldiers are overrunning the disputed zones and spreading panic among the population.

ITALY AWAITS GREECE TO COMPLY WITH ULTIMATUM

London, Sept.3.—(By the A. P.)—Italy is holding Corfu, which commands the Adriatic, as a pledge for Greek reparations and is waiting grimly for Greece to comply with her ultimatum. Greece having appealed to the League of Nations is also waiting, and Italy thus far has ignored the protest of the Council of Ambassadors against her action in seizing Corfu.

The Greek legation here made public the text of the Greek reply to the Ambassadors' Council," proposing the the appointment by the council of a commission consisting of three members for an inquiry into all the circumstances of the Janina Crime, and declaring readiness, if Greece is found in any way responsible, to grant all reparations decided upon by such commission. The reply requests the intervention of the council with Italy.

The prospects of an early settlement are not improved. The Italian Government takes the stand that it did not sign the treaty of 1864, which confirmed the neutrality of Corfu, and is therefore not bound by the treaty. Further, Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian representatives at Geneva to abstrain from further discussion of the affair, and the only hopeful aspect is that Italy seems disposed to have the Court of International Justice pronounce on the League's competency to deal with suchan international dispute.

The British Government is still firmly supporting the view that the dispute is eminently one for the League of Nations decision. In the event of the League Council, abstaining from intervention, it is stated that the Scandinavian delegates are resolved to withdraw from the League, as did Argintina in 1920.

TWENTY KILLED BY THE ITALIAN BOMBARDMENT

Athens, Sept 3.—(By the A. P.)—Stephen E. Lowe, of Stfl Louis, member of the Red Cross and attached to the Near East relief at Corfu, reports that altogether there were 20 killed by the Italian bombardment prior to the occupation of the island, among the victims were sixteen children, most of them killed by shrapnel which was fired among a crowd of Red Cross orphanage children bathing in the sea.

The first direct news from Corfu since the Italian occupation was received today with the arrival of the Greek steamship Igmini, aboard which was Colonel Lowe.

Describing the bombardment, he said: The number killed reached 20; nine of these were killed outright and 11 died in hospital. Thirty-two wounded are now in hospital and there were perhaps 50 slightly wounded.

"Of the 20 dead 16 were children. All the killed and wounded were refugees or orphans from American and British orphanages house in the old fortress.

"The large number of children among the casualties was due to the fact that several shells landed in barracks which were being used as orphanages, while shrapnel shells exploded in the water in front of the fortress, where 400 Near East relief orphan boys were bathing at the time."

GRECO-ITALIAN MATTER TO COME BSFORE THE LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 3.—(By The A. P.)—The announcement that Italy would refuse to recognize the League of Nations in the present crisis with Greece because it concerns Italian honor, caused a decided chill in the league circles, but this was considerably relieved by a later report received in Geneva that Italy would not oppose submitting the question of the competency of the league to the court of international justice, which is an offspring of the league.

The entire matter probably will be aired at the meeting tomorrow or Wednesday of the council of the League of Nations, when Signor Salandra, head of the Italian delegation, is expected to disclose the official Italian attitude. The Italian viewpoint, as it was understood tonight, aroused intense discussion. Great Britain and the Scandinavian states seem to favor immediate action by the council of the league in summoning Italy to sete her side of the Greece dispute, while some of the other countries favor going slowly, thus allowing the Italian public to calm down.

In some quarters the suggestion to have the court of international justice give an advisory opinion to regard the prestige of the League of Nations as being at state, and it is believed it will be difficult to prevent some of the smaller states from demanding of inquiry by the assembly of the league

The pair are barred admittance to this country because the Finnish quota for this month is filled.

Y., their wonderful dreams of the new world shattered, the children have been visited every day for the past 12 days since their arrival by Lindstrom and members of his family. "Happy" Blake, says "All's well that ends well" and an advertisement in The Bulletin ended things well for all concerned.

"Happy" was driving up from Norwich the other day, No, it was in the night. Coming down tunnel hill, as the beam of his headlight swung around to hit the road, he saw an animal, that looked as big as a yearling calf, stand in the light, staring at the approaching automobile. "Hap", kicked out the clutch, and jammed on the emergency. Coming to a halt, visions of the lynx seen in that lonely section by Frank Moriarty, flashed into his mind.

Hap, was first for making a detour, and routing out "Doc" Wallace, the Dead Shot Hunter of Lisbon, to come and give the monster a load of his famous buck-shot. Soon the animal took a shape, that seemed more familiar to "Happy", so he alighted and approached with caution.

Looking sharply he detected a little stubby tail, wagging, "A dog!" said Hap—and it was, a very valuable little (lady) Boston bull terrier. The property of a Norwich man. The dog had been on a two week's visit to Boston and had been taken home to Norwich. Then, had started out on its own little hook, to repeat its visit to the Hub. After two days it had reached tunnel hill, when along came Happy.

July was a good month for building according to the number of permits issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton. This number while not great is up to the normal average for the month and the total value of new buildings and alterations far exceeds any other record for the month of July. During the past week several permits for small buildings were granted and a number of applications were filed with the fire marshal.

In the leading towns in the state there were issued in the past week, according to the Commercial Record, 317 permits for new building construction, for new structures costing $1,633,019. The figures for the same week in 1922 were 261 permits for buildings costing $478,225, and in 1921, 195 permits, the buildings costing $476,062.

JOHNSTON'S VICTORY CLINCHES CUP FOR AMERICAN TENNIS TEAM

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 3—(By the A. P.)—The Davis cup, historic emblem of international tennis supremacy, is safe in Uncle Sam's custody for another year, putting to rout the opposition that had proved so startlingly formidable in the first two days of play. America swept to victory this afternoon over the Australians in the final two singles contests and captured the series by a margin of four matches to one.

Displaying a marked reversal of the form he showed in going down to defeat before James O. Anderson last Friday, William M. Johnson clinched the trophy for the United States when he smothered John B. Hawkes in the opening match, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1. William T. Tilden made it a clean sweep for the day when he conquered Anderson, the Australian captain, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5, in a match that failed to come up to the expectations held out for this struggle between the "aces" of the opposing forces.

The crushing character of America's closing victories, though again securing this country's supremacy in the tennis world, came as a distinct anti-climax to the gruelling, spectacular play in the first two days of the challenge round. The gallery of 13,000 that taxed the capacity of the big West Side Club's stadium had come expecting a last desperate stand on the part of the Australians who had proved so unexpectedly powerful in dividing the first two singles encounters and forcing the doubles match Saturday to five terrific, record-breaking sets before bowing in defeat.

But they were doomed to disappointment, at no stage of today's play, was there the least uncertainty of the outcome, for the mastery of both Johnston and Tilden was complete at practically every stage of both matches. The Antipodeans made their last fight gallantly, but ineffectually, and thus, for the second successive year, they made their 12,000 mile journey from "down under" in vain.

This year's victory, gained by the same margin as that over Australia a year ago, put the United States into the lead in total number of victories since the Davis cup first was put into competition in 1900. America has now won it seven times, Australia six and the British Isles five.

There was no surprise, except perhaps its overwhelming nature, in Johnston's defeat of Hawkes, but the convincing ease with which Tilden, outside of the third set, conquered Anderson was altogether unexpected after the tall Australian's smashing victory over Johnston and his brilliant play in the doubles.

In a doubles exhibition after the final Davis cup match, Vincent Richards, reserve member of the American international team, and Brian I. C. Norton, South African star, vanquished Jacques Brugnon, Andrene La Coste French Davis cup pair, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

THREAD MAKERS EVEN UP SERIES WITH MANCHESTER

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 3—The Thread Makers evened the series with Manchester by taking the afternoon game at Recreation Park today, a hard fought and well played contest by the score of 5 to 2. Rube Richards, formerly of the Fisk Red Tops held the Silktown outfit in the palm of his hand except for the fifth inning when they made both of their runs. The astute Rube allowed seven hits, fanned two and gave out many a free ticket to first. He was supported in admirable fashion by his associates, Bowden at third making the only misplay in the ninth which did no harm as a real double play, Massey to Crowther to G. Adams closed the game.

Lefty Thompson in the box for Manchester was touched up for ten hits and but for some dumb base running on the part of the locals, the score would have been of even greater proportions. He fanned one and passed one.

Normandin struck out in the second inning but Lamprecht let the third strike get through him and the batter went to first. On another passed ball he went to third but was stranded with Hamel flying out to Kotsch in right. In the third G. Adams led off for the locals with a single that was too hot for Halbach to handle. Richards did the suicide act and Massey was thrown out by the pitcher. Greenhalgh singled to short and on the double steal, the relay from second arrived in time to catch Adams who fell down on the base line but Lamprecht threw high to Halbach and Adams counted. Greenhalgh also dented the platter when Halbach's throw home was high.

In the next inning, Crowther singled to left with one away. Leo Normandin then came through with the prettiest hit of the day, a triple to right center and came over himself a moment later on Hamel's long sacrifice fly to Sipples.

The Silktown lads did something in the fifth. Goeb singled over second for a starter with one down. Sipples tripled to right and after Massey had held his former team mate on third while throwing out Lamprecht, Thompson bounded a single over second for run No. 2, that was all for the visitors.

Willimantic added one to its total in the eighth. Greenhalgh, Bowden and Lathrop singled in succession but the first mentioned was caught asleep off third and nabbed on a snap throw from Lamprecht. A four single of the inning, from Webb Crowther's bat let the run across. A pretty double killing, Ball to Dwyer to Zielke retired the side.

Bowden with three hits, making his total eight in three games, led the field at bat. Greenhalgh and Crowther also collected two hits apiece for the locals and Halbach for the visitors.

Massey, Crowther, Normandin, Hamel and G. Adams played well afield for the winning side and Dwyer, Ball, Goeb, Sipples and Thompson for the visitors.

The best crowd of the season, including a large delegation from Manchester witnessed the game. The score:

SMITH'S PLAYING FEATURES TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT NORWICH GOLF CLUB

Labor Day at the Norwich Golf club was marked by the opening of the men's singles championship play for the eastern Connecticut title and the Labor Day handicapped golf tournament. Both events drew large galleries and in all it was one of the busiest days at the club this year.

The play in the tennis singles started at 9.30 o'clock and continued until darkness prevented further playing. All of the first round matches were completed and all but two matches in the second round and one match remains to be played in the third round. The courts were in excellent shape and very fast conductive of some brilliant tennis. The feature matches of the day were between Wells Lyman in the second round and Tyler Olcott and Dr. Bates in the first round. Both these matches were hard fought and each winner was forced to extend himself to the limit.

The playing of R. Smith of New York was the feature of the day's play, Mr. Smith running through his match to the finals with little opposition except from Lyman in the second round. Smith will be one of the finalists on Saturday when the semifinal and final will be played. Percy Harwood also won his way to the semi-finals but met opposition in the first two rounds but had an easy time in the third round against L. Johnson when he won 6-1, 6-0. ## ANDERSON PLAYS UNDER HANDICAP OF SICKNESS

New York, Sept. 3.—(By The A. P.)—James O. Anderson, captain and star of the Australian Davis cup team played through the challenge round with the United States under the handicap of illness and will not compete in the national men's singles championship starting next Monday at Philadelphia, it was learned tonight.

Anderson displayed no outward evidence of his real condition when he triumphed in five spectacular sets over "Little Bill" Johnson on Friday for Australia's only point of the series or when he carried the burden of attack in the equally as thrilling five-set battle in the doubles Saturday, but today, after losing to William T. Tilden, the big Australian was close to the point of exhaustion.

In the light of his illness, critics were inclined to believe that the strain of the hard-fought matches on the first two days of the challenge round had adversely affected Anderson, but this was denied tonight by Richard E. Schlesinger, manager and reserve member of the challenging team. Schlesinger added that Anderson had not been in the best of health for some time and that he had decided to withdraw from the national singles upon medical advice. Anderson was paired with Stanley W. Pearson, of Philadelphia, in the first round of the national tournament and was one of the eight "seeded" stars in the championship.

DEMPSEY PERFECTING HIS DEFENSE AGAINST FIRPO

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 3—(By the A. P.)—Perfecting a defense for the style of battle he expects from Luis Angel Firpo seemed to be the chief object of Jack Dempsey's training at his Saratoga Lake camp today. The champion went through his paces before a holiday crowd of nearly 2,000 while motion picture cameras recorded every move he made.

Dempsey boxed two rounds each with George Godfrey, former Lodge and Jack McAuliffe, in addition to going through his other stunts for the benefit of the cameras. Godfrey was under instructions to hit with his right hand while at close quarters, much after the fashion of Firpo, and the big negro never stopped trying to club the champion on the back of the neck with "rabbit punches." Dempsey however, ducked under the blow or blocked it with his left.

SPORTS IN PLENTY AT STATE HOSPITAL FIELD DAY

The annual field day for the patients at the Norwich state hospital was productive of thrilling races and a good time in general. A program of sports that included a wheelbarrow race, three-legged race, sack race, egg race, shoe race, 50 yard dash for ladies, base running, greased pig, 100 yard dash, potato race, pie-eating contest, 100 yard dash for men, water battle and tug of war. Much amusement was furnished in the greased pig event, the pie-eating contest and the water battle. In each of these events the contestants covered themselves with glory, dirt, grease, pie and water. The program ended with a baseball game with the Meriden Cutlery club and the Riverview club, the Meriden boys winning by a score of 4 to 3. The judges for the athletic events were Judge Nelson J. Ayling, Judge Arthur F. Libby and James J. Moore. The starter was William P. Donovan. The committee in charge was Alfred Davies, Paul Zemke, Thomas Duggan, William

TESTING LEAGUE AND ITALY

From the way in which the war cloud looms in the Mediterranean it provides the league of nations with a big opportunity to demonstrate what it can do, what respect the members of it have for the organization of nations to promote peace and whether its prestige will decrease or increase as the result.

Here is a case where nations are expected to employ the services of the league, one of the emergencies for which it was created and with which it is intended to deal, and yet Italy a premier lets it be understood that he will not be represented at the council meeting and will not abide by the league decision. Of course if Italy is going to take such an attitude and get away with it, what is going to be the respect in the future for the league? As an effective organization it might as well shut up shop.

There is no getting away from the fact that Italy is much exercised over the killing of its subjects. But is it following the sane course in the demands it has made and the defiance it displays toward the league to which it is a subscriber. However much sympathy may be felt for Italy and its loss, there is bound to be the other side. It is impossible to overlook the danger of starting a Balkan fire when it is possible to get satisfaction through abiding by the league action.

It has been advised by other nations to use moderation. Greece hasn't refused to make amends and has agreed to do what the league finds it should. Italy should feel satisfied with such an outcome, since there is no reason to believe that the league is disposed to absolve Greece of its proper responsibility.

It is not a situation that calls for war if the Italian government will abide by its promises as a member of the league. By the course it has outlined it is only insisting that the other members of the league must unite against it and apply the fixed penalties. Italy and the league are put to a severe test because of the Mussolini methods.

DOPE TRAFFIC

Philadelphia is one of the centers where deplorable conditions have been revealed concerning the illegal traffic in habit forming narcotics. It has had its effect not only increasing crime and vice but it has likewise extended to the penal institutions.

Just how alarming the situation has become is revealed by a freed prisoner who declared not only that dope was being peddled at Eastern penitentiary but that it was in the prison that he acquired the habit while serving a sentence of five to ten years for burglary, and that it was a gangster, who was murdered after obtaining his freedom, who encouraged him to become an addict.

With such conditions as that existing there can be little surprise that much sentiment has been aroused against the drug peddlers, or that certain of the judges have found it necessary to open a special campaign for the purpose of putting an end to the lamentable conditions which were disclosed by those arrested.

Failure to take notice of conditions which are known to exist, leniency and lack of enforcement can be pointed to as important reasons for such disclosures as have been made in the endeavor to check the dope selling in Philadelphia, and what is true there quickly obtains in any center where those who have no scruples against demoralizing humanity by one means or another are permitted to have their own way.

Smuggling dope into the country or into institutions is bound to encounter certain obstacles. Whether it can be done on an extensive scale depends upon the opposition it encounters. Whether it can be sold on the streets or in a back room depends upon the vigilance of those whose duty it is to prevent it. When such disclosures are made as has been made by the discharged Pennsylvania prisoner, it is invariably too late to deal with those responsible, but it should serve to open some eyes for the betterment of conditions.

PROTECTING NATIONAL BANKS

What holds good regarding certain localities in this country being natural beauty spots which should not be devastated or commercialized is also true of Canada. And what has been attempted relative to certain scenic wonders of this country is not only feared but is being pursued in our neighboring country to the north. Naturally steps which have long since been found necessary here are being applied in Canada.

The Alpine Club of Canada is promoting the organization of national parks association, having for its purpose the prevention of the exploitation for commercial purposes of the waterfalls and natural resources in the great national parks of the dominion. There is a Canadian department of parks but it is the duty of that department to take and execute orders, rather than to point out that the parks are in danger from attempts to get control of the watersheds. When a department has no chance to direct attention to such dangers or to endeavor for national interest to advise against impending instructions, there is need of an organization that will disclose conditions as they are and raise its voice against detrimental moves before it is too late to prevent the destruction of the inimitable natural beauty places.

Canada hasn't got to the point where such territory is needed. Natural resources abound. Development can go on for a long time without giving a thought to the real wild and attractive points that posterity should not be deprived from seeing and enjoying. Organizations which aim at the prevention of such devastation will serve the best interests of Canada. It will be doing only what would be expected in this country in case plans were contemplated, as they have been, of flooding certain parts of national parks for irrigation or reservoir purposes without regard for the effect that it would have upon the parks.

Canada has points of natural beauty which it is for its interest to retain intract quite the same as we guard Yellowstone park, Yosemite Valley and the several other national parks for succeeding generations to exclaim over and enjoy.

RACING WITH IMMIGRANTS

Much is said each month over the injustices of the immigration law and particularly the quota arrangement by which immigrants are admitted. This comes in for special attention this month because of the fact that immigrants on several steamships face the prospects of being returned because of the fact that the ships had crossed the line a few minutes or seconds before the first of September.

But is the trouble so much with the law as it with the competition that exists in an endeavor to take advantage of it? The captains of ships are anxious that the immigrants shall have a chance to enter. They are virtually involved in a race for the line. They know that the immigration officials are and must be strict in regard to the time and yet they endeavor to get the jump on the others by crossing the line in advance of the technical arrival of the first of September instead of making sure by waiting a few seconds until they know they are right. It is like many who are unwilling to take their place in line, but insist on crowding out others that they may be served while others who got there before them must wait.

Whatever may be said regarding the quota feature of the immigration law, it is impossible to overlook the fact that if those who sought to enter the country are turned back, because they came too soon, there is a responsibility for it that rests upon the captains of those ships who tried to nose out the regulations and who were caught at their own game. If the immigration authorities expected to overlook minutes they'll be asked to overlook hours the next month. The real hardship of course comes to the innocent immigrants.

ENDORSING THE DOCTRINE

The endorsement from Chile of the recent address by Secretary of State Hughes on the Monroe doctrine is only what ought to be expected from a nation which gives it careful study and consideration, and stops to review what has been done since its existence.

Secretary Hughes in view of the claims from South America that Pan Americanism was not making headway and that there was some distrust of the United States did well in restating the position of this country on this important subject. Misconception is what has been responsible and still is the basis for the attitude of other countries in the western hemisphere toward the doctrine.

When Secretary Hughes lays emphasis upon the fact that the Monroe doctrine is but a policy of the United States, that it does not menace the sovereignty of any other republic and that it is but a principle of national security, it is going over old ground but its reiteration is unquestionably wise.

What protection has been given to other countries because of the existence of the doctrine no one can definitely say. What might have been the situation had there been no such policy is equally uncertain. It has stoodd as a protection not only for us but for others and none has suffered any loss of territory or rights because of it.

What it has been is what it must continue to be. Should there have been no such doctrine there would be reason for adopting one. The Chilean press in sanctioning what Secretary Hughes has said take no different view than other Latin-American republics should and the effect of the endorsement should be beneficial.

AMENDED STORY

"It just makes me sick to see Sarah Jane Smith going around looking as though she had discovered America and had been crowned for it, all because her daughter is going to marry Northwood Springs!" declared the lady who thought her own daughter could have married Northwood if she had half tried, only she hadn't.

"I am sure I don't see that she has much to be so haughty about," offered the daughter who had not been as energetic as she should when Northwood was around. "Lots of men are just as good looking as he is and anyhow I know plenty of men I like better.

"You would," agreed her disappointed mother. "The trouble is that Sarah Jane Smith can't be convinced that you like them better! Whenever she sees me she wears the most condescending and pitying smile, as though she were swamped in sorrow over our family's having to put up with some second-rate son-in-law, because Northwood was so exceptional that we never could acquire any one equal to him—and all the time I am feeling perfectly sure that you had the first chance, because he certainly was crazy about you, Mehitabel! And you treated him like poison.

"Only I can't very well tell Sarah Jane about it, much as I'd like to. She'd run right off and repeat it to Northwood and I wouldn't for the world have him dream it mattered in the least to us—"

"It doesn't!" the disappointing daughter said with surprise. "I don't in the least care if he marries sixteen Sabella Smiths, and if it makes you feel better, you can tell Mrs. Sarah Jane so!"

"What good would that do?" argued her disappointed mother. "She wouldn't believe me! She'd think I was making it up to save our face! Now, if you had been engaged to him and had thrown him over it would be different!

"'Good morning,' she said when I met her today. 'How is dear little Mehitabel these days?' Sabella was just saying that she never sees her anywhere any more. It is such a mistake, I think, for a girl to give up interest in things just because she has had a disappointment—that is, I mean if Methitabel would interest herself in charity works or clubs or something like that she would find that life looked brighter and maybe in time she would meet some quite nice man and marry and be as happy as most people!

"You've no idea how radiant my Sabella is, dear! It is such a pleasure to realize that my daughter is to marry such an exceptional man as dear Northwood.'"

"Say, that's tough, isn't it?" agreed the disappointing daughter with some interest. "Let's see what we can do about it! Up to this time I had thought that the man I got engaged to was my own personal affair, but I can plainly see that I have a duty toward you! It is up to me to furnish you the weapons with which to down the impossible Sarah Jane and make Sabella's Northwood Springs look like the last living flower left in the bouquet!

"Next time you see her you just cough and then, gently dabbing your eyes, remark that you have all you can do to control yourself and your emotions because you are so soon to be parted from your Mehitabel! Of course, considering Mehitabel, you could not expect to keep her always, but to think she should go way off to Pittsburgh to live! Even though it is to luxury and three motors and everything that heart could wish—still, a mother's heart—you know! You might add that I am going to procure my trousseau in New York and the wedding trip is around the world."

"Mehitabel!" gasped the bewildered mother. "Do you really mean it? Who—"

"Well," said the disappointing daughter with a radiant smile, "something like that. While Albert is no millionaire now he's sure to be one some day and we'll take our trip then and I'll announce that I think it vulgar to display trousseau and wedding presents, and Sarah Jane is not apt to come to Pittsburgh to look up my address. And we can afford a flivver. Go to it!"

"Well, it's better than nothing," agreed the disappointed mother. "Just wait till I see that woman!"—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Francis B. Sayre, who is about to leave for Siam to become an adviser in international law to the King of that country, is best known to Americans as the son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Sayre is a New Englander by birth and a graduate of Williams College. He studied law, but like his distinguished father-in-law he abandoned the practice of that profession to enter upon a career as educator. Shortly after his marriage to Miss Jessie Wilson he returned to Williams College to become assistant to Dr. Harry A. Garfield, the president of that institution. He remained at Williams until 1917, when he accepted a position as an instructor in the Harvard law school. During the war Mr. Sayre spent a considerable time in France and Italy as a worker for the Young Men's Christian Association.

Stories That Recall Others

Then The Judge Gave Up

The deputy prosecutor was having difficulty in making his questions clear to the witness. He repeated the question several times, but the witness apparently failed to grasp the meaning. The judge then took a hand in questioning.

"How far did you go in school?" asked the judge addressing the witness.

"About a mile and a half for several years and then we moved a little closer," was the reply.

Wedding Delayed

On Sunday night a certan young man and his bethrothed had decided to be married within ten days. At that time the young man was figuring up the cost of living and had everything fixed in his mind as being satisfactory. He even had a plan in mind of getting a beautiful diamond ring that his mother had promised him.

Disgruntled and downhearted he appeared on the street the next day. When asked what he had on his mind he said that he had forgotten that his mother had gone out of the city for several months and that she had the diamond with her.

"Now we can't get married until she gets back," he murmured.

A Little Talk on Thrift

INITIATIVE AND ACTION NECESSARY FOR SUCCESS

Announcement recently was made in the press concerning an estate valued at $700,000 which had grown from $50,000 during fifty years of trustee administration. Much interesting comment has been made on the incident and it has been alluded to as an example of thrift.

The increased value of the estate is a significant illustration of the prolific quality of money. It shows what funds will do if allowed to remain untouched during a period of years. But, in the broader sense, the incident is not a lesson in real constructive thrift because real thrift implies initiative and action as well as conservation.

This nation would not have been what it is today if the various fortunes and accummulations of wealth had merely been kept intact and been allowed to grow without the element of personal aggression. Our railroads, cities, churches, schools and all the other institutions which have been responsible for the progress of the nation are the results not only of prudence and economy, but they also have needed imagination, ambition and action in their development.

A man who is truly thrifty is not by any means a miser. He understands the value of eliminating waste. He knows what it means to economize. And he knows, too, that mere hoarding is not synonomous of enlightened development.

The first step in individual success must consist of learning to save. "Teach economy" said Lincoln, "that is one of the first and highest virtues; it begins with saving money." But individual development must go farther. Economy is the first step. There are many others.

Let us not by any means underestimate the value of saving or minimize the results which come from carefully guarded resources. But if we are to attain the utmost of our personal possibilities we must learn also the values that lie in action. Cold judgment is not all the equipment required for success. Courage and activity are just as necessary.—American Society for Thrift.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Had You Heard of a Haligonian?

"Halifax, Nova Scotia, toward whose cool summer days many a heat-burden summer tourist has turned his face, lies in the heart of the 'blue nose country' where cod is king," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society issued from its Washington, D. C., headquarters.

"This quaint old seaside town, many of whose simple frame houses and unpretentious churches were built from fifty to a hundre dyears ago, is one of the most thoroughly British towns in the whole of the Americas. Into its spacious harbor many trans-Atlantic British liners come, and the presence of the smart Canadian and British uniforms on the street has probably contributed largely to this likeness.

"Even the most casual of seasick tourists want to stand within the mellow shades of the beautiful St. Paul's church, built in 1749 from timbers brought from Boston. That city was a part of the British posessions in America. It is notable for the interesting collection of mural tablets and coat-of-arms of the memory of distinguished Nova Scotians and Britishers who have at one time attended services within its walls.

"At the time of the great explosion of an ammunition hip in December, 1917, about two miles up the harbor from the city's business section, the only two of the lovely stained-glass windows of the church which were shattered were two of German construction. They have been replaced with plain frosted panes.

"Perhaps the most conspicuous feature of the city is the Citadel, from whose rocky height, 255 feet above the sea, one has a beautiful view of the city, the harbor, the town of Dartmouth, on the opposite side, Macnab's Island and Georges Island, where the principal fortifications of the city now lie. But today much of the old citadel has been dismantled and dandelions, growing in groups on long stems like ox-eyed daisies, are climbing up its rock-strewn and gully-scarred sides.

"Haligonians are valiantly planting trees along the streets in an effort to beautify their hilly little city, and they point with a pride, which is indeed pardonable, to their public gardens 14 acres in extent which are very attractive with their flowering trees, lakes and flower beds.

"The harbor, which is usually alive with shipping, extends six miles past the city up into the Bedford Basin and it was along this upper water front that the great explosion occurred. Though there is some debris now to be seen in the immediate vicinity, the whole of the area has been rebuilt.

"On the beautiful Northwest Arm of the harbor the city has erected a tower to the men of Nova Scotia who died in the Great War. From its top a remarkable view of the surrounding country may be obtained and along its sides provinces of the Dominion, as well as the colleges and other institutions of Canada, have placed memorial tablets much after the practice that was followed in the Washington Monument."

COUNTY FAIR HAS ATTENDANCE OF 12,000 ON OPENING DAY

Sunny skies, a moderate temperature and a light southwest breeze provided an ideal day Monday for the opening of the 69th annual three day fair of the New London County Agricultural society. The attendance as announced by Gilbert S. Raymond, secretary of the fair association, was fully 12,000 people and there were well over 1,200 automobiles on the grounds. Yesterday's weather was in sharp contrast to the heavy downpour of rain on the opening day of the fair a year ago.

The various exhibits, with the exception of the vegetable display, are as large, if not larger, than in former years and were visited by thousands during the afternoon. The midway is more lively and more attractive than ever before.

There was music in plenty for two bands, Swahn's band and the Columbus Italian band, rendered concert programmes on the grounds throughout the afternoon. Swahn's band was stationed on the new band platform in front of the grandstands and under the direction of John M. Swahn, gave an excellent concert from one until two o'clock when the race programme started. They also gave selections between the race heats and provided music for the vaudeville events.

The Italian band was located on the main grounds near the baseball diamond, here from a band platform, they gave an excellent programme during the afternoon.

Big Midway

So great has the demand for midway space been this year that the fair officials had considerable difficulty in finding room for the numerous attractions. The motordome, ever a big drawing card is located on the baseball diamond and is being operated under the directon of J. W. Driscoll of Salisbury, Mass. There is a 50-foot ferris wheel from the well-known Coleman Shows near the grandstand and also a merry-go-round, William N. Muller, manager, Coleman Bros. have a big athletic show on the grounds and there is a whaling exhibit, held under the auspices of Jibboom Club No. 1, of New London, where curios from the old whaling ships that used to frequent the arctic regions, are on display as well as a number of pictures.

K. F. Ketchum of the American Exposition Shows has a number of concessions located in various places on the grounds. C. H. Brassill of Hartford has a concession tent where he is displaying a large line of harnesses and horse goods. Mr. Brassill is quoted as stating that he has more harnesses on display than all the harness stores in Norwich put together.

Abram Siegal is operating the main dining hall while George Burlingham is again seen at his dining hall. This is the 25th year that he has conducted a dining hall at the local fairgrounds.

For the 33rd year Sam McNeil, the gypsy basket maker, is seen on the grounds. Mr. and Mrs. F. Toscano of Bristol are conducting the blanket booth.

In addition to the attraction listed above there are numerous other concessions, the toy balloon man, the whip man, cigar stands, soft drink stands, hot dog stands, pop corn, candy and doll booths.

After Vacation Peel Your Discolored Skin

Women returning from the seaside or country with browned, reddened or freckled skins will be wise in immediately taking up the mercolised wax treatment. Weatherbeaten skin had best come off, for no amount of "beautifying" will ever make it pretty to look at. The surest, safest, easiest way to shed the despoiled cuticle is with the treatment suggested. Put the wax on before retiring, as you would cold cream, and rinse it off next morning with warm water. Minute particles of scarf skin peel off day by day, gradually showing the healthy, youthful skin beneath. One ounce of mercolised wax, obtainable at any drug store, is enough to make any discolored or spotted complexion clear, white and satiny soft. Its action is so gentle no harm is caused and the face shows no trace of its use.

DANIELSON

The wedding of Charles Diggett and Miss Katherine McGoGvern of Goodyear took place Labor day morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church in Dayville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ignatius Kost, the pastor. Mrs. Diggett wore white satin and carried white roses. After a trip to New York state, Mr. and Mrs. Diggett will reside in Goodyear. The groom is a painter, well known in that section.

While on an automobile tour through this state, United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts stopped in Danielson and attended the 10.30 mass in St. James' church. After the mass the senator spoke to Father Jean Roux, the pastor, and then continued on his way. The senator liked Danielson and it is hoped by the people who attended the mass that he would pay another visit to this community.

Labor day was celebrated in good style by the residents of Goodyear, who held their annual field day and track meet. The chairman in charge of the events was a popular resident of Goodyear Heights, "Cap" Hunter. Among the most important happenings of the day was the mile race. When almost ten feet from the finish line Joe Billings, who led the race, stumbled and was passed by Alphonse Code. This event furnished an exciting finish for an otherwise dull race. In the executive race, Henry Cooper, overseer of the cloth room won by a narrow margin over Charles Young, superintendent of the mill. "Cap" Hunter, employment manager, and Fred King, the master mechanic, were tied in a dead heat for the third place. In the "barnyard golf" contest, William Pope took first place and "Cap" Hunter was given second place. At a dance held in the evening at the Social club, the adults' prizes were awarded, the children being given their prizes at the close of the meet. The Lyric orchestra of Willimantic furnished music.

A Hupmobile coupelet owned by Harry Holdsworth and driven by Ralph Brearly of Dayvillel hooked suds with a Chevrolet touring car owned and driven by Alfred J. Jacobs of Webster, Mass., in North Grosvenordale, Monday morning. The Webster car had the left front tire blown out and the fender damaged. The accident occurred as Mr. Brearly attempted to pass Mr. Jacobs, on account of the heavy fog he misjudged the distance. Supt. Keegan of the Wilsonville mills was a witness of the occurrence and he testified to State Police Officer Stephens, who was sent to investigate, that neither party was traveling more than 15 or 18 miles per hour and that the dense fog made driving anything but a pleasure.

In an automobile smash that happened Monday afternoon a Ford touring car owned and driven by Gilbert Nuttall of Hope, R. I., was completely demolished when it tipped over on the road between Danielson and Wauregan. As the Ford was proceeding in a southerly direction another car came toward it. Just then a Studebaker car driven by Frederick Beeney, of New London, attempted to pass between them. The New London driver was unable to do so and the car of Mr. Nuttall was ditched and dtipped over. The accident was investigated by State Officer Stephens and he placed Beeney under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. Mrs. Annie Nuttall was cut on the arm by the flying chips of glass and received injuries to her back.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Burns of Wauregan, were held in the Sacred Heart church of that place Monday morning. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetry. Requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. John C. Mathieu, the pastor. The bearers were Patrick Reedd, Dennis McHenry, William Riley, James Ward, Henry Brodeur and Felix Goodness.

The dance at Wildwood park, where the exhibition of Baby Marie O'Brien was a feature, was largely attended by people from all this section.

Six hundred people, including the workers, attended Old Home Day at South Killingly, Labor Day. The clambake, the feature of the day, was relished in by all present. The bake Entrants were required to play 18 holes of golf and the lowest 16 net scores at handicap qualified to play off at match play. The annual Labor day handicap, medal play contest, all classes, was another feature. Golf balls were offered as prizes.

Next Thursday there will be a whist for women members and from Thursday to Sunday, inclusive, the qualifying rounds, nine holes, for the women's championship may be played. The lowest four gross scores will qualify for a round robin at match play to be completed before Oct. 1st, the prize being a silver cup. The city was quiet over the week end and there was no session of the city court Monday morning, which is unusual.

All the teachers in Putnam schools will meet this (Tuesday) afternoon at the high school building preparatory to the opening of the schools Wednesday morning.

The program in observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of St. Joseph's church, North Grosvenordale, begun with solemn exercises on Sunday, was continued Monday. The program included a pontifical high mass with Bishop John J. Nilan of Hartford celebrant. The chruch was crowded and the congregation listened to an eloquent sermon by Rev. U. O. Bellerose of Taftville, a former North Grosvenordale young man.

At noon the pastor, Rev. Bernard M. Donnelly, entertained the bishop and visiting clergy at dinner at the rectory. In the evening there was an open air carnival, with fireworks, on St. Joseph's school grounds.

Labor day, early in the morning, the sound of music was head, and, headed by the Wauregan band, the members of the Canadian Tthletic club marched through Main street, circled Union square and returned to the Nightingale-Morse baseball grounds, where a variety of sports, including a baseball game between the married and single men, provided diversion. There was a large gather-was in charge of "King" George and "Queen" Elizabeth Jacques. They were assisted by Jacob Spaulding and Mr. Whittaker. The women's society of the church had charge of the tables and other members helped them. After the bake the crowd went to the new community house, where the South Killingly orchestra gave a concert. The speakers included Rev. Harry Goodsell, a former pastor of the church, Rev. W. S. Beard, of New York city, Rev. Mr. Wood of Lakewood, R. I., and Rev. E. B. Ayer of Montville. The Weldon quartet, assisted by Mrs. Sidney Perry, gave a pleasing number. The quartet consisted of A. P. Burns, W. H. Reimer, Henry McEwen and Edwin Burns. The events of the day were in charge of A. F. Hall and it was due to his efforts that the affair proved a success.

Exceptionally heavy traffic moved through the town Monday. Drivers of most cars realized that it was necessary to exercise more than usual care. A man who kept check in South Killingly took note of the fact that only tourists from a distance started to "whoop 'er up" down Hall hill, but when they saw the grade they let up on their speed and took extra precaution.

COUGHS DISTURB SCHOOL WORK

School teachers should give the same advice to children who have coughs as did this Florida teacher. "I recommended Foley's Honey and Tar to the children in my school who had the 'flu' and good results came whenever it was used," writes Mrs. L. Armstrong, Okeechobee, Florida. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates. Ingredients printed on the wrapper. Quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup. The Lee & Osgood Co.

The much-discussed case of Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire head of a bakery syndicate, is docketed for trial today at White Plains, N. Y. Young Ward is under indictment for first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Clarence E. Peters of Haverhill, Mass., an ex-sailor, near White Plains, on the night of May 16, 1922.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

A picture that will delight everyone is now being shown at the Breed theatre. It is Goldwyn's first King Vidor production, "Three Wise Fools," fashioned by the director himself from the successful stage play by Austin Strong as produced in New York by John Golden and Winchell Smith. This comedy-drama had a three-years' run on the speaking stage. The screen version sets before the eye several important scenes that were just hinted at, or which took place off-stage, in the play version. One is a spectacular jail-break in which the heroine's father escapes with two other convicts who had staged the flight. The jail delivery, by armored motor-car, is one of the most exciting sequences which we have recently seen.

The characters in the story have the feeling of reality and charm which they had in the spoken play. Eleanor Boardman, fresh from her triumph in "Souls for Sale," plays the leading feminine role with exquisite charm and understanding. Claude Gillingwater who acted the role of Findley in the state version, has the same role in the photoplay and plays it so well that screen fans should see to it he is never allowed to stop acting for the films. He is one of the "three wise fools;" the other two are veterans of the stage, William H. Crane, and Alec Francis. They enlist the sympathies for the three old cronies who agree to take charge of the daughter of the woman they had loved in vain in their youth. John Sainpolis as the girl's father, falsely imprisoned for forgery, and William Haines as her lover, help the others to make "Three Wise Folls" a living, breathing screen masterpiece. Minor roles are excellently cared for by Brinsley Shaw, Fred Esmelton, ZaSo Pitts, Lucien Littlefield, Martha Mattox, Fred J. Butler, Charles Hickman, Craig Biddle, Jr., Creighton Hale and Raymond Hatton.

"Three Wise Fools" is a remarkably fine and tristic picture; it has charm and romance, comedy and dramatic thrills and the big spectacular jail-break. Chalk it up as one photoplay you will thoroughly enjoy.

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe News and an Educational comedy.

Strand Theatre.

Loring and Lessing, the legitimate copie followed with "A Smart Satire," which had a fine dramatic finish from "The Bells."

Arthur Finn & Co. in third spot offered "Monkey Business."

Allen, Martin and May closed the bill with a variety musical offering that was very neatly put over.

Proving a delight in every respect, Jack Holt's new Paramount stellar vehicle, "A Gentleman of Leisure," a light comedy drama of love and intrigue, opened at the Strand theatre last night. Sigrid Holmquist is Mr. Holt's learing woman and the strong supporting cast includes Casson Ferguson, Alec Francis, Frank Nelson, Alfred Allen, Nadeen Paul and Alice Queensberry.

This is one of the finest productions in which Mr. Holt has appeared for many months. The role of Robert Pitt, a wealthy young American, is one especially suited to his particular style of acting. "A Gentleman of Leisure" affords Mr. Holt a role of signal power, of which he makes the most.

The story is absorbing, with the scenes laid in New York and London. It concerns a young man who, on a wager, turns burglar for expediency and then gets a real burglar to assist him in furthering his plans. Joseph Henabery directed while Faxon M. Dean was the photographer.

With The F. A. Wells Co.

Max J. Foley, who has been clerk with Murphy & McGarry for the past 16 years and continued with their successors, Savard Bros., has resigned his position there and taken employment with the F. A. Wells Co., entering upon his new duties at once. Mr. Foley began his business connection with the men's clothing and furnishing line over 25 years ago with John A. Moran and built up a wide acquaintance with the trade in Easter Connecticut.

NUMBER FOUR

The object of the booth is to demonstrate the Metropolitan welfare work by which the company has extended the life of its policy holders from 46 1-2 years in 1911 to 55 years in 1921. This welfare literature being passed out is also delivered to the households by the individual agents and assists each family in keeping healthy.

In conjunction with this literature, each industrial policy holder is entitled to the Metropolitan free nursing service. Special emphasis is laid both in the literature and in this particular exhibit on the company's four welfare rules—fresh air, proper food, enough sleep and a yearly examination. The chairman of the fair exhibit is John E. Fitzgerald, assisted by Edward Connelly, Louis Trachtenberg, Henry Brown and other agents from the office in the Shannon building.

There is general interest in the guessing contest, the Metropolitan company giving a $5 prize to the person who guesses nearest the total number of industrial policies in the Norwich district.

Jewelry Novelties

The Quality Engraving Shop, of Providence, R. I., is at the fair for the fourth year, with jewelry novelties and eyeglasses. W. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Shuster, are at this booth.

Sweet Grass Novelties

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Antis and four daughters, of the Oldtown, Me., Indian tribe, are located in their customary space fronting the east door. Norwich is their first fair of the season and they will follow the circuit until nearly Thanksgiving. Last year this interesting Indian family went as far as Arizona, exhibiting at fairs. They have had a stand here for 16 or 17 years.

Shea & Burke

The cutting through of new doors on the north side of the hall has compelled this firm to move from the big concession which it has occupied for fully 20 years taking up quarters opposite. Together with Glenwood ranges always featured by Shea & Burke, there is brought to the front this season the McDougall kitchen cabinet. The special advantage of this handy equipment is the automatic front, which drops down of its own accord. There is particular interest in the cabinet, as it has been advertised that it is to be sold to the highest bidder, men as well as women, proving keen to drop their bids into the secret box in charge of Thomas F. Shea. Daniel T. Shea, senior member of the firm is in general charge of the concession.

JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have your health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought it should cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1604 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The reason is given in letters like these, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

Norwich State Hospital

Filling the same space where it was located last year, the occupational therapy department of Norwich state hospital is showing the work of the patients, the articles being sold at moderate prices for the patients' benefit. Rugs, boudoir lamps, baskets of reed and raffia, porch baskets, fancy needl work, children's toys of many kinds, sail boats, dressed dolls, crepe paper novelties and a great variety of hand work( is shown.

The instructor in this department, Harry Kromer of Norwich, has general supervision of the booth and is assisted by Mrs. Margaret Hart and Mrs. Betty Rouse.

Uu-Art Tile Roofing

This year an attractive photo display of buildings roofed with this product, features the space occupied by the Nu-Art Tire Rofing company of New London. Churches, dwellings, halls, factories, etc., in Norwich, Willimantic, Mystic, New London and several cities and towns in Rhode Island are represented in this collection. The company this year is specializing in the Genasco Latite shingles, a locked-on shingle, which cannot curl. The roofing comes in the three natural colors, red, green and blue-black.

Schwartz Brothers

The New Home sewing machine, the Barstow-Richmond and Standard ranges, figure prominently in the big exhibit of this firm, in a new 35-foot concession at the south side of the hall. The firm has the agency for the improved Columbia Grafonola, the tone of which is especially sweet and clear.

Yard sticks and rulers are given as souvenirs. Some fortunate visitor to the fair, who gets the right coupon, is going to be given a new Home sewing machine. Abner Schwartz, Harry Schwartz and Clarence Brown have charge. Chief Representative Bernard McGuinness, from the New Home factories at Orange, Mass., is at the fair, and the machine is demonstrated by William Ellis, the silk artist and expert.

Geduldig, the Florist

At the entrance doors this well known house has arranged decorative evergreens, vines, and shrubs, while in a liberal space along the north wall is a showy exhibit of roses, gladioli, cannas, asters, choice dahlias, with cosmos, blooming clematis, crotons, ferns, begonias and palms.

The Plaut-Gadden Company

The local patriotism and pride, which year after year influences this Norwich and New London firm to take the trouble and incur expense of adding to the attractions of exhibit hall has lost nothing of its vigor this year. About $15,000 of fine furniture, pianos, victrolas, the Chickering and Haines Bros Ampico (reproducing piano) the Wasserman, Crawford, Hallet & Davis pianos and player pianos, Berkey & Gay furniture—a special consignment from Grand Rapids—the Bohn siphon refrigerators, fine lamps and hall clocks, are among the features of the firm's display. Over 5,000 fans and 5,000 yard sticks were given as souvenirs during Monday.

The Hoover and the hot point vacuum cleaners and the Free sewing machine are in other departments of the exhibit.

As usual, Vice President and General Manager Adelard Morin supervises the display, and is assisted by Herman Sears, assistant secretary, Joseph Caulfield, manager of the piano department, Joseph Kopp, Arthur Benoit and Arnold Goldstein and H. B. Parmelee of the Victrola department William Farmer and David Kennefic of the furniture department, Miss Buckley and Miss Guile, Miss McBurney, Miss Marchand, Miss Connell, and Miss Coughlin, who assisted in giving out literature, fans, etc.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW.

An added attraction at the fair this year was the automobile show which was located in a large tent near the main entrance. About 30 cars of various makes and models, many being of the 1924 style, were shown by local dealers, and a few by out of town agents. The tent was attractively decorated and the new cars made an attractive appearance and thousands of interested car owners thronged the tent during the day. The salesmen in charge of the various exhibits were kept busy explaining the merits and special features of their cars to the interested people.

William R. Frisbie had the largest display, showing the Peerless town sedan, Reo phaeton, the Cleveland two-door sedan and two Mack trucks one a three and a half ton truck and the other a two and a half ton truck.

The Gardner Motor company, of St. Louis, F. G. Pieper, local distributor, showed two models in the Gardner five-bearing four, one a 1924 phaeton and the other a 1924 sedan. As an additional atraction to this display Mr. Pieper showed a Gardner turned on its side to give the public an opportunity to see the mechanical construction underneath the machine which is seldom seen by the layman.

W. F. Bailey had on display two models of the Durant car, an open touring and a sedan. Mr. Bailey also showed the Star open touring and an open delivery truck.

The Main Street garage of Moosup had on display the Flint open touring car which attracted considerable attention.

Three models of the Buick 1924 with the new lines and four wheel brakes were shown by Julian L. Williams, a buick four touring, a Buick sedan and a Buick six open touring.

The Hudson-Essex company showed the Hudson sedan and the Essex coach and also had on display an unfinished body demonstrating the construction work used in these machines.

Lewis H. Maples showed three cars, two being the open touring and sedan of the Paige make and a Jewett sedan.

The Kelly-Springfield truck was shown by Mr. Spicer.

The Rinella-Leeney motor car company showed thre models of the Velie, a sedan, the Challenger sport model and an open touring. Included in this display was also the Hartford shock absorbers.

POETRY

UPON LESBIA—ACQUIRE.

My Lesbia, I will not deny,
You tickles me completely;
She has the usual heaving sigh,
And smiles upon me sweetly!
But she has an unseemly way
Of contradicting what I say.

And, though I am her closest friend,
And find her fascinating,
I cannot cordially commend
Her method of debating;
Her logic, though she is divine,
Is singularly feminine.

Her reasoning is full of tricks,
And butterfly suggestions,
I know no point to which she sticks,
She begs the simplest questions;
And, when her premises are wrong,
She always draws her inference wrong.

Broad, liberal views on man and things
She will not hear a word of;
To prove herself correct she brings
Some instance she has heard of;
The argument ad hominem
Appears her favorite stratagem.

Old Socrates, with sage replies
To questions put to suit him,
Would not, I think, have looked so wise
With Lesbia to confute him;
He would maps probably have made
Xantippe haste to his aid.

Ah! well, my fair philosopher,
With clear brown eyes that glisten
So sweetly, that I much prefer
To look at them and listen,
Preach me your sermon; have your way,
The voice is yours, whate'er you say.
—Alfred Cochran, in Indianapolis News.

WHEN THE REDBIRD SINGS.

Of all the birds that carol
In garden or in glen,
The Bluebird, the Brown Thrush,
The Mocking-bird, the Wren,
There is one voice that witches me,
Whose lovely cadence clings,
And I list as one enchanted
When the Redbird sings.

I catch a flash of scarlet
Upon the trembling bough;
The little leaflets quiver,
They know what's coming now;
There is no note of prelude—
The strain of rapture rings,
And my heart with joy is aching
While the Redbird sings.

A flow of liquid crystal
With rainbow colors blent,
Around the fairy songtide,
There is a wildwood scent,
And haunting hints of vanished days
Across my soul it flings,
And I list as one enchanted
When the Redbird sings.
—Samuel Minturn Peck, in Boston Transcript.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Valet—Shall I tell the collector you are in, sir?

DeBroke—No; tell him I'm all in.—Boston Transcript.

If your neighbor's chickens molest your garden, and you yearn to lick him for it, that is patriotism on a small scale.—Brooklyn Standard Union.

"Is the tide coming in?"

"Of course it is, stupid! Can't you see the waves are all falling over this way?"—Boston Transcript.

Flapper—Bobby, you always remind me of Owen Nares.

Bobby (delighted)—Do I really?

"Yes—you are so utterly different!"—Exchange.

Negro—No, sah. De Jedge reformed me last month, and I'se jest out testin' maself.—Judge.

According to the Times there is a slump in nautical fiction. And yet it is reported that a beggar is going about with a story that he lost his leg in the barbed-wire entanglements at the Jutland battle.—Punch, London.

Mrs. W. L. C. writes: "An elderly lady passing a brass band on the street, playing 'Darling, I am growing old,' said, 'Well, I know I am growing old, but I do not need a band to tell the world.'"—Boston Transcript.

Counsel: "The cross-examination did not seem to worry you at all. Have you had any previous experience?

Client: "Married three times."—Exchange.

His Wife—Never mind, dear. Call it a country scene viewed from a speeding automobile.—Boston Transcript.

"They's all got flower names, missy," replied the negress. "I'm rather proud o' their names. The oldest one's Hellthrope, and the next one there is Dahlia."

"Yes?" said the mistress kindly, "very pretty. And what's the baby's name?"

"Flower name again, missy. We call her Ahtifushal."—Argonaut.

"We feel that you have worked out the headlight problem so well that our wisest step will be to adopt your plan 'in toto,'" is the comment of Secretary of State Holm of Minnesota in a letter to the Connecticut Motor Vehicle department after sudying this state's headlight law and its system of enforcement. Secretary Holm is an officer in the Mid-Western Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, and is charged with the administration of the motor vehicle law in Minnesota.

With Lady's Man at the pole, the eight horses got away to a good start in the first heat, Plain Mary winning the heat, Peggy Wilkes coming in second. Plain Mary easily won the remaining two heats and the race, taking first money, second money going to Peggy Wilkes, third money to Day Q., and fourth money to Peter Daw.

In the second heat of the race four of the horses, Mary W., Lady's Man, Aniva and Austin D., got away to a bad start owing to interference just as Starter Mulcahy gave the word. Owing to this fact, all horses were placed for the third heat.

Just before the third heat was called Aniva was withdrawn by her owner L. Hopkins of Olneyville, R. I. Plain Mary took the lead early in the heat and maintained it throughout the mile, easily coming in for first place.

Race Program for Tuesday.

There are three events on the race card for this (Tuesday) afternoon. Speed Secretary Albert J. Bailey announced Monday afternoon that the three events will be a 2.25 pace, a 2.13 pace, and a county race. Included in the ten starters in the 2.25 pace are Bonney's Baby, Thomas Burns owner, and Camerton, owner George Bates. There are seven starters listed on the card for the 2.13 pace, including Boutwell, F. D. Whitcomb, Springfield, and Patsy Chatham, owned by Nelson Fontaine, Taftville. There are eight starters listed for the county race, which will without doubt prove a big drawing card this afternoon.

The Race Officials.

This year's race officials are as follows: Starter, D. M. Mulcahy, Northampton, Mass.; judges and timers, E. R. Pierson, Norwich, C. E. Macfarlane, Willimantic, W. Gorton, Providence; clerk of the course, C. V. Pendleton, official announcer, Edward T. Connelly; speed secretary, Albert J. Bailey.

Vaudeville Programme

Five excellent acts comprised the free vaudeville programme given between the races under the capable direction of Edward T. Connelly. Mr. Connelly who has had charge of the vaudeville attractions for several years past, kept the acts moving along smoothly. The first free attraction on the vaudeville programme was an equilibrist and strong man, Noart by name, who entertained the large crowd with a number of difficult stunts on the open air platform.

Two men, booked as the Sensational Moll Brothers, appeared in a feature high perch act. They drew well deserved applause with their difficult hand balancing. One of their stunts, worthy of more than passing notice, was a swinging act, one of the Molls swinging recklessly back and forth at the top of a tall bamboo pole cleverly balanced by his partner.

Mr. Connelly announced as the third attraction The Three Wheelers, sensational hand balancers, who presented several very clever stunts that won decided favor with the big audience.

The Olympia Desval animal act was the next vaudeville number presented. This act, featuring trained horses and dogs, was given on the race track in front of the grand stand. In the act appeared two well trained horses and half a dozen clever dogs who did everything but talk under the direction of their trainers, a man and a woman. It was an unusually good and something different than is usually seen at the fairgrounds.

The big vaudeville attraction was a daring unicycle wire act presented by DePhil and DePhil. This act featured Miss DePhil, introduced as the only woman in the world riding a unicycle on a high wire. She received a gold medal from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in New York city during the world war in one of the campaign drives when she performed over the World building, 500 feet above the ground.

While she pedaled her unicycle back and forth on the wire, fifty feet above the ground, her partner performed a number of daring acrobatic stunts on a trapeze suspended from the frame of the unicycle. All five acts will be presented again this (Tuesday) afternoon between the race heats.

Balloon Ascension

Shortly after the final heat of the last race had been run off the balloon ascension took place. The greater part of the big crowd waited for this event which is always looked forward to with anticipation by the grownups as well as the children.

As the results of the final race were being announced, the filling of big gas bag started under the direction of Prof. T. H. Flower, manager of the American Balloon company of Boston. An interested crowd watched the balloon fill while the parachute jumper, R. D. Hunter of Boston, was preparing for his perilous trip to the clouds. As the score or more of men and boys released their hold on the balloon ropes at the word, the mammoth bag carrying its lone passenger, arose majestically taking a northeast course in the light breeze. At the pistol shot, the balloonist, hundreds of feet in the air, cut loose and made three parachute jumps, landing safely in a field northeast of the fairgrounds.

The balloon ascension brought to a close the first day of the fair. Many remained on the grounds for a final inspection of the various exhibits and to visit the midway attractions of which there are many, before leaving for home, well satisfied that this year's fair is above the standard, and as the fair officials predicted, "bigger and better than ever."

Michael Froshello, son of Frank Froshello of School street, who was before the court on the charge of violating an ordinance regarding taking current from electric meters, was discharged by the court after the evidence had been heard. The city gas and electric department was the complainant. It was shown that the gas and electric department had cut out the wrong meter in a house of several tenements and that young Froshello had connected up the current again under the belief that he had been given permission to do so in a telephone message to the eletric department.

Ten men were before the court on intoxication charges and were given the usual fines and costs.

MRS. GEO. H. HOLMES, NEW LONDON, DROWNS HERSELF IN THE THAMES RIVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 3.—Suffering from melancholia as a result of the death of her husband, George H. Holmes, a former well known carpenter for many years superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school, Mrs. Ella Holmes, 69, 165 Crystal avenue, ended her life by drowning herself in the Thames river early this morning. Mrs. Holmes had displayed symptoms of mental depression since the death of her husband three months ago and recently expressed a desire to die.

Mrs. Holmes had resided with her son, Harry M. Holmes, a clerk in the New London postoffice, since the death of Mr. Holmes. This morning some time after 1 o'clock, Mrs. Holmes arose and dressing left the house unheard by members of the household and walked to the river, in the vicinity of Riverside park. About 3.30 o'clock Alex Bassili observed the body of the woman close to the wharf of the Standard Oil company. Bassili made the body fast to the pier and then informed the police. Medical Examiner H. H. Heyer, after viewing the body gave a verdict of suicide. Mrs. Holmes was a member of the Methodist church and until the death of her husband enjoyed sound health. Besides Harry M. Holmes, Mrs. Holmes is survived by another son, Paul Homes, of 17 Bolles avenue, a carpenter.

Mrs. Victoria Parchetti, of Harrison street complained to the police this noon that an ice man had robbed her of $53, the alleged theft occurred when Mrs. Parchetti absented herself from her home for a few minutes. The man came to her home and represented himself as being in charge of a wagon for the delivery of ice. She purchased a 15 cent cake and as the delivery of the ice was made, the woman left the house to look after one of her children, leaving the ice peddler sitting in the kitchen. When she returned the man was leaving the house and a short time afterward, Mrs. Parchetti went to a sleeping room where the money had been kept in a pocketbook on a bureau and it was missing. Motorcycle Officer John Cavanaugh learned that the accused resided on Blinman street, but has not been home for two days.

Frank Dais, a former resident of New London, now living in New York, is spending a few days in town.

Antonio Long, 15 Steward street, was arrested this afternoon by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Frank Philopena charged with violation of the liquor law. Longo, a public service automobile operator, was held in bonds of $1,000 for his appearance in the police court Tuesday morning and his machine, a limousine was stored in the police garage.

Long was hired by two sailors from the U. S. S. Buahnell, S. L. Clayton and W. T. Robinson. The machine was driven to lower Bank street, where Longo, it is claimed, alighted and went to a nearby store and purchased two bottles of ginger ale. His act was witnessed by Sergeant Hick and Patrolman Philopena and when the car was driven away, the officers followed in another car. Going to Ocean avenue Longo brought his machine to a stop and as he did so Sergeant Hick and Patrolman Philopena pulled up alongside the public service machine and made a search of the latter car. The search resulted in the finding of two pints of whiskey beneath the body. The machine and its occupants were driven to the police station where Longo declared the sailors brought the liquor into the car, while the sailors denied the statement, declaring that the liquor was there when they hired it.

There were fifteen cases in the police court this morning, Judge S. Victor Prince, presiding. Antonio Piederfeci, 46 Truman street, was fined $200 and sentenced to jail for thirty days for violation of the liquor law. Wiczorck was arrested Saturday afternoon by a raiding squad, Sergeant Samuel Hick, Patrolman Frank Philopena and Prohibition Enforcement Agents H. W. Avery and Joseph Fitzpatrick. The officers, possesseedd of a search warrant, failed to find any evidence of liquor in Wiczorck's house, but going to the rear of the yard they gathered together a considerable amount of liquor, which was in containers of various sizes.

S. submarine, 50, arrested several days ago, charged with rape upon Catherine Shea, 13, step-daughter of Patrolman Howard Sloan, was held for trial at the term of the superior court, which will convene tomorrow. Miller, was given severe discipline by Judge S. Victor Prince in the police court this morning, when the young woman pleaded guilty and was fined $100. The fine was paid by a member of the band.

The hotels of the city had a big day Sunday and today, and not since boat race day have the hotels enjoyed such business. Sunday night it was impossible to obtain accommoddations at a single hotel and as a result some tourists secured automobile transportation to Norwich, while others slept in their machines.

There is a slight change for the better tonight in the condition of Frederick Burke, 57 Edgewood avenue, Hartford, a patient at Lawrence hospital suffering from a fractured skull sustained Saturday night when Burke was one of three passengers occupying a Ford coupe en route to Niantic which crashed against a tar tank wagon at the foot of Durfee hill, East Lyme. ## LITTLE JACK RABBIT

JACK AT THE WITCH'S HOUSE.

"Don't cry, Mrs. Duck because you have chicks instead of ducklings," said Little Jack Rabbit, who you remember in the last story had met a poor mother duck who was trying in vain to get her brood to wade into the water.

"Goodness gracious me," she exclaimed, "I must have hatched Henny Jenny's nest eggs instead of mine," and she came out of the water and took her little ones back to the barn and maybe she and Henny Jenny exchanged children so that she had her little ducklings after all. I'll tell you some day if the Weathercock on the Big Red Barn lets me know.

"Don't cry, Mrs. Duck"

Well, after that, the bunny boy went on his way and by and by, after a while, he came to a great hollow tree, only of course he didn't know it was hollow. Right there stood an ugly old witch. Her chin crooked up and her nose crooked down until there was hardly room between for a piece of bread and butter.

"Good morrow, little rabbit," said the ugly old witch.

"Good day, my good woman," replied Little Jack Rabbit. "Is this your tree? I see a little door just back of your skirt."

"Yes, this is my house," she answered. "Would you like to come in? I have a wonderful bird to show you."

The bunny boy boy hopped inside the hollow tree house of the old witch and a pink and blue bird in a cage sang:

"Too wee, too wee, is all I sing,
No more I fly on happy wing,
But in this cage I sit all day
And never have a chance to play."

"You poor bird," whispered the little rabbit. Then, turning to the old witch, he said: "Why don't you let the poor thing go?"

"Because this bird is a princess," replied the wicked witch with a dreadful grin, which showed all her gums and only one long tooth. "I have changed her into this bird and you had best be careful or I will change you into a mouse."

Wasn't that a dreadful thing to hear, but the bunny boy wasn't afraid for he had his magic ring and his flaming feather with him although, of course, the wicked old witch didn't know that. Oh, my no. She thought after a while she'd change Little Jack Rabbit into a mouse or maybe a rat and she chuckled to herself as she locwed the door. After that she turned with a horrible grin and said:

You ought to be careful where you go,
Suppose I change you into a rat,
Tell me, what would you think of that?"

And in the next story I'll tell you what happened after that.

ESTIMATES NOW PLACE LOSS OF LIFE IN JAPAN AT FROM 200,000 TO 320,000

Area Devastated is so Vast That It Will be Long Before the Actual Loss of Life is Known—Tokio and Yokohama Are Almost Completely in Ruins—The First Heavy Shocks Were Followed by Explosions, Bursting of Water Mains, Overflow of Rivers and the Terrible Rush of Tidal Waves—American Ambassador Woods and His Entire Staff at Tokio Are Known to be Safe.

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 4.—(By the A. P.)—So vast an area of Japan has been devastated by the greatest earthquake in the history of this country that it will be long before the actual loss of life is known. The most reliable estimates of the dead up to the present reach as high as 200,000 to 320,000.

Tokio and Yokohama, with surrounding towns, which formed the centre of the disturbances, are almost completely in ruins. For two days Tokio was swept by ames, and apart from the loss of life caused directly through the falling of buildings, thousands must have perished in their attempts to make their way through the fire zones and other thousands from exhaustion.

Yokohama, Tokio's busy port, is a city destroyed. Probably more complete destruction has been wrought here than in the capital itself, for its great docks were torn asunder, its shipping wrecked, its public buildings and homes levelled to the earth.

All advices received here indicate a succession of earth disturbances in that area extending for many miles inland and to the north, and everywhere the first destructive forces were augmented by explosions, the bursting of water mains, the overflow of rivers and the terrible overpowering rush of tidal waves.

Details of geographical changes are striking, but it is reported that new islands have been forced up from the bed of the ocean, whole sections have disappeared. Rivers are said to have changed their courses, and volcanoes are erupting in various districts.

The disaster spared none who were in its path. Many members of noble families have perished, but thus far the only notable foreign resident in the list of killed is the American consul at Yokohama, Max D. Kirkpatrick, who with his wife is believed to have been buried in the ruins of the consulate.

The American ambassador, Cyrus E. Woods, and all the members of the embassy at Tokio are known to be safe, but many of the diplomatic representatives of other nations have not been accounted for, nor has any word been received of their fate.

The newspaper Osaka Asahi estimates the earthquake dead at 320,000, which included 150,000 dead in Tokio, 100,000 in Yokohama and 80,000 in Yokosuka. Word is received that the fires in Tokio burned out Monday night, but at the same time couriers carry appeals for food supplies and medical supplies and assistance for the hundreds of thousands of homeless refugees, who, unless succored speedily, cannot survive.

For the moment all efforts are being directed first, to ascertaining the extent of Japan's vast losses both in the persons of foreign residents and material damage to its cities, and secondly, to rushing all assistance in every form to the stricken districts. There has been no time yet for a summing up of the terrible consequences of the earthquake nor for the preparation of a list of the prominent dead, Japanese or foreign residents.

The warships of many foreign nations are on the seas already bringing assistance, which fact serves to give encouragement to the government and the people in their greatest calamity.

SUPT. JOHN H. HUMPHREY SHOCKED BY ELECTRICITY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 4.—John H. Humphrey, 49, 326 Prospect street, Norwich, employed as line superintendent by the Eastern Power Company was seriously burned this morning when he received a charge of 4,000 volts of electricity while at work at the company's sub-station at Waterford. Humphrey is now a patient at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital suffering from second degree burns, comprising burns to his upper body and chest, face and arms. This evening it was stated at the hospital that Humphrey's condition was critical, although there was a possible chance for his recovery.

Humphrey went to the sub-station this morning for the purpose of examining a transformer. Shortly after he arrived at the plant he ascended to the huge transformer which is located in the station where the current enters the structure. While making the examination his body came in contact with a section of bushing which connects the wires as they enter the transformer. In an instant his body received the full charge of current. His predicament was instantly observed by employes at the station who went to the victim's assistance. It was immediately determined that Humphrey was terribly burned and after emergency treatment had been prescribed for the victim he was removed to the New London hospital.

MINERS AND OPERATORS TO RESUME CONFERENCES TODAY

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Miners and operators charged with working out a new wage contract between the workers and mine owners tonight were preparing to resume their conferences tomorrow at Harrisburg. There was no formal meeting of operators here today so far as could be learned, but it is understood that there has been an exchange of views among the leading officials of some of the coal companies.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, and the presidents of the three anthracite districts met here tonight to check up on the negotiations so far as they have gone and review the situation in the coal fields.

MYSTERY IN FIRE ON POQUONOC ROAD

New London, Sept. 4.—A house on the south road, Poquonoc, owned by Herman Johl, president of the Max Pollock company, was damaged by fire of unknown origin late Monday afternoon. The fire was in an oil and was discovered by Guy Wheaton, an employe of the Pollock company, who was engaged in the front of the house laying a floor and getting the place ready for occupancy by the Wheaton family. Wheaton, after securing aid from neighbors, caused a telephone message to be sent to the Groton fire department, the Pioneer Hose company finally responding, but not until valuable time had been lost because of the absence of officials from the borough who had authority to issue an order for the apparatus to leave the borough. When the firemen arrived the rear of the house was in flames, but a quantity of chemicals aided in partially subduing the fire. When the supply of chemicals was exhausted a line of hose was stretched to Poquonoc river and a stream was pumped into the burning building. Wheaton is at a loss to determine the cause of the fire as he was alone in the building and had not started a fire in any of the stoves.

To Hasten $5,000,000 Relief Fund For Japan

Washington, Sept. 4.—As the Federal government continued its efforts to provide prompt and effective aid to earthquake sufferers in Japan and endeavored to obtain information as to the whereabouts and conditions of Americans in the zone of disaster, American Red Cross officials decided today to conduct an immediate campaign for a $5,000,000 relief fund.

Divisional quotas were fixed as follows:

Washington division, New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Miryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and chapters in insular possessions of the United States and in foreign countries) $2,900,000.

New England division, (all New England States except Connecticut), $350,000.

Southern division, (North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia) $250,000.

Southwestern division, (Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas Missouri and Arkansas), $550,000.

The divisional quotas total $5,250,000, having been fixed to make an aggregate a little above $5,000,000 goal, it was explained, to permit adjustments. Hope was expressed by Red would be quickly subscribed. Quotas for the 3,600 Red Cross chapters located in practically every county in the country, will be fixed by divisional managers.

Instructions sent to managers of the six divisions said it had been decided to appeal to the public for "at least $5,000,000." It was emphasized that it should be made clear that "by proclamation the President has placed responsibility of representing America in this crisis squarely upon the American Red Cross and our organization must meet the call."

In announcing their plan Red Cross officials pointed out that the pressing need was for cash contributions, the distance to the earthquake area precluding the collection and shipment there of clothing and other supplies.

While it is perfecting a distribution organization in Japan, the Red Cross, according to an announcement by the State department has allotted funds to the department which will be used by American diplomatic and consular officers in the stricken areas in cases where immediate relif is necessary.

The department announced it was making determined effort in the face of communication handicaps to locate Americans in the region where heavy casualties have been reported. Numerous inquiries, acting Secretary Phillips said, have been received from friends and relatives of American citizens believed to have been in danger.

"The department," said a statement by Mr. Phillips, "has taken immediate steps to ascertain the whereabouts and welfare of these Americans. A complete list has been telegraphi to American Diplomatic and Consular officers in Japan together with instructions that immediate steps be taken to obtain information concerning them. As additional names are received, the same procedure concerning them is immediately followed.

"In the meantime the department has instructed Mr Nelson T. Johnson, American Consul General at Large for the far east, Mr Edwin S. Cunningham, Consul General at Shanghai, and Mr. John T. Wright, Vice Consul at Shanghai to proceed at the earliest possible moment to Yokohama in order to render every assistance to Americans in the devastated region and in order to aid in gaining further information regarding Americans reported to have been within the zone of the disaster. These consular officers left Shanghai on the steamship President Pierce yesterday morning for Yokohama. Consul Joseph W. Balentine at Darien has also been ordered to Yokohama."

FUNDS POURING IN TO AMERICAN RED CROSS

New York, Sept. 4.—(By The A. P.) —Americans and Japanese of this city today joined in a campaign launched from headquarters of internationally known financial and charitable organizations to provide relief for stricken Japan. By nightfall the fund, started with a check for $50,000 from a banking affiliation, was pouring into the hands of the American Red Cross at a rate which would indicate a million dollars would be recorded in a few hours.

Scores of cablegrams were dispatched to Tokio and Yokohama in the hope of learning the fate of the personnel and properties of welfare organizations and business. Most of the messages were returned undelivered.

Grave fears were expressed at headquarters of the International Y. W. C. A. for the staff, American, Canadian and native, of its five stations in the Kanda district of Hondo Island, and only a meagre accounting was obtained in reply to messages sent to Kobe, Osaka and China. Heads of the organizations believed, however, that most of its Japanese workers were safe in the mountains at the time of the disaster, spending the month's vacation which was to have ended Sept. 8.

Among those in Tokio who have not been reached by the New York office are: Miss Jane Nell Scott of Milford, Ohio, national head of the American Y. W. C. A. in Japan.

The Salvation Army also sent a host of messages to Japan today, but received no responses.

GREECE OFFERS 50,000,000 LIRE GUARANTEE DEPOSIT

N. Politis, Greek Spokesman, Proposed to Council of L. of N. That It Refer the Greco-Italian Dispute to a Neutral Commission and the Indemnity to a Mixed Commission —The Greek Government Would Deposit the 50,000,000 Lire in a Swiss Bank for Immediate Payment of Whatever Indemnity May be Decided Upon—Signor Salandra, Speaking for Italy, Announced That He Was Awaiting Final Instructions From Premier Mussolini.

Geneva, Sept. 4.—(By the A. P.)—A high political drama was played at Geneva today when Greece appeared before a hurriedly convoked public session of the council of the League and announced new terms for a settlement with Italy.

The Greek proposals were as follows:

"The Greek Government suggests: Firstly, that the Council should appoint one or more neutral representatives (a) to superintend in Greece the Judicial inquiry which the Greek authorities have already begun and also the third of those responsible for the Janina murders; (b) assist in the work of the commission composed of three high judicial authorities, Greek Italian and neutral—for example, the President of the Swiss Federal Tribunal, of the President of the Permanent Court of International Justice—to meet as soon as possible at Geneva to settle the amount of indemnities which is just that we should pay the families of the victims.

"Thirdly, we agree that Council should agree that the Greek government forthwith deposit in a bank in Switzerland fifty million lire as a guarantee for the immediate payment of whatever indemnity may be decided upon."

Those who succeeded in entering the council chamber witnessed a courteous but firm wordy clash between Signor Salandra and M. Politis, Italian and Greek delegates respectively, an amiable tossing of oil on the troubled waters by Lord Robert Cecil, and witnessed also a proceeding which puts up to Italy for the second time the question as to whether she will accept in any form whatsoever the assistance of the League in regulating her difference with Greece.

M. Politis, who was born and reared in Corfu, speaking in Greek with a pronounced Corfu accent, played his second stroke today with a fine Grecian touch, but Signor Salandra, always jolly and smiling, in keeping with the League atmosphere of conciliation and good humor, won his point in insisting that in presenting his new proposals, M. Politis should not indulge in the forensics of Demosthenes, but get down to bald facts, without attempting to argue the justice of the Grecian cause.

M. Politis then proposed the new Greek suggestion, adding that this indemnity was the amount Italy originally demanded.

During the first part of the session, which was private, Signor Salandra announced that he was awaiting instructions from Premier Mussolini on Italy's final attitude. When the attendants threw open the doors, making the meeting public, they were almost stampeded by the crowd in the corridor, many of them women. There was a hurried consultation among the officials, after which it was announced that only press representatives would be admitted.

When M Politis arose he said Greece wanted a prompt settlement. After summarizing the Greek Italian official notes and indicating the points Greece was unable to see her way to accept, he remarked that Italy demanded capital punishment of the murders and proceeded to argue that no tribunal would hesitate to mete out the most drastic form of punishment.

But Signor Salandra interrupted with: "That is an opinion. We are here to listen to your offer, not to arguments."

Lord Robert Cecil intervened, saying that the public should know all the facts, because publicity was conducive to justice.

M. Politis remarked that he merely wanted to say what could be made a basis for an eventual arrangement. Signor Salandra, however, was obdurate and insisted that M. Politis was arguing, and that he (Salandra) could not answer because his instructions had not arrived from Rome. He then moved that the sitting be adjourned.

Lord Robert Cecil again intervened, asserting that Signor Salandra was right as to arguments, but that if new facts were available the world should know them as soon as possible, for the situation was grave.

M Politis said: "If I get argumentative, Signor Salandra can stop me."

The Italian delegate replied: "I refuse that. I insist upon adjournment. Let M. Politis put his proposition in writing."

There was tragedy in the air, but Lord Robert saved the situation by suggesting that the Greek leader put his plan in writing immediately. M. Politis and his colleagues retired, and returned with the Greek's new solution.

This latest project, which would mean direct negotiation with Italy, but through the medium of the Council, does not involve bringing into play the League machinery, as approved in the covenant, but if accepted by Italy would probably satisfy the League leaders, whose goal is a peaceful settlement, however that may be attained. As the proposition involves the Council of Ambassadors its text was telegraphed to Paris, to get the Ambassadorial body's views. The Italians did not disclose their view on the Greek proposals.

A public meeting of the Council will be held tomorrow morning for the presentation of the Italian reply, and interest here continues intense.

Paris, Sept. 4.—(By the A. P.)—The Council of Ambassadors will meet tomorrow morning to consider the Greek reply to its note.

TEN CLAUSES IN DEMANDS MADE BY THE ITALIANS

Corfu, Island of Corfu, Sept.4.—(By the A. P.)—With their meagre belongings piled about them, hundreds of refugees whose quarters were made uninhabitable by the Italian bombardment, are sleeping in the open squares and along the streets. And thus the Armenians who fled from the Turks and found a refuge here under the patronage of American and British charities find themselves.

It is contended by the local authorities that the Italians fired after they had instructed the Greek Prefect to ask the government at Athens to reconsider its refusal to surrender the island and before the time had elapsed for a reply to be received. The local Greeks make much of the remark attributed to an Italian officer in the first party, which came ashore after the bombardment, which was, "were there any British hurt?".

Ten specific clauses were included in the Italian demand for surrender. They were:

1—The Greek flag to be hauled down.

2—The Italian flag to be hoisted and saluted by twenty-one guns.

3—Command of the Island to be taken over by the Italians.

4—Barracks to be surrendered by the Greek troops and the Greek Gendarmes to be disarmed.

5—Depots and arms, munitions and military effects to be surrendered.

6—Greek soldiers to be disarmed and concentrated.

7—The circulation of officers and troops to be forbidden.

8—Barracks to be provided for the Italian troops of occupation.

9—Immediate suspension of telegraph, telephone and postal facilities.

10—Control of communications and transports to be given to the Italians.

These demands were refused by the Greeks and it was their non-acceptance that caused the Italians to bombard the place.

The Italians have expressed their regret over the casualities and have offered to make reparation to the families of the sufferers.

TRIAL OF WALTER S. WARD POSTPONED UNTIL SEPT. 12

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 4.—At the close of a hearing marked by sharp exchanges between counsel and charges by the defense attorney of political bias against his client, Supreme Court Justice Wagner today postponed until September 12 the trial of Walter S. Ward, the baker's son, who is charged with having murdered Clarence E. Peters, ex-sailor. Justice Wagner also reserved decision on motions that the charges be dismissed or the defendant released on bail.

When Isaac N. Mills, defense counsel, accused Deputy State Attorney Chambers of annoying Mrs. Ward, the defendant's wife, he was rebuked by the court. Then, in asking Ward's release on bail, Mills cited the case on another murder defendant, freed on bond "though the presiding justice was not of his political faith."

"That has nothing to do with it, Mr. Mills," the court snapped.

"It has a good deal to do with it, and you know it," Mills answered.

The hearing closed with a recommendation by the court that neither side "attempt to try the case in the newspapers."

NORWICH BULLETIN

At the several town schools and the two parochial schools it is expected that the registration will be from two to three hundred additional to that of last year.

The schools most seriously confronted with congestion are the Natchaug grammar, the Model or Windham street schools and the Oaks school. The Natchaug and Oaks schools were forced to place some of the lower grades on part time last year, and the same procedure will have to be resorted to the coming year. The new eight-room addition to Natchaug grammar school will not be ready until next spring. In order to relieve the congestion at the Windham street schools arrangements have been made by the state to hold sessions of the special class and fourth grade in two spare rooms at the state normal school. The Oaks school is also under the supervision of the state board of education, but to date the department has made no arrangements to provide a means of relief at that institution.

An average of 500 pupils has been taught in the eleven rooms of St. Joseph's school during the past two years, one or two teachers having charge of fifty to sixty pupils, which is about 50 per cent. more than taught by the average teacher.

Rev. John E. Clark, pastor of St. Joseph's parish, recently announced that under no condition would a child under 6 be admitted to the school. There is the possibility that the parishioners will soon be called upon to erect a school addition.

Another room will be added to the already large St. Mary's grammar school, according to an announcement made by Rev. J. J. Papillon, the pastor. The school will then consist of 16 rooms, with a record registration of from 650 to 700 pupils.

Principal E. A. Case looks forward to a total registration of 550 pupils at Windham High school before the end of this week. Windham Center, which boasts a new school, is prepared for any exigency. The schools at North Windham and South Windham are large enough to accommodate a slight increase in registration.

The total registration last year was 1,307, including 1,200 in Windham High and the parochial schools. The town schools are under three supervisors. Supt. E. A. Case has charge of the Windham High, Natchaug grammar, Windham Center and North Windham schools. The state board of education, through Principal George H. Shafer, supervises Windham street, Oaks and the South Windham schools.

The teaching staff in both public and parochial schools now numbers an even hundred. Twenty per cent. of that number will be new public school teachers. Four will be at Windham, ten each at the Windham street schools, four at the Natchaug, two each at the Oaks and South Windham schools. The faculty of each school numbers: Windham High 25, Natchaug 20, Windham street 16, Windham Center 4, Oaks 5, South Windham 2, and North Windham 1.

WESTERLY

The September session of Westerly town council was held in the council chambers Tuesday morning at 9.30 o'clock, having been carried over from the previous day as Monday was the Labor holiday. Present were Councilmen Clifford Campbell, president, G. B. Utter, Louis Rossi, Charles S. Fowler, John Nichols, Farquhar Smith and Council Clerk E. E. Whipple.

Supt. William C. Clarke of the Westerly Light and Power company reported to the council that the new White Way or Novalux lamps had been placed in position, stating that he was interested to know what criticism or comments had been received by the council. Councilman Smith said that he had been asked regarding the danger element of electric wires located in the iron poles. Supt. Clark said the Narragansett Light company expert, Carl Thomas, had gone over the installation, which was 30 per cent. Para rubber covered cable, which could not be moved, as it was protected by a shield, similar to the installation used in New London. Mr. Clarke said the cable was taped over with six layers of tape and as the poles were in the ground five and one-half feet, it was thought firmly grounded, in case of accident the current would go to the ground. Saying he would be glad to look into the matter, Mr. Clarke was directed by the council to look it up and see if it was all right.

Councilman John Nichols asked if more lights with less candlepower on Main street would not be better, and it seemed to be the council's opinion that an extra lamp on Main street would help, as well as one on Broad, also on Canal street. It appeared that the lights were popular, the only complaint being that more were wanted. The following rates were quoted on different candlepower lamps: 1,000 c. p., $100 a year; 600, $80; 400, $70, the old lamps that were discarded, $86 a year.

A vote was taken to pay school building bills when O. K.'d by the committee.

The council clerk was directed to inform the state that Westerly had made an appropriation to conform to the mothers' aid bill.

Councilman Louis Rossi made a report on the progress of cleaning out the Pleasant street brook, so-called, speaking in emphatic terms of the unhealthy conditions that arose from all kinds of rubbish placed in the brook. It was voted that the Westerly Light and Power company be ordered to immediately remove a gas main which obstructs the brook at Canal street.

Relative to water and deposits which come off Friendship drive, the council said the matter had been taken up with the Westerly road commission and nothing could be done with them.

It was voted that the road commission be directed to construct catch basins under the gratings at the foot of Gravel hill on Pleasant street, which would catch the sand and dirt now washing, which causes sewage which is emptied into this brook to back up to Pond street, with accompanying stench.

The Westerly health officer was to be instructed to order the removal of outhouses and sewers now filling the brook and use to the newly installed sewers was directed.

Advanced rates by the Westerly Light and Power Co. have been announced by the Westerly office. The notification was filed on Saturday with the Rhode Island public utilities commission in Providence, and becomes effective Nov. 11. There are only 27 consumers in Westerly, including Watch Hill affected by the change. The increase in rates varies from $18 to $6 and is based on actual observance by officials of the Narragansett Lighting Co. in Providence. The annual service charge for a five-kilowatt apparatus is raised from $24 to $42; for seven kilowatt apparatus from $36 to $54 and for greater than seven-kilowatt the additional kilowatt charge is reduced from $12 to $9. There is no evidence in the rate per kilowatt hour. William C. Clarke, manager of the Westerly Light and Power company says that the reason that so few local people are affected is due to the fact that it was felt that to push the use of electric ranges with a cost figure that was not definitely settled did not seem just and now that rates have been established an increase in the use of the service could be looked for.

DUNDEE-LEONARD BOUT OFF OWING TO DUNDEE'S ALLEGED PHYSICAL SHAPE

New York, Sept. 4—The lightweight championship match scheduled for tomorrow night at the Yankee stadium between Benny Leonard, title holder, and Johnny Dundee, featherweight ring and challenger, has been postponed indefinitely, Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker of the Cromwell A. C., announced today, because of Dundee's poor physical condition.

Johnston declared he expected to stage the match some time the latter part of this month at the stadium but would not be able to fix a definite date for a day or so.

"Dundee has not been in the best of condition for some time since taking the featherweight title from Eugene Criqui," Johnston said. "His unsatisfactory showing against Kid Wagner in a bout at Philadelphia recently revealed this and when his workouts failed to bring him around to shape, I decided to postpone his match with Leonard, rather than risk disappointing the followers of both men. I think a few weeks more time will put Johnny back in excellent trim."

Dundee is Peeved

Dundee, when informed of Johnston's announcement said he would claim the lightweight championship of the world if Leonard did not meet him tomorrow night.

"I will not agree to a postponement," he said. "If Leonard does not fight I'll claim the title and put it up to the New York commission.

"Leonard wanted the fight postponed because he found he couldn't make the weight by tomorrow, and wanted more time to reduce. I was never in better condition. There is nothing the matter with my hand, and there never has been. I am ready to fight and Leonard is not."

Dundee was just preparing to leave his West Orange, N. J., camp for New York when he received word of the postponement. He said he weighed 128 pounds and was in perfect condition.

ACCIDENT POSTPONES YACHT RACES AT TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 4—The contest of class P boats representing the Buffalo yacht club and the Royal Canadian yacht club of Toronto was called off today, just before the last race of the series, when the Wasaka II, of Buffalo, rammed the Nutmeg of Toronto. A hole was punctured in the Nutmeg's side, and the Wasaka II damaged her stem too badly for immediate repair.

It would have been impossible for the Buffalo boat to win the series in any event, as the score after the third race stood 22 points to 11.

FIRPO SLAMS HIS PARTNERS WITH VIGOR

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 4—(By the A. P.)—A little more speed, a little more power in the punches and a little less mercy on the sparring partners was noticeable today in the first of Luis Angel Firpo's heavy workouts for his battle with Jack Dempsey on September 14. The Argentine, still in a jovial mood, stepped seven rounds with his helpers and sent them all to the dressing room with chimes in their ears.

Stocky Joe McCann was unusually lively. He made Firpo dance a bit in their two rounds. Firpo slammed his right into McCann's ribs and had the big fellow puffing at the end of the first round. In the second McCann was clipped on the jaw with a left hook, and as he fell into a clinch with the crushing South American their heads met. Firpo suffered a slight cut in the corner of his right eye, then sent a left straight to McCann's mouth, and time was called. The cut was trivial and is expected to heal overnight.

Frank Koebele, the light-heavyweight, suffered most at the fists of Firpo. In the second half of their session, the Argentine caught the Brooklyn youngster in the ribs with a right and Frank doubled up like a pocket knife. Firpo desisted for a moment or two and Koebele was able to resume with vigor. Natalio Pera took an unusually heavy mauling and was hanging on when time was called. The road work this morning was all on the boardwalk as a heavy rain last night left the dirt roads muddy. Firpo was out about two hours and then, before breakfast, spent an hour on defensive work inside his cottage.

A number of Firpo's Buenos Aires friends and admirers, who arrived in New York yesterday, were at the camp today. There are now more than a score of Argentines here. Meyer Saul, Edison hotel owner, and Mayer Bader are planning a banquet for Firpo and his friends the latter part of this week.

DEMPSEY ENJOYS COMPLETE DAY OF INACTIVITY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 4—(By the A. P.)—After enjoying a day of complete rest, Jack Dempsey will swing back into his training grind tomorrow to continue work, without further layoffs, until the finish of his campaign a week later. The champion suspended work today on the advice of Manager Jack Kearns, who desired to guard against the danger of having Dempsey become too finely drawn.

Kearns announced the champion was in superb condition, without a worry on his mind, and would start tomorrow to develop speed. Dempsey, according to Kearns, weighs 193 pounds at present, but figures to take off about four pounds in the next seven days. This will send him into the ring against Luis Angel Firpo weighing about 189 pounds, which, his handlers agree, is his best fighting weight.

THE TEDDY IS DECLARED THE WINNER IN RACE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4—The Teddy, motor speed boat owned by Gar Wood today officially was declared winner in yesterday's 150-mile international motorboat sweepstakes on the Detroit River when the race committee of the yachtsmen's association of America, disallowed the protest of Colonel J. G. Vincent, of Detroit, driver of Packard-Chriscraft II., which finished second, that the Teddy drove the last six laps without her hatches.

The race committee said it was in error in not flagging the Teddy immediately after her hatches were lost and sending her to the pits to replace them, and that the driver of the boat George Wood, misinterpreted the rules.

WILCOX, VETERAN AUTOMOBILE RACER, KILLED WHEN CAR SKIDS AT ALTOONA

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 4—Howard Wilcox, veteran Indianapolis automobile racer, was fatally injured in the inaugural 300 mile race on the new Altoona speedway this afternoon when his car skidded and overturned on the 117th lap. His neck was broken. Wilcox died a few minutes later as he was being taken to an emergency hospital at the speedway grounds. Wilcox was in third place when the accident occurred.

Driving the 200 mile grind without a stop, Eddie Hearne, another veteran driver, won the race. His time was 1.47:37.35, at the rate of 111 1-2 miles an hour. Jerry Wonderlich was second, Dave Lewis third, Fred Comer fourth, Benny Hill fifth, Frank Elliott sixth, Leon Duray seventh and Tommy Milton eighth.

By winning today's race Hearne took the lead in the 1923 automobile racing championship, race officials declared. Jimmy Murphy, who is abroad, has a total of 1070 points, Hearne had 802 points and his victory today gave him an additional 400 points, or a total of 1202 they declared.

Times of the other leading drivers were: Wonderlich, 1.48:53.28; Lewis, 1.50:16.49; Comer, 1.56:07.47; Hill, 2.00 :7.21.

In addition to Wilcox four other drivers did not finish the race. They were Harlan Fengler, Earl Cooper, Harry Hartz and L. L. Corum. All were forced out by engine trouble, Hartz's car catching fire.

RAY AND RITOLA BOOKED FOR ANOTHER RACE SEPT. 15

Boston, Sept. 4—Joie Ray, of Chicago, and Willie Ritola, of New York, will try to set a new record for the two-mile race at the invitation games of the Boston A. A. at Tech field, Cambridge, September 15, it was announced here today by club officials. De Hart Hubbard, University of Michigan, broad jumper, and Edward Gourdin, holder of the world's record, will meet in their specialty.

COX DRIVES TWO WINNERS AT CHARTER OAK TRACK

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 4—Small field faced the starter in the three races on today's grand circuit card at Charter Oak park, only three getting the word in the 2:09 trot, and the 2:10 pace and four in the 2.14 trot.

Walter Cox won two, driving Mr. Kent to the top of the summary in the fast trot and handling the ribbons on Murphy's Merriman, that won the pace.

Volo Chimes, another of the Murphy stable, driven by Benyon won the first two heats of the 2:14 trot but lost the third through a break near the wire.

PETER MANNING SETS NEW MICHIGAN RECORD

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4—Peter Manning, driven by Tommy Murphy of Syracuse, N. Y., established a new Michigan mile trotting record of 1:58 3-4 at the Michigan state fair this afternoon. The famous trotter made the last half mile in 58 3-4 seconds. The previous track record was 1:59 3-4 established by Uhlan, several years ago.

Buddy Mac, owned by M. P. Whalen of Cleveland, won the 2:08 pace for the $3,000 board of commerce stake in straight heats. The race was the feature of today's program.

East Ends Win Series

On Labor Day morning, the East Ends defeated the Hallville Clovers in the third and deciding game of the little world, series 11 to 6. The East Enders won the first game but lost the second when Bullet Mansfield whitewashed them 2 to 0. The Clovers greatly resembled Connie Mack's Athletics, they couldn't stand the pace, while Bullet proved himself a great five-inning pitcher.

Long before game time fans began to file into the vast stadium and at 10 o'clock it was filled to capacity. Canvas had been spread over the infield so that it was in A-1 condition in spite of a slight drizzle which had fallen. Preliminary to the game both teams were put through a stiff practice by their respective managers. During the batting session, the East End batters were continually finding the range of the distant bleachers, which seemed to disturb Mansfield not a little as he watched from the bench.

As Bullet Mansfield strolled to the box he was rendered an ovation unparalleled in Hallville and seldom equaled outside the major league ball parks. The Bullet modestly doffed his cap in acknowledgement of the tributes of the crowd.

For five innings Mansfield mowed down the opposing sluggers in order. In the sixth however he found out how Murderer's Row acquired their name.

To start the inning, Wild Bill Pedace hit the ball a mile-a-minute down the alley between right and center. The hit was labelled for three-bases but because of a severe charley horse, Wild Bill was only able to hobble to first. The fuse had been lit. Hit after hit rang off the bleacher walls from foul line to foul line. This slashing attack put the skids on the Bullet. The seasoned veterans of the East Ends had shattered the fondest dreams of another youthful pitcher from the sticks.

Spike Harris, however, pitched a masterly game, showing the advantages of long experience and extensive training in the finer points of the game.

Voluntown Beats Noank

At Voluntown on Sunday afternoon the Voluntown team turned back a fast team representing the village of Noank by a score of 12 to 6. The Voluntown boys were never in danger although both pitchers were hit freely, the Voluntown team securing 13 hits while Noank collected 9. The score:

EARTHQUAKE PROOF

By the disaster in Japan and the destruction of the Imperial hotel, there has been put to its worst test a building that was supposed to be proof against earthquakes, or at least it was hoped that it was. A large sum of money and much time was devoted to the construction of this hotel in such manner that it was believed that it would resist such disturbances. No doubt it has gotten much valuable advertising from the claims that have been made in its behalf, and it has withstood many slight quakes, but when put to a real test it yields.

This is not so different from what has resulted in the case of the fire proof building, the nonsinkable ship or the burglar proof safe. Great strides have been made in increasing the protection in every instance, as the result of the study from past experiences, but when it is believed that perfection has been obtained conditions arise which permit of demonstrations to the contrary.

Building a structure that will defy an earthquake is dealing with a big uncertainty. Japan has many seismic disturbances. Some are worse than others and most of them cause little damage, but there is no telling when there will be a severe one or when there will be due the worst of them all, as seems to have been the case last week.

Following the earthquake at San Francisco special construction was resorted to to guard against future quakes. Not only has that city escaped any more such trouble but it is to be sincerely hoped that it has experienced its last, but there can be no certainty that the construction is all that is claimed for it as earthquake proof until it has been put to a real test.

But for its knockout blow the Titanic might still be in service and clinging to the claim of being a nonsinkable ship. Japan has had its test of the earthquake proof building and it has been brought to realize that there is "no such animile."

HIGH SEAS TRADING

Interesting is the story being told by Captain Leonard S. Clare to the English press concerning his experiences as a rum runner and when he declares "there seems to be no limit to the money that can be made by bootlegging," he can probably hear way across the ocean that swelling echo that comes from those who blurt out, "I told you so."

Captain Clare is a man who deals with technicalities and thereby seems to think that he entirely clears his skirts. He says, for instance, in connection with his revelation that he is no smuggler, that he is a legitimate trader, that his market place is the high seas and that he is not a smuggler because, while he admits bringing the liquor which was run into the country, he did not actually enter American waters.

It is interesting reasoning from his standpoint. He stands up so straight that he nearly falls backwards. The inference is that he had never engaged in the liquor trade on the high seas until prohibition was voted in this country. Then he saw a chance to get rich, not by becoming a smuggler, but by making it possible for others to become smugglers. He isn't a smuggler and yet he is aiding and abetting smuggling. He stands in the position of encouraging others and then attempts to look down upon the smugglers as miserable beings but points with pride to himself as a prosperous trader of the high seas, law abiding and honorable. He is sensitive over being thought a smuggler, but he has no scruples against creating such individuals. He is fooling no one but himself. He is that kind of a leader who is worse than those who actually do the dirty work.

ENDORSEMENT OF TREATY

Not only was the make up of the next Irish parliament at stake in the recent election but it was possible to determine by the vote what the sentiment of the people is relative to the Free State and the treaty with Great Britain that brought it about.

In the election of members of the parliament the Free State was in the lead though it failed to obtain a clear majority because of the several parties which entered the field and all of which elected some members. Had the election been on a straight approval or disapproval of the Free State treaty 46 more seats would doubtless have been obtained by the government.

By the announcement of the official figures it is disclosed, however, that the sentiment of the Irish people must be strongly in favor of the Irish Free State. This is revealed by the vote for out of the aggregate of slightly over a million there were 286,000 secured by the republicans while the other parties rolled up a total of 717,000. Though this is the vote of the four parties it is a fact that those parties are all favorable to the Irish Free State so that their vote as expressed in the aggregate indicates the opposition to the idea of following De Valera and setting up a republic.

This is the second time that it has been shown what the sentiment of the Irish peoples. It will carry its influence with some, but it will not deter others from the continuance of the effort for a republic. What these 44 members of the parliament elected by the republicans intend to do about taking their seats now stirs interest.

RELIEF FOR JAPAN

In view of the calamity that has befallen Japan it would be most unusual if that country should not be in need of outside assistance. It was indicated from the first reports that opportunity to aid would be open and the call by President Coolidge for the American people to contribute to a national fund to be devoted to relief work was a natural sequence.

It is in event of a disaster like this that we have occasion again to realize how great an institution the Red Cross is. Organized to deal with just such conditions, and with funds amassed in advance for emergency purpose, it has already appropriated $100,000 that immediate work may be begun. And when it is realized that what is given quickly in such a situation amounts to more than twice as much later on, it brings us to a true view of the value of preparation against disasters which may occur but no one knows when.

That there will be a prompt response to the president's appeal is to be expected. It is a preliminary step in meeting the cry of distress from suffering humanity, and no matter where that comes from it cannot be allowed to go unheeded. Japan has been stricken as never before. It must deal with a serious situation, where there is not only death and desolation, but where earthquakes are continuing to increase the death list, where the rich and the poor have been stricken, where as yet much uncertainty exists in the outside world as just how extensive the wreckage is and how many of the foreign representatives have been included in the toll of death.

With the work promptly and effectively started through the agencies of the Red Cross it can be anticipated with a certainty that the United States will have to furnish all possible relief. It is not the locality where such a calamity visits that determines the response. It is the fact that there is need for it. No doubt can exist upon that point.

STRONG OR A WEAK LEAGUE?

Because of the attitude of Premier Mussolini of Italy it remains to be seen whether Italy is stronger than the league, or vice versa. If any country is to bid defiance to the league, whenever a situation arises in which it is directly concerned, and succeeded in its defiance the league's uselessness has been demonstrated already. If the league can put into operation the restraining influence that it is expected to exert and can deal with problems in a way that will prevent war it has a chance to prove it. And if it is not able to bring a balky member into line those who are watching the effectiveness of this new organization are keen to learn what pressure it is going to bring to bear or what penalty it is going to exact because of such defiance.

Italy's position is that of bad faith with the league, as the situation now stands. It seems to have been desirous of getting all the benefits without relinquishing to the league those duties which it is expected to perform in just such disputes as that which has arisen between Italy and Greece.

If Italy has no faith in the league, doesn't believe in it and doesn't intend to be bound by its limitations it should have so stated a long time ago, instead of waiting until it gets into a tight position and then squeal.

It is indicated by the position which has been taken by the Italian premier that the very existence of the league does not afford all the protection that it was expected to. No one will deny but what Italy is entitled to apology and indemnity. Greece doesn't deny that. It takes exception only to the severity of the Italian demands and desires to have it left to the decision of the league as to what the adjustment shall be. Already Italy has exacted, by the bombardment of Corfu, more lives than were lost when the boundary commission was murdered by unknown outlaws on Greek territory, but possibly by Albanian hands.

EDITORIAL NOTES

School days roll around quite as regularly as do the vacations.

The man on the corner says: How would you like to change places with the traffic officer?

The summer has not a few critics, but it is well known that it is useless trying to satisfy everyone.

There is something about the appeal of the school bell to which many who cannot would like to respond.

Nothing thus far about September creates the impression that the old straw hat must be shelved in a fortnight.

While relations between countries in this hemisphere have improved, they have become much more strained over in Europe.

Back to the city is the cry at the beaches and yet there is awaiting them there one of the most beautiful seasons of the year.

In Illinois last year, $15,000,000 was paid for medicinal whiskey. No proof is available that the health of the state has been improved.

Though they are known to have plenty of faults the operators are the only ones who have stood out the strongest for consideration of the public.

In seeking the sentiment of the public about coal there's little doubt but what he will find, if his ear is close to the ground, that the public is already paying too much.

September's coming turns the thought to the raking of leaves, the ending of the baseball season and the harvesting of crops, to say nothing of school and the melancholy days.

As only 4,430 of the 522,919 immigrants who landed during the last fiscal year settled in Indiana, the Indianapolis News thinks the remainder do not know what they missed. But does Indiana know just what it missed?

YOUR UNCLE SAMUEL'S BUSINESS

"Clouds banked up over there in the east will bring snow," prophesied Jim Calloway to his wife. "Bye, little woman; home late tonight. Got to see Freeman." He stooped to fasten the top buckle of an overshoe, straightened himself to his full six-foot-two, and was off, his feet screeching on the firm-trodden snow.

Letty returned to the grateful warmth of the kitchen, something of the storm cloud's blackness reflected in her heart. She knew the acute humiliation seeing Freeman meant. Last year, waiting in the outer office while Jim went in to pay over the interest so painfully accumulated, she had overheard the smarling rebuke. "Expected something on the principal, 'f a man ain't able to have somethin' in a year's time, somethin's wrong somewheres."

Jim had made no defence, spoken no word of the unexpected and unshared expense of his mother's illness and funeral, but the hurt had lingered in his brown eyes. Returning home they had made a budget and all would have gone well this year but for Babykin's coming. Hospital fees, hired help, slow convalescence—the budget's "savings" column had been depleted.

No doubt Freeman would extend the loan, but he would be ungracious, dour. It was his nature. And Jim, splendid and unselfish himself, loathed asking favors.

Oh, dear, if she had only been lucky enough to win that word contest! She had tried so hard. First prize $5,000! Many other gorgeous prizes! She sighed to remember the weary hours spent combing the dictionary to find words composed of the letters in "Monito," the name of a new hosiery. She had been so sure three months before when she had mailed her list that not one legitimate word had escaped her—so sure that every time that harassed, "money-worry" look came into Jim's eyes she had had all she could do to keep her secret. Even now she was tempted to telephone him to wait just one more day, that there was a chance—

Babykin's good morning coo came to her ears like the factory's whistle does to others'—the call to duty.

Baby bathed, dressed and returned to his crib, was followed by sturdy Junior, six, and merry little Susan Alice, four. Breakfast over, the table cleared and the children established with scissors, paste and bright pictures. Letty hurried nervously through her household tasks. By 10 o'clock the storm clouds had approached nearer and a black and ominous pall covered the sky, lawn and neighboring houses. Half an hour later the air was white with flurrying flakes and Letty and the little ones felt the asolation of those stormbound in the suburbs.

The beds made, the rooms tidied, the fires mended, the children supplied with new entertainment, she seated herself with her sewing in the window that commanded the mail box, as she had done faithfully for a month. What if Mr. McAllister, the letter-carrier, could not make his rounds in the heavy snow. Oh, but he would; he was that conscientious kind, who visualized the United States Postoffice Department as a noble but inexorable employer, whom he referred to as "your Uncle Samuel."

He might be late, but he would surely come. When he did, she would run right down and get the letter. Then she would telephone Jim the glad news, let him guess the amount of her prize, hear him say he'd come home directly after office. She could forecast the relief in his voice as he would add, 'I won't have to see Freeman now."

The morning dragged past. When she went to prepare lunch, she stationed the children in the window. An excited squealing and banging on the windowsill told her the vigil was ended. Lowering the gas under the kettle, she hurried into boots, heavy sweater and cap and floundered down to the mail box.

One glance was enough to assure her it was empty, nor could she find any trace of a letter in the drifts around. It was all she could do to keep the agony out of her face as she returned the children's happy signals.

With feigned cheerfulness she was serving the plates, when a new and truly terrifying thought assailed her. She had never told Jim she had borrowed $5 from the billfold in which he kept his interest money. She had taken it to enclose with her list of "Monito" words to qualify her list for the highest prizes. She rushed upstairs and unlocked the chiffonier drawer. Jim had taken the billfold. She must get word to Jim at all costs. It would never do to have him discover the shortage with old Freeman sneering on.

All efforts to get phone service failed. For one reckless moment she considered taking the children and going into town.

Her nervous abstraction had its effect on the children and the short winter afternoon was hectic in its unhappy confusion.

Again and again she tried the telephone. In fact, she was giving the receiver one last desperate rattle when she heard Jim greeting the children in the kitchen.

'Got a chance to ride up with Phil Bruce. Lucky, too, because no plow was passed and walking's tough. Met poor old man McAllister stumbling along into our street. Apologized all over the place. Doesn't know how, but failed to deliver a letter here. Of course I gave him hang for coming all the way up here for that. I told him he ought to know that we never got mail too important to wait over one delivery, but he made his usual speech about doing business for his 'Uncle Samuel.' Admirable attitude to take towards one's work. Why, Letty, mamma—son, get a glass of water for your mother. Not well, dear?" taking her into his arms. "Something gone wrong?"

"No, very, very RIGHT. Read this."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The appointment of Neville chamberlain as Chancellor of Exchequer will give widespread pleasure to many people of England, especially in Birmingham and the Midlands, where the Chamberlain family has always been popular. Mr. Chamberlain is the second son of the famous Joseph Chamberlain. As a young man he preferred to follow the example of his uncle, Arthur Chamberlain, in adopting a business rather than a political career, and his marked capacity led eventually to his being connected with the largest industrial concern in Birmingham. His powerful influence in the affairs of that city led to his election as Lord Mayor. During the war Mr. Chamberlain served as Director-General of National Service which post gave him opportunity to utilize to the full his already well-proved business capacity. Since then he has been a conspicous figure in English public life.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mt. Monadnock From Connecticut

Mr. Editor: "The Man Who Talks" raises the question in Saturday's Bulletin, as to whether Mt. Monadnock is visible from points in Connecticut. Will say that it can be plainly seen from Bald mountain in the town of Union upon a clear day. Anyone who has seen Monadnock at close range can easily identify it from its shape. Whether it is visible from other points I cannot say but think it is doubtful, as Bald mountain is the highest elevation in this state east of the Connecticut river.

The distance must be considerably less than one hundred miles, as Massachusetts is only about fifty miles wide and Monadnock is but a few miles from the southern boundary of New Hampshire.

Respectfully,
A. B. ROBERTS.

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

Nap In Dog's Kennel

Willie went across the way to play and when he returned his grandmother was asleep. He decided to play some more. He couldn't find his companion, but encountered their dog, who was ready for a romp and away they went. Late in the afternoon he returned home unconscious of the fact that the police and everybody had been searching for him.

He explained that he had played awhile with the dog and then they both got hot and tired, crawled into the dog's kennel and took a "nap."

The Better the Deed!

A neatly dressed young man recently went to the clerk of the hotel and telling him that a woman was dying asked for a Bible in a hurry. The clerk obtained the Bible and the young man made a hasty exit. In a short time the clerk's interest flamed up and he inquired concerning the incident and learning no one had been sick. Now he is trying to figure out what the man, who would resort to such means to procure a Bible, would want with the Bible.

Woman Had Grown Weaker and Weaker Under Constant Care of Physician

"I had a severe break-down. I could neither eat nor sleep and I can truthfully say that I did not touch any solid food in four weeks. I had no appetite and the sight of food sickened me. I was constantly under my Doctor's care and there was not the slightest change in my condition. I grew weaker and weaker. I saw your advertisement in the paper one day and purchased a bottle. I felt the first effects in getting a good night's sleep and then gradually my appetite returned and after taking three bottles I again felt as well as ever. ### Rubbish Fire Calls Firemen.

Shortly before 12.30 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning the fire department received a telephone call from a woman in Greeneville to the effect that she could see the reflection of a fire near by and thought that it might be a house on Central avenue. The firemen immediately responded to the call and on investigation found that the reflection came from a rubbish fire in the rear of 65 Prospect street which had evidently been left burning during the night.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

There is hardly a neighborhood in the United States where women cannot be found who have derived benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this botanic medicine has been overcoming some of the worst forms of female ills. As one woman has been benefited by its use, she has told others, who have used it with the same good results; so the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore, ask your neighbor; let her tell you from experience the benefit which ailing women derive from its use.

RACING MAKES ATTRACTION ON SECOND DAY OF COUNTY FAIR

Four thousand was the official attendance at the New London county fair Tuesday, according to an announcement made Tuesday evening by Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond. This attendance compares very favorably with the average second day attendance in past years. The early morning rain storm that broke shortly before dawn cleared up in time to give the sun a chance to dry off the track which was in excellent shape when the races were called.

The midway was a fairly busy place during the afternoon and many took advantage of the opportunity of inspecting the various agricultural exhibits, poultry show, swine pens, cattle show and floral exhibit while the farm machinery tents, auto show and main hall exhibits received their share of attention from the numerous visitors.

Both the Italian Band and Swahn's Band were on hand during the afternoon, the Italian band giving their concert programme on the main grounds, near the baseball diamond, and Swahn's band providing the concert programme for the grand stand crowds. Swahn's band rendered the music for the half dozen vaudeville acts and gave selections between the heats of the several race events.

The three events on the race card were a 2.25 pace, purse $500, a 2.13 pace, purse $500, and a county race for a purse of $300. The first event run off was the 2.25 pace, with seven starters. Three horses, Princess Volo, John A. Fox, Putnam, Eleanor Wilson, A. S. Roberts, Providence, and Cameron, E. Bates, Preston, were scratched.

Won in Straight Heats.

Winning in three straight heats, Roan Boy, owned by G. M. Rice of Providence, took first money in this race, second money going to Black Thunder, S. L. Turner of Providence, third to Baroness Wilson, John O. Fox, Putnam, and fourth to Doctor C., owned by Charles Capewell of Waterbury. The drivers had trouble getting away for the first heat and were scored a number of times by Starter D. H. Mulcahy of Northampton, Mass. While the horses were scoring Earl Lake broke a hobble and a minute or two later stood up on his hind legs, throwing his driver to the ground and partly under the sulky. The driver was unhurt. Roan Boy took the heat, with Baroness Wilson finishing second and Doctor C. third.

In the second heat Black Thunder spurted and came in second, displacing Baroness Wilson, who had third place for the heat. Black Thunder finished second in the third heat, giving him second money. In this heat Bessie Coastman lost a tire on the home stretch but finished the race in sixth place. Earl Lake was drawn by his owner just before the third heat was called.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|

Wins 2.13 Pace.

Boutwell, owned by Frank D. Whitcomb of Springfield, took first money in the 2.13 pace, second money going to Baron Bell, F. I. Sharea, New Haven, third money to Patsy Chatham, Nelson Fontaine, Taftville, and fourth to Henry R., Albert L. Earyer of Springfield. There were four starters in this event, three horses being withdrawn. The race went four heats. Boutwell finished first in the initial heat but broke on the back stretch in the second heat and lost first place to Baron Bell.

In the third heat Baron Bell got away to a fair lead but couldn't hold it and was passed by Boutwell on the back stretch for an easy win, time of the heat, 2.12 1-4. The fourth heat was uneventful. Boutwell held the lead and finished first, winning the race and first money.

The summary:

Norwich Horse Wins County Race.

There was considerable interest in the county race, 2.35 class, $300 purse, which was won by Natrona, a Norwich horse, F. A. Smith owner. Second money in this race went to Little Boy, another Norwich horse, third money to Peter Agan, 2d, owned by Nelson Fontaine of Taftville, and fourth to Mary W., Arthur C. Williams of Lebanon owner. There were seven starters, the only horse withdrawn being Austin D., owned by F. E. Smith of this city. The race went four heats.

In the first heat Natrona nosed ahead for a slight lead but was overtaken by Little Boy, which took the heat by a small margin, Peter Agan coming in second and Natrona passing the wire for third place in the heat. In the second heat Natrona got the lead and, holding it, won the heat, Little Boy going to second place, displacing Peter Agan, who finished third for the heat.

The third heat was an unfortunate one for Little Boy, which finished second but was placed last by the judges because of foul driving on the part of the driver as the horses were passing the judges' stand at the end of the half mile. Natrona won the heat and the remaining horses were advanced by the judges following the penalizing of Little Boy.

The summary:

Wednesday Race Card.

Speed Secretary Albert J. Bailey announced Tuesday afternoon that the race attractions this (Wednesday) afternoon will be a 2.16 pace with eight entries and a 2.17 trot with ten entries.

Under the capable direction of Edward T. Connelly, the vaudeville artists repeated their attractive numbers for the benefit of the several hundred people on the grand stand and the crowd that thronged the track enclosure.

Balloon Ascension Successful

Shortly after 5.30 o'clock and just before the final heat of the county race had been run off the balloon ascension took place. The balloon took a westerly course over the woods adjoining the fairsgrounds and the airman made three parachute drops in quick succession landing about a mile west of the fairgrounds. The balloon landed in the vicinity of the Wauwecus Hill road.

The free vaudeville numbers will be repeated again this (Wednesday) afternoon, and the balloon ascension which will take place about 5 o'clock will bring the 1922 fair of the New London County Agricultural society to a close.

Boy Scouts Render First Aid.

Four lost children returned to their parents, first aid for several fainting cases and for cuts and bruises received in minor accidents are but part of the valuable services rendered by the Norwich Boy Scouts at their first aid tent on the fairgrounds. Twenty scouts were on duty at the tent and about the grounds Monday and Tuesday and two scouts remained on the grounds over night both days. Dyer Finely Declares Tanlac Is Worth $20 A Bottle.

P. M. DYER

"My only regret is I didn't get Tanlac years ago, for it's made me feel forty years younger," said F. M. Dyer, 206½ Middle St., Portland, Me.

"I am now seventy-six, but I work every day, and when I get off at five I go to town taking in the shows happy like a boy again. But for several years each year seemed to add about ten years to my age. My appetite was poor, everything I ate hurt me, and at times I was so weak I could hardly stand up. I couldn't sleep and many a night I heard the last car go down Middle Street at two o'clock.

"I eat like a farm hand since taking Tanlac, enjoy every mouthful, and everything digests perfectly. I sleep like a log and feel so good I never loaf a minute on the job. Tanlac's worth twenty dollars a bottle."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

DANIELSON

About two score applications of persons who would be made voters were received by the registrars in the first voting district of the town Tuesday, the last opportunity for filing such applications prior to the annual town meeting and election on October 1. Other applications were received in the second and third voting districts, so it is likely that more than half a hundred names will be added to the voting lists this fall. It was noted with special interest here that the majority of the applications filed in this district were those of women.

Thomas Bradford was engaged Tuesday in circulating a petition for signatures of those who are interested in having a clause inserted in the warning for the annual town meeting to see what action the town will take relative to reducing the compensation of the tax collector from one per cent. of what he collects to one-half of one per cent. With this clause inserted in the warning an old issue will be revived and again brought before the voters for consideration. It was recalled Tuesday that when a previous attempt was made to reduce the rate of compensation for the tax collector the effort failed in town meeting.

Tuesday morning the funeral of Henry Billings was held from his home in Dayville, with services at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock. There was a large congregation of relatives and friends. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were Arthur and George Billings, sons of the deceased, and Edmund, Joseph, Adelard and Adelmard, brothers. Louis D. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements. Mr. Billings, 64, died Friday night. He is survived by his wife and several children.

Francis H. McDonald left Tuesday afternoon to enter LaSalette college at Hartford to begin upon a long course of study that will lead to his ordination as a priest of the missionary order of LaSalette. He is in his fourteenth year and is a graduate during the past summer of St. James' parochial school. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald, both deceased, he has made his home with Michael Head and family, his mother's people, since her death a few years ago. He has given exceptional promise as a student. His preparatory and college courses will be completed in Hartford after which, in following the custom in force in LaSalette order, he will go abroad for several additional years of study prior to his ordination.

James Todriff of Framingham, Mass., when presented in the town court Monday morning to plead to a charge that he was operating a motor vehicle recklessly when it collided with a trolley car on North Main street during a thunder shower late Saturday afternoon, asked that the case be continued and this request was allowed Saturday, September 15 being set as the date for the hearing. Todriff represented that he desired to confer with the owner of the car he was driving and who was riding with him when the accident occurred.

At the same session of court Nicholas Farrow of Johnston, R. I., was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to recklessly operating a motor vehicle.

One case in which the accused was charged with having been intoxicated was disposed of at Monday's session of the court.

Those who had charge of and all who were directly interested in the Old Home day program at South Killingly were very well pleased Tuesday in reviewing the success of the Labor day event. Several hundred people gathered at the church and about the grounds and enjoyed every minute of the day's program, especially the formal exercises during the afternoon. More than 400 people were fed at the big clam dinner arranged by King George Jacques of East Killingly, and so good did they find it that not a morsel was left at 3 o'clock.

Many of the visitors were especially interested in the recently opened community house, which was uniformly praised as a great thing for South Killingly and a monument to the fine spirit of cooperation existing among the people of that community.

Taken with the streams of holiday traffic pouring over the new state highway through South Killingly, the special traffic about the church made it necessary to have a traffic officer on duty there, this service being carried out by Constable George Alvord of Danielson.

Hundreds of school children trooped back to their studies in various communities of the town of Killingly Tuesday morning when schools reopened for another year. While no exact figures were available during the day, it was indicated that the registration was heavy and likely to materially exceed the figures for last year.

At St. James' parochial school, where there are several hundred pupils, the opening of a new school year was preceded by a mass attended in St. James' church attended by all the pupils. A branch of St. James school located on Morin avenue in Connecticut village in the northerly section of Danielson, also resumed sessions Tuesday. Only pupils registered in lower grades attend this school.

The passing of Labor day has brought a material change at lakeside and camping resorts in this territory. Where all was life and activity the past week, as throughout the months of July and August, the quiet of fall and winter now prevails. Tents have been hauled down and summer cottages shuttered until another season. Some of the cottages, however, are remaining for at least a part of September.

A revised account is due of an item that appeared in this column Tuesday relative to an automobile accident near a curve at Wilsonville. Ralph Brearley of Dayville driving a new closed car owned by Harry Holdsworth of the same place and Albert J. Jacobs of Webster were the operators of the machines that figured in the accident. Both machines were considerably damaged. Mr. Brearley said Tuesday evening that his car had not reached the curve in the highway when the collision with the other car occurred and that he was not held responsible for the accident by the state police.

Tuesday afternoon, at the home of her parents, in Norwich Sterling, funeral services for Frances Corey, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corey, were conducted by Rev. Harry St. John Filmer, assisted by Rev. Harry GoGodsell, formerly pastor at South Killingly. Mrs. George Pierce and Miss Helen Cole sang Safe in The Arms of Jesus, and Wandering Through the Valley. Burial was in Westfield cemetery, Danielson. The bearers were Carl Anderson and Edwar Anderson, Jr., Elliston Phillips of Boston and Aaron Vial. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Rev. William H. Darbie of Seaford, Del., and his son, J. H. H. Darbie, are visiting Rev. Mr. Darbie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Darbie.

It was announced Tuesday that 10 per cent. of the receipts at the theatre next Monday will be given by the management to Japanese relief. This is the first announcement of the kind in the territory.

Howard A. Elliott of Hartford was in Danielson Tuesday on business connected with the affairs of the domestic animal bureau, of which he is chief special deputy.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bassett and son Earl, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rapp, have returned from a holiday trip through Connecticut and into New York state, where Mrs. Rapp formerly was a resident. Among the points of interest visited was the United States military academy at West Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McManus of Norwood, Mass., have been visitors with friends in Danielson, where Mr. McManus formerly lived.

Some excellent scores have been made of late by those who have engaged in trap shooting at the Rod and Gun club grounds on the West Side. One of the best scores was that made by State Officer A. W. Williams, who broke 97 out of 100 birds.

Cooler weather will bring a revival of boxing activities in Danielson and there is prospect of some interesting matches in the near future.

Louis Gross in charge of the local lines of the Connecticut company, has returned to his duties after a vacation.

News dealers in Danielson and in other territory hereabouts should not be held accountable for late deliveries of The Bulletin on Tuesday. No papers were received here on the early morning train and did not arrive until nearly 9 a. m. As schools were opening delivery boys in many cases could not cover their routes until afternoon.

PUTNAM

Tuesday morning's doing in the city court, insofar as the amount of business on hand was concerned, approximated what theatrical announcements would describe as a special triple feature bill, or something like that. There were fourteen cases awaiting consideration by Judge Geissler.

Breaches of the motor vehicle laws, assaults, damage to private property, intoxication, breach of the peace, violation of the liquor laws and sundry other accusations were listed against those whose cases awaited consideration. It was evident that the holiday period had been one of more or less turbulence for numbers of citizens.

Of special interest was the case of Frank Smerzo of Webster. Smerzo created a tumult just before one o'clock Tuesday morning when he smashed in a big plate glass window on the Front street side of the Bugbee and Wulf store. Prior to this sensational stunt he had been seen praying before an electric sign over the entrance of a Main street drug store and he had been doing other things to indicate that all was not normal with him mentally. It later developed that he had been drinking white spike during the holiday period and had been without food for three days.

Lack of eats didn't seem to weaken him much physically, however. Having kicked out and tore out large sections of plate glass from the store window he entered and tore away a wooden fixture from the interior of the window and using that as a club smashed in some more of the glass and also pounded the sidewalk with the weapon.

The commotion he was creating quickly drew a small crowd and some one telephoned for the police. Captain Jarvais, Sergeant Laird and Patrolman Gibney responded. When they arrived Smerzo made a dash for Captain Jarvais and the captain started a counter rush for Smerzo. As they clashed the agile captain tripped Smerzo and as the latter stumbled he swung at the officer with his club, striking him a glancing blow.

Smerzo put up a wicked fight before he was finally subdued in a rough and tumble in which citizens assisted the officers and which concluded with about half a dozen men parked on the prostrate form of Smerzo. Lodged at the police station the prisoner held he had no remembrance of what occurred. He raged and tore about his cell all night, beating upon the steel sides and door of the enclosure and shrieking and moaning. He was in such a wild condition at time for court that he could not be presented and eventually a physician had to be summoned to administer a hypodermic. It was stated later that Webster officials would be asked to take charge of Smerzo, whose condition was regarded as more or less serious, mentally.

Iusebe Chauvin, also hailing from Webster, figured importantly in a financial way in Tuesday's court session. He was charged with operating a motor car bearing a Michigan registration and while he was under the influence of liquor, with operating without a license, with driving recklessly and with trying to evade responsibility after his machine figured in a crash with another driven by Joseph Walsh of this city. The court assessments in this case amounted to $175 and costs and in addition, and outside the court, Chauvin is understood to have adjusted matters with Walsh by paying his $200. The car Chauvin was driving is said to be the property of Charles Barnes of Flint, Mich., who rencently came to Webster to work in a garage.

As the result of an affair in which he became involved on Labor Day, Patsy Corelli of this city will be returned to the state prison at Wethersfield, from which institution he was on parole. Corelli, alleged aggressor in a controversy with Frank Rogg, was considerable cup up when a knife which it is alleged he drew to attack Rogg was taken away from him by the latter. In trying to regain possession of the knife, which Rogg set out to destroy, Corelli received his wounds. Corelli is the man who was sent to state prison from the superior court of this county for having made a felonious assault on Captain John Murray, a railroad police officer, who accosted Corelli and another man one night in the local railroad yeard and attempted to arrest them for stealing a bag of chickens. Captain Murray was struck on the head with a hammer and required hospital treatment for his injuries.

Corelli's case was not taken up in the local court, but the state prison authorities communicated with and, at their request, Corelli will be sent back to Wethersfield.

Joseph Variour, a Danielsen man was among those penalized for violation of the motor vehicle laws. He was fined $100 and costs for operating a motor vehicle while he was under the influence of liquor.

Joseph Alley, for failing to heed the warning of an officer that he could not leave his motorcycle unattended with the motor in operation while he went to do an errand appeared in court and paid a fine of $5 and costs, a total of $17.14, for his failure to obey.

Walidyslaw Drag, charged with reckless operation of a motorcycle, had his case placed on file. He was fined one dollar and costs, a total of $12.14, for using the muffler on his motorcycle. Drag drove his machine through Providence street at high speed as a congregation was coming out of St. Mary's church.

James Donning, charged with having been intoxicated, was placed in charge of the probation officer for a period of six months. The case of Frank Hogg, involved in the affair of Patsy Corelli, also was placed on file, Rogg paying the costs. Joseph Cotnoir of this city, charged with having been intoxicated, did not appear in court, forfeiting a bond of $35. Frank Bruno, who said he came from Attawaugan about two weeks ago, was in to face an intoxication charge. He explained that he met some friends from Ballouville and that there was what might be termed an Old Home day reunion. A fine of $20 and costs was imposed. Philip Gadbourey, charged with having been intoxicated, also was fined $20 and costs.

Philip Beaudets, charged with a violation of the liquor law, and his wife, Aura, charged with resisting an officer, had their cases continued until next Monday as did Joseph L. Richards, also charged with a violation of the liquor laws.

Representatives of Hoggson Brothers of New York are expected to close the arrangements for the construction of the new building for the Putnam Savings bank. Start of the work on this fine new building will not be long delayed, for it is intended that it shall be closed in before real cold weather comes.

The new bank building to be located on the site where the St. Onge block stood on Main street will be two stories in height and of red tapestry brick with marble trimmings. It will afford spacious quarters for the bank and there will also be a store at the south end. On the second floor there will be nine offices.

Hoggson Brothers, specialists in bank construction, not only will put up the building, but equip it to the last detail, supplying the vaults, furnishings and even the minor equipment for office work. The structure will be complete and ready for occupancy about April 1 next.

Messers. Hyde Smith and Jacob Alpert of the S-A corporation, operating theatres in this city, where they have the Bradley and the Victory, the Orpheum at Danielson and the Palace at Rockville, announced Tuesday that they will donate 10 per cent. of their receipts next Monday to a Japanese relief fund. It is asserted that this is an entirely unsolicited benevolence and that Messers. Smith and Alpert have made the arrangement on their own initiative, being the first in all this territory to come forward in aid of the sorely stricken people of the Japanese cities recently involved in such a tremendous disaster.

This (Wednesday) morning brings the opening of another school year for the pupils in the public graded schools of the town of Putnam. Tuesday the teaching forces of the town were assembling to take up their duties. It is anticipated that there will be increased registration this year, but it so happens that an addition to the Israel Putnam school will afford the necessary increased accommodations.

The next few days will bring party caucuses at which candidates for town offices in Putnam will be nominated by the republicans and democrats. There was indication Tuesday that some contests for the nominations will develop.

Several attorneys from this city were at Willimantic Tuesday for the opening session of the September term of the Windham county superior court.

Attorney Arthur S. Macdonald and Henry Wheelock will leave today (Wednesday) for a motor trip to Portland, Me.

Under a new arrangement, the September term of court is being held this year in Willimantic and there are no sessions here, for the first time in September in many years.

Fannie Higgins and Wilson A. Baker, both of this city, were united in marriage here Tuesday by Attorney Arthur S. Macdonald, a justice of the peace.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A very fine week-end bill is scheduled at the Strand Theatre composed of Keith Vaudeville and a fine photoplay.

The acts are as follows:—An old favorite of vaudeville, Charles B. Lawler, writer of the famous song "The Sidewalks of New York" assisted by Miss Alice Lawler in a new skit by Paul Gerard Smith; Pozo Fox and Leon Miller "Two Broadway Idlers"; Nicholas Casa & Elise Lehn in "A Terpsichorean Fantasy; and The Bramivs, European Novelty Musical Artists.

Katherine McDonald, who will appear at the Strand Theatre on Thursday in her newest offering, "Refuge," a First National attraction produced by B. P. Schulberg, does not go in for "flapper stuff," although she does not disapprove of it.

Breed Theatre

Tom Mix is in a new kind of picture: that is a new kind for him. It is described as the story of a modern Ivanhoe. Tom portrays the character of a cowboy who reads "Ivanhoe" and fancies himself to be a modern knight who has set forth to rescue his fair lady. There are armor and broadswords and many brave imaginings. The girl is imbued with similar thoughts, caring more for the tales of King Arthur than she does for modern fiction.

The Fox star is said to have surpassed himself in this latest screen effort. It is called "Romance Land" and will be shown at the Breed Theatre today and Thursday. For the second feature Lupino Lane will be seen in "A Friendly Husband" a super-comedy in five reels and Movie Chats will complete the bill.

Turn on Electric Lights in Your Home.

"Ready to turn on the lights!" that, it is declared, is the thought back of the new Installed Price Plan of selling Delco-Light, the well-known farm electric plant, which the Company has just announced.

The announcement of this plan is especially directed to those who live in farm homes, is is stated. "We want to make it easy for the former to have electricity in his home, and to know beforehand, just what the whole thing will cost him," declared officials of the Delco-Light Company, in response to questioning about this remarkable plan.

Briefly stated, the plan is to furnish a standard model Delco-Light plant and storage battery, to install it complete, wire the house for ten lights, put in ten drop lights, complete even to the electric bulbs in the sockets, in short to furnish a complete Delco-Light installation, "Ready to turn on the lights," as stated above.

Low prices are assured, on all models and, in addition, financing of the puschase is taken care of, where necessary by an easy payment plan which calls for only a small cash payment. The Delco-Light Co. is well-known for its efforts at spreading the benefits of electricity in the country, and many thousands of farm homes today know what these benefits are, thanks to kindly influence of these widely known Delco-Light plants. It is safe to predict, with the aid of a plan like this and with so many thousands able to enjoy the advantages of electricity, accordingly, that great numbers will take advantage of the opportunity which the Delco-Light Company offers, to buy their own Delco-Light plants this fall and in the other thousand who are already enjoying this modern convenience.

In London they were discussing advertising. "Great stuff, these electric signs on Broadway," said the Yankee. "They've got one advertising Wrigley's gum, runs a whole block, 250,000 electric bulbs."

"How many?" cried the astonished Londoner.

"Two hundred and fifty thousand," answered the Yankee.

FAMOUS PLAYS AND PLAYERS AT BREED THIS SEASON

Manager J. Zoghby of the Breed Theatre announces that he will bring to his patronage the thirty-five splendid Metro productions for the 1923-24 season wghich will be released in the Fall.

The decided feature of the Fall releases is "Scaramouche" said by critics to be greater than "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," and which reveals the directorial genius of Rex Ingram to phenomonal advantage. Metro has amassed its greatest dramatic talent for this spectacular photodrama, and Alice Terry, Ramon Novarro, Lewis Stone and others who have won fame under the Metro banne will be found in "Scaramouche's" personnel. "Scaramouche" was written by Rafael Sabatini and adapted to the screen by Willis Goldbeck. John F. Seitz was the cameraman.

Included in the stars appearing in these productions are Wilkie Coogan, screenland's wonder child, Peppery Mae Murray, the dainty Viola Dana and the sober and hilarious Buster Keaton. Manager Zoghby also says Fred Niblo, Reginald Barker and Allen Holubar have directed a number of big specials which will be presented with notable casts.

The 1923-24 releases of the Metro Picture Corporation are the most ambitious ever attempted by a producing company and include the last word in cinema development. Direction and artistry have been blended with infinite care in these pictures and they have all the elements designed for the entertainment of the motion picture public in Norwich.

Jackie Coogan will be seen in "Long Live the King," "A Dog of Flanders" by Louise de La Rame (Ouida), and a picture as yet unnamed. "The Darling Boy" of the films is said to surpass anything he previously has done and his work in these films stamps him as one of America's leading motion picture artists. "Long Live the King" was adapted from Mary Roberts Rinehart's novel by C. Gardner Sullivan and Eva Unsell. Victor Schertzinger is the director and Frank Good and Robert Martin are the cameramen. J. J. Hughes is art director and William Van Brincken is research director. Jack Coogan, Sr., personally supervised the production.

In the group of pictures presenting Mae Murray will be found "The French Doll," "Fashion Row" and "Mademoiselle Midnight," presented by Robert Z. Leonard and sponsored by Tiffany Productions. "The French Doll" is based upon A. E. Thomas' English adaptation of the French play by Paul Armont and Marcel Gerbidon. Frances Marion adapted it to the screen and Oliver T. Marsh was the cameraman. Cedric Gibbons was Art director.

Viola Dana is most generous in her work and has ready for release five delightful features: "Rouged Lips," "The Social Code," "In Search of a Thrill," "Stormy Hearts" and "Love and Lies." "Rouged Lips" is from the story, "Upstage" by Rita Wieman adapted to the screen by Thomas J. Hopkins. Harold Shaw was the director. "The Social Code" was adapted to the screen by Rex Taylor from the story "To Whom It May Concern" by Rita Weiman. Oscar Apfel was the director and John Arnold was the cameraman.

Buster Keaton's roaring vehicles will be headed by "Three Ages" while his second will be "Hospitality." His third is as yet unnamed. Joseph M. Schenck presents the Keaton comedies through Metro. Keaton and Eddie Cline directed the "Three Ages" from the story by Jean Haves, Joe Mitchell and Clyde Bruckman. William McGann and Elgin Lessly photographed the production and Fred Gabourj was art director.

Laurette Taylor, remembered by all who saw her in "Peg O' My Heart," contributes "Happiness" and "A Night in Rome," both by J. Hartley Manners, to the unparalleled seasonal output. Her intense appreciation of the emotional is paramount in the productions and she is supported by casts which set off her talents in a most pleasing fashion. J. Hartley Manners presents Miss Taylor's productions through Metro.

Louis B. Mayer presents three Fred Niblo productions, "Strangers of the Night," "Man, Woman and Temptation" and "Thy Name Is Woman." "Strangers of the Night," was adapted from the stage play "Captain Applejack" written by Walter Hackett. Bess Meredyth wrote the scenario and Alvin Wyckoff was cameraman. Robert Ellis was Art director. The cast includes Matt Moore, Enid Bennett, Barbara La Marr and Robert McKim.

Louis B. Mayer also presents "The Eternal Struggle," "Pleasure Mad" and "Women Who Wait," three Reginald Barker productions. "The Eternal Struggle" is a screen version of G. B. Lancaster's novel. "The Law-Bringers" adapted by Monte M. Katterjohn.

Allen Holubar has directed "The Human Mill." "Life's Highway" and "Robes of Redemption" for Metro. "The Human Mill" is a screen version of John Trotwood Moore's famous novel. "The Bishop of Cottontown."

Among the all-star attractions the "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," a screen version of the story by Robert W. Service; "The Uninvited Guest" by Curtis Benton, produced by J. K. Williamson, an undersea picture partly in colors, directed by Ralph Ince; "The Eagle's Feather" adapted to the screen by Winifred Dunn from a story by Katherin Newlin Burt, and directed by Edward Sloman, with George Bisard behind the camera, and J. J. Hughes as Art director; "Held to Answer" adapted by Winifred Dunn from Peter Clark MacFarlane's famous story, directed by Harold Shaw with Andre Barlatier as cameraman, and J. J. Hughes as Art director; "Desire" a Louis Burston production from an original story by John B. Clymer and Henry R. Symonds, directed by Rowland V. Lee and photographed by George Barnes with J. J. Hughes as Art director; "The Living Past" by William J. Locke; "The Book of Fate" and "Borrowed Plumage."

MARKET RETROACTIVE.

New York, Sept. 4.—Today's moderate reaction in the stock market was generally attributed to the Japanese disaster. Other contributing influences were cabled reports stating that Italy had challenged the League of Nations' authority to intervene in its dispute with Greecee. The suspension of hard coal mining and relatively firm money rates.

The chief reflection of the earthquake was found in the bond market, City of Tokio 5s dropping 10 points and the Japanese government issues 1 to 3 points, but all recovering part of their losses before the close.

Wall street was considerably encouraged by reports that American insurance companies would incur no such heavy losses as they experienced in the San Francisco disaster in 1906 when they were unprotected by exemption clauses covering direct and indirect losses from earthquake damage. The market therefore will not have to absorb any such load of securities as were thrown upon it after the San Francisco fire.

While American losses in Japan undoubtedly will be great, it was pointed out today that many companies are bound to profit by the increased demand for materials needed in reconstruction work.

Among the active industrial issues losses of 1 to 3 points were recorded by Baldwin Locomotive, American Can, Gulf States Steel, American Smelting, Bethlehem Steel and Beechnut Packing.

Davison Chemical gave another erratic performance, opening unchanged at 36, dropping to 35 1-2 and then, spurting to 42 1-2 for a net gain of 6 1-2 points on the day.

Favorable trade and industrial developments during the ay included the raising of the annual dividend rate on Mack Trucks from $4 to $6, publication of a report of the Hayes Wheel Company showing net earnings of over $1,200,000 in the first eight months of this year as against $1,346,000 in the entire year 1922 and the declaration of an extra dividend of 2 per cent. by the National City Company.

Stock of the Canadian Pacific railroad, which has large property interests in the Orient, dropped 1 3-4 points. Other rails also were heavy, losses of a point or more being established by Union Pacific, New York Central, Chesapeake, Ohio, St. Paul common and preferred, Chicago Northwestern and several others.

Call money ruled steady at 3 1-4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Demand sterling touched a new bottom for the year at $4.53, off 1-4 cents, and German marks sold as low as 6 3-4 cents a million. Scandinavian exchanges were heavy and Spanish pesetas dropped 11 1-2 points to 13-35 1-2 cents, but only nominal changes took place in other European currencies.

Although all the employes of the office, the salesrooms and warehouses were welcomed much of the credit was due for the big success of the trip, entertainment, recreation, etc. to the young women of the office who had this in charge.

CRIMINAL COURT OPENS TERM WITH 21 NEW CASES ON DOCKET

With 21 new cases on the docket, the September criminal term of the superior court opened here Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, standard time, Judge Allyn L. Brown of this city occupying the bench. After Deputy Sheriff George H. Stanton had cried the opening of court, prayer was offered by Rev. G. H. Bailey of Norwich Town.

Ten prisoners were in the pen, seven coming from the New London jail and three from the Norwich jail, in charge of Sheriff Sidney A. Brown and his deputies. One of the prisoners walked on crutches and three wore sailors' uniforms.

State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull presented the cases for the state and Public Defender Charles L. Stewart appeared for several of the accused.

Nolle in Forgery Case

The first case taken up was that against Leo Barr of Montville, who walks on crutches, and was accused of forgery of a check for $56.21. Public Defender Stewart made a brief statement for Barr, asking for a nolle and saying that the man had been in jail for two months and that restitution had been made. John A. Ferguson of this city, to whom the check was presented, stated to the court that he did not desire prosecution of Barr and State Attorney Hull did not oppose the nolle which Judge Brown directed should be entered.

Accused Put to Plea

The following were put to plea and in each case the accused was called upon to elect whether to be tried by the court or by jury.

On Manslaughter Charge

Joseph Contino, statutory manslaughter in causing the death of John Longo of New London, when Longo was thrown out of Contino's automobile on May 20 at New London. The machine hit a tree and Longo died on June 1 from the injuries he received. The charge is made that Contino was under the influence of liquor when driving the machine. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury.

Gus Corey, theft on July 1, at New London of automobile, worth $2,000 belonging to Simon M. Atkins, pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the court.

Charged With Blackmail

Sarah and Cecil Delmar, colored, blackmail on Grace Fauntroy at Groton on July 25 in alleging that they had information of her illegal dispensing of liquor and threatening her with fatal results unless she sent them $50; pleaded not guilty and elected for court trial.

Michael Machrino, violation of liquor law at New London on August 9. July 1 and August 31, pleaded not guilty and chose jury trial.

With Intent to Murder

Augusto Pelligrini, assault with intent to murder Leo and Nettie Bartolucci at New London on July 9, by stabbing and cutting them with a knife and shooting a pistol at them, pleaded not guilty and elected jury trial.

May Oddo Gammona, assault and battery on her daughter, Constance Gammons, at New London, on July 10, June 1, June 20, Aug. 10 and Aug. 15, pleaded not guilty and chose trial by jury.

Nolle on Theft Charge

Benjamin Spak, theft in Norwich on Aug. 20 of a $20 watch and $135 in money from Tony Lavindeski of 381 West Main street, pleaded not guilty and elected court trial.

Public Defender Stewart appeared for Spak and in the afternoon session of the court, the case against the man was nolled. It was represented to the court that Spak and several man who were with Lavindeski were all very drunk and there was considerable doubt as to who really took the money and the watch.

When the case on the docket against Louis Wyoutzky of New London, charged with assault with intent to murder, was reached, the state attorney informed the court that the man was dead. He hung himself in the New London jail on the day he was arrested about a month ago.

Sabotage Charge Before Court

Ernest Schleifer was presented before the court on the charge of sabotage in connection with a railroad strike at New London last fall. The complaint alleged that in an address at New London on Nov. 22, 1922, Schleifer incited to murder, robbery, assault with intent to murder and other crimes, advising the men he was addressing to use lead pipe on the scabs, to put sand in the journals of the locomotives, get the engines off the irons and use other means to show the railroad officials they were not laying down.

Schleifer pleaded not guilty and chose trial by jury. A New Haven attorney appeared for him and stated that Attorney Slade who is to represent Schleifer is now on his way back from Europe and will probably be here before this term of court adjourns. The court gave Schleifer the privilege of changing his election for trial if he should desire to do so after seeing Mr. Slade. Schleifer is out on bonds.

Afternoon Session

The morning session of court was adjourned at 11 o'clock and court came in again at 1 o'clock, concluding its business at 2.15 and adjourning to the next morning at 10.

Joseph Flinchum, 18, a sailor who has been nine months in the navy and whose home is in North Carolina, was sentenced to the state reformatory on the charge of statutory rape upon Alice Gurnin, 15, of New London. The crime was committed in Norwich on June 5. The sailor and the girl travelled around to several other cities together. Attorney Clayton B. Smith addressed the court on behalf of the accused.

Bigamy Case Presented

Edward A. S. Kangesier, 25, a sailor, pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy on which he was before the court. He is charged with marrying Irene Cyphers at New London on Oct. 8, 1921, and marrying Lillian Elliott at New London April 30, 1923. Attorney G. C. Morgan made a statement to the court for Kangesier and asked for leniency and probation for the man. The attorney said he officiated at the first marriage of Kangesier. The woman the sailor married was a magazine saleswoman at the time and she left Kangesier the morning after they were married and has not been back to him since. This spring she was committed to the state farm for women, having been living an immoral life in the western part of the state. Attorney Morgan argued that the second wife, who is a woman of fine character, is the one who has been most wronged by the sailor's course of conduct but she is sticking by him and wants to have the situation cleared up and the second marriage made legal. The man has an excellent record in the navy and will complete his second enlistment on Oct. 19. He is attached to the Portsmouth navy yard.

State Attorney Hull opposed probation, arguing that this would flout the law.

Judge Brown deferred pronouncing sentence until Wednesday morning, but remarked he thought the man ought to be punished.

Sebastian Muscarella pleaded not guilty to violation of the liquor law in New London on Aug. 17 nad from July 1 to Aug. 31. He elected to be tried by jury.

With Baby In Arms

Mrs. Helen Petrofsky of New London stood before the court with her small baby in her arms when she pleaded not guilty to the charge of offering a bribe of $10 to Sergt. Nelson Smith of the New London police force on Aug. 31. Later she changed her plea to guilty. Attorney Smith explained to the court that the woman has a family of three children and that the officers raided her place on a search warrant for liquor, but found nothing, which made the absurdity of offering a bribe the more evident. The officers ransacked the house thoroughly and he thought the woman was so ashamed to have them prying everywhere that she offered the money to get them away.

Major Hull remarked that the woman came from a country where bribery was not looked upon as a very serious offense and he thought a suspended sentence might suit the case. Judge Brown fined Mrs. Perofsky $25 and costs with six months jail sentence which is suspended and she is placed in the custody of the probation officer.

Harry E. French, 36, a sailor, pleaded not guilty on the charge of rape upon Catherine Shea, 9, at New London on Aug. 27. He chose trial by the court.

TAFTVILLE

The Jolly Ten held their annual clambake Sunday at the Naturalization club. The forenoon menu included sandwiches, fried eels, clam chowder, soda crackers, brown and white bread with butter, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, sliced beets in vinegar and lettuce. In the afternoon Chef "Chee" Benoit, assisted by brother members served a delicious bake. About 150 guests enjoyed the club's hospitality. Bill White's orchestra of six pieces rendered music throughout the day and vocal selections were rendered by Prosper Lurette, who sang his favorite song entitled "If I'm not at the roll call, kiss her goodbye for me." Ovilard Bouchard sang amid great applause "Kiss Me, I'm Happy," and Joseph Chase recited "I was born on top of Kannady, but give me the good old U. S. A." After voting the clambake the greatest success of the season, all went home, carrying more weight than ever.

One of the jolliest of the summer events was the annual picnic of Council Gagnon, No. 208, Union St. Jean Baptiste, held Monday at the Naturalization club. The races and sporting events were interesting and the results were as follows: Potato race for men, Joseph Tellier first, H. Rousseau second; potato race for women, Rose A. Legare first, Mrs. Arthur Roy second; shoe race, Joseph Lemire first, Adolph Beaudoin second; egg race for men, George Davis first, Adoiph Beaudoin second; egg race for women, Marie St. Amour first, Cecile Legare second; bag race, Joseph Lemire first, Ad. Beaudoin second; three-legged race, Wilfred Bibeau and Joseph Snow first, Augustin Beausejour and Adolph Beaudoin second; 100 yard dash, Joseph Snow first; Marius Reguin second; 50 yard dash for ladies, Rose A. Legare first, Marie B. Lamire second, Mrs. Augustin Beausejour third and Cecile Legare fourth; fat man's race, Napoleon Parent first, Omer Tellier, Sr., second; tug of war—winners, Mrs. George Couture, Mrs. Arthur Roy, Miss Marie Auger, Miss Bernadette Benoit, Mrs. Marie Racine; tug of war for men—won by the single men; anchor, Arthur Proulx, L. Archambeult, Joseph Tellier, Wilfred Tellier, Arthur Tellier. The judges for the contests were Eusebe E. Prunier of Norwich, Joseph C. Marsan, David Lambert and Louis A. Paquette of Taftville. Dancing concluded the enjoyable program.

The Lynn Telegram news article describes the fire at Revere Beach, when the Elizabeth cottage, No. 400 Ocean avenue, was burned Tuesday morning. Thirty of the guests were driven to the street in their night clothes. Samuel Armitage of Taftville and Miss Dorothy Morall, Lawrence, boarders, who rushed through the house and awakened the sleeping occupants, probably saved some of the guests from suffocation or possible death.

NEW LONDON'S TENTATIVE BUDGET SHOWS AN INCREASE OF $5,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 4.—Annie Sharkey, widow of Matthew McNamara, died Sunday at her summer residence 35 Neptune avenue, where she had been a resident the greater part of the summer and during which time her health had been impaired. Mrs. McNamara is survived by a son, Tyler McNamara of Bridgeport, two daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Reilly and Miss June McNamara of New London and a sister, Mary Sharkey of No. 677 Main street. Burial is to be in Norwich.

Charles Pinkham, a cook of the tug Hercules of the fleet of tug boats of the Merritt-Chapman-Scott Wrecking company, died at Lawrence hospital this morning. Mr. Pinkham had been a medical patient at the institution since August 29th. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lena A. Brown of Augusta, Me., to which city the body will be forwarded for the funeral and burial.

Two new fire alarm boxes were installed Tuesday by Chief Charles Rose, box 291 on Broad street, opposite Cedar Grove cemetery and No. 467 at the corner of Shaw and Steward streets.

Mrs. Francis Hahn of Williams street, Mrs. Theresa Fiore, Westerly, Mrs. Arthur Simpson and infant daughter, Connecticut avenue, Mrs. Frank Keegan and infant daughter, Summer street, Charles Rice, Montauk avenue, Mrs. Warren Rogers, Lyme, Mrs. Lucy Corcoran, Montauk avenue, Mrs. Ercale Moreno, Westerly, Miss Ellen Fahey, New York, Mrs. Annie Wilcox, Groton, Mrs. Henry Mcinnich, Montauk avenue, Mrs. Justin Denison, West Mystic, Mrs. James Smith, Mystic and Miss Mary Nostrand of Huntington street, were patients discharged today at Lawrence hospital.

Edward May, employed in New York, has returned having spent a fortnight with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. May.

Mrs. Ella Howard of Cliff street was taken into custody early this morning by Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman George Laboue on a technical charge of breach of the peace; it was believed that the woman was of unsound mind and not responsible for her actions. Mrs. Howard went to the residence of her son-in-law, Paul Winslow of Willetts avenue extension and created such a disturbance by her violence that the police were summoned. This morning two physicians examined Mrs. Howard to determine her mentality and pronounced her sane. The verdict of the physicians resulted in the woman being released from custody.

The conviction of liquor toters and makers is not an easy matter, for it takes evidence to decide the guilt or innocence of parties accused. Tony Longo, a taxicab driver, was before the police court this morning, accused of having liquor in his car and with having a purpose to sell that liquor. He was grabbed yesterday afternoon early by Police Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Philopena.

The two sailors who were in the taxi did not appear in court as ordered, so there was no evidence against Longo except that of the officers. They told their story as already narrated in The Bulletin and Longo denied that the liquor was his or that he knew it was in the car. He said the sailors had a package when they hired him, but he did not ask what was in it any more than he would ask any patron what was in a bundle taken into the cab. He said he bought the ginger ale for the sailors, they paid for it and he went to the pool room to get a bottle opener, as he had none and the sailors were willing to buy one. He denied that the liquor was his and said he made the same denial in the presence of the sailors and they did not contradict him. He was acquitted.

Mazie Williams, colored, appeared under the name of Mary Downey. She was charged with having kept a place where liquor was sold. She was not ready to proceed with the trial and the case was put over to Saturday, Mary giving a bond of $500 to appear then. She was convicted of keeping a vile place on Hill street yesterday and was fined $100, which she paid. Then the officers who arrested her on that charge went to the house with a search warrant and found liquor in the attic.

Abraham Scott, colored, was fined $200 for selling liquor at a place on Main street. He said he was just on duty for the owner of the place, who was in Norwich at the county fair.

Estelle Gifford and a sailor from the ship Camden were in the place and did not attempt, when found in a room together, to declare that they were not husband and wife. They were accoped in and accused of being persons of lascivious character. The woman was given a chance to get out of town and the sailor to go aboard the ship with instructions not to be caught in the same mess again. The case was continued a month that the promises of the pair might be tested.

David Jacobi got into the police net when it was dragged through the place and he was accused of being an associate in the business carried on there, later disclosures showed that he was in no way interested and he was dicharged.

At the city council meeting this evening, after the appointment of William A. Holt city manager, at a salary of $5,000, the tentative budget for the coming year was submitted to the council for consideration. It shows an increase in expenditures of about $5,000.

A deed granting title in land between Montaug and Pequot avenues from B. A. and Elizabeth Armstrong for the opening of a new street was accepted and ordered recored.

The Connecticut Power Company sought the privilege of trimming trees at Riverside park on Williams street, Grove street and Mohegan avenues, in order that lights may be put in at the sections where there has been a demand for them. The city manager was given the matter to decide. Sewers were asked for and sidewalks, too, in a couple of instances.

A petition to change the name of Clark lane to Blackhall court aroused considerable discussion when it was disclosed that the city had no right to apply a name to private property and when it also was shown that the owners of the real estate there might call the court or lane by any name they saw fit and nobody could say.

Capt. Frank D. Berrien, commandant at the Submarine Base for several years, relinquished command there this afternoon because of his recent transfer to Constantinople. Capt. Ernest King, U. S. N., until today master of the submarine tender Savanah, is Capt. Berrien's successor at the base, taking over the duties of the command this afternoon. Tomorrow evening the officers at the base and officers of ships in the harbor will tender Captain and Mrs. Berrien a farewell reception, dinner and dance at Oswegatchie.

It is alleged that Ferri was experimenting with alcohol when the alcohol became ablaze setting fire to the child's clothing.

HAY FEVER CONQUERED IN 24 HOURS THROUGH NEW PRESCRIPTION

Complete Relief From Every Symptom Guaranteed—Test Free

A wonderful new prescription for Hay Fever, perfected by Dr. H. G. Platt, of the Clinical Laboratories, Cleveland, Ohio, is performing seeming miracles in the severest hay fever cases.

This new prescription, known as Dr. Platt's Rinex Prescription, was carefully tested in over 2,000 acute cases before it was offered to the public. Ninety-five per cent. of these cases were completely relieved in 24 hours or less. And the Laboratories now guarantee complete relief in 24 hours to every hay fever sufferer or the test is free.

It makes no difference where you live, or how long you have had hay fever, or how severe are your attacks—Rinex is positively guaranteed to relieve you completely. Moreover it contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs, and has no bad after effects. The regular size package is now obtainable at good drug stores everywhere for only $1. But if after using the prescription for just 24 hours, all your hay fever torments have not completely vanished, take the package back and your money will be instantly refunded.

You can have a 24-hour trial package Free by making a written request to The Clinical Laboratories, Cleveland, Ohio. But you take no risk in buying the $1.00 package direct from your drug store because, if the treatment does not help you in 24 hours, the druggist will promptly refund your dollar.

Rinex costs you absolutely nothing if results do not show in 24 hours. Incidentally, it is sold under the same positive money-back guarantee to completely relieve Asthma and Catarrh. ## POETRY

HILL HOME.

I have grown weary of this tangled land;
Sick of the low horizon line that draws
Like a great somber river's sick to sands
Of rose and laurel, eucalyptus, palm,
Brooding in lavish sweetness. I am mad
For the harsh glory of my own far hills
And the stern peacefulness of home.

They do not have sunrise or sunset here;
Rather the shameful day slinks cowering in
Over gray wastes of waters and gray land.
Under a muted, melancholy sky,
And never does it burn away in one
Swift, splendid burst of sanctifying flame
As day once did, but shameless greets the past
Under the mantle of the leper fog,
To the dull sunset of a starless night.

O, God—for splendid spaces in the dawn—
For glimmering vistas—for the wind that swings
Tumultuously in from starry distances—
For the white beauty of a hill horizon—
For the tempestuous magic of a sky
Torn into shreds of fire—and for the hush
Of aspen leaves black on an amber heaven—
For all the mighty pageantries of day
That made life epic large. I am athirst.
They have been music in my memory;
They will go echoing with me till I come Home to my hills.

Feet that have trodden granite
Can never be content with milder ways.
Eyes that have held high converse with the stars
Cannot be tamed to blinking servitude
In molelike burrows. Hearts that have followed the wind
Beat with a winged insurgence till they spur
The timorous flesh to skyward trails again.

And mine tonight is wild with all rebellion;
Blind to all other beauty—hungering only
For hill horizons and a coyote moon—
Sage in my nostrils—milling, maverick stars—
And then the flame clad riders of the dawn
—Ted Olson, in New York Herald.

THE EVENING CLOUD.

A cloud lay cradled near the setting sun,
A gleam of crimson tinged its braided snow;
Long had I watched the glory moving on
O'er the still radiance of the lake below.

Tranquil its spirit seemed, and floated slow!
Even in its very motion there was rest;
While every breath of eve that chanced to blow
Wafted the traveler to the beauteous west.

Emblem, methought, of the departed soul;
To whose white robe the gleam of bliss is given,
And by the breath of mercy made to roll

Where to the eye of faith it peaceful lies
And tells to man his glorious destinies.
—John Wilson, in Indianapolis News.

DEAD FILL THE CANALS AND WATER FRONT OF YOKOHAMA

American and British Residents Are Gathering the Bodies of Foreign Victims for Burial at Sea—Thousands of Natives Drowned in the Canals When Seeking Refuge From the Flames—Quake Left Great Gaps in the Pavements and Wrecked Most of the Buildings—The Center of the Quakes Saturday and Sunday Was in the Ocean 62 Miles South of Tokio.

Tokio, Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Yokohama is a charnel house, the canals and water-front are filled with dead and the stench from decomposing bodies is unbearable, according to refugees arriving from the stricken city today. It is estimated that more than 100 foreigners lost their lives there.

Most of the dead and injured among the Yokohama foreigners were those who were caught by the earthquake and fire while shopping in the downtown district. Thousands of the terror-stricken natives drowned in the canals when seeking safety from the raging inferno which followed the temblor.

The earthquake left great gaps in the pavements and wrecked most of the buildings. Fire, which started in numrous places at once completed the destruction.

The American and British residents of Yokohama who escaped the disaster are gathering the bodies of foreign victims for burial at sea.

The remnants of the Chinese population of the ruined city are gathered under the bluffs without food and shelter. Their condition is pitiable.

As far as is known now only one American lost his life in Tokio. He was W. T. Blume, of the General Electric company, who was killed in the collapse of the company's building.

Americans who lost their lives in Yokohama include Captain MacDonald of the Grand hotel; a Mrs. Root and son, recent arrivals, and Max D. Kirgasoff, American consul.

The navy is cooperating in the shipment of supplies to Yokohama and other devastated areas.

It is reported that Yokohama has been wiped out. The Grand hotel collapsed.

Up to date there has been no communication established with Osaka or Nagoya. Tokio virtually is cut off from the south.

There are no railways operating and no lights.

It was intimated today that the casualties probably will approximate 50-100. A number of hospitals, including St. Luke's and the International, were destroyed, there were no casualties in the latter.

PROGRESSING RAPIDLY ON RELIEF FOR JAPAN

Washington, Sept. 5.—Marshaling of the nation's forces for the relief of Japanese earthquake sufferers progressed rapidly today, and by nightfall the program was well under way.

Principal relief developments of the day here were:

Taking over by the American Red Cross of the entire purchasing and shipping department of the American relief administration, which handled $60,000,000 of supplies for famine stricken Russia.

Placing at the disposal of the Red Cross by the shipping Board of approximately $20,000 tons of shipping the board has in the Pacific for the transportation of supplies.

Generous and quick response to the national appeal for a $5,000,000 fund to be administered by the Red Cross for sufferers.

Actual undertaking of practical relief measures by the Red Cross by ordering the purchase of food, medical supplies and shelter material, to go forward at once, and the dispatch of medical and nursing personnel.

In addition, reports received by the Navy Department from Admiral Anderson, Commander of the Asiatic fleet, indicated that the first group of American destroyers ordered to Yokohama already had arrived, while Admiral Eberle, Chief of Naval operations, announced that supply ships in the Orient were being filled with supplies and shortly would be under way. Other naval vessels at Manilla and San Francisco were ordered to stand by ready to proceed on demand.

The Red Cross announced that the first mail today brought more than $135,000 in checks to headquarters here. The amounts received by local chapters cannot be estimated, but the total already subscribed is believed to be large.

Julius H. Barnes, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, issued an appeal to American business to participate energetically in the campaign. In a message, sent by him 1,400 business organizations throughout the country, he declared immediate response to the appeal for funds was imperative. The great need, he added, is for relief which can at once be made available.

"Telegrams arriving in Washington," Mr. Barnes said, "indicate that business organizations have been very quick to perceive the need for assistance which exists in Japan. Their interest and sympathy they can express more directly and effectively by energetic support of the efforts of the local chapters of the American Red Cross to raise their quotas at the earliest possible moment."

CENTER OF QUAKE AT SEA 62 MILES SOUTH OF TOKIO

Osaka, Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—The Imperial University at Tokio announces that the centre of the seismic disturbances Saturday and Sunday and Sunday was 62 miles to the southward of Tokio in the ocean.

U. S. WARSHIUS BEARING SUPPLIES TO YOKOHAMA

Washington, Sept. 5.—The War Department received word tonight that the transport Merritt had left Manila for Yokohama and the U. S. S. Bittern had left Tientsin, China, for the same port, both loaded with subsistence and medical supplies.

TWO ROCKEFELLER DONATIONS OF $100,000 EACH FOR JAPAN

New York, Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Donations of $100,000 each from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation for the relief of sufferers in the Japanese earthquake disaster were announced tonight by the Red Cross committee of greater New York which opened an intensive drive to raise its quota of $1,000,000 in the nation's $5,000,000 campaign.

YOKOHAMA HAS BEEN COMPLETELY DESTROYED

Washington, Sept. 5.—The state department tonight received a radio message from Kobe saying that Yokohama had been "completely destroyed," that the United States naval hospital there had been destroyed and that Chief Pharmacist L. Zembsch., his wife and two enlisted men had been killed. Dr. U. R. Webb, in command of the hospital, was "badly injured," the message added.

STORY OF EARTHQUAKE AS IT COMES FROM TOKIO

Tokio, Sept. 5 (By the A. P.)—Tokio and Yokohama, separated by only a few miles of water, today lie crushed by the overpowering forces of an earthquake—a series of upheavals—that came with scant warning and brought crashing down the homes and business places of these great cities.

All around, for many miles, other cities, towns and villages have been dashed from their foundations, and what the vibrations of the earth failed to accomplish was completed by fire and tidal wave.

To add to the dangers, immense crevices opened in the streets, in some places isolating entire blocks and making it absolutely impossible for those within these sections to find safety from the fire.

For two days the fires fo Tokio raged, destroying possibly 200,000 houses and property the value of which cannot be estimated, cremating the bodies of many of the dead and probably ending the sufferings of scores of injured. The casualty list will be very great; estimates at the present time vary from 50,000 upwards in Tokio alone. How many were killed in the outlying districts is not known, because for a long time Tokio was cut off from communication with the outside world.

VERANDA OF HOUSE WAS WRECKED BY MOTOR TRUCK

Bristol, Conn., Sept. 5.—The veranda of the home of Joseph Petkowski, 36 Oak street, Bristol, was wrecked early tonight when a motor truck loaded with cordwood crashed into it after the driver, Gustave Telke, had lost control of the machine on Willard street at a point where there is a steep grade. The brakes failed to hold and the machine ran wildly for one-half mile. At South and Willard streets two automobiles passed Willard just as the truck was reaching the corner. Telke, fearing a collision, jumped from the truck. The truck continued its flight, climbing the curb and crashing into the Oak street house. The machine was damaged badly.

FATALLY SHOT DAUGHTER, THEN TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 5.—Two persons are dead and two are seriously injured as the result of William Shanes running amuck at Farmington, near here, this afternoon. Going to the house where his wife is said to have resided since they had separated, Shanes shot his daughter, Mrs. Lettie Fletcher, through the heart. When Mayor A. C. Fisher attempted to arrest him he shot the mayor three times. Then going to his home he fired promiscuously a number of shots from his porch. One of the bullets struck Mrs. May Ramage, standing on the porch of a house near by. Shanes then killed himself after trying without result to set off a charge of dynamite in his home. Fisher and Mrs. Ramage are in a critical condition in the local hospital.

The Virginia went down thirty minutes after the attack began.

Meantime the battleship New Jersey, which also was designated to be a target for the air fleet, still was afloat but had a bad list to port. It was planned to sink her during the afternoon.

Parties Yielding in Coal Controversy

German Government Unable to Finance the Continuance of Passive Resistance.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Representatives of anthracite mine operators and officers of the miners' union today agreed in conference with Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania to material changes in positions which they have hitherto held, and which have resulted in suspension of mining. The employers group tentatively abandoned its demand for arbitration, which the union has unyieldingly opposed.

Miners union officials definitely accepted the ten per cent. wage increase which Governor Pinchot tendered in an effort to compromise the dispute, but asked more than that amount for day laborers employed in and around the mines. They did, however agree to modify the demand for a "check off" of union dues, by limiting the amount which could be collected by it from individual miners.

Both the employers group and the union committee, which met with Governor Pinchot in executive sessions, regarded their alterations of original stands as concessions. The governor while keeping silent as to the proposals involved, said that "progress had been made" and that the statements had been exchanged by him between the parties concerned. The conference adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Though the employers agered to drop, for the time being, the demand for arbitration, and to make a one years contract covering wages and working conditions, they were said to be entirely unwilling to grant more than a ten per cent. wage increase. While Governor Pinchot suggested this figure as a compromise when he first embarked on his peace efforts, the union group today was still seeking to get the amount increased so far as day workers are concerned. The day workers number about 100,000 out of the total of approximately 155,000 in the industry.

Pending the resumption of negotiations tomorrow, none of the spokesmen on either side had a definite opinion to express as to whether an actual basis for settling the strike had been worked out. The employers were unwilling to take even a limited application of the "check off system," according to expressions available, while the union leaders expressed determination to obtain the wage increase for day men or continue the suspension.

"During the afternoon I have conferred with miners in one room and the operators in another," Governor Pinchot said after the adjournment. "There was no joint conference. I have, however, taken to and discussed with the operators a specific statement of the terms upon which the miners will agree to settle.

"I have also taken to and discussed with the miners a specific statement of the terms upon which the operators will agree tosettle. The conference will reopen tomorrow at ten a. m. I am not at liberty to discuss the terms made by either side. Progress has been made."

As in all of the Governor's peace conferences, the Miners' Union was represented by John L. Lewis, its President, Philip Murray, Vice-president, its three District Presidents in the anthracite region, S. D. Warriner, Chairman of the Operators' Policy Committee, was supported by W. W. Inglis, W. J. Richards and A. B. Jessup.

NEW HIGH PRICES FOR THE SEASON FOR COTTON

New York, Sept. 5.—New high prices for the season of nearly $450 a bale above the previous close, were recorded in the local cotton market today. They were attributed to renewals of the buying movement started by the Government crop figures of last week, combined with a more favorable view of the Japanese situation and a growing belief that supplies of both raw cotton and cotton products destroyed in the earthquake were likely to be replaced promptly.

December contracts which sold for 24.61 yesterday under the liquidation caused by the first shock of the Japanese disaster, advanced to 25.51 late this afternoon and the general market closed firm at net advances of 81 to 94 points or approximately a cent a pound.

Optimistic views were encouraged by reports that Japanese interests were buyers of cotton in both the New York and Liverpool markets today.

Essen, Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Mining difficulties in the Ruhr apparently have been settled without the necessity of intervention by the government. Work has been resumed in all mines in Essen except one and in most of the others of the Ruhr the men are going back to work of their own accord.

REPORT OF WORK OF STATE POLICE FOR TWO WEEKS

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5—During two weeks ending September 2 the state police made a total of 296 arrests as a result of which $4,646 was collected in fines, recovered property valued at $1,447.11 and seized liquor valued at $14,603.

In doing this work the aggregate number of miles covered by the members of the department was 45,189. Almost two thirds of the totaal number of arrests were for violation of the motor vehicle law, 196 who were brought into court. Of this number by far the greatest single offense was reckless driving. Eighty-two arrests were for endangering traffic.

Next in order in the violations of the motor vehicle law was driving without an operator's license, with twenty-eight arrests. Then follow twenty-five for overweight trucks and jitneys, eight for operating without a mirror, and five for failure to carry registration. There were arrests made on twenty-four different violations of the law, 13 of them being for operating under the influence of liquor.

The traffic squad operating on the Boston Post road from Bridgeport to the state line in the first week of its operation made a total of ninety-two arrests and issued seventy warnings Twenty-three of the arrests and the same number of warnings wer for reckless driving, twenty-two arrests were for overloads, and nineteen for no license and no registration. It is significant to note that persons unfamiliar with Connecticuc motor vehicle laws were warned and not arrested. There were twenty-seven non-residents warned for violations by the squad and none arrested. It is also significant that only two of the first fifty-seven cases tried in court failed of conviction.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS FALTERS IN GRECO-ITALIAN DISPUTE

First Test Comes With Italy's Refusal to Recognize the Right of the League to Intervene in Her Conflict With Greece—Council Has Adjourned in Order to Permit the Members to Study the Italian Statement—Italy Contends That the Entire Question Should be Settled by the Council of Ambassadors, as That Body Had Appointed the Mission to Fix the Frontier Between Albania and Greece—Signor Salandra, for Italy, Maintains, There is No Danger of War, and Therefore the Matter Does Not Come Within the Province of the League.

Geneva, Sept. 5.—(By The A. P.)—The superstructure of the League of Nations, of which an American president was the chief architect, is imperilled, and in the British view the very foundations of present day Europe are shaken. Such, briefly, is a summary of the situation of Geneva tonight because of Italy's refusal to recognize the right of the League of Nations to intervene in her dispute with Greece.

Consternation and a deal of sadness prevails everywhere, for it is generally, though reluctantly, admitted, that the league has been unable to withstand the first great test of its practical use as machinery for regulating differences between nations, as one of its leading members has declined to concede to its competence. Hence there is a growing sentiment among the smaller countries that if the league covenant applies to them, it apparently does not bind the great powers of Europe.

All the more do they feel convinced of this because the proportions which the Italian and Greek conflict have taken are deemed by them to be unjustified by the general cause of the controversy, serious and regrettable as was the murder of the Italian officers.

Signor Salandra's entire argument today was that the questions arising from the assassination of the Italian mission should be settled by the council of ambassadors, and not by the league, because it was the ambassadorial body which had appointed the mission to fix the frontier between Albania and Greece.

The head of the Italian delegation accused Greece of cleverly seeking to escape from her responsibility and of diverting world attention from the murder of the Italian officers to Italy's seizure of Corfu, by denouncing this seizure as an act of dangerous aggression.

It was not Signor Salandra, but Mussolini, who seemed to be addressing the council of the league today at its dramatic session.

No state would wish to belong to the league, read Signor Salandra, if membership meant renunciation of the right to defend its national dignity. Italy had not menaced world peace and there was not sufficient reason for the application of the articles of the covenant cited by Greece, which were founded on the supposition that danger of war existed. Until the ambassadorial body pronounced judgment, he contended, any action by the league was out of place, because of the league's evident incompetency.

M. Politis remarked that the Greek government repudiated energetically any allegation that it was morally or materially responsible for the odius crime committed on its territory. Greece, he declared, did not wish to evade the prerogatives of the council of ambassadors, but, on the contrary had asked that the council pursue an investigation. Italy, however, in bombarding Corfu had created a situation which justified Greece in appealing to the league.

M. Politis insisted that his suggestion of yesterda that the league council appoint a neutral commission to inquire into the crime, Greece was using common sense and trlying to be fair all around, for his proposed league commission could proceed with its work in conjunction with the ambassadors' council. Not only Greece, but Italy, was bound under the circumstances to refer the dispute to the League of Nations; both in letter and spirit the covenant of the league demanded it. If the council of the league accepted the Italian point of view, then, said M. Politis, it was tantamount to ruin of the pact of the league.

Lord Robert Cecil's quietly voiced warning that if the treaty of Versailles, of which the covenant of the league is an integral part, was to be disregarded, the reorganization of Europe was endangered, has caused a profound impression and has served to amphasize the gravity of the political crisis in which Europe is plunged. The council chamber was crowded with visitors including Americans, and Lord Robert's warning statement was received with vigorous handclapping.

"An attempt is being made to excite public opinion against Italy who, profoundly touched in her honor and prestige by the assassination of her soldiers, finds herself accused of violence and an abuse of force," said Signor Salandra. "It is necessary to bring the question back from the events which have taken place.

"Italy energetically has refused to accept the position which it is desired to force upon her of an accused party. Italy has been attacked by an act of barbarous violence. It is she that has the right to bring an accusation and require punishment for the crime.

As to the position of the League of Nations, he said "the league only has the right to intervene in questions relating to the execution of treaties if all interested parties ask for such intervention. It always has been recognised hitherto that the league which was created by these treaties has not competent as regards these treaties themselves. Except under special provisions, or subject to the agreement of the parties.

"It was for this reason that the council of ambassadors was instituted, and it is for this reason that Greece had endeavored to isolate the fact which wdas incidental to the execution of the treaty and that the sanction, in order to escape the consequences."

"There is no danger of war. There isn't even as suspension of diplomatic relations Where can sufficient reason be found for the application of Articles 12 and 15 of the covenant which are founded on the supposition of the danger of war? The creation of the league does not constitute renunciation of all states to act for their own defense and to preserve the safety and rights of their dignity If this were so no state would desire to form a part of the league * * *

"The peace of the world is not troubled or threatened by the act of guarantees accomplished by Italy It would be more likely to be threatened if responible states were able to assume that there was a means of escaping the consequences of their own misdeeds by complaining of sanctions and endeavoring to ensure that causes which rendered these sanctions necessary shoul be forgotten

"It is for these reasons, briefly stated, and if necessary to be developed from the point of view of each fact and of right that the Italian government irrevocably expresses the opinion that the council of the League of Nations should not proceed to take action on the request of Greece"

"Once again," says a Swiss newspaper tonight, "events demonstrate that we can impose peace only by war So long as the League of Nations has no powerful army it will only keep from fighting those who are incapable of employing with advantage the eternal argument."

Without taking action, the council adjourned, in order to permit the members to study the Italian statement. It is expected that another meeting will be held within a day or two.

GRAND ARMY OF REPUBLIC IN 57TH ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—The thin blue ranks of the victorious army of the civil war passed the reviewing stand of the commanding officers here today for the fifty-seventh time since receiving their discharge papers in 1865. The march was a severe test of the failing strength of the 10,000 blue-coated veterans who formed the column.

With flags proudly flying and the stirring strains of martial music urging them forward, the veterans were tiring rapidly when the reviewing stand, a mile and two-tenths from the starting point, was reached.

Many were forced to drop out and were immediately attended by those in charge of emergency stations placed at half block intervals, with ambulances stationed at street intersections.

Police were stationed every twelve feet along the line of march to see that the marchers who needed it received prompt attention. Of the score or more who were forced to abandon the march, none was in a serious condition, it was reported.

The second division of the parade, composed of the Civil War Musicians made a brave showing. The Pennsylvania G. A. R. band played old-time airs, out-did the younger bands, with the aid of the twelve fife and drum corps.

The election of a Commander in Chief will be held tomorrow. Three candidates are in the field, G. W. Salzgaber of Vanwert, Ohio; Frank Walsh of Milwaukee and Dr. L. F. Krensberg of Uniontown, Pa.

Mrs. Belle W. Bliss of Baraboo, Wis., was elected President of the Women's Relief Corps of the G. A. R., it was announced tonight.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Mrs Florence Kling Harding tonight ended her Washington residence, leaving here to spend the next several weeks with relatives and friends in Marion. Mrs. Harding was accompanied by Brigadier General and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, with whom she will stay for a while in Marion, and by Major Ora M. Baldinger, who was military aide to Mr. Harding. She is making the trip in a special car tendered her by an old friend of the family, E. C. Costen, General-Manager of the New York Central Lines.

Since leaving the White House two weeks ago Mrs. Harding had been living at Friendship, the country home near Washington, of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

Mrs. Harding was taken to the train by Mrs. Coolidge in one of the White House automobiles. The courtesy of use of the Presidential entrance to the Union Station was extended her.

At noon Wednesday the criminal term of Windham county superior court resumed sessions in this city, Judge Newell Jennings on the bench. Deputy Sheriffs Charles Ayer and Fred Tillinghast and Assistant Jailer Chas. Parker brought three bound-over prisoners from Brooklyn jail to the court room here, Roswell Moffitt, Eugene Levesque and Arthur Fournier, who at Tuesday's session entered pleas of not guilty and chose to have the court hea rtheir cases.

Court was opened at a late hour due to conferences between State's Attorney Searls, County Prosecutor Charles L. Torrey and prisoners, in regard to their cases.

Roswell Moffitt, charged with rape, pleaded not guilty, although it was generally understood that he would plead guilty. Following a short recess by the court to allow time for a conference between County Prosecutor Torrey and Moffitt, the latter pleaded guilty to attempt at rape. State's Attorney Searls summarized the facts in the case. Moffitt, a resident of the town of Plainfield and close to 40 years of age, is unmarried. Last May 12, Julia Cornell, aged 15, was passing through a pasture on her way to high school and was accosted by Moffitt whose advances the girl rejected. The accused then took hold of the girl and forced her to the ground and committed the crime with which he is charged. Attorney Searls asked that the court impose a maximum penalty. Judge Jennings complied with the request and Moffitt was sentenced to state prison for a term of not less than three and not more than ten years.

Moffitt has been indicted several times in the lower courts of towns in Windham county. On one occasion he served a five year term in state prison, 1908-1912, for setting fire to a barn in Plainfield. The accused, however, denied being guilty on the charge of attempt to rape.

Frank Marcustry and Mike Urbanowski, both of Webster, Mass., charged with abuse of a female child, Evelyn Potter of Woodstock, changed their pleas to guilty, Tuesday. The case against Urbanowski was nolled and months in jail.

The session of court adjourned Wednesday until Tuesday of next week at 110 a. m., when it is planned to dispose of all the other cases on the list.

The democratic town caucus for the nomination of town officers will be held this (Thursday) evening. It is thought that only the offices of collector of taxes or auditor will cause any contest. All the present incumbents have announced themselves as candidates for re-election. The offices include that of town clerk and treasurer, held continuously since 1898 by Frank P. Fenton. James P. Mustard, who is completing his third year as a member of the board of assessors, announces his candidacy for another three year term. The present board of assessors is entirely democratic. John A. Kelley is mentioned as candidate for town auditor. The present incumbent is Colonel John H. Morrison, who has been in ill health for some time. Thomas A. Shea is again candidate for registrar. William J. Sweeney is the retiring democratic member of the town school committee and it is expected that his renomination will be sought by his friends at tonight's caucus.

The headliners in the candidates seeking renomination are Russell A. Andrews, the present chairman of the board of selectmen and Frank M. Linton, ranking as second selectman Albert J. Piche is again a candidate for tax collector.

The first woman automobile driver to be fined in the local police court in some time is Mrs. Josephine Marion, of Flanders district, Columbia, who pleaded guilty Wednesday morning when charged with violation of the automobile law. Mrs. Marion was found to be driving her machine without having her registration in her possession. Mrs. Marion explained that her family came to Flanders from New York only a few days ago to locate and when coming to this city Tuesday night she had forgotten to take the registration to her car. A fine of one dollar and costs was imposed by Deputy Judge Curtis Dean. The total was $7.35. The fact that only one headlight was burning on Mrs. Marion's car led to her arrest. Deputy Judge Dean pointed out Wednesday morning that the driver of an automobile burning only one headlight is committing a misdemeanor and is liable to arrest unless a reasonable excuse can be furnished.

An overheated flatiron was the cause of a small fire shortly after noon Wednesday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Wiggins, 54 Windham street, when an overheated electric iron set a cloth on the ironing board afire. The iron had been used shortly before, but upon the completion of the work the current was not shut off. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins had left the house, when a neighbor discovered the fire. A call was sent in to the Bank street engine house, and Engine Company No. 1 responded, in charge of Captain James J. Tighe. While the company was on its way an alarm was rung in from Box 17 at the corner of Valley and Windham streets. Several pieces of wearing apparel caught fire and when the firemen arrived the ironing board was blazing. The damage was slight. Sections of the woodwork in the kitchen were scorched. The house is owned by Mrs. William Williams.

The registration of pupils in the various schools this fall term is the largest in the history of the town of Windham. The total at noon Wednesday was 2,044, about 150 in excess of the number on the opening day last year. Of the total, 532 are attending Windham High school, 1,380 at the six grammar schools of the city and town and 1,133 at the two parochial schools. The figures at the various schools, all showing remarkable increase over last year on the opening day, are as follows: Windham High, 532; Natchaug school, 560 Windham Street school, 475; Oak school, 135; Windham Center school, 104; South Windham, 61; North Windham school, 44.

JEWETT CITY

Fred Smith, Jr., and John M. Pinckley, who are in Detroit, Mich., have sent a letter to The Bulletin correspondent in which they write:

Our trip to Detroit, Mich., has been a great success.

On reaching this beautiful city our first work was with the Studebaker Auto Co. But on account of a shortage of bodies, we were forced to seek employment elsewhere. We are now employd at th Cadillac Motor Car Co. and are getting along fine.

We both hope that in the spring we will be able to take a trip back to Jewett City and renew acquaintance with our many friends.

For the benefit of those who have never had a chance to see the city of Detroit, we will give a brief outline of one of its most attractive park.

This park is situated on an island in the Detroit river, half way between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario.

They have large boats to take people back and forth at fifteen minute intervals. On the island is one of the best zoological gardens we have ever seen. There is also a large bathing beach, and the way they handle the enormous crowds is a sight worth seeing! Not very far from the zoo, is an aquarium with fish of every variety. There are many acres of owers and there are beautiful trees. In the exact center is a picnic ground which is always crowded. They have band concerts every afternoon and eveing.

We sincerely advise any one of our friends who ever has the opportunity to visit this wonderful city and net to miss the sights and pleasures at Belle Iele.

We hope this missive finds all our friends in the best of health.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

RESCUED BY THE FAIRY QUEEN

Now, let us all put out heads together and think where we left Little Jack Rabbit, for goodness me, I've written so many stories about the bunny boy that sometimes I almost make a mistake and forget whether he is in the dear Old Bramble Patch or in the Ragged Giant Bunny's Forest or perhaps in Grandmother Magpie's kitchenette!

Hurrha! Now I remember. He had been changed into a rat with a long hairless tail by a wicked witch and the Fairy Queen was searching for the magic flower to change him back once more into a little rabbit.

Well, after the Fairy Queen had flown for maybe a mile or more, her little butterfly steed settled on a crimson flower that grew in the crevice of a great rock.

"This must be the magic flower," she thought to herself, and plucking it from the stem, she hurried back to the bunny boy who was waiting in her little flower palace, feeling very anxious, you may be sure, for fear she would not return.

"Turn the ring around your head three times and a half while I touch you with my flower," she said, and goodness! Would you believe it? In less time than I can tell it, he was himself once more.

As soon as he could speak, because at first he was too overjoyed to find words, he said:

"Not far from here in a hollow tree is a lovely pink and blue bird. She is really a princess under the spell of the same wicked witch who changed me into a rat."

"I will go with you and rescue her," cried the Fairy Queen and away she went with Little Jack Rabbit.

Pretty soon, in just a little while they came to the hollow tree. At the touch of his magic ring, the door sprung open and there in her cage sat the poor unhappy bird, her head under her wing. As soon as she heard the bunny's voice, she looked up.

"Be of good cheer," he cried and touched the cage with his magic ring and in less than five hundred short seconds she turned into a lovely princess. At that very instant came the sound of a horn, clear and shrill and up drove a coach and four with several outriders on horseback.

"Come with me," said the lovely princess after they had both said goodbye to the Fairy Queen and they drove away to a stately castle on a high hill.

"Here is our princess safe and well
Free from the witch's wicked spell.
Never again will we let her rove
All alone in the forest grove," sang all the birds in the forest.

The princess led the bunny into the castle and if the bats in the belfry tower don't ring the bells all night long, you shall hear what happened after that in tomorrow's story.

MULLINS SECURES COURT ORDER TO MAKE RICKARD ANSWER TO CHARGES

New York, Sept. 5—Paddy Mullins, manager for Harry Wills, heavyweight boxing championship aspirant, obtained an order in Brooklyn Supreme court today directing Tex Rickard to show cause why a writ should not be issued restraining the conduct of the Dempsey-Firpo fight Sept. 14.

In his argument for the order Mullins declared if the fight between Dempsey and Firpo occurs as scheduled, Wills will be champion, under the rules of the New York state athletic commission, because of Dempsey's failure to meet him. He said Wills was the logical opponent of Dempsey because he had $2,500 forfeit money posted for more than a year.

Tex Rickard, when informed that Mullins had obtained an order to show cause, said the news meant nothing to him.

"If he had any legal means to stop the fight he would have done it long ago," he said. "But Mullins has no contract for Wills to fight Dempsey, and no right to one. He had a chance to sign a contract to fight Firpo, and he still has, any time he wants to come and sign."

The order directs Rickard and officials of the commission to appear Friday morning. In an affidavit submitted with the application for the order, Wills' attorney asked that the commission be compelled to revoke the Dempsey-Firpo fight license, and issue a Dempsey-Wills license, or else that the commission be directed to declare Dempsey's title forfeited.

Application for the order was the culmination of a long fight waged by Mullins to prevent the meeting on September 14. The commission, which previously heard his charges, ruled that as he had no contract for a fight with Dempsey, it was evident no contract had been broken.

PROMOTER FILES SUIT AGAINST HARR GREB

New York, Sept. 5—Piero L. Provano, sport promoter, today started suit in the supreme court against Harry Greb, charging that the pugilist failed to appear on July 13 last to keep a contract appointment to fight Jeff Smith in a fifteen round bout in Atlanta, Ga.

Provano alleged that James Mason, Greb's manager, posted $2,500 as security for his appearance, but that the check came back for lack of funds.

N. Y. BOXING COMMISSION SUSTAINS JOHNSTON IN POSTPONEMENT ACTION

New York, Sept. 5—Johnny Dundee, featherweight champion and lightweight champion and lightweight title aspirant, fought and lost one battle today, but it was not with Benny Leonard.

Before a meeting of the New York State athletic commission this afternoon, Dundee protested vigorously against the postponement by Promoter Jimmy Johnston of the Italian's scheduled match tonight at the Yankee stadium with the lightweight champion, but after hearing all the evidence in the situation, the boxing soions upheld Johnston and sanctioned the cancellation.

The commission ruled that Johnston was within his rights in taking advantage of a clause in the fight contract permitting its abrogation in the event either of the principals was defeated in any other engagement before the title match. Dundee left this loophole open to the promoter as a result of his recent defeat in a bout with Eddie (Kid) Wagner in Philadelphia.

Dundee's attitude, meanwhile, may result in abandonment of the match altogether. After Johnston's proposal to stage the bout at the stadium on September 28, Dundee told the commission he would give his answer on Friday, but to newspapermen later he flatly declared he would not go through with the match at all. Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, however, agreed to the postponed date.

Dundee manifested keen resentment against Johnston's statement yesterday that the postponement was a result of the challenger's alleged poor physical condition. Insisting that he be examined and weighed in as he would have been if the bout was not called off, the featherweight champion declared he was never in better shape. Over-ruled in this request, Dundee declared he would claim Leonard's title and the weight forfeit of $5,000 posted by the latter, but the commission advised him, it was understood, that he had no ground upon which to base such action.

Prospects of financial loss, had the bout been held tonight, concerned Johnston as much as Dundee's physical condition, it developed at the meeting of the commission, which recognized, in its formal statement, that the contest was "likely to meet with disappointing patronage." It was said the advance sale had fallen far below expectations.

Dundee reiterated his charge that the postponement also was influenced by Leonard's inability to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds, but this was denied by Gibson. The latter said Leonard weighed 135 1-2 yesterday and was willing to scale before the commission today but, in view of the postponement, this was not required.

FAVONIAN WINS FEATURE EVENT AT HARTFORD

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5—Favonian won the 2:07 trot, the feature of the third day of the grand circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park, this afternoon, defeating Murphy's Clyde the Great, and Cox's McGregor the Great, in two of the three heats. Favonian broke about one hundred feet from the wire in the third heat and Murphy and Cox had a pretty duel to the finish, Murphy pushing Clyde the Great over by a nose.

Hollyrood Leonard won the three year trot in straight heats, the judges informed the drivers in this race, after the first race, that they wanted a bit more action and they got it in the third heat when Ilo Guy made a bold bid to catch Hollyrood Leonard in the stretch.

FIELD MEET FOR WOMEN SLATED FOR NEWARK, SEPT. 29

New York, Sept. 5—The First National amateur athletic union track and field championship meet for women will be staged at Wequahic park, Newark, on September 29, it was announced today by Secretary F. W. Rubien, of the A. A. U.

There will be ten events, 50 and 100 yard dashes, 60-yard low hurdle, 440-yard relay with the teams of four, each running 110-yards; running high jump, running broad jump, javelin throwing, discus, baseball and basketball throwing and putting the eight pound shot.

These events are open to all women qualifying as amateurs under the A. A. U. rules. Entries, which close September 22, are expected from women athletes all over the country.

ILLINOIS A. C. ATHLETES ARRIVE FOR MEET

New York, Sept. 5—Seven athletes of the Illinois A. C., headed by Joie Ray, world renowned miler, arrived tonight from Chicago for the pre-Olympic games of the Wilco A. A. at the Yankee stadium next Saturday.

Ray's companions were Ray Watson, national half mile champion; Karl Anderson, national 120-yard high hurdle champion; Ivan Reilly, national 440-yard low-hurdle champion; Harold M. Osborne, national decathlon and indoor high jump champion; Ray Buker, former international two-mile champion and runner-up to Ray in the national mile last Saturday, and Egil Krogh, the fourth member of the all-west four mile relay team.

Ray will work out tomorrow on the Yankee stadium track or at Weequahic Park in Newark, to prepare himself for an attempt to bring back to America the world's one mile record now held by Paavo Nurmi, of Finland.

FIRPO DESCENDED FROM THE ITALIAN NOBILITY

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 5—(By the A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo is a direct descendant of the Italian nobility of the twelfth century.

Shortly before he went to the dog park this afternoon for a sparring session in which he all but knocked out three of his helpmates, Luis Angel received an official-looking sheepskin. It was decorated with gold seals, a coat of arms and latin writing telling about the audaciousness of the family Firpo and then in the history of the family it is said that the Firpos, as far back as known, were of the highest caste, owned castles and were intrepid warriors.

Firpo boxed six rounds with Joe McCann, Frank Koebele, and Natalio Pera. Jeff Clarke, the Joplin ghost, took an afternoon off. Firpo tore into the punch catchers with all speed and some degree of power, McCann managed to stand under the blows but Koebele and Pera had to be held up in the second rounds of their sessions.

After the workout Luis' trainers announced that the Argentine fighter would rest tomorrow. His sparring corps is all tired out and sore of body and jaw and Luis thought that they should be shown some mercy. Leo Gates and Young Bob Fitzsimmons are due in camp tomorrow.

Jimmy DeForrest, Firpo's old trainer, who has been employed by a New York newspaper to look over both Firpo and Jack Dempsey came to the camp today and sat in the grand stand while the training session was on. DeForrest did not go near the South American during the afternoon.

Firpo was a bit hurt by DeForrest's actions.

"We were friends as far as I knew," said Luis. "We never had any quarrels, and I didn't think he was hurt because I decided that my Argentine friends would be better for me during my period of training for Dempsey."

DEMPSEY STARTS FINAL WEEK OF TRAINING

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 5—(By the A. P.)—Displaying astonishing speed and ring cunning, Jack Dempsey today started his final week of training in preparation for the defense of his title against Luis Angel Firpo. He engaged in six furious rounds of boxing, in addition to tugging at the chest weights, shadow-boxing, and peppering the punching bags for four rounds.

The champion, refreshed from his lay-off yesterday, was eager for work, and his trio of sparring partners suffered a severe pummelling. Dempsey mixed speed with defensive tactics, stepping around his opponents with the speed of a lightweight, and forcing the pace with characteristic aggressiveness. When he finished the ten-round workout he was dripping with perspiration, but breathing normally, indicating that his wind is perfect.

The champion's sparring staff was reduced today with the departure of Jack McAuliffe. Detroit heavyweight, who spent a week in camp and was severely punished every time he faced the champion, McAuliffe left with two discolored eyes as evidence of his rough sessions with the champion. Dempsey presented him with a headgear before his departure. McAuliffe is going west to fulfill a ring engagement. His place on the sparring staff will be taken by Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul light heavyweight who is expected Friday.

GOOD BASEBALL PROMISED FOR SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

Manager Bill O'Leary, of the Norwich baseball club, promises local fans several good baseball attractions during this month and October. The team has been playing on the road during the past few weeks and has won five out of the seven games played being credited with several victories over exceptionally fast teams.

On Sunday Stafford Springs will appear on the local diamond and the following Sunday Manchester will be the visitors and after that will follow the New Departure team and probably several of the Eastern League clubs. Mr. O'Leary is making an effort to bring the winner of the Eastern pennant to Norwich after the league closes the last of this month. It is rumored that Reynolds who pitched here last season and who is rated as one of the best hurlers in the International league wants to come here for post season games. Hughie Canavan who has proved himself to be the sensation of the Eastern league this year and Garry Fortune who is also one of the leading mound artists of the eastern circuit wish to perform here during the latter part of the season. All three of these pitchers are popular with Norwich fandom and if the patronage warrants it they will be brought to Norwich for some of the hard games that Mr. O'Leary has on his schedule.

For Sunday Manager O'Leary will play the following lineup: Boyce p, Florence c, Fay 1b, Massey 2b, Burns 3b, Lee lf, Mills c, Clabby rf, Moore ss.

For Stafford Springs the lineup will be: Cleary p, Maddison c, Wise 1b, Gilman 2b, Howard 3b, Pallanck ss, Farrell lf, Calhara cf, J. Farrell rf.

PAPYRUS TO BRING HIS OWN FOOD AND DRINK

London, Sept. 5—(By the A. P.)—Papyrus, this year's derby winner, will go to the United States to race the best three-year-old on the other side of the Atlantic if Uncle Sam will let him bring his own food with him.

"Everything else was settled today at a conference between Ben Irish, owner of the horse, and C. J. Fitzgerald, agent of August Belmont, who is acting for the Jockey club. Before they sign an agreement, however, permission has to be obtained from Washington for the bar against imported fodder to be lifted high enough to allow a few weeks' rations for the derby winner to slip through.

Papyrus may bring his own drinking water as well as fodder, but how he is going to satisfy his thirst for beer in the prohibition paddocks of Long Island, nobody knows. Mr. Irish doesn't say much about this. He just smiles and intimates his pet thoroughbred probably could get along without beer somehow.

After the conference Mr. Fitzgerald told Mr. Irish about an old-time horse named "Robin Hood" who wouldn't run a step until after he had a good glass of foaming ale.

"Papyrus hasn't got the habit that bad," said Mr. Irish. But everybody in racing circles in Great Britain knows that Papyrus likes a drink of something other than water once in a while.

There are a few little details regarding the transportation which are not settled but the only important hitch in the negotiations is over fodder importation. The jockey who will race Papyrus at Belmont Park has not been selected. Mr. Irish would like to have Steve Donoghue, leading rider of the English turf, in the saddle that day but he and the jockey haven't reached a final agreement. It is understood that Donoghue wants 15,000 pounds to make the trip.

GOVERNMENT MAY SEIZE ILLEGAL FIGHT FILMS

Chicago, Sept. 5—The films of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., now on exhibition at a downtown theatre will probably be seized by United States marshal Levy tonight, it was announced at the Federal building after a conference between the marshal and the owner of the theatre showing the films. The action was delayed in order not to injure the business of the theatre, it was said, as the theatre owner is not to be prosecuted. James J. McGrath, promoter, who brought the films from Butte, Mont., it is charged, on violation of federal law, was recently arrested, and District Attorney Olsen announces that any attempt to show the films here would result in prosecution, possibly of a general conspiracy charge against all concerned, including Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns.

McGrath, after being released on bond, obtained an injunction preventing interference with the showing of the pictures by Chicago civil authorities.

U. S. GOLF BODY HAS ADDITIONAL LIST OF PLAYERS

New York, Sept. 5—The United States golf association tonight announced a supplementary list of 47 players eligible to compete in the national amateur championship at Chicago beginning September 15. Together with the original list issued several weeks ago, this brings the total of eligibles for the title tournament up to 250.

Mr. Collins Apologizes

Manager Collins, of the Baltic A. A. baseball team, writes in defense of the poor showing that the team made at Taftville last Sunday saying that three of his men failed to show up, through no fault of his. Mr. Collins states that he has it on good authority that these same three players were in Taftville Sunday morning and told people that they were to play that afternoon. Mr. Collins says that had these players put in an appearance he would have had a good team on the field to represent Baltic.

Mr. Collins also says that when the game was over the Taftville management refused to give the Baltic manager the guarantee agreed upon. In Baltic Taftville was paid the full guarantee although Taftville came to Baltic minus the shortstop advertised. Mr. Collins says he can stand all the hard knocks without a whimper and still keep his head above water, although Taftville is a hard bunch of losers and always trying to see what they can put over on Baltic.

Races Again Postponed

Toronto, Sept. 5—The first of the series of races for the Richardson cup, representing the championship of class "R" boats for the great lakes, was called off on Humber Bay late today, when, at the end of the five hour time limit, Ariel, of Chicago, Lake Michigan champion, which was in the lead, was still three miles from the finishing mark.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

California has furnished four of the national women tennis champions during the past two decades.

Nearly $10,000,000 a year is spent in the maintenance of public playgrounds in the United States and Canada.

The neck and neck race between the St. Paul champions and the Kansas City Blues has kept American association fans on their toes.

Spokane is to entertain the annual championship tournament of the Washington Women's State Golf association the week of September 10.

A big exhibition illustrative of outdoor sports is to be held in Cleveland in October under the auspices of the League of Ohio Sportsmen.

Patrons of the East Texas baseball league were deprived of the pleasures of a championship series this year, since the Paris team won both halves of the split season.

There are many superstitious race patrons who will not wear certain colors when they visit the track. Green is looked upon by most of them as being specially fatal to any chance of success.

The number of minor leagues that have been forced to change their circuits or to disband entirely indicates that the season now drawing to a close has not been an over prosperous one for the little fellows.

Many and various are the reasons offered for the slump in attendance at the Polo Grounds, but whatever the cause it is apparent that many New York fans have lost interest in the Giants and their fight for the pennant.

After a considerable spell of "nothing doing," the boxing game in Cleveland is to be reopened about the middle of September with a scheduled bout between Champion Benny Leonard and Charlie O'Connell, the Buckeye lightweight.

Red Ostergard, who has been reclaimed by the Chicago White Sox as a result of the prowess he has displayed with the bat during his recent pastiming with the Galveston team in the Texas league, was discarded not long since by the Nashville club because he couldn't hit.

Perhaps in no branch of sport is superstition more rife than in the boxing ring. Bob Fitzsimmons always pinned his faith to horseshoes, especially those forged by himself. Broadtibb, the first man to defeat George Carpentier, always carried a Prayer Book in a bag, while Carpentier himself will on no account change beds the night before a fight.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

We go away and enjoy the attractions of other localities and on returning home exclaim over the pleasure of getting back.

We travel for long distances to see wonderful views and famous places and we return home to exclaim over the delightful points of natural beauty right at our doorsteps.

We go off for trips and sports of one kind or another and are forced to admit that there isn't much that exceeds reeds what we have right here at home, in our own beautiful New England.

Long since has it been realized that we are living in one of the choice sections of this mundane sphere, variable though the climate is, and our rivers, our lakes, our mountains, our shores, our valleys, our rocks, our hills, our roads, our trails, our cities and our facilities all contribute to it.

But there is an added reason which should not be overlooked at this particular time when the far east is so greatly disturbed by the appalling disaster in Japan.

We have felt ourselves fortunate that we are not subject to those deplorable floods and hurricanes which sweep certain sections of the country. But greater thanks are due because this is a part of the globe where earthquakes are practically unknown and Professor Foye of Wesleyan gives the assurance that the eastern part of the United States is safe from any such tragedy as has befallen Japan.

There have been those occasions when earthquakes, or rumblings of earthquakes have been felt or heard in this section. Damage has been practically nothing, being far less than is done by electrical or wind storms. But it furnishes one more reason for being thankful that we are New Englanders. It is only as we see the points of interest elsewhere and come to understand the horrible effect of volcanic disturbances that we come to a full measure of appreciation of just what this part of the country means to us. We may have had nothing to say about being placed here but it is a pretty good region after all.

ITALY'S HONOR

It is interesting to note that Premier Mussolini of Italy declares that the honor of Italy is at stake and therefore there can be no reference of the trouble with Greece to the league of nations and the solemn promise made by Italy to live up to its provisions? Does he expect that the league of nations is going to let Italy play tag with its honor?

When Italy became a member of the league of nations it obligated itself to submit any dispute that might arise and threaten a rupture to arbitration or to the council of the league. Greece and other nations made the same promise, and yet when that dispute between Greece and Italy arises Greece is the only one that is ready to abide by requirements. Greece even goes further and offers to put up as guarantee the 50,000,000 lire which Italy demanded and out of it will be paid to Italy whatever the commissions named to handle the matter decide.

Greece has shown a disposition that wins world wide sympathy. It appeals to the sentiment of fair play. It isn't trying to shirk but it is ready to do what justice calls for. Not so with Italy. It proceeds to make unreasonable demands, follows them up with a war-like demonstration against Greek territory, bombards non-combatants so that a score are killed and of that number most of them are children and displays an attitude that gives the impression that it wants war.

For Italy to display its dislike for the league cannot be regarded as creditable so long as it has made no move to get out of it. And getting out isn't accomplished by a mere flourish of the hand. A two years' notice after a country has lived up to its obligations is necessary, so that the course which Italy is following is revealing that government in a most unfavorable light. If its promises amount to no more than they do to the league now how can it ever expect to inspire confidence among other nations. Mussolini is right, its honor is at stake.

WHERE BLAME RESTED

The commissioner of immigration in dealing with the 2,000 immigrants who were brought into the country before the first of September has taken into consideration the fact that the immigrants themselves were innocent violators of the law, that it would be an injustice to them to force them to return to Europe because of the acts of others, when they supposed that the law was being obeyed.

In dealing with such a situation it was apparent that full recognition was given to the danger of establishing a precedent. To wink at violations of the time limit would be to invite their continuance with the expectation that they would become more and more flagrant as the time went on.

It was a case where the responsibility rested squarely upon the steamship companies and the commanders of their vessels. They were entering into a race for the port that caused them to disregard the provisions of the law in which their attention had been repeatedly called. It was apparently necessary to hold a stop watch on them in order to secure compliance of the law, and while they may have figured that slight infractions of the law would be overlooked they were indulging in a practice that could not be smoothed over or the idea given that it would be tolerated in the future.

Placing a substantial fine upon the steamship companies is well calculated to deal with the matter effectively. It avoids placing an unjust hardship on those whose chances of entering the country were trifled with. The steamships were manifesting concern for their immigrants only at the expense of the laws of this country. By the action that has been taken it is set forth that respect for the law must be given regardless of what those who are trying to dodge it may think about the wisdom of such a law. The commissioner of education made no mistake in determining where the blame rested.

AIRPLANE BOMBERS

Opinions may vary regarding the effectiveness of the airplane in dealing with warships, but it is difficult to go back of the demonstrations. Attacks on targets, even when those targets are warships, may be regarded as being decidedly different than in the case of actual hostilities, but the accuracy of the bomb dropping and the destructiveness of the bombs are clearly established.

Under the provisions of the naval agreement resulting from the Washington conference each nation has a certain number of warships to send to the scrap heap. Scrapping may be done in one of several ways and for two of the vessels which this country was obliged to dispose of it was decided they should be turned into targets for airplane bombers.

These vessels were not types of the modern warship. They were built 20 years or so ago and had reached the point where they were due to be rated as obsolete. Such being the case it could hardly be expected that obsolete warships would show the same resistance that a modern dreadnaught would. Today methods are adopted for the safeguarding of warships against attacks from the sky.

But be that as it may, whenever it is possible to send a warship to the bottom by bombs dropped from a height of 10,000 feet it indicates an accuracy of fire that means much and when it is shown that such bombs are effective even though they do not actually strike the vessel it demonstrates the degree of respect that must be shown by the navy to the airplane. The effect of the air bombers on naval activities, especially coastal operations can no longer be discounted. If all warships are not obsolete in face of their accomplishments their effectiveness is greatly lessened.

SHIPS IN THE FOG

The stranding of the City of Rockland in the Kennebec river brings to attention once more what danger is involved in navigating a ship through the fog. It is possible to steer by chart where there is plenty of room, but when it comes to piloting a ship down a river through a thick blanket of fog, especially if the channel is crooked and the way is beset by rocks and shoals, there is real danger unless there are ample guides for the man at the wheel. Groping along and taking chances that wild reckonings will get them through may succeed repeatedly but there comes a time when the pilot finds the reef which he knows is there.

Happily the City of Rockland affairs resulted in no loss of life and whatever damage is sustained will be to the vessel, which may not be gotten off the ledge, but when it is indicated that the river is not sufficiently supplied with buoys or lights to guide the navigators at such a time it reveals a situation that calls for attention.

In the time of fog buoys and lights are not as effective as they might be but there are the bell and whistling buoys which bring relief to the pilot as soon as they are picked up. Safeguards of this character may well be insisted upon wherever navigation is sufficient to warrant it, and in lieu thereof for the safety of the passengers, the vessel and the cargo the anchoring of the ship until safety can be assured is worthy of consideration. It is preferable to take precautions instead of chances. Fog is a potential menace.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The man on the corner says: No one has been heard to complain because the dog days are over.

The first days of school wouldn't be so bad if it didn't mean that it is a long time to the next long vacation.

If the league of nations backs down before the defiance of one nation it might as well take in its sign and shut up shop.

The Japanese disaster has temporarily turned thoughts away from the threatened coal shortage, but we're still facing it.

Secretary Davis would have all disputes arbitrated. Settlement according to facts and not because of distress caused means justice.

Dealers are going to be interested in anthracite only up to the time when the people decide they want it no more and demand something else.

There is no law by which to punish rum runners outside the three mile limit. Protection for those handling liquor within depends upon circumstances.

Prof. Fisher says President Harding wanted a league and President Harding said that he wanted an association of nations. All of which probably referred to much the same thing but not the present league of nations.

It cost the miners heavily last year because of the strike and it will be an expensive strike if there is one this year. But they expect the public to shoulder that expense as well as bear the resulting hardships.

It hasn't been even intimated that Pennsylvania would reduce or eliminate that tax on coal in order to prevent the consumers from paying any increase in the price of coal.

AFTER THE MOVIE

The young man with the new gray suit and freshly polished tan shoes rested one elbow on the window sill of the car and looked down with undisguised admiration at the daintily pink cheek of his companion.

"Some swell show, what?" he commented happily.

"I'll say it was," agreed the girl, smiling up at him from under the drooping brim of her hat.

"I like those kind of shows," he offered presently, "where a person sees folks that's just, you know, nice and common and not stuck up nor anything and yet has a swell time anyway."

"Sure! So do I," smiled the girl from under her hat.

"Now, you take that fellow and that girl," went on the young man. "They had a swell time after they was married, and they didn't have no auto nor no swell house or anything, only just, you know, a swell little bungalow and all, that I bet didn't cost such an awful lot. I bet a fellow that was willing to work steady and was making good money like I—I mean like lots of fellows does—could pay for it in about five years, or only maybe four or three, if he had luck."

"Sure, I bet he could," agrees the girl with sweet eagerness.

"And now you take that guy and that girl that we seen in the movie over to Blank's the other week," went on the youth. "Lookit how they had a swell house and a coupla busses and everything, and he didn't even hafta look for his own shirt in the drawer, because there was a fellow in the movie that always did it for him.

"And you take that dame again. She had a hired girl to hook up her dress in the back and find her a handkerchief whenever she needed it, and all, and at that she beat it with another guy and busted up the whole works."

"I'll say she did!" said the girl with the drooping hat.

"Now you take it like it was in that show tonight," continued the young man. "Any guy that was earning good money wouldn't want his wife to do no rough work," said the young man. "Any decent kind of a guy. And it just goes to show," he continued, with an air of deep conviction, "that piles of folks can get married and have a swell time and a real swell little home and everything when they ain't got such an awful pile of money.

"Now you lookit how grand that guy thought the girl was and how crazy she was about him, and then you take them other folks. Always sore at each other about something and not talking to each other and her getting up and walking away every time he started to talk to other folks. It was fierce."

"Sure, I'll say so, too," murmured the girl. "Only maybe they wasn't that way just because they was rich. Maybe it was just because they was that kind of folks and maybe even if they might a been poor they would of fought just the same. I don't know. I just thought maybe they would of. Don't you kind of think that sometimes rich folks gets along swell, too?"

The young man removed his elbow from the window sill, clasped his hands between his knees and looked straight ahead of him silently for a few minutes, while the girl watched him questioningly.

Presently he said, a little stiffly.

"I don't know anything about it. Maybe they do. Anyway," he added, with a slight tinge of bitterness, "I guess that's the way you girls like to think it is. If a guy can't buy 'em a swell bus and a swell home and a couple hired girls, he can go jump in the lake. I'll say he can!"

For a moment the girl looked puzzled. Then her expression changed. She moved closer to him, slipped a small hand under his arm and looked up into his face pleadingly.

"Say, Jack, lookit," she said, softly. "Just because I said that about rich folks maybe getting along swell didn't mean I don't think folks that's just kind of well off don't have a real swell time after they get married, too, because I think they do. I'll say I do."

"Honest, kid! Is that on the square?" he said, softly.

Her slender fingers slid down the muscular arm and were lost in the clasp of his big ones.

"You bet it is," she murmured happily. "I'll say it is."—Exchange.

Stories That Recall Others

Grandmother's Choice.

Mary was seven when she lost her grandmother last Easter. She was so grief-stricken that all her friends grieved with the child. She was so homesick for her grandmother at night time, because there was no one quite like grandmother to hear her prayers.

An answer came to these prayers of many years standing in the form of a healthy baby brother. Mary heard the neighbors' and friends' admiration of the baby and listened to the reciting of his goodness, and finally one day settled the whole matter by remarking: "Of course he is good and pretty. My grandmother picked him out in heaven, and she wouldn't have sent any other kind."

Always Fits.

A woman entered a men's furnishings store to buy her husband a hat such as she had seen in the window but couldn't remember the size.

"Funny I don't remember it," she added laughingly. "I've been buying his hats for years."

The proprietor promptly got out a hat, size 6 3-4, and handed it to her.

"How do you know this will fit him?" she asked.

"Because," he told her, "we find that 6 3-4 always fits a man who habitually lets his wife buy his hats for him."

CHILD TRAINING

Children's Prayers
Bertha Hayward Higgins

"Mother, I think I'm going to make a collection of prayers," said my small boy one evening.

"Very well," said I. "I think that will be fine. Are you going to paste them in a scrap book?"

"Yes, but I'm going to learn them first. But when can I say them? I can't say them all every night, can I?"

"Well, perhaps not if you have a large collection, but you can say your favorite one every night, and have the others ready for special occasions. There are so many times when you want to ask God for something, or thank Him for that which He has already given you. It would be very nice to have all ready for use, a collection of prayers which someone has already thought out and expressed in more beautiful language than you would be likely to use if you made them hastily."

Now whenever he finds a prayer which he wants to add to his collection, we read it through and discuss it, then we decide on what occasions it would be likely to have the most meaning for him. Some of course, have to be adapted to meet his needs.

I feel that in changing them I have been able to avoid dampening the religious feeling that is being awakened in the child, and I hope thus to avert the danger that arises wherever formal prayers are used—that they shall become a mere mechanical repetition of words.

I have always believed that a child's prayers should be spontaneous and natural, and that if formal prayer are used, they should be explained and made to have some real significance.

I believe too that the child should understand that he must do his part in having his prayer answered.

One of the prayers which Laddie had in his "collection" and which he has adapted to his needs, is for use when his baseball nine is going to play a game.

"But," said he, when we were discussing it, "what if one of the fellows on the other side prays as much as I do?"

Then I recalled to him the fact that "God helps those who help themselves," and together we summed up the conclusions, that regular systematic practice would be needed, and all the fellows on the winning team would need to be brave and honest, and always play fair."

I tried to make him see that while our prayers may not always be answered in just the way we expect, we will, if we do our part, always get either that for which we ask, or something better. In proof of this I recalled his disappointment last summer at the postponement of the Sunday school picnic, because of a rainy day when he had prayed for a sunny day. We had the picnic later on, and we also had a large quantity of blackberries, which we would not have had if the drought had continued, and we are still having blackberry jam.

Just as I have tried always to retain my child's confidence, to make him ever ready to have a "good talk over," as he calls it, so I have tried to make him feel that nothing which interests him is too small or too insignificant to be taken to God in prayer. And just as he has learned to feel that Mother and Dad are "good sports" and can understand and forgive his little boyish mistakes, so he is coming to realize the greater understanding and ever ready forgiveness of the "All-Father."

Just as the Indian lad when he went alone into the mountains to fast and pray ("mine a vision") was unconsciously setting up in his own mind the ideal into which his character would develop, so is the child who early forms the habit of prayer.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

We go away and enjoy the attractions of other localities and on returning home exclaim over the pleasure of getting back.

We travel for long distances to see wonderful views and famous places and we return home to exclaim over the delightful points of natural beauty right at our doorsteps.

We go off for trips and sports of one kind or another and are forced to admit that there isn't much that exceeds reeds what we have right here at home, in our own beautiful New England.

Long since has it been realized that we are living in one of the choice sections of this mundane sphere, variable though the climate is, and our rivers, our lakes, our mountains, our shores, our valleys, our rocks, our hills, our roads, our trails, our cities and our facilities all contribute to it.

But there is an added reason which should not be overlooked at this particular time when the far east is so greatly disturbed by the appalling disaster in Japan.

We have felt ourselves fortunate that we are not subject to those deplorable floods and hurricanes which sweep certain sections of the country. But greater thanks are due because this is a part of the globe where earthquakes are practically unknown and Professor Foye of Wesleyan gives the assurance that the eastern part of the United States is safe from any such tragedy as has befallen Japan.

There have been those occasions when earthquakes, or rumblings of earthquakes have been felt or heard in this section. Damage has been practically nothing, being far less than is done by electrical or wind storms. But it furnishes one more reason for being thankful that we are New Englanders. It is only as we see the points of interest elsewhere and come to understand the horrible effect of volcanic disturbances that we come to a full measure of appreciation of just what this part of the country means to us. We may have had nothing to say about being placed here but it is a pretty good region after all.

ITALY'S HONOR

It is interesting to note that Premier Mussolini of Italy declares that the honor of Italy is at stake and therefore there can be no reference of the trouble with Greece to the league of nations and the solemn promise made by Italy to live up to its provisions? Does he expect that the league of nations is going to let Italy play tag with its honor?

When Italy became a member of the league of nations it obligated itself to submit any dispute that might arise and threaten a rupture to arbitration or to the council of the league. Greece and other nations made the same promise, and yet when that dispute between Greece and Italy arises Greece is the only one that is ready to abide by requirements. Greece even goes further and offers to put up as guarantee the 50,000,000 lire which Italy demanded and out of it will be paid to Italy whatever the commissions named to handle the matter decide.

Greece has shown a disposition that wins world wide sympathy. It appeals to the sentiment of fair play. It isn't trying to shirk but it is ready to do what justice calls for. Not so with Italy. It proceeds to make unreasonable demands, follows them up with a warlike demonstration against Greek territory, bombards non-combatants so that a score are killed and of that number most of them are children and displays an attitude that gives the impression that it wants war.

For Italy to display its dislike for the league cannot be regarded as creditable so long as it has made no move to get out of it. And getting out isn't accomplished by a mere flourish of the hand. A two years' notice after a country has lived up to its obligations is necessary, so that the course which Italy is following is revealing that government in a most unfavorable light. If its promises amount to no more than they do to the league now can it ever expect to inspire confidence among other nations. Mussolini a right, its honor is at stake.

WHERE BLAME RESTED

The commissioner of immigration in dealing with the 2,000 immigrants who were brought into the country before the first of September has taken into consideration the fact that the immigrants themselves were innocent violators of the law, that it would be an injustice to them to force them to return to Europe because of the acts of others, when they supposed that the law was being obeyed.

In dealing with such a situation it was apparent that full recognition was given to the danger of establishing a precedent. To wink at violations of the time limit would be to invite their continuance with the expectation that they would become more and more flagrant as the time went on.

It was a case where the responsibility rested squarely upon the steamship companies and the commanders of their vessels. They were entering into a race for the port that caused them to disregard the provisions of the law to punish their patrons and keep the peatedly called. It was apparently necessary to hold a stop watch on them in order to secure compliance of the law, and while they may have figured that slight infractions of the law would be overlooked they were indulging in a practice that could not be smoothed over or the idea given that it would be tolerated in the future.

Placing a substantial fine upon the steamship companies is well calculated to deal with the matter effectively. It avoids placing an unjust hardship on those whose chances of entering the country were trifled with. The steamships were manifesting concern for their immigrants only at the expense of the laws of this country. By the action that has been taken it is set forth that respect for the law must be given regardless of what those who are trying to dodge it may think about the wisdom of such a law. The commissioner of education made no mistake in determining where the blame rested.

AIRPLANE BOMBERS

Opinions may vary regarding the effectiveness of the airplane in dealing with warships, but it is difficult to go back of the demonstrations. Attacks on targets, even when those targets are warships, may be regarded as being decidedly different than in the case of actual hostilities, but the accuracy of the bomb dropping and the destructiveness of the bombs are clearly established.

Under the provisions of the naval agreement resulting from the Washington conference each nation has a certain number of warships to send to the scrap heap. Scrapping may be done in one of several ways and for two of the vessels which this country was obliged to dispose of it was decided they should be turned into targets for airplane bombers.

These vessels were not types of the modern warship. They were built 20 years or so ago and had reached the point where they were due to be rated as obsolete. Such being the case it could hardly be expected that obsolete warships would show the same resistance that a modern dreadnaught would.

Today methods are adopted for the safeguarding of warships against attacks from the sky.

But be that as it may, whenever it is possible to send a warship to the bottom by bombs dropped from a height of 10,000 feet it indicates an accuracy of fire that means much and when it is shown that such bombs are effective even though they do not actually strike the vessel it demonstrates the degree of respect that must be shown by the navy to the airplane. The effect of the air bombers on naval activities, especially coastal operations can no longer be discounted. If all warships are not obsolete in face of their accomplishments their effectiveness is greatly lessened.

SHIPS IN THE FOG

The stranding of the City of Rockland in the Kennebec river brings to attention once more what danger is involved in navigating a ship through the fog. It is possible to steer by chart where there is plenty of room, but when it comes to piloting a ship down a river through a thick blanket of fog, especially if the channel is crooked and the way is beset by rocks and shoals, there is real danger unless there are ample guides for the man at the wheel. Groping along and taking chances that wild reckonings will get them through may succeed repeatedly but there comes a time when the pilot finds the reef which he knows is there.

Happily the City of Rockland affair resulted in no loss of life and was—save damage is sustained will be to the vessel, which may not be gotten off the ledge, but when it is indicated that the river is not sufficiently supplied with buoys or lights to guide the navigators at such a time it reveals a situation that calls for attention.

In the time of fog buoys and lights are not as effective as they might be but there are the bell and whistling buoys which bring relief to the pilot as soon as they are picked up. Safeguards of this character may well be insisted upon wherever navigation is sufficient to warrant it, and in lieu thereof for the safety of the passengers, the vessel and the cargo the anchoring of the ship until safety can be assured is worthy of consideration. It is preferable to take precautions instead of chances. Fog is a potential menace.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The man on the corner says: No one has been heard to complain because the dog days are over.

The first days of school wouldn't be so bad if it didn't mean that it is a long time to the next long vacation.

If the league of nations backs down before the defiance of one nation it might as well take in its sign and shut up shop.

The Japanese disaster has temporarily turned thoughts away from the threatened coal shortage, but we're still facing it.

Secretary Davis would have all disputes arbitrated. Settlement according to facts and not because of distress caused means justice.

Dealers are going to be interested in anthracite only up to the time when the people decide they want it no more and demand something else.

There is no law by which to punish rum runners outside the three mile limit. Protection for those handling liquor within depends upon circumstances.

Prof. Fisher says President Harding wanted a league and President Harding said that he wanted an association of nations. All of which probably referred to much the same thing but not the present league of nations.

It cost the miners heavily last year because of the strike and it will be an expensive strike if there is one this year. But they expect the public to shoulder that expense as well as bear the resulting hardships.

It hasn't been even intimated that Pennsylvania would reduce or eliminate that tax on coal in order to prevent the consumers from paying any increase in the price of coal.

AFTER THE MOVIE

The young man with the new gray suit and freshly polished tan shoes rested one elbow on the window sill of the car and looked down with undisguised admiration at the daintily pink cheek of his companion.

"Some swell show, what?" he commented happily.

If a guy can't buy 'em a swell bus and a swell home and a couple hired girls, he can go jump in the lake. I'll say he can!"

For a moment the girl looked puzzled. Then her expression changed. She moved closer to him, slipped a small hand under his arm and looked up into his face pleadingly.

"Say, Jack, lookit," she said, softly. "Just because I said that about rich folks maybe getting along swell didn't mean I don't think folks that's just kind of well off don't have a real swell time after they get married, too, because I think they do. I'll say I do."

"Honest, kid! Is that on the square?" he said, softly.

Her slender fingers slid down the muscular arm and were lost in the clasp of his big ones.

"You bet it is," she murmured happily. "I'll say it is."—Exchange.

Stories That Recall Others

Grandmother's Choice.

Mary was seven when she lost her grandmother last Easter. She was so grief-stricken that all her friends grieved with the child. She was so homesick for her grandmother at night time, because there was no one quite like grandmother to hear her prayers.

An answer came to these prayers of many years standing in the form of a healthy baby brother. Mary heard the neighbors' and friends' admiration of the baby and listened to the reciting of his goodness, and finally one day settled the whole matter by remarking: "Of course he is good and pretty. My grandmother picked him out in heaven, and she wouldn't have sent any other kind."

Always Fits.

A woman entered a men's furnishings store to buy her husband a hat such as she had seen in the window but couldn't remember the size.

"Funny I don't remember it," she added laughingly. "I've been buying his hats for years."

The proprietor promptly got out a hat, size 6 3-4, and handed it to her.

"How do you know this will fit him?" she asked.

"Because," he told her, "we find that 6 3-4 always fits a man who habitually lets his wife buy his hats for him."

CHILD TRAINING

Children's Prayers

Bertha Hayward Higgins

"Mother, I think I'm going to make a collection of prayers," said my small boy one evening.

"Very well," said I, "I think that will be fine. Are you going to paste them in a scrap book?"

"Yes, but I'm going to learn them first. But when can I say them? I can't say them all every night, can I?"

"Well, perhaps not if you have a large collection, but you can say your favorite one every night, and have the others ready for special occasions. There are so many times when you want to ask God for something, or thank Him for that which He has already given you. It would be very nice to have all ready for use, a collection of prayers which someone has already thought out and expressed in more beautiful language than you would be likely to use if you made them hastily."

Now whenever he finds a prayer which he wants to add to his collection, we read it through and discuss it, then we decide on what occasions it would be likely to have the most meaning for him. Some of course, have to be adapted to meet his needs.

I feel that in changing them I have been able to avoid dampening the religious feeling that is being awakened in the child, and I hope thus to avert the danger that arises wherever formal prayers are used—that they shall become a mere mechanical repetition of words.

I have always believed that a child's prayers should be spontaneous and natural, and that if formal prayer are used, they should be explained and made to have some real significance.

I believe too that the child should understand that he must do his part in having his prayer answered.

One of the prayers which Laddie had in his "collection" and which he has adapted to his needs, is for use when his baseball nine is going to play a game.

"But," said he, when we were discussing it, "what if one of the fellows on the other side prays as much as I do?"

Then I recalled to him the fact that "God helps those who help themselves," and together we summed up the conclusions, that regular systematic practice would be needed, and all the fellows on the winning team would need to be brave and honest, and always play fair."

I tried to make him see that while our prayers may not always be answered in just the way we expect, we will, if we do our part, always get either that for which we ask, or something better. In proof of this I recalled his disappointment last summer at the postponement of the Sunday school picnic, because of a rainy day when he had prayed for a sunny day. We had the picnic later on, and we also had a large quantity of blackberries, which we would not have had if the drought had continued, and we are still having blackberry jam.

Just as I have tried always to retain my child's confidence, to make him ever ready to have a "good talk over," as he calls it, so I have tried to make him feel that nothing which interests him is too small or too insignificant to be taken to God in prayer. And just as he has learned to feel that Mother and Dad are "good sports" and can understand and forgive his little boyish mistakes, so he is coming to realize the greater understanding and ever ready forgiveness of the "All-Father."

Just as the Indian lad when he went alone into the mountains to fast and pray ("mine a vision") was unconsciously setting up in his own mind the ideal into which his character would develop, so is the child who early forms the habit of prayer.

ROTARY CLUB'S TRIBUTE TO ARTHUR G. JENKINS

The regular noonday luncheon of the Norwich Rotary Club was omitted on Wednesday owing to the death of Rotarian Arthur G. Jenkins and at 2 o'clock a short meeting was held at which a fitting tribute was paid to his memory. The meeting was opened with the singing of America and President Charles A. Saxton paid a touching tribute to Mr. Jenkins, who was one of the most popular members of the club, saying that the club had lost a true Rotarian, one who exemplified the principles in his daily life upon which Rotary is founded. During his membership in the club Rotarian Arthur had lived close to these principles and even at last was thinking of others rather than himself. In the passing of Arthur G. Jenkins not only the Rotary club but the entire community suffers the loss of a true man.

At the conclusion of the meeting a large number of the members of the club attended the funeral services of Mr. Jenkins.

TROTTERS COLLIDE AND DRIVER HURT AT FAIRGROUNDS RACES

Two track events, a 2:16 pace and a 2:17 trot, half a dozen amateur and professional athletic events, vaudeville attractions and a balloon ascension comprised the afternoon's programme Wednesday, the closing day of the New London County fair at the fair grounds. The attendance Wednesday was 1,500 as announced by Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond, making the total attendance for the three days 17,500.

Trotters in Collision

John Dennehey, owner and driver of Elisabeth Axworthy, a Hartford horse, was thrown to the track in the second heat of the 2.16 pace when Elisabeth Axworthy ran into Henry R. a Sturbridge, Mass., horse owned by Albert L. Earyer, and had to be assisted to the scout first aid tent where he soon revived. No bones were broken in the fall.

The 2.16 pace, purse $500 was the first event run off, the starters numbering seven, two horses, Viola Seal, A. L. Earyer, Sturbridge and Peter Star, Charles Capewell, Woodbury, being withdrawn. Patsy Chatham, a Taftville horse owned by Nelson Fontaine, won the race and first money in three straight heats, Todd Fisher, W. C. Kinsella, Bridgeport taking second money, third money going to Henry R. and fourth to Grover E., owned by Thomas O'Brien of New Haven.

In the first heat Miss Calvert broke badly just after Starter D. H. Mulcahy gave the word and on account of the break was placed seventh by the judges, Patsy Chatham got away to a good lead and held it throughout the half mile winning the heat, Henry R. finishing second and Grover E. third.

The second heat proved unfortunate for Elizabeth Axworthy. Just as the horses were making the first turn Elisabeth Axworthy ran into Henry R., and both drivers were thrown. Mr. Dennehey driving Elisabeth Axworthy hit the track with such force that he was temporarily knocked out but Henry R's driver escaped injury. After first aid had been rendered Mr. Dennehy beside the track by Scout Executive F. A. Benton and several scouts the driver was helped into an automobile and taken to the scout first aid tent where he soon revived. He was out of the race however, Elisabeth Axworthy being drawn before the third heat.

The two driverless horses kept going, Henry R. being stopped on the back stretch but Elisabeth Axworthy raced around the track several times before being stopped. Because of the accident the judges placed Henry R. in 6th position and Elisabeth Axworthy in 7th.

The third heat was uneventful Patsy Chatham winning the heat and race, Todd Fisher finishing second and Henry R. third. The summary:

Sulky Wheel Collapsed

In the first heat, Esther Bond, going good and with fair chance of winning the heat, met with an accident on the south turn during the last quarter mile when the sulky skidded on a wet spot on the track and the left wheel collapsed. Neither driver nor horse was injured and were on the track again for the next heat, the horse being placed in 6th position by the judges because of the mishap. Famous Nutwood, J. F. Flood, Danielson, was distanced in the first heat. The summary:

In the tug of war which proved the feature attraction on the athletic program Riverview got the ribben for an inch and a half but before the three minute pull was up Ashland got the inch and a half back and two inches more.

The tug of war teams comprised the following:

Riverview—John Morley, Charles Murphy, Berdette Flynn, Albert Gray and Thomas Duggan, anchor.

Cornelius Crowley acted as starter and Prentice W. Chase, who was in charge of the events was assisted by L. M. Gingras and James Moore of Riverview, Norwich State hospital. Race officials in the judges' stand acted as timers, and the results were announced by Edward T. Connelly from the judges' stand.

Vaudeville Programme

Under the direction of Edward T. Connelly the halfg dozen free vaudeville acts were repeated from the race heats and athletic events and Swahn's band entertained with their usual excellent concert programme. The Italian band, as on the previous days, gave a concert programme on the main grounds, nearly the baseball diamond.

During the afternoon, Mary W., the brown mare which won fourth money in the county race Tuesday afternoon was sold at auction by her owner, Arthur C. Williams of Lebanon. The mare brought $110 and was sold to E. R. Pierson of this city.

Mr. Blumenthal, a Hartford visitor at the fair, entertained during the late afternoon with two whistling solos, accompanied by the band and got a big hand for his efforts. He was a volunteer number.

Balloonist Loses Parachutes

The balloon ascension brought the fair to a close about 5.30 o'clock. The air man was only able to make a single parachute drop owing to the fact that he has not yet found two of the parachutes used in the ascension Tuesday afternoon. Although continued search was made for the missing parachutes all day Wednesday in the neighborhood where they came down, no trace of them has been found.

Among the interested spectators at the fair Wednesday afternoon were about 180 patients and attendants from the Norwich State hospital. They were taken from the institution to the fairgrounds in two special trolley cars and on arrival at the fairgrounds were provided grand stand seats by the fair fair association, a courtesy which was greatly appreciated. Pop corn, soda and ice cream cones, etc., were provided for the visitors from the hospital. Dr. Franklin S. Wilcox, superintendent of the institution, was also present.

ELECTRICITY BURNS FATAL TO JOHN H. HUMPHREY

John Henry Humphrey of 326 Prospect street, superintendent of lines for the Eastern Connecticut Power Company, died at 2.55 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Lawrence-Memorial hospital in New London, of severe burns received Tuesday at the substation of the company when he came into contact with a bushing and received the charge of 33,000 volts that was passing through it.

Mr. Humphrey was born in Fairhaven, Vt., February 18, 1875, the son of the late John and Ann Brennan Humphrey. His early life was spent in his native city where he followed the line of a railroad construction engineer. About 15 years ago he came to Norwich and became line superintendent of the Shore Line Electric company remaining with that company until the organization of the Eastern Connecticut Power company. He then became superintendent of lines with this company, holding the position until his death.

In Troy, N. Y., on April 25, 1900, he was united in marriage to Mary C. Hogan. He was a member of St. Mary's Memorial church and was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Surviving him besides his wife is a son, Harold David, and an adopted son, Francis; one brother, Cornelius Humphrey of Fairhaven, Vt., and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas O'Brien of Poultney, Vt., Mrs. Chas. Hill of Salem, N. Y., and Mrs. Henry Downes of New York city.

Mr. Humphrey was a man who could be trusted to do any duty assigned to him and he was most efficient in his chosen profession. His chief joy was his home and he was a loving husband and father. In his death Norwich loses a valuable citizen, his company a trusted employe and his family a member whose place can never be filled. The news of his death was received by his many friends in Norwich with profound sorrow and sympathy is expressed for the bereaved family.

TWO WITH BROKEN LEGS WHEN TRUCK HITS POLE

New London, Sept. 5.—An automobile owned by the Nutmeg Bottling company of New London and operated by Samuel Riner, aged 32, of 750 Main street and with Guido Benvenuti, aged 18, of No. 9 Chelsea street, as a passenger, was wrecked at Niantic this evening when the truck was forced off the side of the highway and against a telephone pole. Riner and the youth were thrown from the truck, both sustaining fractured legs. They were brought to Lawrence hospital where the fractures were reduced.

It is alleged that a touring car, owned by a Bank street resident and traveling in the same direction as the truck, in attempting to pass the truck, caused Riner to guide his machine to the side of the road, resulting in Riner losing control of the wheel and causing the truck to plunge against the pole. State police officers are making a search for the owner of the offending car.

RUN OVER WHILE LEADING COW IN THE ROAD

Martin Church, 79, employed by George G. Grant, of Taftville at the Haughton farm in Montville, received abrasions on his feet when he was run over by a motor truck at the foot of Trading Cove hill, Wednesday evening about 7.30 o'clock.

Mr. Church was leading one of Mr. Grant's cows back to the farm from the New London County Fair, when a truck driven by a man in the employ of the Wilson and Co. beef concern of New London, going in the same direction, struck and knocked the old man down, throwing him under the truck, the two right wheels passing over the man's feet. The injured man was immediately taken to Mr. Grant's farmhouse in Montville, occupied by Mr. Rose. And Dr. John Donohue was called to treat his injuries. On account of his age Dr. Donohue removed him to the Backus hospital for treatment.

This Leaves the Arms Free from Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.

DANIELSON

"There will be two earth disturbances during August, one very serious." So predicted C. B. Montgomery, the Oneco sage on March 21 of this year and many have not failed to note a connection between this and the Japanese holocaust of last Saturday, which happened to be just one day removed from August. Mr. Montgomery notes that since his prediction and up to September 4, The Associated Press has chronicled 46 earthquakes of greater or lesser destructive force and two volcanic eruptions.

The March prediction of Mr. Montgomery also had this to say about September weather of this year:

"September 1 general drouth conditions will be with us; get in your crops that are ready, for September, 1923, is to be one long remembered; wells, mill streams, brooks and springs in New England will be dry or nearly so."

One may or may not have faith in long-distance weather predictions, but in this particular instance the fact remains that a prediction made last March is holding good at least for the first week of September. Brooks and springs were never nearer dry in this territory at this time of year than they are just now. Men who have labored to put thousands of fingerling trout in streams hereabouts are now worrying over the prospect of these fish dying because of lack of water in which to get along properly.

The Cloud Digger has made quite a record of his predicting proclivity during the past year and now at the end of the period covered by his last prediction there will be special interest in seeing just what September will do to make or break his reputation.

A house party entertained by Misses Evelyn and Gladys Salmon at their home, Indian Spring Farm, for several days included John W. Allen of Springfield, Ohio, a student at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy and William A. Rees of Providence, R. I., a senior at Bucknell, University, Lewisburg, Pa. Both Mr. Allen and Mr. Rees are former Mt. Hermon Seminary men and have been in Y. M. C. A. work for a number of years. John G. Olmstead of the United Y. M. C. A. Schools was also a guest. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudson, returning from a camping trip through the Berkshires and the White Mountains to their home in Riverhead, Long Island, camped at the farm and joined the party with their former Long Island neighbors.

Saturday of this week, at the George Bartholomew place, on Day street, West Side, there will be an event of interest to beekeepers. Prof. Crandall, bee specialist from the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs, is to give a talk on bees and a demonstration of transfering bees from one hive to another and of methods of introducing queen bees. His talk will be Relative to Foul Brood—American and European. The meeting is scheduled for 10 a. m. and is for all interested in bees and matters pertaining to them. A similar meeting was held in Hampton last week and was very successful.

PUTNAM

Application to the common council by William St. Onge for a permit to construct a theatre in Livery street, stirred the imagination of the people of the city when the fact became known Wednesday morning. Mr. St. Onge, who has been successful in real estate transactions in Putnam during the past few years, some time since acquired what is known as the Harper property in Livery street. The property is in the central section of the city and offers opportunity for the development of a theatre.

The present bridge across the Little river on the state highway leading out of this city on the route to Pomfret and Willimantic is to be replaced, it was stated Wednesday, with a new structure that will be erected a short distance south of the present bridge. The new bridge is to be put in as a feature of the highway improvement work now under way in this city and Pomfret. The present bridge sets at a bad angle on a curve in the highway. The new bridge in a new location will eliminate the bad features in the roadway at this point, and the improvement will be appreciated by all those who figure in the heavy traffic that moves over this route.

For the present the roadway near the bridge will not be improved because of the change that is to be made there.

Frank Smerzo, alias Frank Smerkel, the Webster man who went mad in the business section during the early hours of Tuesday morning and was lodged in the police station, after a terrific battle with the police and citizens, is now a patient at the state hospital at Norwich. Late Tuesday it became apparent that his commitment was immediately necessary, as he continued to be very violent. He was given a narcotic by Dr. E. F. Perry, but this at first seemed to have little effect upon him. It was found necessary to strap him, handcuffed to an ambulance stretcher, several officers lending their assistance in carrying out the operation against the violent struggling of Smerzo, who seemed possessed of super human strength. Officer John Ryan of the local police was in charge of Smerzo on the trip to the hospital.

The cost of replacing the plate glass that Smerzo smashed out of a window at the Bugbee and Wulf store will be about $200, this loss falling upon the owner of the building and not on the firm. As Smerzo is known to have money, it is likely that legal action will be taken to make him meet the cost of the damage he created here.

The report of Captain William Jarvis as filed with the common council shows that there were 24 arrests in Putnam during August, 12 of this number being for intoxication. Of the other arrests four were for violation of motor vehicle laws, three for breach of the peace, two for non-support. Four of those arrested were committed to jail.

The news of the death of John H. Humphrey, of Norwich, line superintendent for the Eastern Connecticut Power company, came Wednesday morning as a decided surprise and shock to his many friends in Putnam and nearby towns. News of the manner in which Mr. Humphrey was injured while inspecting a giant transformer at Waterford came to the knowledge of the public here through a news story in Wednesday morning's Bulletin and telephone inquiries as to his condition brought the information that he had died during the early morning hours. Mr. Humphrey first came into this territory about a score of years ago to have charge of line work for the trolley company and during the years that he worked along the Putnam line he became known to hundreds of people. He was especially well liked and likable and he has been remembered pleasantly throughout the years since he left this section to locate in Norwich.

A campaign for the special Red Cross Japanese relief fund was forecasted Wednesday for this city and adjoining territory, though no definite announcement was made as to just what the apportionment for the local chapter will be nor the methods that will be followed in raising it. Outstanding, however, is the certainty that the fund will not be difficult to raise, as universal sympathy is being expressed on all sides for the people of the stricken areas and this sympathy will be the foundation for liberal giving.

It so happens that the registration of pupils in the public schools of Putnam on the opening day—Wednesday—was identical with the figures for for 1922—a total of 844.

Figures made available by Supt. Joseph Jenkins Wednesday show that the high school has an enrollment of 226 this year, as against 226 in 1922. This year on the opening day only 34 were registered in the eighth grade at the high school as against 43 last year. The Israel Putnam school this year has 353, as against 341 last year. Smith street school has 70 as against 96 last year. At the Sawyer district 115 are registered as against 124 in 1922. The rural school registration this year is 83 as against 30 last year.

As is usually the case each year, an increase in registration is anticipated within a few days, as some children invariably are delayed in getting back to their studies or in starting out on their first year of school.

The great amount of travel that the Bar Harbor expresses are handling through this city has been indicated this week by the running northward during the daylight hours of many long trains of empty Pullmans, bound for Maine points, for the use of tourists who are coming out by the hundreds this week, as they have for the past ten days. The number of cars going north has been a revelation to many in Putnam who have watched them.

Some interior work remains to be done on the new St. Mary's school, which has just been dedicated by Bishop Ullan, but the work will not interfere with the use of the building during the school year now opened.

During Wednesday electricians were stringing lines of electric lights across Pomfret street and in Cargill park for the street fair that it is expected will bring the nurses' home fund of the Day Kimball hospital to completion. It is anticipated that this fair will add several thousand dollars to the fund.

Members of Anselm Mayette post, American legion, will be turning their attention soon to plans for the observance of Armistice day. While no committees have been appointed as yet or plans worked out, it was stated Wednesday that there will be formal observance of the day, the fifth since the fighting ceased over there.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Wulf and daughter plan to leave today (Thursday) for a motor trip to Cape Cod and a few days' stay in that locality.

Within the next fortnight Malcolm M. Willey of this city will take up his duties as a member of the faculty of Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H.

Motorists find much to interest them these days in the 1924 model cars being shown here and which are finding a ready market, some already being in service.

Dancing is continuing at Wildwood park during September following out a policy that Manager P. J. Sheridan found successful last year.

At Pomfret street the work of resurfacing the state highway is going on. The long hill leading in from Pomfret station is practically completed and the entire job through the street will be finished before long.

There was no concert in the square Wednesday evening, as was the weekly rule during August and no more will be held this season, it is said.

William T. Mullen, head of a Boston advertising firm is to be the speaker at the next gathering of the chamber of commerce. His subject will be advertising.

WESTERLY

Wednesday the public schools of the town of Westerly opened for the year. Superintendent of Schools Willard H. Bacon reports the registration for the first day as follows: Total registration for the town 3,069, as compared with 2,057 of the first day one year ago, a gain of 12. Registration figures this year as compared with a year ago, High school 285, 3 less; Elm Street 431, 23 more; Park Avenue 160, 20 less; Pleasant Street 652, 12 more; Chestnut Street 128, 7 more; Quarry Hill 114, 8 less; Dunn's Corners 19, 2 more; White Rock 66, 7 less; Bradford 214, 1 more. The greatest gain was at Pleasant Street, the greatest decrease at Park Avenue. At Pleasant Street so great is the registration that four Third grades are formed, and at this school two more grades, 5 and 6 are added to the part-time grades of a year ago, so that Grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 are to be operated on part-time basis. It was planned to have the new school building at the corner of Pleasant and High streets ready this school year, but at present rate of progress it will be another school year before it is completed. The new Bradford school building is progressing more rapidly and will probably be occupied by the middle of the school year.

ALL NEW LONDON'S SEIZED LIQUOR GOING BY SCHOONER TO NEW YORK

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 5.—The city election next Monday for the purpose of electing members to the city council will be legal so far as the signature of the Secretary of State is concerned. City Clerk Julian D. Moran and Director of Law Frank L. McGuire yesterday afternoon conferred with Deputy Secretary of State Lounsbury and the New London men were assured that the signature of Donald J. Warner, Secretary of State, would be placed on the ballots after M. McGuire had requested Attorney General Frank Healy to reconsider the opinion given by the latter last week that the ballots would be illegal if the name of the secretary did not appear on each.

Mr. McGuire was illegal for lack of endorsement. Under these circumstances the Attorney General advised Mr. Lounsbury to permit the endorsement of the ballot and to register his protest by means of a letter to the city clerk, which the secretary will do.

The matter still leaves open the question of the validity of the election, as an act of the general assembly this year requires political designation of candidates to appear on all ballots, whereas the charter of New London provides that city officials be elected on a non-partisan basis. No political designation will appear on the ballots.

They dropped in and there they found Chick Sullivan serving the thirsty. Hick made a grab for whatever Chick was serving, and got some of it, but not all. What he got Hick said was whiskey, and Chick and the owner of the place, McManus, were arrested. Chick was accused in the police court of selling intoxicating liquor. The court found sufficient evidence and Chick was fined $200. He was also sentenced to ten days in jail but that part of the judgment was suspended. Right after that both Chick and McManus were taken before the superior court on a bench warrant to answer for the offense of dispensing liquor. McManus is under suspended sentence in the common pleas court and it was said that the probability was that he would be required to serve the sentence imposed upon him by Judge Waller. Chick will have to answer a complaint in the upper court, too.

The liquor, about 1,200 cases and about 600 bags, each containing a half dozen bottles of Scotch and rye whiskey, was placed on trucks and loaded aboard the schooner by a force of laborers under the direction of Deputy Collector of Customs Jeremiah Dillon. The liquor has occupied every available space of storage in the custom house, including the boiler room and coal bins. It is planned for the Halcyon to leave port tomorrow morning and not under protection of a revenue cutter. The Halcyon is of the twin screw type of vessel and will make the trip in a single day.

At Sterling M. E. church Saturday Miss Dora E. Blanchrad, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Blanchard, became the bride of Walter Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hawkins of Oneco. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George H. Wright, pastor of the church. As the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Mary Noble, the bride, walking with her father, who gave her in marriage, proceeded down the center aisle to the altar, where she was met by the groom, and the double ring ceremony was performed under an arch of white with a background of ferns.

The church was beautifully decorated in white asters and ferns, the color scheme of green and white being carried out throughout the decorations. The arch under which the ceremony was performed was the work of William E. Wright, who had charge of the decorations. The seats for guests of honor were designated by white rosettes and festoons.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, attended by relatives and intimate friends. Lunch was served. The house decorations consisted of bouquets of autumn flowers.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. AWARDS TEN CONTRACTS

Contracts totaling close to $1,000,000, and involving the construction of more than 12 miles of road, in addition to a concrete bridge, have been awarded by the state highway commissioner. The total cost of the work will be $968,000, of which $169,280 in cement will be furnished by the state.

Ten contracts, in all, were awarded, the outstanding improvements being the construction of a new highway in New Hartford which will form a direct route from Hartford to Torrington and reduce the distance between these two places by approximately 12 miles.

This improvement begins at the Nepaug reservoir and connects with the improved road at the Torrington town line. From Hartford motorists will travel by way of Collinsville and Torrington, thereby eliminating the necessity of reaching Torrington by way of Thomaston or Winsted, as has been the case heretofore. It is an improvement that will mean much to the traveling public. It will cost approximately $200,000.

In the new construction on all ten contracts, there will be fourteen miles of plain and reinforced concrete, seven miles of bituminous macadam, more than a mile of waterbound macadam, 3,709 feet of asphalt and a concrete bridge at Collinsville.

Among the contracts awarded were the following in Eastern Connecticut:

Town of Mansfield: 10,480 feet of bituminous macadam on Mansfield Depot-Storrs highway, to A. Vita Company, Thomaston, for $87,479.40.

Towns of Putnam and Killingly, 12,200 linear feet of reinforced concrete on Putnam-Norwich road to A. Vita company, Thomaston, for $77,714, plus cement furnished by state.

With the cost of the cement deducted from the total cost of the work, the value of the the contracts awarded amounts to $809,205.33, which is one of the largest awards ever made in a single day by the state highway department. Work on all projects will begin at once.

Vienna is reported to have consumed 118,993,500 liters of beer the last year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Twenty railroads averaged, 79.04, net gain .10. High, 1922, 90.62; low, 74.75.

MARKET WAS QUIET.

New York, Sept. 5.—The upward movement of stock prices which was temporarily halted yesterday by selling reported to have been based largely on the Japanese disaster, was resumed in today's quiet session. Short interests apparently disappointed at the relatively small volume of liquidation brought out by the Japanese news, began to cover from the outset. This buying was augmented by the operations of pools and other speculators for the advance who began to discount the benefits that would accrue to American companies from orders for reconstruction and relief work in Japan.

Steel, food and textile stocks were the principal ones bid up in expectation of increased Japanese business. New York offices of the leading steel producers already have received inquiries from Japanese sources, companies mentioned in this connection being the United States Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Steel Corporation and Iron Products Corporation, stocks of which advanced 1 to 3 points.

Gains of 2 to 3 points also were recorded by such representative shares as Baldwin, Dupont, American Can, Mallinson Silk, Gulf States Steel, Corn Products, Julius Kayser, American Woolen and Loose Wiles Biscuit. National Biscuit and Continental Can touched new high prices for the year.

Chemicals and shippings also gave good demonstrations of group strength. Davison Chemical spurted 6 1-2 points to 49 after selling as low as 43 1-4, and Allied Chemical, American Agricultural Chemical common and preferred, Virginia Carolina Chemical common and preferred and American Cotton Oil preferred closed 1 to 3 points higher. Marine preferred closed 3 1-2 higher at 27 1-4 and American International Corporation gained 1 1-2.

A brisk demand for Chicago & Alton preferred, presumably based on reports of higher earnings, featured the railroad list, the stock closing nearly 2 points higher at 8 after selling as high as 8 3-8. Gains of 1 to 1 1-2 points also were established by New York Central, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific.

The money market exhibited an easier tone. Call money opened at 5 1-4 but eased off to 5 and thence to 4 1-2. Time money was quoted at 5 1-2 bid and asked with demand slightly in excess of supply. The commercial paper market was more active with an increasing amount of prime names going at 5 per cent.

Demand sterling established a new low for the year at $4.50 5-8 and then bounced back to $4.52 1-2. Recent weakness of sterling was attributed to speculative expectations of heavy drafts being drawn on London as a result of the Japanese earthquake. German marks also established a new low for all time at 3 1-4 cents a million. French and Belgian rates showed slight recessions.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Despite announcement of suspension of business by a grain company here, the wheat market today showed firmness, helped by export buying of 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and of 330,000 bushels of rye. Whea closed steady at the same on yesterday's finish to 1-4c off, September $1.01 3-8 and December $1.05 5-8 to $1.05 3-4. Corn finished 1-4c to 1-2c down, oats unchanged to 3-8c lower, and provisions at 2 to 10c decline.

Word that Greece had purchased 30,000,000 tons of durum and hard winter wheat for September shipment from the United States gave an upward swing to wheat prices at the outset, and firmness of Liverpool quotations in the face of yesterday's decline here counted as an additional bullish influence. On the advance in price, however, offerings increased, and the fact that one grain company was in financial difficulties acted as a check on buyers. Nevertheless, good support for values was forthcoming on all declines.

Predictions of rain in Canada likely to delay the crop movement were of considerable effect as a drop to the wheat market during the last part of the day, and so too, as evidence that export demand for Greece was being supplemented by purchasing for other European countries. Moreover, gossip was current that Russia had decided to prohibit grain exports. The gossip as to such action on the part of Russia, though, was unconfirmed. On the other hand, it was announced just before the close that 50,00 bushels of Canadian wheat, duty paid, had been imported for use at Minneapolis and Duluth.

Corn and oats were depressed at times by the closing out of trades by an embarrassed grain company. Something of an offset, however, resulted from reports that two or three weeks of favorable weather was yet needed to mature the corn crop in some sections.

Provisions were weak in sympathy with the hog market.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 5—Conflicting price movements took place in today's bond market. French issues exhibited moderate strength, French government 8s, Lyons and Framerican 7 1-2s each closing about a point higher. Japanese bonds developed a firmer tone although the 4s lost 1 1-4 points on the day. Austrian 7s dropped 1 point to a new low record for the year.

U. S. government bonds were heavy, probably in expectation of some new government financing in the next two weeks. Losses of 3-32 to 7-32 of a point were recorded by all active issues except the Liberty 3 1-2s, which were unchanged.

A sharp 2 1-4 point rise in Chicago & Alton 3 1-2s was the outstanding development in the railroad group, strength of this issue and the roads preferred stock being based on reports of higher earnings. Marine 6s also advanced more than a point in sympathy with the higher stock prices. Local tractions were heavy on reports of reduced earnings last month. Third Avenue adjustment 5s and Interboro Rapid Transit refunding 5s each losing 1 1-2 points. Commonwealth Power 6s also were heavy.

Announcement was made tonight that a public offering of $55,000,000 short term notes of the Argentine government to refund maturities due October 1 would be made tomorrow.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 5.—Prices rallied briskly in today's curb market after an early period of irregularity, oil shares led the advance but some good gains also were recorded by a number of industrial issues.

Gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by the Standard Oil Companies of Indiana and New York, Prairie Oil & Gas, Prairie Oil & Gas and Pehnsylvania Mexico Fuel. Cities Service advanced 2 1-2 and South Pennsylvania Oil, 2 3-4, the turn over in each case being small.

Gillette Safety Razor, up 3 1-4, was the individual strong spot in the industrial list. Motors were mixed, Durant gaining a point and Reo, 1-4, while Cleveland and Stutz each dropped a point. Glen Alden Coal advanced a point on rumors of an early resumption of anthracite mining.

Two hundred thousand shares of Park & Tilford, Inc., were admitted to trading, the day's transactions ranging from 27 1-4 to 26 1-4.

METAL MARKET.

New York, Sept. 5.—Copper quiet. Electrolytic spot and futures 13 1-4@13 7-8. Tin easy; spot and futures 41.37. Iron steady, prices unchanged. Lead steady, spot, 6.75@7.00. Zinc firm; East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.50@6.6. Antimony, spot, 7.50.

MONEY.

New York, Sept. 5. — Call money easier; high 5 1-4; low 4 1-2; ruling rate 5 1-4; closing bid 4 1-2; offered at 5; last loan 4 1-2; call loans against acceptances 4 1-2.

COTTON.

New York Sept. 5.—Spot cotton quiet; midling 26.30.

AMERICAN LEGION TO SHOW REMARKABLE PICTURE

Arrangements have just been completed by the Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, of the American Legion, for bringing to Norwich Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 12 and 13, the American Legion film classic, A Man Without a Country. This unusual film feature will be shown at the Breed theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 12 and 13.

The Man Without a Country is said to be one of the most remarkable photoplays ever produced. When the picture had its world premier at Washington, D. C., the top admission price was $10. The picture has had a long run in New York city, where most critical reviewers described it as a "picture that will stir the blood of every American."

The picture is based upon Dr. Edward Everett Hale's masterpiece. Arnold Daly plays the leading role of Philip Nolan, "the man without a country," who was banished after he had damned his country while on trial for complicity with Aaron Burr's treason plot. Patriotism and love are the keynotes of the production which are worked out to a surprising conclusion.

Commander John Cunningham of the Robert O. Fletcher post announces that the proceeds derived from the showing of the picture will be used by the local post in carrying on its program of activities, including the care of the sick, disabled and needy ex-service men.

Mayor Milo R. Waters is to draft an open letter to the people of eastern Connecticut urging them to see The Man Without a Country.

Admission will be: Evening 50 cents, afternoon 25 cents, children 15 cents (afternoon only). No war tax.

Vaudeville at the Strand Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

One of the real old vaudeville veterans and a great favorite is the feature vaudeville attraction at the Strand for the last half of this week. He is Charles B. Lawler, writer of the famous song The Sidewalks of New York. He is assisted in his new comedy skit by his daughter, Miss Alice Lawler.

Nicholas Casa and Elise Lehn in A Terpsichorean Fantasy are sure to be a hit.

Those theatregoers who yearn for beauty in every form will have many reasons for praising B. P. Schulberg's production, Refuge, Katherine MacDonald's latest and probably her best First National picture, which has its local premiere at the Strand theatre today.

Not only does Miss MacDonald look her best in this production, but her gowns, the settings and the photography are more than ordinarily pleasing to the eye.

The story provided by Lois Zellner is one of colorful adventure, surprising turns and quirks and suspense of the sort that holds the attention of the onlooker from the very first shot to the final scene.

Refuge is the strange tale of the adventures of a countess in a fictitious European country and a band of wandering soldiers who, suddenly meeting her under unusual circumstances, espouse her cause.

Too much credit cannot be given to the members of this remarkably well cast company. Hugh Thompson, tall and handsome, enacts the heroic role of the story, while Arthur Edmund Carewe is the bad man. Others whose work stands out are Fred Malesta, Gordon Russell, Eric Mayne, Victor Potel, Grace Morse and Gunnis Davis.

Breed Theatre.

Could the gallant knights of the days of Ivanhoe but see the array of armor begirt adventurers who disported themselves on the screen last night at the Breed they would grit their teeth and wax green with envy. Certainly, if spirits come back to earth, they would have placed their names, long renowned in song and fable, in the lists of the tourney. Tom Mix, in this latest Fox production, Romance Land, seemed to be the reincarnation of one of those dare-devil knights of yore come to earth again to give the twentieth century an example of the chivalry that obtained in the golden days of romance.

The atmosphere of the picture seems to be imbued, like the two main characters of the screen story, with the inspiring thoughts that come down to us through Walter Scott's Ivanhoe and the tales of King Arthur. The portrayal given by Tom Mix and the girl are of the highest calibre. The rest of the cast meets every requirement. The photoplay is particularly well done. The tournament scene, handled in true western fashion, is glowing with excitement.

Seldom has a photoplay met with such an enthusiastic reception. The producer has made good every promise sent out in advance for this screen creation. For sheer entertainment, for a well spent evening, go to the Breed to see Romance Land. It will be shown for the last times today.

Other pictures on the bill include Lupino Lane in A Friendly Husband, a super comedy in five reels, and Movie Chats.

Sale of Cottage at Poquetanuck.

Burdick & McNicol, real estate brokers, have sold for Mary E. Bonin her cottage, located near the village of Poquetanuck, Conn. The sale was made to Francis W. Barber and Marjorie M. H. Barber of Norwich.

The successful winner in the fishpole casting was Jessie Cottrell; Everett Kenyon in the cucumber race; Clintno Woodmansee, cane ring; Mary Bristow, Boston tea party; Joseph Sherman and Hazel Broach, spelling bee. ## THE GRAY DAY.

Today is a ragged wanderer
From November's palaces—
It is never a September day—
The wind blows raw
The leaves whip and turn
The trees bend in agony
And rain drips continuously
From a gray sky.

Out in the garden
My poppies nod
Scarlet, pink, spidge
Trying to make me remember
That it is still
A long way to winter.

The cornflowers are blown and blown
And the hydrangeas
Sweep against the grass.
Too rain heavy to hold up their heads.

No, it isn't winter yet.
But why, cold, gloomy day,
Did you come to remind me
That it is no longer summer?

The poppy petals drop and blow
And only the seed pods bend
Awkward and ugly
Under the wind.
It is a sign
Summer has fulfilled her purpose:
The harvest hurries.

Oh, let us draw the curtains
And forget!
Perhaps the sun will shine
Tomorrow.
—Abigail Cresson, in New York Herald.

THE FUTURE.

What may we take into the vast Forever?
That marble door
Admits no fruit of all our long endeavor.
No fame-wreathed crown we wore,
No garnered lore.

What can we bear beyond the unknown portals?
No gold, no gains
Of all our toiling in the life immortal
No hoarded wealth remains,
Nor gilds, nor stains.

Naked from out that far, abyss behind us
We entered here;
No word came with our coming to remind us
What wondrous world was near,
No hope, no fear.

Into the silent, starless Night before us
Naked we glide;
No hand has mapped the constellations
O'er us,
No comrade at our side,
No chart, no guide.

Yet fearless toward that midnight, black and hollow,
Our faltering steps fare;
The beckoning of a Father's hand we follow—
His love alone is there,
No curse, no care.
—Edward Rowland Sill.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"You can generally reach a man's heart through his stomach."

"Yes, or by feeding his vanity."—Boston Transcript.

"I have no trouble with my husband whatever," said a woman in the County court. "I just put him to bed before I go out, and he is as good as anything until I come back."—Exchange.

She—I wouldn't marry you if we were the last two on earth.

He—Why not?

Flubb—What gives you the impression that Dobbs has lived in New York only a short time?

Dubb—He can rattle off the name and location of every public statue in the city.—St. Louis Star.

Talkative guest—(helping himself to another cigar)—I feel regularly wound up tonight.

First Waitress—Don't wait on that fellow just coming in.

Second Waitress—Why not?

First Waitress—He's so mean he wouldn't even leave an asparagus tip on the table.—Portland (Me.) Express.

Aunt (calling)—Why, what a pretty chain you have, Marjorie. Is it gold?

Marjorie—No, auntie; I guess it's just flavored with gold, that's all.—Boston Transcript.

Author—Why did you leave the theatre last night before the play was finished?

Friend—I am not responsible, for that. I'm a sleepwalker.—Kasper (Stockholm).

"Are you in favor of an eight-hour day?"

"Not for my own purposes," replied Senator Sorghum. "If I were limited to eight hours in attending to my business I wouldn't even get far enough along to be mentioned in the primaries."—Washington Star.

She was romantic, but plain. As she wandered along the sea front she met a man whom she knew slightly. They walked on, and came to a steep bit of cliff.

"Why," she said, "surely this is the place where the girl fell into the sea last year, and was rescued by the gallant man who afterwards married her."

"Yes," he said. "This is the place. But I can't swim."—Exchange.

The friends of the dead in China beg permission to burn quaint pasteboard images of men and cattle, shaped in crinkled paper, on the spot where the dead lie. The ceremony is a mark of respect, and is believed also to act as a sedative on the departed spirits.

The breeding of snakes has become a cocognized industry. The skin of the snake is used in making many leather novelties, while the fat of the snake's carcass yields an oil which is valued in the treatment of muscular rheumatism. Even for the snake's venom there is a market, since it has a recognized medicinal value and finds a ready sale among physicians and chemists.

You Can Buy a Complexion But It Won't Last

You Can Develop a Lovely Skin by Using the In-Accord-With-Nature Method

IF you could study your skin under the microscope you would soon learn how to obtain and preserve a good complexion. You would understand why two soaps are necessary, first to cleanse the skin and its thousands of tiny pores which catch and retain dust and other impurities floating in the air; second, to tone up and preserve the natural functions by which the skin is kept attractive.

There is a new way, a simple way, but an effective way, to do these vitally necessary things. Use because one soap cannot both clean and tone, or preserve, at the same time. Beauty specialists agree upon this fact. VENIDA CLINTONIC SOAP is the cleansing soap.

It should be used with warm or even hot water; make a rich lather, apply to the face generously with gentle rubbing. Then rinse off with clear water. Then use VENIDA TONIC SOAP with cool or cold water, make a free lather, apply, allow to remain a few moments without rubbing, then rinse off with cool water. Do this for a week and watch the results. Your complexion will improve. You will feel cleaner and more comfortable. Further, you are making use of the best principles of the best method of complexion culture, at a very small cost.

SPECIAL! Ask for Venida Clintonic Twin Soaps at your druggist or department store, or wherever Venida Soaps are sold. If you do not find them there, send us 25 cents and we will forward you a full size cake of the cleansing soap and a sample of the toning soap. Use the coupon and we will supply you direct.

GETS AMSTON MAN FOR NEW YORK AUTHORITIES

Deputy Sheriff Allison L. Frink of Andover received a telegram from Ward M. Truesdell of Sherburn, N. Y., district attorney of Chenango county Saturday morning, that J. Fred Spohn was wanted by the New York state authorities for abandonment of his children, and was thought to be in Amston. Mr. Frink went to Amston immediately and found his man, bringing him to Columbia, where Mr. Frink was obliged to stop at the town hall to testify in the Megura vs Banbura trial, which was then in progress. He then took Spohn to State's Attorney Noon at Rockville, but no justice being available, Mr. Frink went to Gilead with Spohn, before Justice Hart E. Buell, who placed him under bonds of $500—given by Edward Raymond, to appear before him daily until extradition papers from New York have been received.

The crime for which Spohn is arrested is a felony in the state of New York, and the authorities have been looking for Spohn during the past year.

It is understood that Spohn will fight extradition.

OSWEGATCHIE AND PEQUOT CASINO CASES BEFORE COURT

Arrests made within the past week at the Pequot Casino, New London, and the Oswegatchie house, Waterford, two well known fashionable resorts, where it is charged, there has been violation of the liquor law, brought the cases to the superior criminal court here Wednesday afternoon when the accused persons were put to plea.

John S. Carney, proprietor of the Pequot Casino, and Henry Pallysani, an employe, pleaded not guilty to the sale of liquor on Aug. 29, and to keeping from July 1 to August 31, an establishment where liquor was reputed to be sold. William Smith pleaded not guilty to a sale at the place on August 14 and to the second count in the information. They all elected to be tried by jury. Attorney G. C. Morgan appeared for them and the bonds of $7,500 and $5,000 given for them in the lower court were continued.

Edna Weaver Manwaring, proprietress of the Oswegatchie house, pleaded not guilty to keeping liquor for sale on Aug. 29 and to keeping a bar between July 1 and Aug. 31, where it was reputed liquor was sold.

Percival White, colored, a waiter at the place, pleaded not guilty to selling a quart of whiskey there.

Attorney Thomas E. Troland argued for a nominal bond in the case of Mrs. Manwaring, stating that she had made no sales herself and did not keep liquor there for sale and he did not believe 5 cents worth of liquor had been sold at the place. If any had been sold it had been against her orders and without her knowledge. State Attorney Hull combatted his argument with the statement that liquor had been sold to mere girls to the point of intoxication and that it had been dispensed at the rate of $18 a quart. He asked for a $5,000 bond. Judge Allyn L. Brown made the bond $3,000 in the case of Mrs. Manwaring and also in White's case. A New London merchant provided the bonds for both.

For Transporting Liquor

Nastrallo Facchini of New London, pleaded not guilty to the charge of transporting liquor in Waterford on August 28. He elected to be tried by the court. He is under bonds of $10,000.

Francis J. McManus, who was arrested at a Winthrop street place in New London Tuesday, was before the court on the charge of violation of the liquor law. He pleaded not guilty and bonds were fixed at $5,000. He was unable to furnish bonds and was taken to jail after court adjourned.

On Manslaughter Charge

John Mayheu of Willimantic pleaded not guilty to the charge of statutory manslaughter in an automobile accident on Franklin hill, Aug. 18, when Charles Manning was thrown from the machine and killed. It is alleged that Mayheu was driving under the influence of liquor. He elected to be tried by the court. Attorney W. A. King of Willimantic is his counsel.

Given Year in Jail.

When court came in for the morning session, the matter of sentence for Edward A. S. Kangesier, 25, a sailor, came up before Judge Brown. Kangesier was accused of bigamy in marrying Lillian Elliott in New London on April 30, 1922. She was in court and wept as Attorney G. C. Morgan presented arguments for leniency for Kangesier. Judge Brown questioned the man and then gave him a sentence of a year in jail.

Charles Tessano of Groton pleaded guilty to the charge of indecent exposure and he was fined $50 and costs. He had been originally charged with indecent assault but this morning the charge was changed to the one to which he pleaded guilty.

Sentence for Boy Burglars

Alexander Olbrys, Robert H. Powers, Charles Lansky, Sigmund Simolenski and Alexander Buscho all of New London and all minors, were put to plea on charges of statutory burglary in breaking and entering Lyon & Ewald's hardware store in State street about a month ago and stealing about $200 worth of revolvers. They pleaded guilty. Olbrys, Powers, Lansky and Simolenski were all sentenced to the reformatory at Cheshire and then placed on probation. Buscho was given the same sentence to run after he has completed an unexpired jail term in Middletown.

AUTOMOBILE MANSLAUGHTER CASE WILL BE FIRST TRIAL

Jury trials are to start at once in the September term of the superior court this city. Four were assigned for Thursday and Friday of this week by Judge Allyn L. Brown in court Wednesday afternoon.

The trial of Joseph Contino of New London on the charge of statutory manslaughter was set for 10 o'clock standard time, this (Thursday) morning. Contino was driving a machine in New London May 20 which ran into a tree, causing injuries to Tony Longo, a passenger, from which he died June 3. It is alleged Contino was under the influence of liquor. He is out on bail.

Another case assigned for Thursday is John Epstar, charged with indecent assault upon Helen Cook in Montville on May 20. He has been in jail since he was arrested. The third case for Thursday is Augusto Pelligrini charged with assault with intent to murder Leo and Nettie Bartolucci at New London, July 9, using a knife and a pistol.

For Friday this week at 9 a. m. standard time, the case of May Oddo Gammons of New London is assigned. She is accused of assault and battery upon her daughter, Constance, upon five different dates in June, July and August.

Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People In Two Weeks Time

In many instances, says City Physician, persons have suffered for years without knowing what made them feel tired, listless and run-down, when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—how to tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, and does not injure teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this by all good druggists.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

It is said that creams containing animal grease cause hair to grow. You run no risk of acquiring superfluous hair from using ordinary mercolized wax. There is nothing better for a discolored skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimpled skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. Soon you will observe a most remarkable transformation.

The ideal wrinkle remover is made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost immediate results.

HOW FAT ACTRESS WAS MADE SLIM

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription, and now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year, keeps her weight just right, without weakening diets, dangerous exercises, or absurd greases and salves. All good druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4611 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are harmless and effective.

TERRITORY DEVASTATED IN JAPAN IS 100 MILES SQUARE

Zone Includes Tokio and Four Other Large Cities—It is Estimated That 70 Per Cent. of the Cities and Towns Within a Radius fo 100 Miles of Yokohama and Tokio Have Been Destroyed—Thousands of Homeless People Are Encamped in Parks in Tokio—American People Liberal in Contributions for Relief of Earthquake Sufferers.

(By the Associated Press)

The terrible sweep of the Japanese earthquake is being disclosed in direct cable and wireless dispatches now coming from Iwaki, the radio station connecting from Tokio and from Osaka, Nagasaki and other points contiguous to the devastated region. Yokohama has been literally engulfed, the destruction covering not only the city itself but a zone more than a hundred miles square, including Tokio and four other large cities. This is one of the most densely populated sections of Japan, with some seven million people within the stricken area. A direct message from the Iwaki station, with which Tokio has established courier connections, says the Japan Home Office announces 30,000 dead at Tokio, 100,000 injured, and 550,000 homeless. The great commercial port of Yokohama is destroyed, and only one fourth of the capital city of Tokio remains. It estimates that 70 per cent. of the cities and towns within a radius of a hundred miles of Yokohama and Tokio are destroyed. Order has been restored in Tokio where thousands of homeless people are encamped in parks and other open spaces. The government is feeding them scanty rations.

Yokohama, annihilated.

Yokosuka, twelve miles across the sea from Yokohama, damaged greatly, to an extent unknown. Population 100,000 or more.

Kozu, a way station for tourists, spared.

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTIONS FOR STRICKEN IN JAPAN

New York, Sept. 6.—New York has passed the goal of $1,000 000 set for it in the nation's campaign for $5,000,000 to aid sufferers in stricken Japan. Tonight members of the New York chapter of the Japan relief committee of the American Red Cross announced the "sky as the limit" in its drive for funds and it was predicted, unofficially, that the metropolis alone would donate a sum almost equal to that asked from the entire country.

Contributions, many of them for thousands of dollars each, came so fast that the committee was unable to tabulate them. At noon it was announced unofficially that the donations had reached $1,000 000. By nightfall many more had been received. Many organizations had started separate drives for funds, their totals to be sent in later to help swell the grand total for the city. Churches prepared for special collections at next Sunday's services, and along brightly lighted Broadway theatrical men were planning benefit performances.

The largest contribution announced today was $150,000 given by the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries. The General Electric Company gave $100,000 and the National City bank and National City Company gave $50,000. These donations alone brought the total to $500,000 while countless others ranging from $1 to $50,000 poured in to help swell the total. A list of those contributing more than $10,000 each read like a directory of New York's financial institutions.

RED CROSS TO SPEED UP RELIEF MEASURES

Washington, Sept. 6.—Responses to the Red Cross appeal to the American people for $5,000,000 for the relief of earthquake sufferers in Japan continued unabated today, and belief was expressed that the amount would be pledged by Monday. Officials emphasized that $5,000,000 is the minimum sought.

Reports to national headquarters were too meagre for an estimate of the amount thus far subscribed in various sections of the country. To date, however, $170,960, has been received in contributions made direct to the headquarters here.

Advices from Boston said its quota of $255.000 had been raised.

The executive committee of the Red Cross spent the entire day in session in order to speed up relief measures. Word was received that three hundred tons of supplies had been shipped on the President Taft, which sailed for Yokohama from San Francisco, and that a large consignment of food, medical and hospital supplies were being sent to Japan aboard the Tyndarius by the people of Seattle.

PRESIDENT GRANT IS TAKING MEAT TO TOKIO

Hong Kong, Sept. 6.—(By the A. P.)—The President Grant is sailing for Japan today with a cargo of frozen meat. There has been difficulty in obtaining adequate refrigerator space which prevents a larger supply of meat going on the liner.

The Hong Kong council today appropriated $250,000 for Japanese relief. One company has offered the International Relief Committee operating in Job 80,000 pounds of beef.

U. S. CONSUL KIRJASSOFF WAS BURNED TO DEATH

Nagasaka, Japan, Sept. 6.—(By the A. P.)—The American Consul at Yokohama, Max D. Kirjassoff, who perished with his wife in the disaster, was burned to death after taking refuge in the office of the Governor of Kanagwa, a station on the railway between Yokohama and Tokio. The Governor himself has made public this information, with the statement that it was impossible to rescue them.

MARCINO ADMITS HAVING TAKEN $213,000 IN SECURITIES

Boston, Sept. 6—Joseph B. Marcino, brought from Houston, Tex., to face trial on the charge of wrecking the First National Bank in Wurren last February admitted that he took $213,000 in securities from the bank, according to Assistant United States Attorney John V. Sullivan, Marcino declared he knew where the bonds are and hoped that the bank would recover every dollar, Sullivan said.

Marcino explains his action, Sullivan said, by claiming that when he took the securities he "was oppressed in his business ventures and for the time being had lost the use of his reason."

"I fully intended to replace the bonds" Marcino was quoted as saying, "and my only desire now is to aid in their recovery."

CANCEL LECTURE DATE OF PROF. IRVING FISHER

Salem, Ohio, Sept6.—Professor Irving Fisher, Yale economist and lecturer for the League of Nations Association of New York, will not speak in Salem. The Salem committee wired Professor Fisher today, cancelling his engagement for Sunday night because they informed him of adverse sentiment created here by Fisher's alleged recent statements that the late President Harding favored the League of Nations, but did not dare make his personal views public.

Withholding of such a statement credited to Harding until after his death, caused opposition to Fisher's plans to speak here, the committee advised the professor.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY POSTOFFICE CLERKS

Washington, Sept. 6.—C. P. Franciscus, of New York City, was re-elected President of the United National Association of Post Office clerks at the closing session today of the annual convention of the organization. Minneapolis was selected as next year's convention city.

THEFT OF RAW SILK VALUED AT $150,000 to $300,000

New York, Sept. 6.—Sometime between last Saturday and Tuesday burglars entered a warehouse on Vesey street through a hole made in a brick wall, and escaped with raw silk valued at $150,000 to $300,000 belonging to the Japanese importing firm of Suzuki and Company.

Detectives placed a value of $150,000 on the loot, but company officials declared it was worth twice that amount because of the scarcity of silk due to the earthquake in Japan.

FORD TO RECONSIDER HIS MUSCLE SHOALS OFFER

Washington, Sept. 6.—(By the A. P.)—After conferences with President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks here today, Henry Ford announced that he had "taken under advisement" a request of the War Secretary, concurred in by the chief executive to modify his offer for the purchase and lease of the Government's power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

Secretary Weeks is understood to have informed Mr. Ford that the government would be compelled under the contract agreement with the Alabama Power Company to sell the Gorgas Power plant on the Warrior River to it, although there was some dispute as to the legal status of the agreement, it was the War Secretary's belief that Mr. Ford should eliminate the Gorgas unit from his offer without sacrificing the end he has in view relative to the operation of the Muscle Shoals property.

Neither President Coolidge nor Secretary Weeks was willing that the Alabama Power Company should be allowed to buy the Gorgas plant until Mr. Ford had been consulted. The power company had formerly offered $5,000,000 for the plant.

STEAMSHIPS FINED MUST PAY BEFORE CLEARANCE

New York, Sept. 6.—Two of the four steamships fined by the government for bringing immigrants into Quarantine a few minutes befort September 1 after the August quota had been filled, sailed today after money covering the fines had been deposited with the collector of customs.

The steamers were the Esperanza of the Ward Line and the Estonia of the Balti-American Company. Officials of the company denied that they had been officialy notified of the fine but theey could not get clearance paperes for the ships without making the deposits.

The other two steamers involved, the Braga of the Fabre and the Byron of the Gree kLine, have not yet applied for clearance papers.

The steamship companies were fined $300 plus the passage money for each immigrant alleged to have been brought in ahead of time. The fines total nearly $600,000.

The amount the American-Baltic company was forced to deposit as security for the fine against the Estonia was $10,000. The fine against the company will be $170,400.

Anthracite Issues Are Being Dissolved

Governor Pinchot is Breaking Down the Barriers Between the Miners and the Operators.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—(By the A. P.)—Governor Pinchot's protracted attempt to bring operators and miners to an agreement upon the four points which he tendered as a basis of settlement of the difficulty, he announced at the conclusion of executive sessions with them today had been successful in part. He gave out a summary of the situation, upon which Mr. Lewis would make no comment, but which S. D. Warriner, chairman of the operators policy committee, declared to be acceptable. In it the operators were represented to have left out all of the demands for arbitration of wage scales.

The union leaders and the operators' group the Governor said, had agreed upon definitions for the various terms. The Governor's original settlement proposal, he pointed out, had involved granting of the eight hour day, full recognition of the union by the operators, a uniform increase of ten per cent. for all employs and the recognition of collective bargaining in the industry. It had been agreed that in establishing the eight hour day that men whose working hours had been reduced would be given increases identical to those agreed upon for maintenance men who are being kept at work during the suspension of mining. It was further agreed, his statement continued that the Anthracite Conciliation Board should make a study of wage rates, and recommend adjustments to the next joint conference between the union leaders and the operators' committee.

There was likewise an understanding upon how collective bargaining methods were to be applied to mining operations.

"The operators authorized me to say for them that they are in accord with the four points as thus interpreted and are prepared to accept them" Governor Pinchot continued. "In authorizing this statement the operators desire to have it understood that they do so on condition that the terms as to the open and closed shop laid down in the Roosevelt Award shall run with any new contract to be based upon the four points

"The miners authorize me to say that they are in accord with and prepared to accept certain of the four points as interpreted above but these are not yet prepared to give up their demand for the check-off or for an additional increase of pay to pay men in excess of ten per cent. in authorizing me to express their acceptance of the provisions respecting collective bargaining as interpreted above, the mine d esire to have it understood that they do so on condition that the words "such as opening a new seam of coal" shall not be construed as excluding pillar work.

"At my suggestion the miners will take further time to consider this matter and both sides will return for further conference at three P. M. tomorrow."

The operators group were indicated to have accepted completely the Governor's settlement proposal, having withdrawn the proviso that the wage increase be hinged upon an agreement by the union to submit the question of its modification to arbitration after one year. The union stand was practically unchanged, since Mr. Lewis and his associates have sought increases estimated to range from 75 to 90 cents per day for the 100,000 workers employed on a day basis in the anthracite operations. The Governor's ten per cent. increase suggestion would give those men from 42 to 60 cents.

The union has likewise tentatively tendered an agreement to limit the application of the "check off" which is a system by which employers would be required to hold out pay checks and turn over to local unions the amount of dues assessed against each member. It is further tentatively agreed to accept the ten per cent. increase for the 50,000 or more contract miners.

There are pending a total of 11 separate demands by the union, only three or four of which are covered in the Governor's settlement proposals, which might possibly be raised again in negotiations, though some of them are regarded as of secondary importance. These were not taken up in any of the executive conferences prior to tonight's partial agreement Governor Pinchot indicated a belief that they could be handled without difficulty.

There were no figures presented as to the cost of the varying wage increases under consideration.

Operators have estimated that the ten per cent flat increase would add $30,000,000 per annum to the wage cost of coal.

Powder Explosion At Perth Amboy, N. J.

Three Persons Are Known to Have Been Burned to Death —Several Seriously Injured.

South Amboy, N. J., Sept. 6.—Three men and a boy were killed and 27 persons were injured, 116 probably fatally, by an explosion of thousands of cases of smokeless powder which was being transferred from barges to freight cars on the banks of the Raritan river.

The explosion, caused by a fire which started on one of the barges, rocked the entire countryside, blew automobiles upside down on the road nearby and enveloped everyone within a hundred yards in a sheet of flame. Two of the men killed were Winston Taylor and William Trench of Newark. The third was unidentified. The boy, whose body has not been recovered, was blown into the river by the force of the explosion.

The powder consisted of a shipment of 168,000 cases belonging to the Atlas Powder company.

The train of burning cars, in charge of Conductor Thomas Kennedy of Perth Amboy, was immediately hauled from the scene, blazing, and left standing on a trestle bridge crossing the main automobile road. Motorists approaching slowed down their cars to watch the fire, ignorant of what the cars contained. The first explosion stalled all the engines, and those in the automobiles were left helpless.

Firemen and ambulances arriving from the center of the city and from Perth Amboy found men and women, their clothes in tatters, dashing madly about beating each other in a futile effort to put out the flames.

They were immediately rushed to hospitals, where doctors marvelled that some of those still living had not been burned to death in the first blast.

Captain Foss said his nephew, 13 years old, had started with him to run for safety when the fire first started, but that he had disappeared after the first explosion. The captain feared the boy had been burned to death, or blown into the river. It is thought that this is not the boy who is known to have been drowned.

The fire was brought under control after three hours fighting.

609 WIDOWS ARE NOW RECEIVING STATE AID

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6.—The passing of the six hundred mark in the number of widows regularly receiving financial aid from the state has been reported to State Treasurer G. Harold Gilpatric by Raymond F Gates, head of the department of state agencies and institutions. For the partial support, $21,834.97 was paid to widows in the past fiscal year, an increase of $58,263.42 over the payments in the previous year.

There were 609 widows and 1,554 dependent children under 16 years old on the state list at the beginning of the current fiscal year, July 1, an increase of fifty eight widows and 168 dependent children. By the approval of an application from a widow with fourteen children, the state acquired the most widows' aid case in the forty-two states and two territories of the country in which this form of aid is being extended.

Twenty widows who remarried during the year have been stricken from the list. Payments to sixty-eight others were discontinued, making an increase of thirty-six discontinuance over the record of the previous year, due to various reasons, including "aid no longer necessary, family now self-sustaining" and "children have reached 16 years of age," as well as "widow re-married."

Owing partly to the improved industrial situation, the state was able, according to Agent Gates, to reduce the amount of allowance in 156 cases. New Haven, with 99, had by far the greatest number of beneficiaries, Hartford coming second, with 46 and Bridgeport third with 44.

LIVES ENDANGERED BY LIVE WIRES IN HARTFORD

AMBASSADORS TO DEAL WITH THE GRECO-ITALIAN CRISIS

Council of the League of Nations Has Agreed to Send the Minutes of Its Meeting to the Council in Paris—Action Was Taken to Hasten the Solution of the Dispute—The Competency of the League to Deal With the Question is to be Discussed at a Later Date—Regard the Life of the League of Nations at Stake.

Geneva, Sept 6. (By the A. P.)—The Council of the League of Nations adjourned today after agreeing to send the minutes of its meeting to the council of Ambassadors in Paris

The effect of this decision is to submit a practical plan of settlement before the council of Ambassadors, and thus to hasten solution of the Greco-Italian crisis. It was decided to discuss the question of the competency of the League at a later date.

Before adjournment Signor Salandra, Italy's chief representative, announced his intention to abstain from voting without committing himself on the question of the competency of the League.

Paul Hymans, Belgium's representative, said that he had great sympathy with Italy but that he must in conscience declare that he could not accept the Italian viewpoint on the supported Belgium.

Signor Salandra said that the Italian Government alone had the right to discuss the question of reparations, and therefore Italy could not accept any suggestion from the council. He then announced that he would abstain from voting on the resolution without committing himself on the question of the League's competency to act.

Gabriele Hanotaux, representative of France, said the council could interpret Signor Salandra's statement as the Italian representative having rejected the first part of the resolution offered by Spain relating to the various steps that Greece should take, other than those regarding reparations, and that probably a bridge could be built between the council of the League and the council of Ambassadores.

Lord Robert Cecil for Great Britain said he was glad there seemed to be an agreement on the first part of the Spanish resolution, but he remarked that even if the Spanish resolution was accepted something more must be done.

Belgium's representative, Paul Hymans, said that his goernment had great sympathy with Italy but that in conscience he could not accept the Italian viewpoint of the League's competency, as it affected the whole future of the league. He considered that the articles in the covenant were clear and precise and that the small nations looked to their observance. Consequently the matter must be gone into later.

M. Branting heartily supported the Belgian view but he thought the Spanish resolution would help toward a peaceful solution.

STATE POLICEMAN LERNERR PLACED UNDER SUSPENSION

Bridgeport, Sept. 6.—Pending the outcome of an investigation into a row in which State Policeman Patrick Lerner of Newtown, an attache of the Groton training barracks engaged in at the home of Mrs. Marion McGregor at 228 South avenue Wednesday night, Lerner has been placed under suspension by Superintendent of State Police Robert T. Hurley of Hartford, Hurley made known tonight.

According to the charges made by Mrs. McGregor to local police, Lerner and a companion, Francis Gallagher, had been staying in the vicinity of the home all Wednesday night and had followed her on the street prior to a row in the street in which the woman ripped the badge from Lerner's vest. She told police Lerner and Gallagher had attempted to enter her home.

A tailor who ran to the assistance of the woman, Harry Berschook, and Mrs. McGregor were arrested on charges of breach of peace. Gallagher was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. McGregor. She refused to press charges against Lerner, when his identity was made known at the police headquarters.

"Lerner was not on duty at the time of the affair," Sergeant Virelli is believed to have informed Superintendent Hurley. Mrs. McGregor claims Lerner was attempting to secure evidence against her to be used in a divorce action pending.

STORY OF THE BRUTAL FLOGGINGS AT TULSA, OKLA.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 6.—(By The A. P.)—Unfolding the "story of Tulsa" as gleaned from sworn testimony taken before a military court, Aldrich Blake, executive counselor, presented to the press tonight an account of some of the brutal floggings that led Governor J. C. Walton to invoke martial law in Tulsa county.

"Through the 1,300 pages of testimony," Mr. Blake said, "runs the same brutal refrain. Its always 'the klan or some members of the klan.

"In every case thus far examined except two which have not proceeded very far, the evidence has led straight to the doorstep of the invisible empire, known as the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Not an alien has been accused; not a breath of suspicion against a single Tulsa citizen except members of the imperial organization.

"The whole story of Tulsa will never be told," he said. "Men flee from savagery and torture. Scores of Tulsa victims fled.

"The wet rope is out of style," said Mr. Blake. "In Tulsa they use leather strap. It is about three inches wide, perhaps four feet long. Fifty lashes will tame the strongest man."

A mother roughly dealt with when a band of twenty men raided her home and beat her husband—a child born prematurely was the result; a member of a township school board abducted by floggers and coerced into voting for a school head whom he opposed; an elderly man lashed because he opposed the way the local school was run; a man and a woman routed out of their beds and taken to the whipping field where the strap was put to both because the whippers thought they had been selling beer—these are among the cases related by Blake from the testimony.

The woman who was lashed testified:

"They took the quilt away from around me and I just had on my night gown and they began whipping me and I began screaming and they put their hands over my mouth and I fell unconscious.

"I didn't know any more until I was back in the car and when I came to I was all wet with blood and some one had hold of my pulse and someone asked if my heart was beating. They blindfolded me again and brought me back home. I was sick at the time and have not been well since."

Counselor Blake's accusation against the Ku Klux Klan brought the first official admission that the military investigation at Tulsa was being directed against the secret organization.

He acted at the direction of Governor Walton in presenting to the public a review of the evidence.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
11 Church Street Telephone 1052

The town of Windham will soon have to assume expense of new schools or extensive additions to the present buildings. The school board have pointed out this condition and there is every evidence that what they say is true. The new eight-room addition to the Natchaug Grammar school will be completely filled, as soon as it is finished and as yet nothing has been done to take care of the surplus at the Oaks school. St. Joseph's and St. Mary's Parochial schools are both in need of more room, the expense of which will be borne by the parishioners.

The registration at North Windham has increased to forty-five pupils and it is necessary to procure another teacher for that school. Fourteen of the pupils attending come from outside towns, ten from Mansfield and four from Chaplin, eighth grade pupils have been attending the Natchaug school in this ity at a transportation charge of 30 cents each on school days, the total cost being about $300 for the school year. The cost of an additional teacher would come to about $1,400. In order to make up the differences in cost it has been voted to raise the tuition of the out-of-town pupils to $80 a year, aggregating about $1,100. An additional teacher will be secured for Windham High school, to meet the increased registration at that school.

The enumerators of school children have been appointed as follows: First District, Jean B. Paulhus; Second District, Thomas F. Connelly; outlying districts, Alfred P. Abbe of South Windham. A new and more accurate system of enumerating will be used this year and the old form used by the state in the past will be done away with. The new form includes a card system.

Oscar Johnson of Ripley Hill, South Coventry has been in St. Joseph's hospital since Sunday, August 25, suffering from a fractured skull and concussion of the brain as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by Archie Dorr, of Eagleville. The accident took place after midnight, while Johnson was walking on the Main street in South Coventry. Dorr took Johnson to his home and told Mrs. Johnson that he had found her husband in the road. It is thought that Mrs. Johnson believed her husband to be intoxicated. A few days later, Dorr called at the Johnson home and said that his machine had struck Mr. Johnson. The latter was then taken to the hospital and he remained unconscious until the next day, which was Wednesday of last week. It is stated that he is improving, although his mind is hazy at times. The day after the accident Johnson was attended by Dr. W. L. Higgins of Coventry, who noted the serious condition of the man. As medical examiner, Dr. Higgins attempted to make his report to the county coroner but that official, Judge John E. Fahey of Rockville, was away. The state police were notified and Officer Hulburt investigated the matter.

Last Sunday, Dorr was brought before Justice of the Peace Hawkins and held in $2,500 bail to await the outcome of Johnson's injuries.

Plainfield reported one case of scarlet fever and one case of measles was reported from Pomfret. The town of Mansfield reported eleven cases of diphtheria.

The immigrants admitted to this country in the last fiscal year included 1760 clergymen and thirty-three brewers. The ratio should convince the most cynical that America is trying to be good.—New York Herald.

Seeks Vindication

H. T. Meredith, formerly Secretary of Agriculture, who according to latest reports, has filed suit against Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, who is alleged to have said that Meredith, while Secretary of Agriculture, "sat in the Wall street game and helped produce the greatest panic in farm prices in the history of agriculture." The amount of damages will be thirty cents, but Mr. Meredith wishes the satisfaction of getting Senator Brookhart under oath.

Every Potato Means Additional Profit

When the price per bushel you receive for your potatoes is low, good profits can still be made by saving time and labor and by getting every potato in the field. It costs you no more to harvest completely and you get the extra dollars for your increased crop, if you use a

HOOVER POTATO DIGGER

The Hoover Potato Digger digs up all the potatoes in the field and piles them in neat rows where they can be handled with minimum labor. This digger has proved to be an especially good investment to all potato-growers who have used it.

The shovel is of best quality high-carbon crucible steel and shaped so as to gather the potatoes with the least possible loss. No danger of cutting the potatoes to the extent that a plow or hoe does. Stony ground can be used in stony ground. You can raise and lower the shovel while the machine is in motion. All adjustments are made from the seat by convenient levers.

The vine-separating rear rack has a backward and forward motion that sifts out all dirt and deposits the potatoes in a compact row on clean ground directly at the rear of the machine, while the vines and weeds are deposited at one side.

Patented Double-Action Front Truck permits the digger to be turned in a very short space.

Solid steel frame, wrong-angle edges of Hoosier steel, bronze of best quality charcoal malleable castings, and steel chains and hardened steel sprockets that greatly resist wear.

Don't fail to see the Hoover Potato Digger before you harvest your potato crop; it can mean greater profits. Also ask us about Hoover Engine Drive Potato Diggers—two-horse machines under all conditions, and any other potato tools you require.

Solomon is the home run king of his league, having a record of 43 circuit clouts in 142 games this season. The New York club did not reveal the purchase price, but according to James J. Tierney, secretary, it was nearly as high as that paid for Jack Bentley and Jimmy O'Connell, each of whom cost the world's champions about $75,000.

TAFTVILLE-MARTIN SERIES STARTS ON SUNDAY

The first game of the series for the baseball title of Taftville will start Sunday afternoon between the Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin team. Both these teams lay claim to the title and after many disputes between the managers of both clubs as to the merits of their respective teams a series has been arranged. There has been more or less friction between the followers of the two teams and both teams are out for blood.

The J. B. Martin team has been playing good ball during the season and has struck a fast stride which it is believed will be maintained during the remainder of the season. It will be necessary for the Velvetmen to keep hitting the pace as they are just hitting the hard part of their schedule. The first game of the Taftville series on Sunday; the second game with the Riverview club the following Saturday and the Crompton and Knowles teams the first Saturday in October make a combination of teams that will make the Martin team go the limit. Last Saturday the Crompton-Knowles team won out in the ninth inning, 5 to 4, when a .600 pinch-hitter connected for a double with a man on third.

For Sunday's game the J. B. Martin lineup will be the same as that which turned back the Riverview club two weeks ago with the exception that Lemieux will play second base, Fisher and Welch will be the battery for the Velvetmen.

For Taftville either Morin or Davis will do the pitching with Belair on the receiving end, the remainder of the lineup will be the same as has been playing all season.

STERLING PLAYS AT RIVERVIEW ON SATURDAY

The attraction for Saturday afternoon at the State Hospital diamond will be the fast Sterling team which has won the last six games from some of the fastest teams in Rhode Island. Sterling has a good team and has been playing consistent ball during the summer, especially since McElroy, former college pitcher has been doing the twirling. The Sterling lineup will be McElroy p, Bruckston c, Frechette 1b, Raney 2b, Bassett 3b, Joe Kendrick ss, Smith lf, Kelly cf, Tatro rf.

The Riverview club will come to bat as follows: Coullard 3b, Reddy c, Burns 2b, Clabby cf, Moore ss, Mills 3b, Hart lf, West p; Walsh or Shaffrich rf. Tony West is in good shape and Riverview has put in a solid week of practice as they realize that the Sterling team is no mean aggregation.

DEMPSEY SAYS WILLS WILL NEVER HAVE CHANCE AT TITLE WHILE HE IS CHAMP.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 6—(By the A. P.)—Harry Wills, negro challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, will never have a chance to win the title while Jack Dempsey is champion.

The titleholder made this declaration tonight after receiving word that Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, had instituted legal action in an attempt to stop the Dempsey-Firpo match at the Polo grounds, September 14.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, left immediately for New York upon receipt of a message from Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest. Kearns said he had been summoned to make an affidavit for the champion and himself explaining their connections with the fight.

Dempsey was fighting made when word reached him that Mullins was endeavoring to stop the match with the giant South American because of Dempsey's failure to meet Wills first. He became further enraged after Kearns had communicated with Rickard, and the situation was explained.

"This means that Wills never will get a chance at the title while I am champion," Dempsey said. "He doesn't deserve a chance after such tactics. I had intended taking him on if I still held the title after boxing Firpo, but I will not do it now under any consideration. There is no chance for either Mullins or Wills or their lawyers stopping my bout with Firpo. I am confident of that."

Kearns, before his departure, said he was not worrying over any legal action that Mullins might undertake. He said the only situation that concerned him was preparing Dempsey for Firpo.

PAPERS SERVED ON NEW YORK COMMISSION YESTERDAY

New York, Sept. 6—The next step in an attempt by Harry Wills, negro heavyweight title contender, to throw legal entanglements in the path of the Jack Dempsey-Luis Firpo championship match will occur tomorrow morning when an order requiring the state athletic commission to show cause why the bout should not be enjoined will be returnable in supreme court.

Papers in the mandamus action were served today upon the commission, according to Wills' counsel, William Klein. The commission refused to comment on the situation but it was indicated legal representatives would attend the court hearing tomorrow.

Klein emphasized today that the action was directed solely at the state athletic commission and no to against Tex Rickard, promoter of the Firpo-Dempsey match, which is scheduled at the Polo grounds on September 14. Rickard, however, said he probably would be represented in any legal proceedings.

"The commission has sanctioned the fight," said the promoter, "and we will go right ahead with our plans until that body orders differently. The case is in their hands."

Wills' action is based upon his claim that, because of a formal challenge and $2,500 forfeit he posted more than a year ago with the commission for a match with Dempsey, he has prior right to box the titleholder.

FIRPO PUTS IN EASY DAY AT HIS CAMP

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 6—(By the A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo spent today lounging about his cottage entertaining a host of newspapermen, posing for sketch artists and painters and reading what the papers had to say about the man he will meet September 14 for the world's heavyweight title.

There was just a wee bit of work for the South American in the morning after breakfast, he went through a few Argentine setting-up exercises and had a rub down, that his muscles might be kept in shape. Tomorrow will mark the return to heavy work.

Luis' new motor car arrived today. He didn't take it out for a spin, being afraid that an accident might befall him in the heavy traffic, due to Atlantic City's beauty pageant. So he contented himself with sitting on the seats and playing with the levers, the wheel, and inquiring, from those who knew, the secrets of all the little accessories.

Firpo was greatly interested in some newspaper reports to the effect that Jack Dempsey was having trouble keeping in physical condition and that he was not the same Dempsey who mauled Willard out of the title. He wondered whether the reports were true.

Albertino, the chef, was the busiest man in the training cottage today. What with all the visitors and hungry sparring partners and Firpo, he had quite a crowd to cook for.

THE ARIEL GETS FIRST GRIP ON RICHARDSON CUP

Toronto, Sept. 6—Ariel, of Chicago today won the first race for the Richardson cup and the championship of the Great Lakes. Mabieh of Cleveland, was second and Huskie, of Watertown, was third. The race yesterday was declared off. The next race will be sailed tomorrow.

Ariel was first across the line and held the lead throughout. She was two minutes and twenty-two seconds ahead of the Cleveland boat which in turn was thirty seconds better than the Lake Ontario representative at the finish.

The Mebieh and Huskie raced almost alongside each other for more than three fourths of the course, but the Clevelander gained steadily in the run for the line.

After the race Huskie entered a protest against the place of Mebieh, claiming that it was twice fouled by the Cleveland craft while rounding one of the marks.

FIGHT FILMS PRESENTED BEFORE GRAND JURY

Chicago, Sept. 6—Motion picture films of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., which were seized by federal authorities last night, were taken before the federal grand jury today by Assistant District Attorney Weisl, who indicated that the jurors would be asked to indict James J. McGrath, promoter, charged with bringing the films here from Butte, Mont., in violation of the federal law prohibiting interstate shipment of fight pictures.

BIG PARADE OPENS TAFTVILLE FIELD MEET

The final meeting of the Taftville Field Day Association was held in the rooms of Ponemah Council, K. of C., Wednesday evening and from the reports of the different committees, the outlook is that Taftville will have the largest field day they have ever seen. The finest assortment of prizes ever donated at an event of this kind can be seen on exhibition in the window of the Taftville Pharmacy. The entries for all the events are coming in fast and from that it is assured that there will be many contestants, for all events especially the fat mans' race where at several of the prominent men in the village have entered. Outstanding among all the other entrants is the name of Bill Wohlleben, who is picked to win this race, as Bill can be seen daily along Front Street with his trainer, "Bus" Murphy, practicing starts and sprints, and he has developed considerable ability, enough to defeat his trainer in a special handicap race on Wednesday afternoon before over a hundred spectators. Therefore Bill is overflowing with confidence and is willing to gamble anything that when the Field Day is over, the village residents will see him walking home with the first prize safely tucked away under his arm.

That everyone is determined to cop a prize is evidenced by the large number who are daily practicing for the events they intend to take a part in. The ladies races will no doubt be a treat, as they are being groomed to perfection, and no doubt will prove a big success.

The big parade which starts at the Ponemah Wheel Club at 1:30 daylight time will be known as the second section, and will give the people of the lower village a chance to see a part of the parade. The first section will form in line in front of No. 3 Mill and will be in charge of Parade Marshal Joseph C. Marsan with William Smith, Andrew Frohmader, Roderick Molleur, Arthur Ouimet and Louis Gladue as aides. The formation of the parade will be as follows:

First section—Marshal Joseph C. Marsan, William Smith, Andrew Frohmader, Roderick Molleur, Arthur Ouimet, Louis Gladue, aides; massed American flags, organization banners. Everyone is looking forward to a big day so LET'S GO.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

OFF FOR ADVENTURE WITH A BEAR.

Well, the bats in the belfry tower were very good last night and didn't ring the bells except at thirteen o'clock so Little Jack Rabbit slept very well in the castle of the beautiful princess whom I told you about in the story before this.

After spending a few days at this stately castle he hopped off once more upon his journey of adventure and by and by, after a while, he met a great white bird sitting on a golden egg.

"I won't bother you, big bird, but tell me, did you lay that gold egg?"

But the great bird made no reply. Maybe she was frightened or maybe she was waiting for the golden egg to hatch, for just then, all of a sudden, the shell broke open and out hopped twenty little white birds rammed with swords. One was dressed like a captain with gold epulets on his shoulder, wings and another had a drum like a regular little drummer boy.

"We are the soldier birds of the air,
And we need no aeroplane.
For we can fly o'er the great blue sky
In sunshine and in rain.
And if an enemy comes in view
With our bright sharp swords we'll cut him in two."

"Hurrah!" cried Little Jack Rabbit forgetting all about the great white mother bird who was flapping her wings feeling mighty proud that she had raised a little sky army. And when the bunny boy asked the little sky captain when he was going to start for Rabbit Land, he answered:

"We start at once."

Then the drummer boy beat his drum and away they flew as fast as they could fly, over the trees and over the snow and far away till they reached the little white bungalow when, so I'm told, they told Lady Love that the bunny boy was having a wonderful time in the Ragged Rabbit Giant's Country.

Pretty soon, Little Jack Rabbit said boodbye to the great white mother bird and hopped away. Before very long, he heard a voice say:

"Where are you going?" bunny boy.

"I'm seeking adventure," he replied, "but who are you?"

All of a sudden, a little bear walked out from behind a clump of bushes and sat upon his hind legs. He wore a small red cap and a pair of khaki trousers but don't think he had any shoes because his sharp claws wore out his shoes so fast that his mother wouldn't buy him any.

"Why don't you seek your fortune?" asked the little bear, "I know where there is treasure hidden in a deep cave."

"Lead me there," answered the bunny boy with a grin, "my purse is empty and a traveler needs money unless he wishes to beg."

A GOOD IDEA

Well handled was Secretary Hughes' address before the Canadian Bar association upon the subject The Pathway of Peace. There was the opportunity to lay much stress upon the good relations of these neighbors and to point to the excellent record for peaceful adjustment of differences. There have been disputes, as might be expected, but it is a matter that can be pointed to with much pride by both that the long boundary line between the two countries does not have to be guarded by garrisons and warships. It has been a long time since such was the case. The two countries decided a long time ago that they could trust each other and they have found that their agreement have been respected. It is to the great advantage of each that such is the case. It is as it should be. There is no good reason why questions which may arise between them cannot be handled in a same manner instead of flying off the handle to the great detriment of other as well as themselves.

While the secretary of state has no doubts of the continuance of the satisfactory relationship as took the opportunity in advance as his personal view the point that "we should do much to foster our friendly relations and to remove sources of misunderstanding and possible irritation, if we were to have a permanent body of our most distinguished citizens acting as a commission to which there would be automatically referred for examination and reports as to the facts questions pending for legislative action having a bearing upon the other.

The aim must be in the future, as it has been in the past, to maintain effective barriers against misunderstandings and trouble. Much can be done by a thorough setting forth of the facts. Disputes that have arisen have been adjusted amicably and there is no reason to suspect but what they will continue to be but the naming of a permanent commission would mean that the machinery for prevention would be in working order and actively engaged in a highly commendable service for the purpose of avoiding friction even though it might not get to the point of trouble. The idea has its merits.

DIRIGIBLE ZR-1

We have had our experiences with the dirigibles as well as balloons and airplanes. We have suffered large losses in life and property because of unfortunate circumstances connected with their construction or operation, but we have not abandoned them. We have seen what other countries have done, we have profited by their failures as well as our own and we have persisted in new developments which promises to get for governmental use all that is possible out of the great monsters of the air.

In view of the fact that the dirigible has been more or less discarded as an effective war machine attention will be directed to the use to which the new ZR-1 is put by this government. It is the largest built, the product of American workmanship and skill and in every way possible American engineers have put into it improvements over those of foreign manufacture. It is thus the last word in airships as well as the largest. Highly gratifying, therefore, in view of the expense that has been involved is the fact that its initial test was most satisfactory.

While failures and mistakes in the construction of other dirigibles were studied that they might be overcome in the ZR-1 sight was not lost of the great importance attached to use of helium gas instead of hydrogen in inflating the dirigibles. Helium isn't any better and perhaps not quite so good if buoyancy alone is considered, but there is the great need of fire protection and the non-explosive qualities of helium make its use highly preferable, even though the cost of such gas is much greater than hydrogen. It is an expense, however, that cannot be allowed to interfere with its use. It assures protection that is highly important and provides a safeguard that is worth all it costs.

That such dirigibles will be able to accomplish much in the way of long distance flying is probable. Just what practical use they can be put to remains to be developed as their efficiency is demonstrated.

THE DUTY OF A COURT

None better than those who administer the law realize what advantages are taken of the disposition to be lenient. They get the pleas and they have no difficulty in noting the effects. The willingness to play horse with the courts is an old story and it is the yielding to it in too many unwarranted instances that causes some courts to be looked upon as a joke.

In this connection it is impossible to overlook the position which is taken by Judge Thayer in the Massachusetts superior court. He is fully alert to his responsibilities on the bench and having repeatedly seen the bad effects of failing to enforce the law he believes in giving warning to any who may underrate the justice to be dispensed from his court. He gives fair warning to the effect that gunmen and intoxicated auto drivers can expect no mercy from him. And to his credit and the public welfare he doesn't forget what he promises when the time comes to act.

It is significant that, after declaring that if a single gunman came before him at the May term of the court he would send him to prison for life, not a case of the kind developed. It hasn't eliminated the gunmen for at the present term there are cases of that character, and even the district attorney has asked for probation for one because he had no previous police record, but Judge Thayer held firm in his statement that "no gunman will ever get probation from me." There is a pledge to the people of the state to which he gives first consideration.

Similarly he holds concerning the intoxicated auto drives that "the courts owe it to the people who drive automobiles to make the highways safe for them to use as they have a right to use them, and when such offenders are allowed to go with a fine, or on probation, they are not doing their duty."

If all courts were administered in such a manner they would get results. There is no chance of a court of that character being referred to as a joke.

AIDING JAPAN

The appeal which has gone out to the country to rally to the assistance of Japan is one that applies to every community. It is impossible to overlook the fact that sympathy and the deploring of the conditions that exist there do nothing in the way of administering relief to those who are without homes and without food.

In order to get the assistance there as rapidly as possible supplies have been forwarded and the means of paying for them will be forthcoming. The various sections of the country have been asked for certain sums in accord with what it has been felt they can give without any hardships, but already the sentiment of the people is being expressed in no unmistable terms when from numerous centers there comes the assertion that the amounts fixed are not high enough and goals considerably beyond have been set up.

Generous contributions have already begun to ow in. Certainly it is to be expected that it will come in larger measure from those who have an abundance, but there is an opportunity for the smaller contributor nevertheless. It is where many of such pool their mites that substantial boosts follow and handsome totals are obtained.

The cry of suffering humanity is one to which a deaf ear cannot be turned. Disasters, whatever the nature of them, never fail to open the pocketbooks of those who are in a position to offer aid, whether it be through large or small sums. That the sums sought in the various communities will be quickly raised there seems to be no reason to doubt. There can be no questioning the need of it.

GETTING RESULTS ALREAD

During all the time that this country has been hesitating about recognizing the government of Mexico its action has been the guide for others. Until the United States found conditions there such that it was willing to resume diplomatic relations there were others who felt the same way. They were not willing to rush in where this country held back.

Thus aside from such benefit as might accrue through recognition by this government, Mexico understood what it would gain by the resumption of friendly relations. It knew that obstacles to recognition by others would be removed and that it would be able once more to take its place among nations.

One of the first effects is to be noted in the action of France. It not only accepts our disposition of the mattter but it hastens to do likewise. The Obregon government has strengthened itself with other nations, and what France has done will unquestionably be done by others as they get to it.

It is a situation that must impress President Obregon and the rest of the Mexican government with the fact that recognition is no empty gesture. It means advantages for it, but it means that it must live up to its responsibilities if it is going to hold its place of confidence for that government that it backed and filled so long before coming to the point of satisfying the United States requirements. Having convinced this country of its sincerity and stability Mexico, however, stands better before the world.

It is no cinch to be responsible for the peace in the Balkans as the league of nations is finding out.

It may be, as science declares, that people will soon be spending the summers at the north pole, but that hasn't been necessary this past summer.

Montana is reporting the thermometer touching 100 degree or higher. That state is always dealing in weather extremes.

Those who paid it in a lump months ago are not getting nervous over the fact that the third installment of the income tax is soon due.

Some spent the summer at the beach to get a tan, and soon they'll be willing to spend most anything to get rid of it.

The spokesman for Italy at Geneva says there's no danger of war. A few more acts like that at Corfu and he might find out to the contrary.

These are the days when "Drive slowly. Schoolhouse ahead," signs should mean more than they have in the past two months.

Now that Germany has decided it cannot afford to finance passive resistance in the Ruhr it is the best thing that has happened to that country of late.

MYSTERIOUS HABIT

"I wish somebody would tell me," began the girl who likes to talk, "why it is that the population has a mania for talking shop to professional people!

"When you meet a man who sells tickets you do not immediately burst into a conversational roulade concerning tickets and I expect grocers can get away with a social evening without having to discuss with mistaken but well-meaning people the price of butter and eggs. But I'd like to see the doctor or lawyer, dentist, musician or the like who can escape from his job for more than five minutes

"I saw Dr. Jenks ooze into the station to take a train to the city the other day and he looked like a boy who has climbed under three barbwire fences to freedom and was prepared to enjoy himself far from the shackles of interfering human beings. He bought himself a magazine and a newspaper and was all ready to read in peace and seclusion. And then in came a cunning little thing in the latest droopy plume and slippers to match appealing eyes and the air of a conqueror.

"'Oh, how do you do, Dr. Jenks!' she chortled. 'My, but you looked lonesome standing there all by yourself! Do tell me, how is Lottie Dewdrop? I'm so interested in hearing how she is getting along! I suppose it was a perfectly terrible operation, but you are so clever at those things!

"'My, it does seem so wonderful to me that a doctor can cut and slash and not go all to pieces over it! My aunt had an operation just like Lottie's and was getting along just as you say Lottie is, and all of a sudden something went wrong or the doctor didn't know his business, and my poor aunt just died. You never can tell, it seems. I do hope Lottie will be all right with the family she has on her hands. Well, all we can do is hope for the best, I suppose.'

"The train came just then and I certainly did admire the snakelike cleverness with which Dr. Jenks eluded his chatty little friend and secured a seat by himself in another car. He settled back with a sigh of relief and had read the first paragraph of a first page article telling how the whole world was going wrong when a tall lady in a purple hat who had been craning her neck from the other end of the car arose and fluttered down beside him. As I sat right behind him I can report the conversation. 'I am so glad I saw you,' said the tall lady. 'I am so worried about John! No, he isn't sick—that is, sick enough to call the doctor, you know, but he can't sleep and he doesn't eat and he has a pain in his left side and the queerest look in his eyes! Now, this morning ...'

"This went on till we reached the city and she was trotting along still extracting free medical advice while Dr. Jenks with the face of a thunderous martyr tried to outdistance her. I think doctors in their off hours should hang a card around their necks similar to the 'Out' and 'In' tokens they swing on their office doors and the penalty for addressing them when the card reads 'Silence' should be severe.

"If a lawyer is enjoying a nice little game of bridge with his mind far from writs and habeas corpuses and those eyes things we don't know how to pronounce some village cutup always holds up affairs by saying jovially, 'Here's Keener here—he's a lawyer, maybe he can tell us. I say I have a perfect right to poison my neighbor's chickens when they dig up my new radishes and my wife says if I do they can electrocute me—how about it? You must have had cases like that lots of times! And the lawyer addressed probably is a corporation lawyer who gets a million dollars a minute when in court and never saw a chicken except fried.

"I once saw a woman corner a concert pianist who was great enough to be allowed to throw pork chops against the wall or whatever it is that geniuses do when they grow temperamental, and say she just wished he'd tell her if he didn't think her Lizzie was a marvel.

"'Notice the way she holds her hands,' she insisted, 'and the rapt expression on her face when she plays—I think her touch is very similar to yours don't you, Mr. Blackowski? Tell me how long you practice every day and whether you hold your wrists up or down. And, oh, if you would run in some day and play for us, just anything, you know, I should be so glad! I try to keep a musical atmosphere around Lizzie as much as possible! No. Tell me——'

"But I came away then," said the girl who likes to talk. "Anyhow, I'll bet nobody could make a bricklayer talk bricks after the whistle blew."—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Some Sucker.

Bill is a shark when it comes to untangling figures, but by his own admission he is a poor fish when it comes to a hook and line.

Up at the lake on his vacation he worked for a time baiting hook and finally prepared for the supreme effort of getting the baited hook and line into the water.

He swung the pole, arms, hook and line wildly about. No one knows just how it happened, but he nearly hung himself in the tangle that resulted.

"Anyway," he said, "I hooked the biggest sucker ever caught at the lake. He weighed 206 pounds."

In proof of his tale he showed a wound in his thumb where he had hooked himself so deeply that a friend had to cut the hook out with a razor.

Wonders of Farm Life.

Robert, age three, and his sister, Mildred, of twelve years were visiting Uncle Al in the country. Little Robert as he gazed fondly on a litter of pigs, exclaimed.

Mildred hastened to correct him, saying:

"Why, Robert, those ain't goats, they're hogs."

And both wondered why Uncle Al was laughing so heartily.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The modern navy of Japan owes not a little to Count Yamamoto, the new premier, who has been actively connected with its development from the very first. Before his twentieth year he fought in the War of the Restoration on the imperial side. He was one of the first graduates of the new imperial naval academy. After serving on a training ship, incidentally visiting America, he increased his experience by making a voyage round the world in a German warship. In 1895 he was raised to the rank of rear admiral. The demands of the war with China three years later forced Yamamoto's promotion to the ministry, and so able was his administration that he retained his post through the Russo-Japanese war. In 1908 he visited America and England. In 1913 he held the premiership for a short period, so that his present elevation to the post is not a new experience for him.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

RANGOON

"Rangoon, where a devastating flood recently took a toll of thousands, is a city where woman has reached her greatest emancipation in the Orient," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"In some respects she has outdone her western sisters," the bulletin says, "for her street clothes are practically those of the man, and he wears his hair long and carries a sunshade, as she does. She puffs her 'whakin white cheroot' as publicly and as nonchantlantly as he. Often she transfers the lighted cigar to the mouth of the child in her arms.

"The Burmese youngster is no more immune to nicotine than his Caucasian cousin; the Burma 'smoke' contains very little tobacco, mixed with a large proportion of pulverized pith in a palm leaf stem. It is not sought after by visiting smokers.

"A volume of Kiplings' poems, forms the best gazetteer of Rangoon. Here it is one sees

'Elephints a pilin teak
In the sludgy, spudgy creek.'

Guides tell amazing tales of the intelligence of these trained animals, and one is tempted to believe the favorite story of the veteran elephant who closes one eye and squints the other to see that his pile is plumb.

"In the 'Song of Cities,' Rangoon greets England thus:

"Hail, Mother! Do they call me rich in trade?
Little care I, but hear the shorn priest drone,
And watch my silk-clad lovers, man by maid,
Laugh, 'neath my Schway Dagon.'

"The poet refers to Rangoon's architectural masterpiece, the jewel shrine of Eastern India, which towers above the city 370 feet from a platform itself more than 150 feet higher than the surrounding level.

"This graceful golden pile, flashing in the blaze of an Indian sun, is surmounted by a jeweled umbrella, hung with a chime of bells which may be tinkled by the gentlest breath of wind. The material in this canopy alone is valued at a quarter million dollars.

"Tradition has it that men who had acquired eight precious hairs from the beard of Guatama decided to bury them on the already sacred knoll and that the original pagoda, thirty feet high, was erected to protect them. This mound was encased with successive layers until the final one of gold now sheaths the great pile. Once in a generation more gold is added by voluntary contributions, which pour in because taking a part in the building of a pagoda is a Buddhist act of high devotion.

"The Schway Dagon has no interior but around it are scores of shrines, with pensive Buddhas enthroned within. At twilight the shadowy forms of the people at prayers and the low chant of the monks is especially impressive.

"By day the bargaining at the bazaars along the approach and the plaints of beggars somewhat mar the solemnity.

"Kipling's reference to silk-clad lovers gives a hint of the Burmese love of display, which is not confined to the wealthy, so that a colorful sarong and a silk shirt of finest texture is no sign that the wearer knows where his next meal is coming from.

"Courtship in Rangoon has the open and direct technique of the western world; in greatest contrast to the Chinese negotiation by parents with a bridegroom often 'sight unseen' to the youthful wife. A young maid with friends of his own age calls upon a glossy-haired, olive-skinned laughing Burmese maid; and generally she is surrounded by a merry group of her own age. If he can persuade her to eat a meal with him he has won her, and legally, if somewhat loosely, they are married. Greater formality is generally observed, and witnesses assured, when the parents of either have considerable property.

"Rangoon is an extremely cosmopolitan city; the visitor usually is surprised to find the Bermese in many business sections almost displaced by Chinese, Japanese and immigrants from many parts of India. The Burmese kindliness, which extends even to his sleek, well-fed animals, seems no match for the sharp and shrewd bargainers of Oriental trade. Moreover, details of retail selling usually are left to women."

No gentleman is ever too busy to be polite.

SEPTEMBER

The morns are grey with haze and faintly cold,
The early sunsets arc the west with red;
The stars are misty silver overhead,
Now all the slopes are slowly growing gold,
And in the dales a deeper silence dwells;
The cricket mourns with funeral notes and bells,
For days before the summer has grown old.

Now the night-gloom with hurrying wings is stirred,
Strangely the comrade pipings rise and sink,
The birds are following in the pathless dark
The footsteps of the pilgrim summer. Hark!
Was that the redstart or the bobolink?
That lonely cry the summer-hearted bird.

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn.

Thousands who have piles have not do the same for you.

learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription is HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine, taken internally, that is now sold by druggists generally. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent., and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Lee & Osgood today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands of people, and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

HOME LIFE MENACED

Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But, alas, when a women is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. ### OBITUARY

Newton Wallace.

By the death of Newton Wallace, 82, at his home in Huntington, Mass., Saturday, Aug. 25, Lord's Point lost one of its pioneer residents. Coming here he occupied one of W. O. Stanton's cottages in the summer of 1906. At that time there were only five cottages. He at once became interested in the place, purchasing land and erecting Horicon Lodge on Hill avenue the next season, and the Sagamore in 1911. He was among those active in the promotion of Lord's Point bridge which was built in 1915, after four years of effort. He was at the Point early in the season in hopes of improving his health which was then feeble. Mr. Wallace was 82 years old July 5, born in Holland, Mass., he served three years in the war of the Rebellion, in the 27th Infantry. For twenty-one years he was head steam and electrical engineer at Massachusetts Agricultural college, at Amhurst and was retired six years ago. # TWO FAMILIES DESTITUTE AFTER DUNHAM STREET HOUSE BURNS

Fire which broke out shortly before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon destroyed practically all the property owned by the families of Richard Born and Calvin Miller and burned down two barns and the two-tenement house owned by Peter Peraldo, located off 88 Dunham street.

Neither family had any insurance on their belongings and as a result of the disastrous fire depend today solely on the generosity of friends for a home for themselves and the seven children in the families. About the only property that was saved was a small lot of furniture owned by Mr. Miller, the Born family saving only the clothing they were wearing. The destruction of their property leaves them practically destitute.

The fire was discovered about four o'clock by Frank Suntheimer who was working in the fields nearby, one barn, 20x24 feet, then being past saving and the easterly corner of the house in flames. Calling to Mr. Peraldo, owner of the house, and neighbors, the work of saving the furniture belonging to Mr. Miller was continued until the flames drove them from the house. The side occupied by the Born family caught fire first, making it impossible to save anything there.

Word was immediately dispatched to the Norwich fire department and Chief Stanton sent the Thamesville company and apparatus from the Central station to the fire, but information was misleading and the apparatus approached the house from the direction of Thamesville. No water was available and efforts were confined to preventing the two tenement house occupied by Mr. Peraldo from catching fire.

The blaze evidently started in the barn just back of the house in a pile of new hay and had been burning for some time before Mr. Suntheimer saw it and it quickly spread to the house which was a one and one-half frame structure, then jumped across to the second barn, 24x24 feet, located nearby, all three being totally destroyed within a few hours.

Mr. Peraldo estimated his loss on the three buildings as $8,000, the house being valued at $5,000 and only four years old, the barns at $1,500 each, both comparatively new. He stated that he carried insurance of $4500 on the property.

This is the second fire in which Mr. Peraldo has suffered a loss in six years, the house on the place he now occupies having been totally destroyed in 1918 with a loss of over $5,000 mostly covered by insurance.

It was estimated that the loss suffered by Mr. Born would amount to considerably over $1500 including furniture, pet stock, and all the clothing of the members of the family. The loss of Mr. Miller will amount to over $1,000 including a large part of the furniture and all the clothing of his family. A number of rabbits and chickens kept in the barns were burned alive in the fire.

Neighbors are to care for the families of Mr. Born and Mr. Miller until they can make arrangements to provide for themselves. Both families had resided in the house for only several months, taking up their residence there in April.

HEBREWS RESPONDING TO JAPANESE RELIEF CALL

IRVING LEHMAN,
President Jewish Welfare Board.

In response to the telegram, a meeting was held Thursday evening at the Norwich Hebrew institute, at which a committee was appointed to assist in the work of raising the local relief fund. The meeting was presided over by George Kaplan as chairman.

The following committee was named; Rabbi Joseph N. Rosenberg, Rabbi Max Stamm, Abraham Strom, Samuel Taylor, George Kaplan, Max Sadinsky, George Blum, I. M. Bronerwine, Samuel Ableman, Nathan Blumenthal and M. I. Silverman.

Lester, treasurer of the Norwich Red Cross campaign committee, after which details of the Zionist and Y. M. H. A. campaign will be worked out and announced through the press.

CAKE WITH 83 CANDLES FOR JOHN IRISH ON BIRTHDAY

Neighbors of former Patrolman John Irish, of 146 Laurel Hill avenue, learned that Wednesday was his eighty-third birthday and called on him informally in the evening. There was Victrola music and the cutting of a birthday cake with 83 candles, the gift of Miss Lola Belle Roath, recently of California, who is making her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Irish. Gifts came also from relatives in Illinois and California.

Mr. Irish, who is a member of Sedgwick Post, No. 1, G. A. R., of Norwich, continues in good health, and has a handsome garden of flowers, as usual, to show for his daily industry this season.

EXPECT NO CONTESTS IN DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Indications Thursday night were that there will be no contests at the democratic town caucus which is slated for this (Friday) evening for the purposes of nominating a ticket for the town election which occurs next month. There has been but little interest on the part of the voters of both republican and democratic parties in the matter of candidates for the party tickets. Neither party has completed the list of candidates to be submitted to the caucusses.

NOANK FIRE HOUSE DAMAGED BY BLAZE

At Noank Thursday afternoon about 2 o'clock the building occupied by the Noank Fire company was badly damaged by fire. The fire broke out on the third floor of the building and was discovered by Bernard Ellis. An alarm was sent in and two streams of water were soon playing on the blaze. The second and third floors were demolished. Just how much damage was done has not yet been ascertained and the cause of the fire is not known.

MRS. ROSALIE HUBBARD LEE AGAIN SEEKING DIVORCE

Mrs. Rosalie Hubbard Lee of Hamden, formerly of Norwich and Montville, is to try again in New Haven county for a divorce from Huntington Lee, president of W. W. Gale Co., of New Haven, her case being among 300 new ones returned to that court.

This is the third time that this couple has figured in divorce litigation. Several years ago Huntington Lee brought a suit against his wife. For lack of action this case was discontinued in the New Haven superior court on May 26, 1922. Then there was a suit brought by Mrs. Lee against her husband. The trial was held last winter, Mrs. Lee alleged cruelty.

The details of the married life of the couple were such that at the second day of the trial the press and public were excluded, though on the next following day the bars were let down with the request to the press not to print the details of the testimony.

As the trial neared its end the parties went into conference with Judge Isaac Wolfe, who presided. At the conclusion of that memorable session no statement of any kind was made by either party. Judge Wolfe making the only comment, which was in the effect that the suit stood withdrawn. That was on January 24.

In the suit recorded yesterday Mrs. Lee is the plaintiff and her husband the defendant. This couple married on November 5, 1907, and have one son, Hubbard M. Lee, aged 15. In the complaint it is alleged that Lee deserted his wife on February 1, 1920. In addition to the decree of divorce Mrs. Lee wants the custody of the boy.

It is assumed that in this new action the usual course will be followed. This means that Mr. Lee will offer no defense to the suit, and that it finally will go to the uncontested list and on final hearing be disposed of in about five minutes.

The monetary side of the case it is reported, has already been adjusted.

WOMAN'S WRIST BROKEN WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Mrs. Alexander Ferguson of Waterbury, mother of John A. Ferguson, the jeweler, is a patient at the W. W. Backus hospital, suffering injuries received shortly before noon Thursday, when struck by an automobile on Church street.

The auto truck, which is owned by Schwartz Bros., was going down Church street when Alonzo Geer, the driver, saw Mrs. Ferguson in the street ahead and slackened his speed. It is alleged by the driver that Mrs. Ferguson started to cross, then hesitated and put her hand on the fender of the automobile, being thrown to the ground. In the fall her right wrist was broken, her left hip injured and she suffered other injuries.

Dr. Harrison Gray was called and she was taken to the hospital, where an X-ray was taken to determine the extent of her injuries. It is expected that she will remain in the hospital for some time.

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Ferguson has been residing in Waterbury, but is visiting in this city, and on Thursday went to Church street and her former residence to call on friends.

GUS MOKUS AGAIN IN CELL AT NORWICH JAIL

Gus Mokus of Springfield is back in a cell at the Norwich jail from which he slipped away on April 13, 1922, when he had only about two weeks more of a nine months sentence for larceny to serve. He was rearrested in Springfield Tuesday night and was brought back to the New London jail Wednesday night by Jailer Winder Reed and deputy sheriff J. H. Tubbs who went to Springfield after him. Thursday morning theey brought him to Norwich and handed him over to Jailer Oscar H. Main.

From information in the hands of the authorities, it is believed that Mokus has been in New York most of the time since his escape from the Norwich jail. Deputy sheriff Tubbs went to New York last June on the watch for Mokus at a certain rooming house but Mokus avoided the trap that was laid for him.

ASKS RED CROSS HERE TO RAISE $2,000 AT ONCE

The Norwich chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to raise $2,000 immediately and forward it to national headquarters to be used for relief in Japan. The following letter from Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, manager of the Washington Division was received at Red Cross headquarters here today:

By a proclamation President Coolidge has appealed to the nation for contributions for relief of the Japanese disaster victims. He has fixed, as a minimum figure to cover the urgent needs of the situation, the sum of $5,000,000. By the terms of the proclamation, this money will be contributed through the American National Red Cross and administered by the same body. The disaster in Japan has no parallel in modern history. The partial reports which alone are available at this time indicate that the extent of the disaster far and away overshadows the San Francisco earthquake of our own experience. From every standpoint, the magnitude of the relief project which is presented to us calls for the utmost effort from every resource which the community affords. The Washington division has accepted a position of utmost responsibility in this crisis. The states comprising the division are not only the most prosperous in the country but represents substantially half the entire membership of the American National Red Cross. Almost before the machinery for receiving contributions had been adjusted to meet the situation, the officers of the Red Cross were this morning flooded with money, offers of assistance, and requests for opportunity to be of service. The widespread character of these responses indicates the desire of every part of the division to share in the work. Each chapter is to be given its part in the quota of the Washington division. The Norwich chapter is asked to raise $2,000 and to raise its chapter quota imediately.

Let me impress upon you once more the need for haste, the need for real practical relief expressed in dollars. I have assured the chairman that the Washington division will do its part and more.

The Norwich chapter is asking that voluntary contributions be made at once in order to answer the urgent call. Checks may be made payable to Norwich Chapter, American Red Cross, and sent to Frederick W. Lester, treasurer, 43 Broadway.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH GREETS NEW WORKER

A welcome to Miss Edith Ellis of Portland, Me., the new pastor's assistant and director of young peoples' work at the Central Baptist Church, and a farewell to Miss H. J. McHale, who has been pastor's assistant for the last nine months, were given Thursday night at the church prayer meeting which had an attendance of about 100.

The special programme for the evening opened with reports by young people who have attended summer conferences, Charles Hagberg and Courtnay Pitt for Ocean Park Hill, Miss Marguerite Suthill, Miss Eugenie Dean and Miss Elisabeth Williams for Northfield. Robert Sage, who is to leave to attend Temple University, Philadelphia, also spoke.

Deacon C. Edward Smith expressed the cordial welcome to Miss Ellis and voiced the great appreciation of the church of the work of Miss McHale. His words were warmly seconded by the pastor, Rev. David A. Pitt, who presided.

The hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the benediction closed this part of the meeting, and a social half hour was enjoyed during which ice cream and wafers were served under the direction of Mrs. Henrietta Tefft.

EAST SIDE CLOSES BLOCK DANCE SEASON

The final block dance of the season was given Thursday evening at the East Side and hundreds of music and dance lovers enjoyed a fine concert and dance until late into the evening.

At 8 oclock Swah's band of 18 pieces under the direction of John M. Swahn, leader, gave a short concert program which was enjoyed greatly by the crowd estimated at nearly 1,500 people. At 9:15 dancing began and the band played almost continously until 11 o'clock, playing all the popular dance numbers including dance hits as, Bananas, Barney Google, stutter and many others.

The dance, which was the last of the series given free of charge by the live-wire crowd of the East Side, was perhaps the banner dance of them all and music lovers all agree that when it comes to giving the public a real good time it takes the East Siders to put on the event.

It is hoped by many another summer will see more of these block dances which have become an important factor in the amusements of many citizens.

LORETTA HIGGINS SAILING FOR HOME ON SATURDAY

Loretta Higgins, who has been singing in grand opera during August in the Opera Comique in Paris, will sail Saturday on the Mauretania to spend several months at her home, 238 Broadway, this city, before returning to Europe to fill opera engagements at Nice and Monte Carlo in February and March.

She will reach her home about the 16th after spending several days in New York, where she has a schedule of appointments with Damrosch and other musical celebrities. Her home town is to be first on a concert tour of her native state which will be arranged under the management of Robert Kellogg of Hartford, the home date having been set for Oct. 8 at Slater hall under the auspices of the Norwich Rotary club, the proceeds to be for the club's boys' welfare fund. After her remarkable European success in entering the ranks of Paris grand opera with two years of study, it is confidently predicted that there will be great local interest to hear her upon the concert stage.

MISSING WOMAN APPEARS AT HOUSE IN GROTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Thomas McGowan, a resident of Blackhall, Lyme came to this city Tuesday afternoon with her son and went to the Union railroad station. She then disappeared and has been among the missing since tonight when she appeared at the home of Congressman Edward G. Morgan in Groton and made known that she was the missing woman. She said she went to the lady's toilet in the Union station waiting room after giving her son her pocketbook to take care of. After that all is a blank to her and she cannot tell where she has been other than to say that she has been in the fields in the rear of the Morgan home in Groton, which is a lonely section of the borough.

Mrs. McGowan did not seem to be famished nor appear to have been sleeping in the fields or have been exposed to the weather. Friends came after her and took her back to Blackhall.

POLICE ARREST TWO AT MONTVILLE HOOCH PARTY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

The men were having a little party up there and said that they were making the liquor for themselves. A friend came in and was served and he created the disturbance. They threatened to shoot Caron if he came into the place, but he did go in and took the men into custody. They will be presented in the Montville court tomorrow morning.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

There will be an exodus of young men from Danielson Saturday morning when the members of the Service Battery, 103nd Field artillery get away on the first leg of their journey to Camp Eustil, Va.

The men will leave here about 11.30 a. m. in motor trucks from the equipment at the state armory and travel by this means of conveyance to Norwich, where in the early afternoon they, with the Norwich commands, will board a train for New London, from which point a special will convey them southward. They will arrive in Virginia Sunday.

Captain F. O. Armington said Thursday that about sixty men will make the trip. The advance detail is now en route, traveling by motor car and expectant of arriving at Camp Eustis as early or earlier than the regular command.

The men will wear khaki and field equipment on this journey, which is the second the command has made to the Virginia camp, having been there for a period of training in 1922. The company is eager for the journey, which promises much of interest and incidentally will mean much hard drilling and other training, but this is taken as a matter of course and will be compensated for by the pay allowance each man will later receive.

The company will be away about two weeks. Captain Armington says that his command is in satisfactory condition and militarily is further developed and keener than a year ago, when the majority of the members were recruits or of little experience with army life.

Members of the company are interested in a new military magazine that has made its appearance. It is entitled The Nutmeg and issued from the office of the adjutant general. It will deal with affairs of the national guard in Connecticut particularly and with army subjects generally and will, among other things, contain copies of general orders issued from time to time.

Relatives and friends here were inclined to the belief Thursday that Silvio Maynard, an attache of the United States embassy at Tokio, has come through the Japanese catastrophe safely, although no word has been received directly from him. The confidence is founded on the cablegram of Ambassador Woods to the state department that all members of the embassy force are safe. Mr. Maynard, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Maynard of High street, has been in Japan for about a year. Prior to that he was stationed in Cairo and has been at other posts in connection with his work in the consular and diplomatic service. He is a graduate of Killingly High school and has scores of friends in Danielson and nearby territory, and all of them have been concerned as to his fate since the first message telling of the great disaster came through.

That the people of Danielson are keen to the possibilities of a fuel shortage during the cold weather months of the year is indicated to those who talk with heads of families or observe what they are doing to assure warm and comfortable homes for themselves during the weeks when cold winds blow and storms of snow and ice come to make what is known as winter. Day after day those who have cord wood to sell are hauling it into the borough. A very considerable number of families are now provided against the winter's needs. Some have been fortunate enough to secure a supply of hard coal and fetch out their requirements with wood. Some coal deliveries are being made and others are anticipated, the strike notwithstanding, but it is already apparent that coal will not figure exclusively in heating Danielson homes during the winter.

The supply of wood is much more ample than was the case during the late winter period of the early part of this year and the indications are for more stable market and better established prices.

There continues to be agitation by motorists for the removal or widening of two narrow bridges on the state highways in the town of Plainfield. One of these bridges is at Central Village, the other at Almyville. Both are a menace to safety in these days of heavy traffic—such traffic as was never contemplated when the bridges in question were constructed. Both are what might be termed "one-way" bridges, structures on which two large cars cannot pass in safety—if they can pass at all. Few have had the temerity to try out the capacity of the bridges in this way.

Cases have arisen in the past few days where stubborn drivers have driven onto these bridges, particularly the one at Central Village, and have refused to recede, each claiming the right of way, while unable to pass each other, and in the meantime blocking traffic both sides of the bridge.

To motorists unfamiliar with the territory, the bridges are a particular menace and an invitation to serious accidents. They should go—and at the earliest possible moment, being entirely inadequate to meet present day needs. It is not implied here that the expense of replacing them should fall entirely upon the town of Plainfield, or at all for that matter. The matter concerns the state highway department almost exclusively.

And in these days when there are so many checks and restrictions on motorists, including those who try to obey the law to the letter, and such motorists are in the great majority, it may not be out of place to voice the sentiments of these motorists here and urge upon the state highway department the necessity of getting rid of Plainfield's narrow state highway bridge as soon as may be possible. In addition to all the other chances, there is a possibility that some motorcycle officer might get hurt there grasing a speeder, and that should be one strong consideration with the highway department, among many others.

Here is angle of the new fish and game laws that will be interesting to many fishermen and to those who let boats to those who wish to fish in streams, lakes or ponds: Section 78 of the game laws as now revised provides that any boat, seine, net, spear, torch, fishing tackle or any other implement used in taking or catching any fish in violation of the law shall be forfeited and may be seized by any commissioner and fish and game warden or any authorized officer and the court may order and such boat, seine, spear or other equipment to be destroyed or sold, and if sold one-half the proceeds are to be paid to the state treasurer. Incidentally, any person using a boat, seine, net, spear, torch, etc., may be considered the owner of the same.

Deputy Warden F. E. Kies says for the benefit of people who let boats that he is giving publicity to this feature of the law in order that they may have opportunity to warn those who hire boats not to violate the fishing law while they are using them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas and daughter, Miss Blanche Lucas, are to leave Sunday for a motor trip that will take them as far west as Cleveland, with visits to a number of cities en route.

Lindner Gallup, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gallup, is planning to leave within a few days for California, where he will remain a year. His sister is a resident of California.

John A. Heflin of Bridgeport was a visitor with friends in Danielson Thursday.

Members of the Catholic Welfare council met Thursday evening with Mrs. L. E. Kennedy to formulate plans for the fall and winter work and to give consideration to the matter of renting rooms for the club.

Members of the Employes' Welfare council in the Danielson exchange were at Putnam to attend a meeting of telephone employes from divisions in this section of the state.

Danielson will participate in the giving of funds for relief of earthquake sufferers in Japan, as provided in the nation-wide plan worked out by the American Red Cross.

More hot September weather came Thursday to test the grading powers and vitality of a summer-tired people. During the afternoon hours the mercury was in the 80's.

The new commercial teacher in the High school, filling the position held by Miss Stevens last year and for which Miss Tuckerman had been engaged, is Miss Ruth C. Fenton of Northampton, Mass., a graduate of Northampton Commercial college and Eastman's Business college and has taught at Northampton Commercial college. She had had three years of like work.

A meeting of all the teachers of the towns of Killingly and Brooklyn was held at Killingly High school Tuesday at 3.30 p. m. Thirty-two teachers signified their desire to take a university extension course. It is possible to secure a professor from Hartford to come here and give such a course if 40 teachers enroll. It is hoped that the additional number needed will be obtained from surrounding towns. Teachers expressed their preference for a course in Teaching Principles and Practices in the Progressive schools. Figures of the attendance on the opening day showed:

PUTNAM

In advance of the republican caucus, scheduled for next week, a matter of special interest is the candidacy of Attorney Irving H. Miron for tax collector, to succeed Attorney Ernest C. Morse, who has filled the post efficiently for several years. This matter was interesting republicans of the city Thursday, when the canvass in the interest of the two candidates was assuming activity. Aside from this advance feature of the caucus, there was no political activity of special interest.

Attorney Miron recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he holds an appointment as an assistant to the clerk of the United States senate. He is well known in Putnam and regarded as a strong candidate for the nomination.

Sunday afternoon a meeting of Cargill council, K. of C., one of the oldest councils of the order, will be held. The council has a large membership and is in prosperous condition. The meeting Sunday will mark the opening of the organization's activities for the fall and winter season.

Building activity will continue right through the winter in Putnam, it is now indicated. Among the important projects that are under way are the jobs of constructing the building to replace the destroyed Donahue block, the completion of the big garage for the Putnam Buick company and the projected plan for the erection of the Putnam Savings bank building on Main street. Representatives of the concern that is to construct the bank building will be here today. Following today's conference it is anticipated that the beginning of the work will not be long delayed. As this structure is to be raised and closed in before real cold weather, the work will proceed upon it throughout the winter.

A street fair in the interest of the nurses' home fund of the Day Kimball hospital is to give the people of the city and surrounding towns an attractive and an alluring setting in which to boost to completion a fund on which effort has been suspended for several months. The electrical display was being made ready Thursday and booths were being put in position, some of these occupying positions on the state highway in Pomfret street, near Canal street. The street fair is expected to attract attendance from all the eastern section of the county.

Indicating the activities now under way to clean up the city of places that are suspected of being engaged in violating the law, attention is being called to the record of the police in prosecuting more than 40 cases in court during a single summer month, as against about 90 cases during the entire period of 1922. Charges that the Putnam police are inactive fall flat when the record is considered. The past month there were 24 cases in the city court and September has been inaugurated with the presentation of 14 cases in a single day.

One of the events marking the near approach of the end of the camping season at Alexander's lake was a Japanese lantern party given in front of the quarters of a group of Putnam young men—Arthur Duvert, James J. Charron, Noel J. Dupre and Edmond Gagne. They were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Armand Lizotte, and numbered among the guests were Miss Arline LeClair and Miss Alice Joy. During the evening a lunch of fruit punch, crab meat salad, pineapple sauce, cake and coffee was served. Dancing was enjoyed during part of the evening.

Much of the time at Friday sessions of the superior court in this city during October will be given over to the consideration of divorce cases. A number of these cases have been filed and will be claimed for consideration during October. There is general interest in them because some of the principals are very well known.

Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss M. L. Marot in Thompson the Windham House association of Connecticut college held a meeting and heard reports covering the activities of the past year.

At this time the association is principally interested in forwarding its program for the completion of the Windham house fund, which is to be used to erect a dormitory at Connecticut college, where applicants are pressing for entrance, but cannot in many cases be accommodated because of lack of housing facilities.

Following close upon the completion of the nurses' home fund for Day Kimball hospital in this city, a county-wide drive will be instituted to swell the Windham house fund from its present amount of more than $20,000 to the amount required to meet the cost of building the proposed dormitory. All the towns of Windham county will be aroused to the urgency of the need in this case, and bright prospects indicate the completion of the fund before the end of the present year.

A hint as to what the hard coal supply is to be in Putnam during the late fall and winter and as to what Putnam people may do to assure themselves of a supply, the advertisement of a local coal company is of special interest, in view of the fact that it advises that "our coal is subject to future delivery on the basis of the supply allotted to us, and we urge all who can to burn wood." This is in line with the program general in New England to boycott hard coal and get along with substitutes as the most effective means of combating the irreconcilable interests in the anthracite industry.

Quietly but persistently political interests are now addressing themselves in Putnam to bringing about a lineup that will be of political advantage to certain interests when the biennial city election comes in December.

Mrs. Nelson Mansfield and daughter have returned from a stay of a month at Lord's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chadwick have returned here fater spending the summer at Pocasset, Mass.

The County League of Women Voters is to have a booth at the Woodstock fair. Miss Catherine Noyes of Pomfret, chairman of the committee of arrangements, will have the assistance of league members from various towns hereabouts.

As a speedier means of delivery, new motor cars are again being run overland from factories in Michigan to dealers doing business in this city.

Captain William Jarvis of the police department is nursing an injured finger as the result of his desperate encounter with Frank Smerzo of Webster, now a patient at the state hospital in Norwich, during the early hours of Tuesday morning. Captain Jarvis, a youthful and sturdy veteran of the World war, in which he saw active service in France, met a Tartar in Smerzo, who was possessed of extraordinary strength such as is ascribed to insane people when they meet in an encounter almost without parallel in local police history, except in the dim and distant past. Captain Jarvis' finger was cut when he and Smerzo, engaged in battle, crashed through what remained of a plate glass window that Smerzo had smashed in at the Bugbee and Wulf store. It appears at least remarkable that neither was not more seriously injured by the showering glass that fell upon them as they struggled about for supremacy. Captain Jarvis is little the worse for the mixup aside from the cut on the finger, but he is free to acknowledge that Smerzo is about the toughest customer he has encountered in his police experience.

The police captain said Thursday that, had it struck fair, the blow that Smerzo directed at him with a club would have killed him, as Smerzo declared his intention to do, and in language that left no uncertainty as to his ambition.

After a trip through the White Mountains and the Berkshires, Mr. and Mrs. Stapleton will make their home in Norwich, where Mr. Stapleton is a conductor in the employ of the Connecticut Co. Pleading guilty he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs amounting in all to $124.01 which was paid.

Thursday morning at the Memorial and Public library was held a full meeting of the incorporators of the Westerly hospital. Taking the places of Harry B. Agard, deceased, and Thomas Hope, who left Westerly, are William Segar and Mrs. Thomas Perry.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock there was held in the Memorial building a meeting of the Westerly hospital trustees, when only two members were absent—Charles P. Cottrell and Charles A. Morgan, both men being in New York. The number of members of the trustees has been increased from nine to eleven and with the addition of the ex-officio members, John O. Mills and Edgar P. Maxson, the total membership of the full board of trustees will be thirteen. The newly added trustees to the original nine are Charles P. Cottrell, Charles A. Morgan and George B. Utter.

Considerable business was transacted by the trustees, some of this being the adoption of quarterly meetings, or special meetings at the call of the president or secretary. Authority was given the president and treasurer to invest the funds of the institution in such securities that they may be available when needed. It was agreed to request the services of Dr. Goldwater as consulting architect, as he was highly recommended by Charles Folsom, who had in charge the drive for the hospital which netted over $600,000 in funds, as Dr. Goldwater has had considerable experience along those lines. Representatives of Kendall & Taylor, architectural firm of Boston, which had in charge the hospital plans, were in Westerly Wednesday, and from their statements it would be six months before the plans and specifications would be ready to go ahead on the building work. Named as a building committee were Charles Perry, Thomas McKenzie and Arthur M. Cottrell, and authority was given the president to add to this number as may be necessary.

The case of George LePiore was continued to Friday, Sept. 12, at 8 o'clock. As his counsel, Attorney O'Keefe could not make his appearance being in attendance at a session of the superior court. The accused was refused a jitney license as his license had been revoked in Westerly and a claim is made that he obtains license in Connecticut by a misstatement of facts. When arrested by the state police his automobile was held as surety. LePiore appeared before Judge William A. Wilcox Thursday evening in a special hearing with Prosecuting Attorney George R. McKenna representing the state. Vincenzo Pisapia became his surety in the sum of $500 and the automobile was released.

DANIELSON

There will be an exodus of young men from Danielson Saturday morning when the members of the Service Battery, 103nd Field artillery get away on the first leg of their journey to Camp Eustil, Va.

The men will leave here about 11.30 a. m. in motor trucks from the equipment at the state armory and travel by this means of conveyance to Norwich, where in the early afternoon they, with the Norwich commands, will board a train for New London, from which point a special will convey them southward. They will arrive in Virginia Sunday.

Captain F. O. Armington said Thursday that about sixty men will make the trip. The advance detail is now en route, traveling by motor car and expectant of arriving at Camp Eustis as early or earlier than the regular command.

The men will wear khaki and field equipment on this journey, which is the second the command has made to the Virginia camp, having been there for a period of training in 1922. The company is eager for the journey, which promises much of interest and incidentally will mean much hard drilling and other training, but this is taken as a matter of course and will be compensated for by the pay allowance each man will later receive.

The company will be away about two weeks. Captain Armington says that his command is in satisfactory condition and militarily is further developed and keener than a year ago, when the majority of the members were recruits or of little experience with army life.

Members of the company are interested in a new military magazine that has made its appearance. It is entitled The Nutmeg and issued from the office of the adjutant general. It will deal with affairs of the national guard in Connecticut particularly and with army subjects generally and will, among other things, contain copies of general orders issued from time to time.

Relatives and friends here were inclined to the belief Thursday that Silvio Maynard, an attache of the United States embassy at Tokio, has come through the Japanese catastrophe safely, although no word has been received directly from him. The confidence is founded on the cablegram of Ambassador Woods to the state department that all members of the embassy force are safe. Mr Maynard, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Maynard of High street, has been in Japan for about a year. Prior to that he was stationed in Cairo and has been at other posts in connection with his work in the consular and diplomatic service. He is a graduate of Killingly High school and has scores of friends in Danielson and nearby territory, and all of them have been concerned as to his fate since the first message telling of the great disaster came through.

That the people of Danielson are keen to the possibilities of a fuel shortage during the cold weather months of the year is indicated to those who talk with heads of families or observe what they are doing to assure warm and comfortable homes for themselves during the weeks when cold winds blow and storms of snow and ice come to make what is known as winter. Day after day those who have cord wood to sell are hauling it into the borough. A very considerable number of families are now provided against the winter's needs. Some have been fortunate enough to secure a supply of hard coal and fetch out their requirements with wood. Some coal deliveries are being made and others are anticipated, the strike notwithstanding, but it is already apparent that coal will not figure exclusively in heating Danielson homes during the winter.

The supply of wood is much more ample than was the case during the late winter period of the early part of this year and the indications are for more stable market and better established prices.

There continues to be agitation by motorists for the removal or widening of two narrow bridges on the state highways in the town of Plainfield. One of these bridges is at Central Village, the other at Almyville. Both are a menace to safety in these days of heavy traffic—such traffic as was never contemplated when the bridges in question were constructed. Both are what might be termed "one-way" bridges, structures on which two large cars cannot pass in safety—if they can pass at all. Few have had the temerity to try out the capacity of the bridges in this way.

Cases have arisen in the past few days where stubborn drivers have driven onto these bridges, particularly the one at Central Village, and have refused to recede, each claiming the right of way, while unable to pass each other, and in the meantime blocking traffic both sides of the bridge.

To motorists unfamiliar with the territory, the bridges are a particular menace and an invitation to serious accidents. They should go—and at the earliest possible moment, being entirely inadequate to meet present day needs. It is not implied here that the expense of replacing them should fall entirely upon the town of Plainfield, or at all for that matter. The matter concerns the state highway department almost exclusively.

And in these days when there are so many checks and restrictions on motorists, including those who try to obey the law to the letter, and such motorists are in the great majority, it may not be out of place to voice the sentiments of these motorists here and urge upon the state highway department the necessity of getting rid of Plainfield's narrow state highway bridge as soon as may be possible. In addition to all the other chances, there is a possibility that some motorcycle officer might get hurt there chasing a speeder, and that should be one strong consideration with the highway department, among many others.

Here is angle of the new fish and game laws that will be interesting to many fishermen and to those who let boats to those who wish to fish in streams, lakes or ponds: Section 75 of the game laws as now revised provides that any boat, seine, net, spear, torch, fishing tackle or any other implement used in taking or catching any fish in violation of the law shall be forfeited and may be seized by any commissioner and fish and game warden or any authorized officer and the court may order and such boat, seine, spear or other equipment to be destroyed or sold, and if sold one-half the proceeds are to be paid to the state treasurer. Incidentally, any person using a boat, seine, net, spear, torch, etc., may be considered the owner of the same.

Deputy Warden F. E. Kies says for the benefit of people who let boats that he is giving publicity to this feature of the law in order that they may have opportunity to warn those who hire boats not to violate the fishing law while they are using them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas and daughter, Miss Blanche Lucas, are to leave Sunday for a motor trip that will take them as far west as Cleveland, with visits to a number of cities en route.

Lindner Gallup, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gallup, is planning to leave within a few days for California, where he will remain a year. His sister is a resident of California.

Members of the Catholic Welfare council met Thursday evening with Mrs. L. E. Kennedy to formulate plans for the fall and winter work and to give consideration to the matter of renting rooms for the club.

Danielson will participate in the giving of funds for relief of earthquake sufferers in Japan, as provided in the nation-wide plan worked out by the American Red Cross.

More hot September weather came Thursday to test the staying powers and vitality of a summer-tired people. During the afternoon hours the mercury was in the 80's.

The new commercial teacher in the High school, filling the position held by Miss Stevens last year and for which Miss Tuckerman had been engaged, is Miss Ruth C. Fenton of Northampton, Mass., a graduate of Northampton Commercial college and Eastman's Business college and has taught at Northampton Commercial college. She had had three years of like work.

A meeting of all the teachers of the towns of Killingly and Brooklyn was held at Killingly High school Tuesday at 3.30 p. m. Thirty-two teachers signified their desire to take a university extension course. It is possible to secure a professor from Harvard to come here and give such a course if 40 teachers enroll. It is hoped that the additional number needed will be obtained from surrounding towns. Teachers expressed their preference for a course in Teaching Principles and Practices in the Progressive schools. Figures of the attendance on the opening day showed:

PUTNAM

In advance of the republican caucus, scheduled for next week, a matter of special interest is the candidacy of Attorney Irving H. Miron for tax collector, to succeed Attorney Ernest C. Morse, who has filled the post efficiently for several years. This matter was interesting republicans of the city Thursday, when the canvass in the interest of the two candidates was assuming activity. Aside from this advance feature of the caucus, there was no political activity of special interest.

Attorney Miron recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he holds an appointment as an assistant to the clerk of the United States senate. He is well known in Putnam and regarded as a strong candidate for the nomination.

Sunday afternoon a meeting of Car-gill council, K. of C., one of the oldest councils of the order, will be held. The council has a large membership and is in prosperous condition. The meeting Sunday will mark the opening of the organization's activities for the fall and winter season.

Building activity will continue right through the winter in Putnam, it is now indicated. Among the important projects that are under way are the jobs of constructing the building to replace the destroyed Donahue block, the completion of the big garage for the Putnam Buick company and the projected plan for the erection of the Putnam Savings bank building on Main street. Representatives of the concern that is to construct the bank building will be here today. Following today's conference it is anticipated that the beginning of the work will not be long delayed. As this structure is to be raised and closed in before real cold weather, the work will proceed upon it throughout the winter.

A street fair in the interest of the nurses' home fund of the Day Kimball hospital is to give the people of the city and surrounding towns an attractive and an alluring setting in which to boost to completion a fund on which effort has been expended for several months. The electrical display was being made ready Thursday, and booths were being put in position, some of these occupying positions on the state highway in Pomfret street, near Canal street. The street fair is expected to attract attendance from all the eastern section of the county.

Indicating the activities now under way to clean up the city of places that are suspected of being engaged in violating the law, attention is being called to the record of the police in presenting more than 40 cases in court during a single summer month, as against about 90 cases during the entire period of 1922. Charges that the Putnam police are inactive fall flat when the record is considered. The past month there were 24 cases in the city court and September has been inaugurated with the presentation of 16 cases in a single day.

One of the events marking the near approach of the end of the camping season at Alexander's lake was a Japanese lantern party given in front of the quarters of a group of Putnam young men—Arthur Duvert, James J. Charron, Noel J. Dupre and Edmond Gagne. They were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Armand Lizotte, and numbered among the guests were Miss Arline LeClair and Miss Alice Joy. During the evening a lunch of fruit punch, crab meat salad, rolls, pineapple sauce, cake and coffee was served. Dancing was enjoyed during part of the evening.

Much of the time at Friday sessions of the superior court in this city during October will be given over to the consideration of divorce cases. A number of these cases have been filed and will be claimed for consideration during October. There is general interest in these because none of the principals are very well known.

Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss M. L. Marot in Thompson the Windham House association of Connecticut college held a meeting and heard reports covering the activities of the past year.

At this time the association is principally interested in forwarding its program for the completion of the Windham house fund, which is to be used to erect a dormitory at Connecticut college, where applicants are pressing for entrance, but cannot in many cases be accommodated because of lack of housing facilities.

Following close upon the completion of the nurses' home fund for Day Kimball hospital in this city, a county-wide drive will be instituted to swell the Windham house fund from its present amount of more than $20,000 to the amount required to meet the cost of building the proposed dormitory. All the towns of Windham county will be aroused to the urgency of the need in this case, and bright prospects indicate the completion of the fund before the end of the present year.

A hint as to what the hard coal supply is to be in Putnam during the late fall and winter and as to what Putnam people may do to assure themselves of a supply, the advertisement of a local coal company is of special interest, in view of the fact that it advises that "our coal is subject to future delivery on the basis of the supply allotted to us, and we urge all who can to burn wood." This is in line with the program general in New England to boycott hard coal and get along with substitutes as the most effective means of combating the irreconcilable interests in the anthracite industry.

Quietly but persistently political interests are now addressing themselves in Putnam to bringing about a lineup that will be of political advantage to certain interests when the biennial city election comes in December.

Mrs. Nelson Mansfield and daughter have returned from a stay of a month at Lord's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chadwick have returned here fater spending the summer at Pocasset, Mass.

The County League of Women Vot-ers is to have a booth at the Woodstock fair. Miss Catherine Noyes of Pomfret, chairman of the committee of arrangements, will have the assistance of league members from various towns hereabouts.

As a speedier means of delivery, new motor cars are again being run overland from factories in Michigan to dealers doing business in this city.

Captain William Jarvis of the po-lice department is nursing an injured finger as the result of his desperate encounter with Frank Smerzo of Webster, now a patient at the state hospital in Norwich, during the early hours of Tuesday morning. Captain Jarvis, a youthful and sturdy veteran of the World war, in which he saw active service in France, met a Tartar in Smerzo, who was possessed of extraordinary strength such as is ascribed to insane people when they met in an encounter almost without parallel in local police history, except in the dim and distant past. Captain Jarvis' finger was cut when he and Smerzo, engaged in battle, crashed through what remained of a plate glass window that Smerzo had smashed in at the Bugbee and Wulf store. It appears at least remarkable that neither was not more seriously injured by the showering glass that fell upon them as they struggled about for supremacy. Captain Jarvis is little the worse for the mixup aside from the cut on the finger, but he is free to acknowledge that Smerzo is about the toughest customer he has encountered in his police experience.

The police captain said Thursday that, had it struck fair, the blow that Smerzo directed at him with a club would have killed him, as Smerzo declared his intention to do, and in language that left no uncertainty as to his ambition.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock there was held in the Memorial building a meeting of the Westerly hospital trustees, when only two members were absent—Charles P. Cottrell and Charles A. Morgan, both men being in New York. The number of members of the trustees has been increased from nine to eleven and with the addition of the ex-officio members, John G. Miller and Edgar P. Maxson, the total membership of the full board of trustees will be thirteen. The newly added trustees to the original nine are Charles P. Cottrell, Charles A. Morgan and George B. Utter.

Considerable business was transacted by the trustees, some of this being the adoption of quarterly meetings, or special meetings at the call of the president or secretary. Authority was given the president and treasurer to invest the funds of the institution in such securities that they may be available when needed. It was agreed to request the services of Dr. Goldwater as consulting architect, as he was highly recommended by Charles Folsom, who had in charge the drive for the hospital which netted over $600,000 in funds, as Dr. Goldwater has had considerable experience along those lines. Representatives of Kendall & Taylor, architectural firm of Boston, which had in charge the hospital plans, were in Westerly Wednesday, and from their statements it would be six months before the plans and specifications would be ready to go ahead on the building work. Named as a building committee were Charles Perry, Thomas McKenzie and Arthur M. Cottrell, and authority was given the president to add to this number as may be necessary.

The case of George LePiore was con-tinued to Friday, Sept. 12, at 8 o'clock. As his counsel, Attorney O'Keefe could not make his appearanve being in attendance at a session of the superior court. The accused was refused a jitney license as his license had been revoked in Westerly and a claim is made that he obtains license in Connecticut by a misstatement of facts. When arrested by the state police his automobile was held as surety. LePiore appeared before Judge William A. Wilcox Thursday evening in a special hearing with Prosecuting Attorney George R. McKenna representing the state. Vincenzo Pisapia became his surety in the sum of $500 and the automobile was released.

NEW LONDON MAN FOUND WITH LIQUOR BUT JUDGE LETS HIM GO

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 6.—The Thames Improvement company has sold a building lot on Oneco avenue to Harold A. Pitton.

Mrs. Mary Wentwaring of Oswegatchie, who recently underwent a surgical operation, William Reeves of Perry street, William Crenk, employed by the Merritt-Chapman-Scott Wrecking company, Lewis Daniels of Waterford and Mrs. Hannah Haggerty of Westerly were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital today.

Louis Eifenbein has purchased the residence of the late Edward T. Brown, 194 Hempstead street, the house being sold by Mr. Brown's daughter, Mrs. Nancy Brown. Mr. Eifenbein and family will shortly occupy the house, Mrs. Brown will move to the Hotel Mohican apartments.

The automobile owned and operated by Max Meyer, 147 North Bank street, and a machine owned by A. Gordon and operated by Louis Singara, 21 Cutler street, were in collision at the corner of Bank and Howard streets this afternoon. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel has caused the operator's license of Orasio Perrone, 21 West Colt street, to be returned to the owner. Perrone was recently concerned in an alleged infraction of the automobile law when the car he was operating was in collision with another machine.

Miss F. O. Jones of New York, a summer resident, 651 Pequot avenue, complained to the police about 1 o'clock this morning that someone was prowling about her home. Sergeant Patrick Murphy was despatched to the Jones residence, but when he arrived there no signs of the prowler could be found.

Bernard Oakes of Waterford, known as "Barney" Oakes, employed by the New Haven railroad as yard brakeman at the union station, was arrested this afternoon, charged with indecent exposure. He was locked up at the police station in default of securing a surety on a bond of $500 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow morning.

Oakes' arrest was the result of a complaint being made by Mrs. Edward Chester and Mrs. Fred Ursham, residents in the vicinity of Jefferson avenue and Chester street, who alleged that Oakes had been in the vicinity of their home, making himself conspicuous a long time by exposing himself. Sergeant Nelson Smith and Patrolman Clarence Wells speeded to the place where Oakes was alleged to be, and finding him where the women declared him to be, Oakes was taken into custody.

The condition of Samuel Riner, 760 Main street, and Guildo Benvenuti, a youth, aged 13, of 9 Chelsea street, both of whom sustained fractured legs last evening when the automobile Riner was operating is alleged to have been crowded off the highway at Niantic, causing the car to crash against a telephone pole, was stated at Lawrence hospital this afternoon to be comfortable. The state police have ascertained that the machine which forced Riner's automobile off the highway is owned by Philip Gagnoni, 42 Washington street, Torrington. Gagnoni will probably be arrested, charged with reckless driving and evading responsibility, and will be brought back to East Lyme for trial.

An automobile stolen from New London has been recovered by the police of Webster, Mass. Joseph Martelle was arrested there yesterday and is being held on two counts for automobile theft. He had in his possession when taken into custody a Ford machine stolen from Philip Taber of Providence a week ago Sunday, the automobile having been parked by Taber while he was spending the week end at the shore resort. Taber has been to Webster and has taken charge of his automobile. If Taber will agree to appear in New London against Martelle, the latter will be brought here for trial as soon as the case against Martelle is disposed of in the Webster police court. Martelle is not known in New London.

Thomas Severino won the right to have some liquor in his home, when prosecuted in the police court today. The arrest was made last night when Sergeant Smith and Policemen Graham and Leyden spent some time watching the Severino house, finally went in and found a bottle of whiskey on the table, Severino and his children sitting in the room. There were three or four glasses on the table and these were considered evidence that the bottle had been used, though to whom the liquor was sold was not apparent. The liquor was seized as was another bottle about a quarter full which Severino told the officers was in an upper room. Severino did not attempt to hide the liquor, which was whiskey. He admitted that it was his property and told the officers "you have caught me and I don't deny it." He declared that he bought the liquor some months ago from a man who offered it for sale on Main street and who gave assurance that it was "good stuff." Severino said he paid $12 for half a gallon, a price that he admitted was high, but he expressed the opinion that "good stuff" was worth the cost. He admitted that his brothers were his guests on Labor Day. They came from Litchfield and that he treated them to some of the liquor. Severino said he treated other friends when they called upon him. The officers searched the premises inside and the yard outside, but found no more liquor. Severino had the opinion that he knew who made a complaint against him as he had refused to allow fellows from the Thomas Hose company house to get any liquor, telling them that he had none and that he did not sell liquor. The possession of the liquor being admitted, it remained for the state to show that the whiskey was kept with the intention of selling it. This could not be shown on the evidence presented, and Judge Prince discharged the accused.

Charles Syphers looked like an old friend when presented for intoxication. In years past he has been a familiar figure in the court, but of late he has not appeared there. Syphers is a painter and has been a steady worker a long time so the court decided that it was worth a trial to keep him at work for himself rather than for the county, so judgment was suspended.

Sergeant Samuel Hick, who, with Patrolman Frank Philopena has been engaged in an endeavor to put an end to rum-running and the illegal sale of liquor in New London, has presented a bill to City Treasurer Herbert G. Huntley for $133 for the use of the sergeant's car during August. The bill undoubtedly will be paid as it bears the approval of both State's Attorney Hull and Captain of Police Finney.

The Glorig youth was struck by Damon's car when the boy ran into the highway to get possession of a puppy.

Goode was arrested when detected speeding on Quaker Hill.

New Haven Guests.

Former Norwich residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Golkowske, and son, William G. Golkowske, of New Haven, motored to Norwich Saturday and visited over Labor day with relatives. During their stay they were entertained at the home of Mrs. Golkowske's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pollard, of Taftville, who with their little son, Ernest, Jr., recently returned from New Haven after being guests for several days at the Golkowske home. The Pollard family previous to going to New Haven spent a week on Block Island.

Hadrian's wall, built by the Romans in northern Britain, was not erected for military defence, but to make policing the border against unauthorised crossings easier, recent study of the ruins suggests.

MAKE EACH FARM SUFFICIENT UNTO ITSELF.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

Some time ago, picking up a New York weekly, my attention was attracted to an article uncompromisingly headed "The Undesirability of Commerce."

As was only natural, such a headlined and capitalized expression of heresy made me wonder what wild iconoclast was at large. In common with many Greeks of Paul's time and most Americans of the Mark Twain apostolate, I am, also, rather more eager to hear something new, be it true or not, than anything old, no matter how many times tested and proven.

So I read the article.

The writer frankly discounted the widespread criticism that he knew his thesis would arouse. He began by saying that the war taught us a lesson insular England and isolated Germany had already learned, i. e., how to do without the greater part of their former importations. Germany and England and France and Italy found early in the great war that they must get less through commerce and more from their own production. Later we also learned that lesson.

Yet, before the war, goes on this writer:

"The world had come to regard commerce as a fine thing in itself and worthy of continual encouragement. The expansion of trade was considered as an index of prosperity. * * * A city bragged about the number of carloads or shiploads that entered its markets. It might as well have bragged of the number of hospital cases treated or wooden legs supplied. Hospitals and wooden legs are splendid things for people who are short of health or limbs. A city should have as many of them as it needs—but the fewer it needs, the better."

Eh? How does that strike you? Don't fling the paper down without further thought, and dismiss it as the ebullition of some wild-eyed crank. Roll it over in your mind a few minutes. Think what commerce really it, at root. I quote again:

"Its object is to remedy a deficiency. It is the cure of a disease, the disease of privation or incapacity. Why do you buy anything? Because you lack something. Why do you sell anything? Because the other party lacks something."

That's certainly true, so far. You wouldn't ever buy eggs at 70 cents a dozen if you had all the eggs of your own you needed. No other fellow would buy your potatoes at $1.50 or $2 a bushel if he had all the potatoes he wanted of his own. Whether you buy eggs from your next door neighbor on the right and sell potatoes to your next door neighbor on the left, or buy your eggs shipped from Illinois and sell your potatoes to New Orleans—both transactions are commerce. And it is commerce in every case necessitated by your lack or somebody else's lack. Here's a third quotation:

"Last year the people of the United States paid the railroads of the United States $3,400,000,000. The cost of short haul transportation and local handling of long distance commodities must have amounted to many billions more. How many of these billions might have been saved if each locality had lived so far as possible on its own products cannot be told because it has never been tried.

"We hear much of the wasted energy when two milk or grocery wagons pass on the street, but little attention is paid to the drain upon civilization caused by the trains and ships that in times of peace are continually going in opposite directions laden with the same or similar commodities."

Now, there's no use trying to sweep such talk as this away with any lordly Podanappian gesture of disagreement or denial. The question isn't whether we like it or not, but whether it's true or not. Naturally, the slaves and drudges as well as the masters of commerce will dispute it. All of us see with great difficulty anything either wrong or even impolitic in a custom which enriches us or offers chance for enrichment. Self-interest is a wonderful eye-opener, we are told. It is quite as often an eye-closer and ear-stopper. But how about those of us who are neither commercial princes nor serfs of the shipping room?

It is perfectly clear that there must be some commerce. We need coal and can get it only by having it dug for us in Pennsylvania and transported to us. That's commerce.

We want cotton cloth. We can get it, the most of us, only by having the southern states produce the staple and ship it to us. That's commerce.

We want oranges and pineapples. We can't raise them. We can get them only by having Florida and California and Hawaii grow and ship them to us. That's commerce.

We want sugar and tea, and coffee, and spices and silks, and champagne, and diamonds, and anywhere from ten to ten dozen other things which we can't raise or mine or make in Connecticut. The only way to get them is to import them from their native regions. And that's commerce.

So far as these things are concerned, the question whether commerce is, abstractly, undesirable or not, is purely academic and of no practical concern. It is no more practical than the question whether sickness and doctors and drugs are desirable or not. We have to admit that there always is and always will be sickness, and that a doctor and medicine are mighty desirable when it comes. But we don't want the doctor nor his drugs when we are well. Nor do we need to have commerce supply us with things which we can provide ourselves.

The question really simmers down to this: What are the things we really need and can't produce—must have brought to us?

The things we "need" mind you; not necessarily the thing we "want." As a rule, we "want" the earth, and the moon—with a ring 'round it! But not even commerce can bring us this. At least, it never has, yet. Not even to ex-Kaiser Bill though, after trying to conquer the earth to himself by trade he gave that plan up and attempted the same thing by war.

For one thing, we all want a good deal more than we really need. For another thing, we farmers can, if we choose, produce a good many more of the supplies we do really need than we now produce—or think we are able to.

And, by gravy, if things keep on much longer as they're now heading, we shall find out that we MUST do it, or go without!

Most of us can declare and maintain complete independence of the coal situation, whether in peace or in war. Wood, with which our many mountains are over-stopped, makes a perfectly satisfactory domestic fuel.

Most of us can, if we see fit, raise at least enough corn to feed our own chickens and supply the dining table with a loaf of corn bread on one or two or three "wheatless" days per week.

Very few but could grow enough buckwheat and oats for home consumption. Practically none but could raised all the vegetables required by a reasonable family. Nearly all could supply themselves with berries and fruits, both for fresh use and for winter canning.

Nine farmers out of ten could raise their own pork. A load of fourteen hundred pounds has just gone by my window, en route to market. It was grown by a neighbor on the wastes of the farm and dairy, all but about three weeks' "finishing" on corn meal, also farm-grown. He is getting no great price for that load of pork, but of what he gets fully two-thirds says in his pocket as wages for thirds stays in his pocket as wages for a little over six months. If it is profitable for one man to raise pork by the ton to sell, it must be feasible for other men to raise it by the hundred for home use.

By a little planning beforehand and a neighborly "swapping around" very many bunches of farmers could have their own beef, fresh during the cold weather and corned the rest of the year. Or their own mutton.

There are some who, possessing maple woods, could wisely devote a little of the waste time in early spring to making enough maple sugar and syrup to cut down by a quarter or a third their consumption of boughten sugar.

There are others with convenient brooks who, by one or two cheap, easily built dams, could contrive fish ponds for use on many a "meatless" day.

Oh, dear friends, while you may think what you choose about the desirability or undesirability of commerce, you can't, if you have real farm blood in you, fail to see the urgent desirability of making the farm—each farm, every farm, your farm and my farm—sufficient unto itself, so far as natural conditions permit. Says the writer from whom I have already quoted: "We should all be richer if we did not spend so much of our wealth in the superfluous swapping of it."

"I have some corn but no pig. I sell that corn to the dealer, getting the full market price. The dealer sells it to my neighbor Stokes, who has a pig but no corn, adding a round profit for himself to the price. My neighbor turns it into pork, sells the pork to the butcher at the highest market price and then I buy that same pork of the butcher, paying all he paid for it and his profit, too.

That's commerce. Good especially for the grain dealer and the butcher you'll observe, but taking at least two sizable profits out of Stokes' pocket and mine.

Instead of going back of the house and 'round the barn and up the road and away 'cross lots to get to the pork barrel, suppose I'd not only raised corn but fed it to my own pig; and Stokes had also raised corn and fed it to his own pig. Then we'd both have had pork for less than it cost each of us in the other case. He'd have saved my profit and the dealer's profit on the corn he bought; I'd have saved his profit and the butcher's profit on the pork I bought.

That might not be commerce. But wouldn't it be common sense?

THE FARMER.

At The Strand.

The European novelty musical artists, The Braminos, opened the B. F. Keith vaudeville bill at the Strand yesterday. They made a very favorable impression with their musical ability and clown make up.

Boso Fox and Leon Miller, "The Two Broadway Idlers," followed with some good comedy singing and dancing.

An Old Favorite in vaudeville, Charles B. Lawler, writer of the famous song, "The Sidewalks of New York," made a hit in third spot with his new comedy skit by Paul Gerard Smith. He is ably assisted by Miss Alice Lawler, his daughter.

Nicholas Casa and Elsie Lehn in "A Terpsichorean Fantasy" closed the bill with very fine dancing feature, Russian and Holland.

For thrills, fast action and laughs, "Refuge," Katherine MacDonald's latest First National attraction, which had its premiere last night at the Strand theatre, would be hard to beat.

The star is more beautiful than we have ever seen her, and she acts with a spirit that sets a high standard for her supporting cast, which includes such capable players as Hugh Thompson, Gordon Russell, Grace Morse, Fred Malatesta, Arthur Edmund Carewe, Gunnis Davis and Victor Potel.

Much credit is due Lois Zellner, the author, and Victor Schertzinger, the director, for the fine spirit and freshness of the story, and the swing that carries the audience foward with one surprise after another.

Three soldiers, tired of war, go to Moravia, thinking there to find peace. But in that little country they find a beautiful woman in distress, a villainous prince, a dead man in a car and more excitement than the war had even suggested.

E. P. Schulberg and First National are to be congratulated on the picture, which from the standpoint of drama, beauty and photography has seldom been equalled.

Breed Theatre.

"Snowdrift" the latest William Fox production starring Charles Jones, which is the feature at the Breed theatre today, has a vigorous story, lively action and a splendid supporting cast. Superb photography of the snow-covered wastes of the Yukon adds a distinctive note to the picture.

This latest action picture with Jones was made from the story of the same name by James B. Hendryx, who is well known for his stories of Alaska and the old gold fields. Scott Dunlap directed the production in which Jones has the role of Carter Brent, also known as "Ace-in-the-Hole," a renegade mining engineer from the states. Dorothy Manners is seen as "Snowdrift," the child of white parents who were lost in a Northern blizzard, and Irene Rich plays the part of Kitty, the "Queen of the Yukon."

Each Jones picture serves more and more to increase our faith in this daring and capable young actor. This screen story is of a different type from his latest pictures, and gives Jones an opportunity for some vigorous action that should provide excellent screen entertainment for movie fans.

Ruth Roland in "Haunted Valley" the Pathe News and Charlie Chaplin in "Caught in a Cabaret" make up the remainder of the bill. Big musical programme tonight by enlarged orchestra.

Hillcrest Sold.

Archa W. Coit has recently sold the beautiful home of Mrs. Claude E. Hull of Uncasville, Conn., to Mrs. Benjamin B. Wetherbee. The property is considered architecturally and through the charm of its extensive grounds to be one of the most desirable residences in this section. It commands an extensive river view and has a large shore frontage. The new owner will reside there in the near future.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Total stock sales, 628,100 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged, 93.00, net gain .02. High, 1923, 105.38; low, 86.91.

Twenty railroads averaged 79.55, net loss, 11. High, 1923, 90.63; low, 76.76.

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR.

New York, Sept. 6. — Conflicting price movements took place in today's stock market reflecting the play of opposing speculative forces. Prices generally showed a firm tone during the morning but realizing sales came into the market later, cancelling many of the earlier gains. The averages showed little change on the day.

Speculators for the decline offered the oils freely on reports of additional gasoline cuts on the Pacific Coast and a continued increase in production, but they made little headway. Pan-American issues each dropped about 2 points, but recovered half of their losses later, and the other active shares in that group showed only fractional recessions.

Independent steels were bid up sharply on reports of further inquiries for the product from Japanese sources, but the early gains were not maintained. Republic closed 2 points higher, Youngstown Sheet & Iron 2 1-2 and Bethlehem nearly 1, but U. S. Steel common and Gulf States closed fractionally lower. Preliminary estimates of the reduction in unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation in August, which will be announced next Monday, range from $50,000 to 500,000 tons.

Rails were somewhat sluggish. The report of a new high record of car loadings in August was counteracted by a compilation of the July earnings statements showing combined net income in July at the rate of 4.98 per cent. annually as against 5.47 in June and 4.12 in July of last year. "Nickel Plate" issues were again strong.

Davison Chemical fluctuated within a range of 5 points, closing at 50 1-4, up 1 1-4. The New York Stock Exchange, which investigated the violent fluctuations of the stock on Aug. 30 when a jump of 20 points was followed by a decline of 22 points, announced today that the market movement of that date was "entirely the result of an enormous public speculation in the stock and in no way due to manipulation."

Foundation Co. dropped 3 1-2 points on selling attributed to fear of possible losses in Japan where the company has contracts, but recovered about half of its loss later on publication of a report by the company the the full dividends for 1923 had been earned in the first seven months of this year.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, but declined to 4-1-2 before the close. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Trading in the foreign exchange market slackened somewhat with slight recessions noted in the principal European currencies. Demand sterling sold around $4.51 3-4 and French francs around 5.54 cents. German marks touched another new low at 1 7-8 cents a million.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Wheat prices developed rallying power today after a weaker tendency early. Some enlargement of commission house buying appeared to be based in a measure on prospective demand for flour to be shipped to Japan. The close was steady at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-4c higher, with December $1.05 3-4 to $1.06 7-8 and May $1.11 1-4@3-8 to $1.11 3-8. Corn finished at a range varying from 1-8c decline to 3-4c advance, oats 1-8 to 1-4c up, and provisions at 5 to 20c gain.

At first, the wheat market was bearishly influenced by the fact that the spring wheat is beginning to move in volume from the farms and because of predictions of increased hedging here against Canadian grain. Besides Liverpool quotations showed a material set-back. In the absence of any aggressive sellings, however, buyers gathered more confidence, and quite a decided upturn in values took place at the time when the market was found to be almost bare of offerings. The advance, though, failed to hold well, bearish crop estimates from Canada acting more or less as a weight on the market.

In the late dealings, talk of increased demand for flour for Japan was also somewhat offset by questions as to the disposal of 8,000,000 to 10,000,0000 bushels of Pacific Coast wheat said to be owned by Japanese. The leading mills of Japan have apparently been destroyed, and although some of the wheat may be diverted to other mills, the chances were generally taken to be that Japan might have to cancel wheat purchases even while requiring greater supplies of flour.

Wet weather and unfavorable crop reports from half a dozen states, Ohio to Nebraska inclusive, gave firmness to corn and oats.

Provisions went higher in response to a large decrease shown to have taken place of late in western stocks of lard.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 6.—A moderate recovery in the Japanese issues was the feature of today's irregular bond market. City of Tokio 5s closed 1 1-4 higher, Japanese 4 1-2s, 1, and the 4s, 1 1-2. Austrian 7s dropped 1 1-8 points to another new low price for the year.

Railroad mortgages, as a rule, eased in sympathy with lower stock prices. Public Service of New Jersey 5s and Brooklyn Edison 7s, up 1 and 1 1-2 points, respectively, were the strong spots of the public utility group. Industrial mortgages showed mixed changes.

U. S. government bonds held steady, the fluctuations being limited to less than 1-8 of 1 point.

The prompt closing of the subscription books on the $55,000,000 offering of Argentine short term 6 per cent. notes was construed as an indication that there were plenty of funds available for investment throughout the country.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 6.—Considerable irregularity developed in today's curb market with the oil shares under pressure. Standad Oils of Indiana, Kansas and New York yielded fractionally while Vacuum Mutual and Mountain Producers showed slight gains. Cities Service dropped 2 points and a few other inactive issues a point or more.

Glen Alden Coal, which jumped nearly 2 points in expectation of favorable dividend action, was the feature of the industrial list. Motors were heavy, Durant dropping 1 1-2 and Reo, 7-8.

Chief activity in the mining group was again confined to the penny stocks, which showed mixed changes.

METAL MARKET.

MOTOR TRUCK DRIVER ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Joseph Contino of New London went on trial on the charge of statutory manslaughter in the superior court here Thursday morning for causing the death of Tony Longo of New London. The two men and their families were riding in Contino's motor truck, with Contino driving, on the night of May 20, 1923, when the truck struck a tree on Pequot avenue, throwing Longo out. He died of his injuries at the hospital on June 8. It is charged by the state that Contino was under the influence of liquor when he was driving the truck.

After Judge George E. Parsons, clerk of the court, had drawn the jury, State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull opened the case for the state by calling Rose Longo, daughter of Tony Longo, as the first witness. She told the jury and Judge Allyn L. Brown that the motor truck party was on the way to a christening and she was riding in the back of the truck. Before the accident she saw some blinding lights and then the truck hit the tree. She jumped out of the rear of the truck.

William P. Babcock, motorcycle policeman, who was sent to Pequot after the smash, testified that the truck had gone past four telephone poles after hitting the tree before it came to a stop. He stated that Contino was under the influence of liquor.

Edwin J. Peckham, who was walking along Pequot avenue about 9.30 o'clock testified that he was about 20 feet behind the truck when it hit the tree and that it went on for a considerable distance. He also said that he saw that the accused man was under the influence of liquor.

Police Sergeant Frank T. Howard testified that Contino was brought to police headquarters about 11 o'clock and was intoxicated, staggering, using abusive language and holding onto the little shelf at the station.

Gus E. Kimball, now of 120 Riverview avenue, but formerly living near the scene of the accident, said he heard the crash and went out to see what the matter was. He saw the tree, with bark broken off where the auto had hit it, and the auto was some distance off from the tree. The people were out of the car and he noticed that the accused was under the influence of liquor. Two ambulances were there and Longo was 8 or 10 feet from the tree. Mr. Peckham and some other men were picking Longo up and carrying him to the curb.

Dr. Rose E. Black gave testimony that he was at the hospital when Longo was brought in and he described the injuries the man had received.

Dr. Emmanuel Henkel explained to the court and jury three X-ray pictures he had taken of the injuries to Longo.

Defense Testimony Begins

At this point the state rested and Attorney Clayton R. Smith opened the case for the defense by putting Mrs. Madelina Longo on the stand. She gave her testimony through Ralph Divito as interpreter.

Mrs. Longo said she is the widow of Tony Longo and had known Contino for three or four years. Five of her family and five others were in the truck at the time of the accident. She and her husband were in the front seat with Contino driving. She was in the middle. Contino and his family came to her house in the truck and they got in to go to the Contino house. Mrs. Longo said Contino had nothing to eat or drink at her house and he was not drunk, and while they were riding she didn't smell any liquor on him or see any with him.

Mrs. Longo said there were two autos coming at the time of the accident and another one with a strong light that made them blind. When the truck hit the tree she saw her husband wasn't there any more and she got out. He was on the ground. The truck went about 10 feet from her husband. Several of them got out of the machine and she and Contino went to her husband. They talked to her husband, who said he was going to die, but Contino told him to keep still and that he wasn't hurt much. She could not say whether she noticed any signs of liquor on Contino at this time. She went to the hospital in the ambulance with her husband and Contino.

In reply to Attorney Smith's question she said she could not say whether she had ever seen Contino under the influence of liquor in the five years she had known him.

State Attorney Hull asked Mrs. Longo only a few questions on cross examination.

Mrs. Rosa Longo, mother of the dead man testified that she was sitting in the rear of the truck when the accident happened. She got out and walked about 10 feet to where her son lay on the ground. Mrs. Longo said Contino had nothing to drink while he was at her house. After the accident the witness said she was looking after her son and she didn't pay much attention to Contino as to whether he showed signs of liquor or not.

On cross examination Mrs. Longo told State Attorney Hull that her son's body lay about three or four feet from the tree and the motor truck was about ten feet from the tree.

Judge Brown adjourned court about 3.30, standard time, until 9 a. m., standard time, this (Friday) morning, when the trial will be continued.

The jury in the case is the following:

Mrs. Contino was in court Thursday carrying her baby, the youngest of five children, in her arms. At the noon recess the accused took care of the baby while his wife went to dinner.

SON OF JOHN H. GALLEHER CAPTAIN OF BIG YACHT

Captain John King Galleher, son of the late John H. Galleher, formerly of Norwich and later of New London, has sent Norwich friends a copy of the Pacific Age, dated August 6, a daily English paper printed in Suva, Fiji Islands, on the extreme end of the route from San Francisco to Sydney, Australia.

When the world war broke out the young captain who was studying law in New York entered the naval service and studied navigation and ran out of New York on vessels. He liked the calling and perfected himself in it and is now in command of the big steam yacht Ohio owned by Edward R. Scripps, publisher of 25 big papers. With his family and friend the owner is making a long cruise and has been enroute for eleven months. There is a doctor and editor in the party.

The Ohio was built at Newport News and turned over to her owner, November 16th, 1922. Her length over all is 172 feet; she has Winton Diesel engines, 750 h. p., twin screw, and is capable of making 14 knots. Her cruising radius is 10,000 miles. She proved herself to be an excellent sea boat in the tail end of a typhoon, which the party had to strike when off Yokohama.

His father was the founder of the organization here known as St. Joseph's Sodality and Literary Association. For a long time the elder Galleher had charge of the C. V. R. R. pier in New York.

PERALDO TAKES APPEAL FROM LIQUOR CASE FINE

Peter Peraldo of 88 Dunham street, at whose house the local and state police found a still operating last Saturday night, was before the city court Thursday morning on the charge of violating the liquor law.

He entered a demurrer, which was overruled, and he was fined $200 and costs and given a sentence of 30 days in jail which was suspended. He took an appeal and furnished bonds. Besides the still, the police seized several barrels of liquor and a dozen cases of home-brew beer at Peraldo's house.

Thursday afternoon a two-tenement house belonging to Peraldo was totally destroyed by fire.

MISS LORETTA HIGGINS MAKES DEBUT IN PARIS

A New York parper stated Wednesday that Miss Lorretta Higgins, of Norwich, made a successful debut Tuesday night at the Opera Comique in Paris in the role of Iram in Carpentier's "Louise," having a soprano voice of excellent quality and strength and a good stage presence.

Miss Higgins was one of four named two years ago from Connecticut to the Fontainebleau School of Music, where received her diploma.

Easter Lilies in September.

Mrs. Charles Rogers of 211 West Town street reported to The Bulletin Thursday that she has three beautiful Easter lilies in full bloom in her flower garden that have caused considerable comment on the part of passersby who stop to admire them.

FAMILY MARKET

Potato markets are reported lower. Native potatoes are coming forward rather fast as present. Native peaches are still limited on the markets and therefore quotations will still hold firm on this product. Native apples are in very good demand; there is a large assortment on the markets. Tomatoes of the later varieties are now coming along on the markets in larger quantities.

Meats, including prime and medium dressed beef, are reported higher. Lard is reported higher, as well as the pork products. Lamb markets are lower, due to increased supplies.

NORWICH LIONS CONTRIBUTE JAPAN RELIEF MONEY

The regular meeting of the Lions' club was held at the Wauregan House Thursday noon at which time a sum of money was contributed for the victims of the earthquake in Japan. It was also voted to donate cigarettes for the local guardsmen who are to leave Saturday for Fort Eustis, Va., for a fifteen days training period.

The club also voted that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Arthur G. Jenkins, expressing the regret of the Lions on learning of the death of her husband, a highly valued citizen of Norwich.

Two new members were taken into the club, Senator Hermon J. Gibbs and Patrick F. Sweeney.

The meeting was in charge of organization President George Finn and in the absence of Tail-twister Frank Rinella, Lion-tamer Tyler Rogers appointed Lion Harlow Bogue song leader. Lion Max Hanover who was present for the first time made brief remarks and Secretary Edward Carpenter read a communication from national headquarters stating the qualifications of a Lion.

The club is making a steady growth and starting next week the meeting will be held at noon instead of at 1 o'clock, as the Thursday afternoon closing of the stores ends this week. With the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and salute to the flag, President Finn declared the meeting adjourned.

NORWICH SOLDIERS TO START FOR CAMP

Battery B and the Combat Train, together with the Danielson company are to leave Norwich Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Camp Eustis, Virginia for a fifteen days training course in the army camp. The Danielson soldiers will travel by auto truck from that borough and will join the local companies at the local armory where the truck will remain until their return.

Along the line of the trip which will take about 32 hours the boys will be joined by all troops of the 192nd regiment including troops from New London, Stamford and Danbury. The two Norwich companies will comprise 150 men and 6 officers and the train leaving Norwich will go through without change.

Battery B lacks five men to make up a full quota and the first five lucky men who apply to Captain Denison at the local armory will be given the opportunity to make the trip. Last year the temperature hung around 110 in the shade but this year cooler weather is anticipated and it is expected that camp life will be most enjoyable.

SUNNYSIDE DAHLIAS WIN IN SHARP COMPETITION

The Sunnyside Dahlia gardens just over Fox Hill on the new state road to Westerly, Mrs. R. W. Gallup, proprietress, won first premiums on best display in sharp competition at the county fair. There were two other very fine displays, W. F. Brown of Palmer street and Mrs. R. J. F. Brown of 95 Oneco street. Large baskets were filled and artistically arranged with some marvelously long stiff stems. The flowers were unusually beautiful and attracted much attention. Conspicuous among them were Mangnoss, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Judge Warren, Cigarette and Mrs. Carl Baldach and several of the very newest varieties grown in the east and on the Pacific coast.

Rev. Mr. Robinson has a church at Holyoke of 1,209 members. At every Communion since he has been pastor of the church, new members have been received. His church owns Pilgrim Field, one of the few church playgrounds in New England. It also owns a fine printing plant in constant operation. Lawn party at Stanton Brown's tonight. Everybody welcome.—adv.

An informal evening was spent by friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic H. Wyant in observance of their 17th wedding anniversary, which fell on Wednesday. Mr. Wyant presented his wife half a dozen silver pie forks. At the close of the evening cake, coffee and ice cream was served.

Thursday being the birthday of Mrs. Wyant's nephew, John C. Hinrichs, Jr., there were two birthday cakes on the table. Young Hinrichs was presented a golf outfit by members of his family.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginold Ward of Huntington avenue, a company of 22 little folks were entertained Saturday afternoon on the fourth birthday of their daughter, Blossom Ward. Music and games provided much amusement. The prize winners in the latter were, Ruth and Betty Browning, Mildred Carter, Dorothy Miller and Virginia Ward. Tables were set on the lawn and at six o'clock sandwiches, fancy wafers, cake, ice cream and orangeade were served by Mrs. Ward, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Albert Miner, Mrs. Richard Carter and Misses Gladys Jeffers and Virginia Mayse. A decorated birthday cake with four candles was the center of attraction. Little Miss Ward received a number of pretty gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Titus, from Washington, D. C., while touring New England in their car last week, stopped in Norwich, calling on their cousins, Mrs. E. M. Gardner and Mrs. F. W. Abell, at the Johnson home.

For All Complexion Ills

If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream, at bedtime.

DECISION BY AMBASSADORS OF GRECO-ITALIAN DISPUTE

Decision to be Kept Secret Pending the Dispatch of a Copy to the Greek Government—Text of the Note Will be Made Public at Noon Today—Council's Decision is Satisfactory to the Italian Ambassador.

Paris, Sept. 7.—(By The A. P.)—The council of ambassadors sent a note to the Greek government today embodying proposals for the settlement of the Greco-Italian controversy. The proposals somewhat modify the demands made upon Greece by Premier Mussolini. While they have not been officially disclosed it is understood they contain the following terms:

First—The Greek fleet to pay honors to the Italian naval squadron at Piraeus, which shall be accompanied by a British and a French warship; the Greek fleet saluting the inter-allied flags with 21 guns; the inter-allied ships to enter port without saluting.

Second—A memorial service to be held in the Catholic church, attended by all the members of the Greek government. During the service the ships in the harbor will fly their flags at half mast.

Third—Military honors to be paid when the bodies of the victims are placed on board ship.

Fourth—Greece to deposit the sum of 50,000,000 lire as a guarantee for the payment she may be called upon to make.

Fifth—An international commission presided over by a Japanese shall control the Greek investigation.

The text which was sent to the Greek government at Athens received the unanimous endorsement of the allied representatives but beyond saying "the council has reached an important, perhaps decisive, stage in the settlement of the conflict" no information with an official stamp was available.'

Baron Avezzanne, the Italian ambassador, informed the council at the beginning of the session, at three o'clock, that Italy was ready to accept the ruling of the ambassadors' council provided certain of the essential demands in the Italian ultimatum to Greece were maintained.

At the conclusion of the session the Italian ambassador told the newspaper correspondents that the council's decision was quite satisfactory and would probably be acceptable to the Italian government, should Greece meet the council's demands.

STATESMEN AT GENEVA MAKING PEACE PLANS

Geneva, Sept. 7.—(By The A. P.)—Like some world governments in a national crisis the great statesmen at Geneva seem determined in the interests of the League of Nations itself temporarily to divert attention from the league peril created by Italy's attitude of defection, for a world seat of conciliation and arbitration the opinion is growing that Geneva has in a few short days furnished too much of the dramatic; hence the desire that calm be restored in the succeeding days by directing the thoughts of all the delegates and world opinion in general toward such topics as the permanent court of international justice and Ireland's admission to the league.

The leaders hope to preserve the league by advancing slowly and prudently under the idea that haste would endanger it, and by having due regard for Italy's national susceptibilities. Sooner or later, however, the Italian problem must be handled, and the members of the council's conferred anxiously today discussing ways and means.

The possible resignation of Italy from the league is everywhere discussed as not unlikely. The problem of the council is to insure respect for the league without losing Italy.

Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, of Brazil, is expected to be elected to the permanent court of international justice at The Hague. He is the choice of the United States and was nominated by twenty-one other world states.

The Irish delegation at Geneva is now complete with the arrival of President Cosgrave; it is expected to take its place in the assembly after the election of the Irish Free State Monday, which is believed certain.

BRAZIL TO REMAIN IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Buenos Aires, Sept. 7.—The Rio Janeiro correspondent of La Nacion says the report that Brazil intends to withdraw from the League of Nations if Italy does so is unfounded. He gained the impression from the foreign office, however, that Brazil supports Italy's position at Geneva with regard to the proposed league intervention in the Italo-Greek dispute.

CONDITIONS AT CORFU RETURNING TO NORMAL

Rome, Sept. 7.—(By the A. P.)—The Governor of Corfu is proceeding with the pacification of the Island, says a semi-official statement today, and normal conditions are rapidly being established.

Of the 17,000 Asiatic refugees 4,000 will be transported to Athens by the American Red Cross and be distributed among the other Greek islands at the disposition of Premier Mussolini. The local police will be placed under the orders of the Italian soldiers tomorrow.

STEEL WORKERS TO GET AN INCREASE IN WAGES

New York, Sept. 7.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation announced today that men in the industry, mostly laborers, whose work day had been reduced from 12 hours to 10 would be paid at the rate of 11 hours wages according to the old schedule.

Decision to pay 11 hours wages for 10 hours work amounts to ten per cent. increase for those men employed as day or common laborers, it was announced. Recently the corporation agreed to pay men in the "continuous operations" departments, whose hours had been cut from 12 to 8 a day, at the rate of ten hours wages for the new eight-hour day.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation announced that the same wages would be paid those of its men who had been affected by the elimination of the 12-hour day, those working 8 hours to be paid for 11, and those working 10 hours to be paid for 11. Independent companies are understood to be ready to follow suit.

That men have in the past been employed on the basis of an 8-hour day will not share in the percentage increases granted workmen whose hours have been reduced was indicated in the following statement made by Mr. Gary:

"Existing conditions will not permit a general increase of wage rates. The adjustments which have been and are being made arise entirely from circumstances growing out of the total elimination of the 12-hour day."

SAVED WOMAN FROM BEING BURIED ALIVE

Montreal, Sept. 7.—A mourner at the funeral of Mme. Elisee LaFlamme of St. Jean Baptiste today probably saved the aged woman from burial alive by calling attention to the fact that rigor mortis(stiffening after death) had not set in. Doctors were hastily summoned, the funeral cancelled and the undertaker dismissed.

The doctors had Mme. La Flamme taken from her casket and put to bed for treatment as a suspected case of cataleptic lethargy which, they said might give her the appearance of death for several days.

The doctors decided the ceremonies should be halted immediately, particularly when told that Mme. La Flamme had been in the same condition for two days before she was supposed to have breathed her last.

MUTILATED BODIES OF COUPLE FOUND IN QUEBEC MOUNTAINS

Montreal, Sept. 7 — The mutilated bodies of an aged couple, believed to have been Mr. and Mrs. Parisseau who have been reported missing for some days, were found today at St. Adele, in the Laurentian Mountains of Quebec.

NO MODERATION OF MARTIAL LAW IN TULSA COUNTY

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 7 (By the A. P.)—No moderation of martial law in Tulsa county is contemplated. On the contrary, if any new order is issued in the situation it likely will be the promulgation of military rule throughout the state, Governor Walton declared here today in a statement to the press.

Charges that Governor Walton is not interested in the victims of masked violence, that his fight is directed only against the Ku Klux Klan, were made here today by N. W. Jewett of Oklahoma City, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma, who declared in a formal statement that the governor "and all his cohorts never would be able to break the power of the klan in Oklahoma."

The governor declared that the extent to which legal agencies of the state have been broken down is appalling and that the numerous acts of mob violence that have not been punished is "utterly amazing." He added that he is determined to restore the supremacy of the law in Oklahoma, "without which the state cannot maintain its place in the forefront of the American commonwealths."

"I realize that the conflict with the lawless element and lawless spirit of large groups of Oklahoma citizens is a desperate one; that my enemies will use every weapon at their command, including the press where they can command it, grand juries and other agencies, to defeat the purpose of this administration," the governor said. "However, my determination is unshaken to restore the supremacy of the law in this state."

Grand Dragon Jewett charged that the organization's rejection of Governor Walton as a member was the principal cause for his fight against the klan.

TAKES EXCEPTION TO MRS. ROGERS' STATEMENT

Hartford, Sept. 7.—Governor Templeton today took exception to a statement by Mrs. Helen W. Rogers of Hamden to the effect that he had unconditionally promised to inform her of the charges upon which Rev. Hastings Hornell Hart, of the Russell Sage foundation based his recommendation to the governor that she be removed as a director of the Connecticut state farm for women.

The statement of Mrs. Rogers with which the governor took issue was embodied in a letter sent by her to Robert W. De Forest, president of the Russell Sage foundation, requesting him to secure for her "a copy of the exact and detailed evidence which was in Mr. Hart's possession when he wrote the report by which the charges were supported." The letter said that "the governor has promised to secure for me this information, at the end of nearly two weeks it is still not forthcoming."

The governor said, after having been told of this statement in the letter, that the only promise he made to Mrs. Rogers in this respect was that, if he decided to remove her, he would furnish her with a statement of his reasons.

"Mrs. Rogers is not improving her position by the tactics she has been employing" the governor said. "I don't propose to be rushed into a decision on this matter. Moreover, the many people Mrs. Rogers has sent to me to intercede in her behalf have not influenced me. I am looking into the whole matter carefully and will exercise my own judgment based on the facts as I find them."

Marion, O., Sept. 7.—(By The A. P.)—Bequests totalling $226,000 in cash were made to relatives, life-long friends, churches and the Marion Park association by the late President Harding under the terms of his will filed for probate here today.

Harding, Jr., of Columbus, "share and share alike," and "in the event that my sisters or brother should not survive me, but should leave children, such children shall receive their parents' share."

With Mrs. Harding when the will was filed were Attorney General Dougherty, Hoke W. Donithen, an attorney and close friend of Mr. Harding, and C. W. Shaffner, former cashier of the Marion County bank, of which Mr. Harding was a director and who was nominated as executor in the will.

It is understood that Mrs. Harding expects to return to Washington within the next few days, and not return here until the will is admitted to probate and the appraisers make their report.

DIFFERENCES OF MINERS AND OPERATORS ADJUSTED

Agreement Was Reached Yesterday Upon the Basis of Governor Pinchot's Peace Proposals—Is Subject to Approval by a Convention of Union Delegates—President Lewis Gives Assurance That a Contract Will be Negotiated—Participants Believe the Mines Will be Reopened Within Ten Days.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—(By the A. P.)—Complete agreement upon the main points at issue between anthracite operators and miners upon the basis of Governor Pinchot's proposals was reached here today. Joint negotiations to make the agreement effective in a new wage contract and to clear up outstanding differences of lesser importance between the two sides were called for 7 o'clock tonight.

All participants in the negotiations believe that a settlement will be effective that the anthracite mines, now shut down by union orders, will be reopened within ten days. Governor Pinchot, discussing the still unsettled points, declared there is "no point of dispute remaining between the two sides which is in any way likely to justify a continuation of the strike."

Any final agreement, whether reached tonight or later, by the union representatives and the operators' policy committee will be subject to approval by a convention of union delegates from the three United Mine Workers' districts of the anthracite region. The assembling of such a convention would require at least a week, but John L. Lewis, president of the miners, and other miners' union officials were certain a contract would be negotiated and that their recommendations would be accepted by the tri-district convention.

Governor Pinchot's announcement that the miners' union representatives had agreed to take a 10 per cent. wage increase and abandon their demand for "check-off" collection of union dues came at the end of a brief session in which he met again members of the operators' policy committee and the union officials. The operators left the capitol without lasting the decision be known, but Mr. Lewis and the governor remained in the office together to tell what had taken place.

Announcement by Pinchot

"It is with the keenest satisfaction that I tell you I am authorized to announce that both miners and operators have now agreed upon the four points of the basis of settlement tendered them, as those points were interpreted in the supplementary statements issued yesterday," the governor told the assembled newspapermen. "Negotiations for drawing up a new wage contract are to proceed after 7 p. m. in my offices, between the miners' representatives and the operators' committee, and I confidently expect a prompt and complete agreement upon all details.

"In making this announcement, I desire to call particular attention to the spirit of fairness and forbearance on the part of both miners and operators with which my efforts to reach a settlement have been met."

Statement by Mr. Lewis

Mr. Lewis said:

"In acquiescing to the four basic points of Governor Pinchot's proposal, the representatives of the mine workers have been fully conscious of the public interest. The mine workers proposed to fight to the finish with the anthracite operators and had every reason to believe that the end of such a contest would have brought fulfillment of their major demands.

"We have, however, the natural desire that goes with good citizenship to obviate the public embarrassment and discomfort and the inevitable suffering that would accompany a conflict between forces of such magnitude.

"We do not feel the wage increase proposed is sufficient to compensate the mine workers for the particular service they render in producing anthracite under the adverse conditions they encounter. Neither do we believe a 10 per cent. increase is sufficient to enable them to meet their family needs and other requirements. We feel that our action in this instance in voluntary agreeing to the public spirited proposals of Governor Pinchot will meet the commendation of the American people and insure for the mine workers a greater degree of consideration for the ills from which they suffer."

Mr. Lewis added that the union order for the suspension of work still stood.

To call off the suspension he explained, there must be a satisfactory contract negotiated between the operators and the union's scale committee. A convention of miners' delegates must ratify this, and the decision must be conveyed to the local unions.

At the same time Mr. Lewis and all other union spokesmen were strong in the belief that the remaining differences between operators and the union were insufficient to prevent a final settlement. Operators were less sanguine and agreed to withhold public statement of their view until the end of the meeting which began later in the evening.

Issues still unsettled between the two groups cover the length of time for which the anticipated wage contract may run, operators being in favor of a single year; the demands of the union for weighing of coal instead of measuring it to determine earnings of contract miners, for revision of existing rate sheets and establishment of new ones to fix earnings of contract miners, and for an increase in the pay of miners laborers. The union had a further demand for a 20 cent per hour minimum for all mechanics employed in mine operations and for double time payment for overtime.

The governor's intervention in the anthracite situation, which was brought so nearly to success tonight, began immediately when the miners' union sent out from Atlantic City orders to its members to remain away from work September 1, after all attempts at negotiations had broken down. The governor made a proposal that both sides resume negotiations for a wage contract, on the basis of giving the men a ten per cent. flat increase, of establishing the eight-hour day in all branches of the industry, of union recognition and the acceptance of the principles of collective bargaining by both sides. The union was asked to abandon its demand for "check off" of union dues, which would require employers to hold out from payrolls the amount owed the union by each miners and turn it over to the union.

The miners' and operators' representatives adjourned at 11.04 tonight to meet against at 11 a. m., tomorrow without having come to any agreement. Governor Pinchot, in a statement, said excellent progress had been made and "both sides were showing a strong disposition to reach an agreement."

CONFESSES TO TRIP WITH MRS. McGOWAN

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 7.—The mysterious disappearance of Mrs. McGowan, aged 34, of Blackhall, who suddenly disappeared from the union station last Tuesday afternoon and her equally sudden reappearance last night at the home of Edward Morgan of Groton, was explained today when Chester Lewis Sawyer, an employe of the woman's husband, was arrested at the Hotel Winthrop in this city. Sawyer is being held a prisoner for the state police and will probably be tried for the Mann act.

Sawyer has confessed to going to Fall River, Mass., with Mrs. McGowan, the couple having remained at a hotel there as man and wife, registering as "Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson."

Sawyer declares that Mrs. McGowan does not care for her husband and that the woman has provided funds for Sawyer's support for a long time.

Mrs. McGowan came here last Tuesday accompanied by her son, a youth of about 14 years. During the afternoon the woman and boy went to the depot for the purpose of taking a train back home. The woman informed the boy that she was going to another part of the station for a few minutes and gave him some money and her purchases to keep for her. That was the last seen of her, for she did not return and is supposed to have joined Sawyer by appointment and boarded a train for Fall Rier. When his mother did not put in an appearance after two hours, the youth called his father on the telephone to inquire if his mother was home. McGowan then came to New London and took charge of the boy and requested the police to assist him in finding his wife.

Sawyer, in making an explanation of his intimacy with Mrs. McGowan declared that the woman was tired of her husband because of the many house duties imposed upon her by McGowan.

The only receipts which exceeded those from this source were the motor vehicle fees amounting to $4,126,396.22, the expenditure of which is restricted by law to highway work the net income corporation tax, which headed the list in 1921, stood eighth this year, yielding $868,495.05, which represented a drop of $1,070,899.60 from the receipts from this tax a year ago due largely to the fact that many corporations met reverses in the 1921 calendar year for which the tax was payable this year.

"We Want Drinking Water" is the cry set up by at least five different parties connected with the welfare of the new Windham Center Grammar School. Those most vitally interested are: the residents and taxpayers of Windham Center, the building committee, the contractors, the school committee and the selectmen. While the school is without drinking water the town is accumulating a good sized bill to secure water from the Spring Bottling Company in this city. During the last spring term a number of residents near the school allowed the use of their private wells but the ban has now been placed on this privilege, so that water must be purchased from this city.

Much of the controversy may be cleared up Wednesday evening September 19 when the school committee will meet jointly with the building committee.

The building committee has announced that it is considering furnishing water by means of an artesian well. There is enough water in the present well under the school for sanitary purposes, but not for drinking purposes.

An additional expense of between $1,000 and $2,000 will be necessary to equip the auditorium and grade the school grounds.

The building committee includes, George F. Taylor, chairman; George S. Wood, former Selectman George Cook, M. Eugene Lincoln and E. A. Case.

J. Telesphore Martineau, 75, died last Saturday night at his home in Quebec, Canada, after a brief illness. Mr. Martineau was born in St. Antoine, Canada and resided most of his life in Quebec where he conducted a plumbing business. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Louis Chollet of Quebec, five sons, Ludovic, Euclide, Colbert and Theodore all of Quebec and Aime J. Martineau of The Martineau-Bacon Company, Inc., of this city. He also leaves two sisters, a Mrs. H. Ritchie of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. H. Girard of Willimantic and a brother Theodore Martineau of Verchere, Canada.

John C. Irwin, 70, died from accidental poisoning at his home in Chaplin Thursday morning. Medical Examiner Dr. Louis I. Mason of this city, who was summoned, pronounced death caused by the accidental consumption of a potion of sodium fluoride. The body was taken in charge by a local undertaker.

Mr. Irwin rose about seven o'clock and had stated his intention of taking a solution of sodium phosphate. The sodium phosphate was in the pantry but Mr. Irwin believed it to be on the kitchen shelf and he consumed two teaspoonfuls of sodium fluoride, a deadly poison. He was rushed to this city where he was attended by Dr. S. J. Turcotte but shortly after the return trip to his home he expired.

He had never married; he leaves four nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, Mrs. Mary Cunningham, Mrs. Della Purdy and Mrs. Margaret Luts, all of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Irwin's home was formerly the O. A. Session's place.

Miss Grace Randall who has entertained a friend from New York for a few days has gone with her on an automobile trip.

All Star Cast in The Man Without a Country

An all-star cast will be seen in The American Legion's film classic, The Man Without a Country, when it opens Wednesday, Sept. 12 at the Breed theatre. The remarkable photoplay will be presented under the auspices of Robert O. Fletcher post of the American Legion for the benefit of sick, disabled and needy ex-service men, and for the promotion of Americanism.

The Man Without a Country, an eight-reel picture, combines with the immortal story of this name, the romantic points in the nation's history from post Revolutionary days to the beginning of the World war. It is not a war picture, rather a great love story of adventure and romance made piquant with dashes of mystery.

There is portrayed in the screen version, every character of love from the love of man for a maid to the passionate love of country, said by philosophers to be the greatest of all.

The picture is said to be too big, too great to attempt a complete description of it. Every dramatic critic who has seen the picture has been lavish in praising it. One of the New York reviewers said: "No word thus far spoken, no picture thus far shown, contains so much inspiration for Americans."

The picture is being exhibited throughout the country under sponsorship of the American Legion. Every American is called upon to see it.

SOUSA CONCERT TOUR WITH LARGEST BAND

The instrumentation of Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa's band for his thirty-first annual tour calls for eighty-eight men, exclusive of soloists. They will be heard in Norwich during October. This is the largest band which Sousa ever has taken on tour, and incidentally, the band's salary list is considerably larger than that of any other band of his career. Sousa's men receive salaries larger than those paid to any other group of instrumental musicians in America, and the result is that each band to a striking degree is made up of men who have been with him many years, thereby absorbing to the greatest degree the Sousa ideals of music. Here is the instrumentation of this season's band: Two piccolos, five flutes, two oboes, one English horn, fourteen solo clarinets, six second clarinets, six third clarinets, two bass clarinets, one alto clarinet, two bassoons, one contra-bassoon, two sarrusaphones, eight saxophones, six cornets, four trumpets, five French horns, five trombones, four baritones, six tubas, four drums, one harp and one xylophone.

This play that has attracted New York for nearly a year and which is to be presented by eight different companies this autumn and winter will be illustrated with a large number of beautiful slides. Two hundred ministers were the guests of Mr. Pollock at the Times Square theatre in New York last July, and the pastor of the Central Baptist church, and Rev. J. Harlow Graham of Trinity church were fortunate enough to be among this number.

Mr. Pollock told the story of the play to his guests and the struggle he had in getting it before the public and the part that the church played in making "The Fool" a success. All this will be touched upon at the service on Sunday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Breed Theatre

A colorful and highly picturesque original screen story has been told by Elinor Glyn, the famous English writer, in "Six Days," which will be the attraction at the Breed theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. "Six Days" was produced for Goldwyn Pictures Corporation by Charles Brabin, one of the most highly esteemed directors in the industry. In her new story the famous author of "Three Weeks" has developed a story that is rapid and absorbing in action, with characters that appeal to the sympathies and with thrills and romance that lend themselves to the picture form of presentation.

Guido Bergere made the adaptation and the photography was in the skillful hands of John Mescall. The settings were by Cedric Gibbons, the Goldwyn are director. The cast contains many well-known names. Corinne Griffith, a star in her own right, is featured and Laline Kingston, an Frank Mayor, who has been a star for a number of years, is co-featured as Dion Leslie. Others in the cast are Myrtle Stedman, Claude King, Maude George, Spottiswoode Aitken, Charles Clary, Evelyn Walsh Hall and others.

Laline Kingston is taken to Europe after financial failure and death by suicide of her father, by her mother. The latter plots to marry her daughter to the wealthy Englishman, Sir Charles Chetwyn, but after their engagement has been announced, Laline falls in love with Dion Leslie, who is in reality Sir Charles' son by a famous actress who had deserted him. In a sightseeing tour over one of France's battlefields, after visiting the grave of her brother, Laline is trapped in a German dugout together with Dion Leslie and the priest who acted as their guide. Facing certain death at the end of a few days, Laline and Dion are married by the priest. How they are rescued and Laline believing Dion dead, is married to Sir Charles and later claimed by the latter's son, forms a highly dramatic and absorbing climax in what is regarded as one of the year's biggest pictures.

Other pictures on the bill include Topics of the Day and an Educational comedy.

Today's bill consists of Charles Jones in Snowdrift, Ruth Roland in Haunted Valley, Charles Chaplin in Caught in a Cabaret, and the Pathe news. Continuous show today 1.30 to 10.15.

Strand Sunday Night

Over the cliff he goes! Down, down, down he plunges until his hurtling body is limp and still on the jagged, snow-covered rocks at the bottom of the abyss.

To be flung over a towering precipice when the sled in which he is supposed to be fleeing with the girl he has abducted, goes over the ledge, is an experience not relished by even the hardiest of motion picture players. It fell to the lot of Edward Hearn, however, while that rugged young player was appearing in scenes for Harry Carey's next F. B. O. vehicle, The Miracle Baby, based on Frank Pierce's American Magazine story of that name and adapted by Messrs. Bernstein and Jaccard.

Thrill follows thrill in stirring succession in The Miracle Baby. It is scheduled for exhibition at the Strand theatre on Sunday night with a cast, including Hedda Nova, Margaret Landis, Charles J. Ladgyne, Bert Sprotte, Alfred Allen and Edmund Cobb. Val Paul directed.

Short subjects include Roy Stewart in Better Than Gold and a new Mond Banks comedy, A Cold Reception.

Strand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

The Keith vaudeville at the Strand for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is as follows: Nathan Bros. in a comedy novelty; Marjorie McClintock and her harp; Flaherty and Stoning in Vaudeville Tid Bits and Bowles and Gilman, comedians.

The Hero offers the beautiful Barbara La Marr, the first part she has essayed which could not be definitely catalogued as a vamp role. In defiance of her usual roles demanding pretty clothes this one calls for plainer gowns such as those to be afforded by the wife of a working man. The Hero in its picture form was made under the direction of Gasnier and is the feature at the Strand theatre beginning Monday. Others in the cast are Gaston Glass, who played the Brasilian in "Rich Men's Wives", John Sainpolis—nate Snow in "Shadows" and Frankie Lee, the clever child actor whose first part was the tiny cripple in "The Miracle Man."

Kingston Fair Approaches.

How many days to Kingston Fair? There may be some people in the state of Rhode Island who do not know. And for their information it may be said that the fair opens on Sept. 11 with a greater showing of attractions than ever before and will close with the usual blaze of glory on Friday, September 14. But in the South County it would be hard to find a single household or a single person where the approach of Rhode Island state fair at Kingston has not been eagerly anticipated for weeks past. Preparedness is the thought of everyone. And everywhere there is a growing and fattening of live stock, a feverish hoeing and petting of prize vegetables and critical preparation in fine poultry.

Nor can it be said that this anticipation of the really unusual annual fair at Kingston is confined to the agricultural interests of the state. The auto show this year will be larger than ever, according to its announcement of Fred W. Smith, of Wyoming, who is in charge of this very important branch of the exhibition. Many of America's finest cars will be shown and especially latest models which have just been introduced and will be seen on the exhibition floor for the first time in Kingston. For this branch of the fair extensive alterations and repairs have been made in order to do full justice to every exhibitor. Trucks and tractors of nationally known makes will be there.

Featuring the live stock exhibit will be the valuable trophy, a large silver cup offered by the Ayreshire club for the largest exhibit and an additional trophy given by the president of the Ayrshire club for the best kept stall. Other trophies too numerous to mention will also be awarded.

Hazard hall has been renovated and thoroughly repainted to afford a fit setting for the combined exhibits of the Rhode Island State College. Another feature that the management of the fair are most fortunate in securing is a United States exhibit to be located in Exhibition hall which is one of only two in the entire country. This is an extensive exhibit of government activity in connection with roads, forestry and poultry. Those who are lovers of horse flesh will be entertained and thrilled as usual by horse races every day of the fair. And for the further entertainment of the crowds that are sure to throng to Kingston from all over New England an attractive programme of Keith vaudeville features has been arranged for daily presentation. The last day of the fair will as usual feature the firemen's muster. Many famous tubs have already been entered for this event which in past years has always resulted in keenest competition, sharp rivalry between the contesting crews and many unforeseen thrills.

MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR SPORT LOVERS OVER THE COMING WEEK END

Saturday and Sunday of this week will furnish plenty of action for sport lovers in Norwich especially for those followers of the national pastime. Offered to the local fans for Sunday will be the Norwich-Stafford Springs game at the Fairgrounds and the first game of the Taftville J. B. Martin series at Taftville. For today will be held the track and field meet at Taftville and the Sterling-Riverview game at the State Hospital. Even the most critical fan in Norwich should have no trouble in selecting something for his taste from this program.

The Norwich-Stafford Game

At the Fairgrounds baseball will be resumed Sunday after several weeks of inactivity and Manager Bill O'Leary will stack up his team against the fast Stafford Springs club. Stafford has a strong aggregation of ball players that has been playing good baseball during the summer. In the Stafford lineup is Cleary, who will be on the mound for Stafford and Maddison who will do the catching. These two constitute a battery that has made a good record around this section of the state during the present baseball season. Some other good players appear in the Stafford lineup.

The Norwich team will have Eddie Boyce on the mound and Florence on the receiving end. Boyce is a former Worcester Eastern league pitcher while Florence played last season with Georgetown University. This battery is one of the best that has been in Norwich during the season.

The Taftville-Martin Game

A battle for blood will take place at the J. B. Martin grounds on Sunday afternoon when the first game of the series for the baseball honors of Taftville will be staged between the Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin team. Both teams are groomed for a struggle to the death and this week has been passed in stiff practice for both the contending teams. The Velvetmen have imported a Hartford battery, Fisher and Welch, to do the battery work. This battery humbled the Riverview club two weeks ago and Riverview trimmed Taftville.

Taftville will depend on Morin or Davis to do the twirling with Joe Bear in back of the bat. Taftville's line up will be practically the same as has played during the past few weeks.

The Taftville Field Day

The Taftville Field Day association have announced that the judges of the events for the big field day this (Saturday) afternoon will be Joseph D. Aiken, A. E. Pingree, William Bailey and E. W. Yerrington, the starter will be John D. Sharpies, the timer, George H. Young, the field secretary, John Henry Mulcahy and the announcer, John B. Benoit. More interest is being shown in this field day and outing than was ever shown in any community affair, and hundreds of former Taftville people are expected to be in town that day to witness the big event. The entries are still coming in with every mail, and most of the events will be full. Some fine performances will be staged, as many of the contestants are well known amateur athletes in this section. The parade will have no small part in the festivities of the day, and the association has spared neither pains nor expense to make it well worth watching. There will be three bands and a drum corps and hundreds of members of the various village organizations in line. The prizes are well worth contesting for, and the local sports are on edge wondering who will be the winners of the various events.

Riverview-Sterling Game

At the State Hospital this afternoon the attraction will be the fast Sterling team which has McElroy, former College pitcher, on the mound. West will oppose the college man and Reddy will be on the receiving end.

EHMKE PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME AGAINST ATHLETICS

Philadelphia, Sept. 7—Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox pitched the second no-hit, no-run game pitched in this city during the week when he shut out the Athletics today 4 to 0. The game was similar to the performance of Sam Jones of the Yankees last Tuesday in that one man walked and one reached first on an error.

In the sixth inning Bryan Harris, who opposed Ehmke on the mound, had a chance to spoil his rival's record, but was out on a long drive for not touching first base. Then in the eighth when it seemed that Ehmke would surely reach his goal Welch hit a liner to left, Menosky reached the ball but fumbled it sufficiently for Welch to reach first.

At first it was recorded as a single but before the inning was concluded the official scorer ruled that Menosky had committed an error and Ehmke's record was safe.

Twenty eight men faced Ehmke, just one less than were against Jones last Tuesday. Hauser drew a pass and was forced at second by Miller. A double play erased Miller from the paths and Welch was the only Mackman left on the paths during the contest. Score:

PHILLIES TAKE EASY GAME FROM GIANTS

New York, Sept. 7—Philadelphia defeated the New York world's champions here today 10 to 6. It was Philadelphia's third victory from the Giants in twenty-one games. Ring pitched a fairly efficient game for the visitors and helped win his victory with a double and single. After Stengel's home run with Meusel on base tied the score in the sixth, the Phillies knocked Watson out in the seventh, scoring three runs on five hits. Williams hit his thirty-fourth home run of the season with Ring on base in the third inning, again putting him one ahead of Ruth. Score:

JUDGE HAGARTY RESERVES DECISION IN WILLS-DEMPSEY INJUNCTION CASE

New York, Sept. 7—Harry Wills, New Orleans negro contender for the heavyweight championship, today began a legal fight to block the title match between Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo at the Polo Grounds September 14. Contending that his alleged priority right to a match with Dempsey had been ignored, Wills sought to obtain a temporary injunction against the coming fight, but after hearing a lengthy argument, supreme court justice Hagarty reserved decision. He indicated, however, that he would hand down a speedy verdict, possibly tomorrow.

Wills, through his counsel, William Klein, charged the state athletic commission, the defendant, with injustice in dealing with the negro challenge. Klein brinded as "tyrannical" the attitude of the boxing solons and declared that Wills, despite the fact that he had filed a formal challenge and $2,500 forfeit more than a year ago, had been "passed up by Dempsey in favor of Firpo, a less dangerous antagonist."

George B. Brower, member of the athletic commission, and Robert P. Beyer, deputy state attorney general and counsel for the commission, in answering the charges, denied that Wills had been discriminated against. It was pointed out that after Wills filed his challenge, which was accepted by Dempsey, the negro and the champion entered into an agreement for a match at such time and place as could be arranged. The agreement, however, left either fighter free to engage in any other matches in the meantime and thus Dempsey, the commission emphasized, was only exercising this privilege, agreed to by Wills, in signing to meet Firpo.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the Firpo Dempsey fight, attended the hearing and while not directly a party to the legal action, submitted affidavits showing that he had already spent $20,000 on the coming match and would face a loss of $50,000 should it be called off now.

Jack Kearns, manager of the champion; Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, and boxing officials were among others interested in the proceedings which were attended by several hundred boxing fans.

BRAVES WIELD CLUBS WICKEDLY AGAINST BROOKLYN

Boston, Sept. 7—Boston batted Vance savagely today, defeating Brooklyn, 11 to 3. In the second inning R. Smith's single to center scored two runs, the second of which caused a protest by Brooklyn, the visitors claiming that Ford ran out of the line to escape catcher Tylor who had the ball. R. Smith went to second on the throw home and then stole third and home while the Brooklyn players argued with Umpire O'Day around the home plate. After that the game became a rout. The score:

CHICAGO ATTORNEY TO INVESTIGATE IN REDTOWN

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 7—Coincident with the filing of the suits of Sammy Bohne and Pat Duncan asking for $50,000 damages each from Collyer's Eye, in Chicago today, Barratt O'Hara, counsel for the Chicago Sports publication arrived in Cincinnati and conferred with a number of sporting men and baseball fans.

"I can not of course," said Mr. O'Hara, "give out details of my case in advance, except to say that Bert Collyer welcomes a full investigation of the whole affair. I will also say this: that there was enormous betting in Chicago on the now famous Red-Giant series and that a sudden flood of money was poured in, one day before the series opened, on the proposition that the Giants would take a majority of the games. Investigation has shown that plenty of money was wagered in New York and now I am trying to learn the exact state of affairs that prevailed among betting circles in Cincinnati.

"One thing I must, however, admit before the case begins: that our investigation of Sam Bohne and Pat Duncan has shown that they are fine young fellows, gentlemen in every sense of the word, and highly rated, both as ball players and honorable individuals.

AIDING THE MOTORISTS

With the large number of persons owning automobiles it is not surprising that each summer brings an increasing number of cars of other states into every city of the country. More traveling is being done and more are going by auto than ever before. Highways and streets are in constant use and it is not surprising that more attention is being given to the erection of signs that will guide the stranger in or going through a city not only as to the names of the streets but the streets to be taken to get to other communities.

There isn't a day that the traffic policemen are not asked for directions, but there happen to be points where assistants are not clear as to which direction to take to reach their destination at Shannon corner, at Franklin square, at Burnham square or at Thames square. The situation is the same in most cities. And the name in tree of smaller places. Instances are not frequent where a forks of the road is encountered. One way looks as attractive as the other and the general direction is much the same. At such points conspicuous signs posted or hung over the highway much the same as the trolley roads suspend their orders to the motormen are of immense help. It not only makes it unnecessary for someone to get out and inquire but it keeps traffic moving and relieves congestion.

In most towns and cities auto parties are these days informed when they cross the line and are warmly greeted. It would please many of them equally as much if their way through such places were clearly marked, especially when traffic requires some unexpected turns and particularly in the center of cities.

Conditions in the country are of course notorious. For the tourist this is less bothersome as they stick to the main highways, but let those who are more or less familiar with the particular section try to determine which of the many cross roads will get them to a desired point and it's like the game of pigs in the clover. With the various roads marked that exquisite pleasure of getting lost would be gone forever.

COUNTRY CEMETERIES

Is there anything that suffers more from neglect than the country cemetery? And particularly so if the cemetery has been set aside for and used by only a few families and those interested in it, even though distantly, are gone or are residing some distance away.

Here and there through the country are to be seen such family burying grounds. In some instances they are immaculately walled and finely kept showing that there are those who give consideration to their duty in this respect, or that provision has been made for this care by those who have departed. Too often, however, such is not the case. While the fields surrounding them may be freshly mown, or the crops appear in a healthy state these little cemeteries are no more than a mass of thick undergrowth with a gravestone distinguishable here and there through the tangled mass of bushes.

The family cemetery is not favored so much in these days as they were in earlier years. Through the establishment of larger cemeteries much of the neglect that is experienced in these lonesome, dreary, deserted spots is overcome, and as time wears on more and more thought is being given to that plan of perpetual care for burying grounds. It is by such a plan that the neglect, whether through thoughtlessness, lack of sufficient interest or the passing of those who would be interested, is overcome.

The idea is one that might well interest each and every town. Many are the cemeteries which need much attention though it might be impossible to call them neglected. Where such work is left to the many results are likely to be unsatisfactory. Where provision is made for care and responsibility fixed desired results can be obtained.

One service that towns might well ponder is to require the overcoming of the neglected condition of too many little cemeteries.

GERMAN TACTICS

If the story which comes from Germany is true to the effect that it realizes that it must abandon its resistance in the Ruhr because it is not able to maintain it financially, it is a fortunate thing for Germany and gratifying news to the rest of Europe.

It is unfortunate that Germany ever got the idea that it was able to finance passive resistance in the manner that it has. By the course which it followed it worked untold harm upon itself. That great industrial district upon which so much dependence was placed suffered and Germany itself experienced the shutting off of the income which it obtained therefrom. Some of them are certain to be more temporary.

Germany has been able to talk courtesy of the French, but apparently for that satisfaction has actually gained nothing from the French from getting all they set out after, there has been the sabotage, the loss of life and the plain fact that Germany must stand the expense as well as the reparations in the end. It was one of those short sighted policies which fail to get due consideration until they have been found to be bitter failures.

The fact that Germany is to change tactics is heartening, but it doesn't mean that it is convinced that it was wrong. It is to be noted that it is making a change because of the fact that it is not financially able to continue as it has been doing. It is forced therefore by circumstances to get into the better path. It does it reluctantly and creates the impression that being forced to change its mind against its will is of the same opinion still.

Possibly Germany will come to realize some day the lack of wisdom in trying to fool itself instead of facing the music and making the best of it. Immense wastage might just as well have been turned to the liquidation of its debts. It has insisted it couldn't pay but it has found it possible to keep throwing wealth away in one form or another.

HIT THE NAIL

There are those who are disposed to criticise the action of the commissioner general of immigration for the placing of such a fine as he has upon the steamship companies that brought to this country nearly two thousand immigrants in violation of the requirements of the law after particular attention had been directed to the provisions of the fact that enforcement could be expected.

The idea seems to prevail that inasmuch as the immigrants in question are to be admitted, because it was not their fault that the steamships disregarded the law, that the steamship companies are being too severely dealt with.

It is well known that much of the trouble with the immigrants can be attributed to the steamship companies whose eagerness to get their passage money removes thoughts of restraint and restrictions. Likewise it is well known what the immigration laws of this country are and those dealing with immigrants who must come under those laws should be mindful of the laws. Let the impression be gained that it is not necessary to obey the quota rules, the time for bringing in the number to be included in a certain month's quota and the whole structure will fall. Let the impression be gained that violation of the law means no more than a slap on the wrist and violations will not only continue but pile up in endless confusion.

The way to bring the steamship companies to show proper respect for the law has been recognized and adopted. It may be that the law is in need of a change, but that is a different matter. As long as it exists obedience is required if it is to amount to anything. The commissioner general has acted wisely.

JAPAN'S NEED

Some have been disposed to claim that Japan is resourceful and that it is able to meet all the requirements of the situation that has developed in that country as the result of the earthquake, that it has large supplies to draw from and that it does not need outside assistance in the way that it is planned to give it so much as it does to be relieved or a million or two of its people.

When word comes from Japan to the effect that cholera grips Yokohama because of foul food and muddy water being used it is only indicative of what can be expected. Where famine prevails pestilence can be expected to follow. Where devastation has been caused, with transportation and communication interrupted similar conditions are threatened. Japan's need is to meet present emergencies. There's no question but what it needs help. Its efforts must be directed in so many directions that whatever aid can be furnished from the outside in the way of food and other relief will permit the equally necessary work of cleaning up and overcoming as fast as possible those conditions that must encourage disease.

Those who are endeavoring to speak for Japan, when they say it doesn't need help, it is unnecessary to say, are not in Japan. They are judging the country by the past rather than by the conditions that actually prevail and while they have great confidence in the country they fail to realize that it is confronted with a condition that never existed before. Japan needs help, it needs it right in Japan, and as soon as it can get it regardless of its resourcefulness.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

As one yearns for the large physical horizons, something in him ought to clamor for the bigger mental outlook. We can stay in our own little shell so long as to think that it is the sum total of the universe. To read an inspiring book had the same effect on us as when we stood upon the mountain top and gazed on the enlarged horizon. Coming into contact with a brilliant mind makes us feel that we are closer to Monadnock, whether it is the one we expected to see or not. No matter what name he or she may have, his influence has lifted us out of the narrow valley of our limitations. Tourists are often surprised at the splendid bit of far horizon they get from a mere hillock. During the summer the writer met a dear old lady nearly ninety-two years old, and yet she was able to compose poetry that would put to shame the effusions of many a college graduate. Let us eagerly gaze at these horizons whenever they are presented.

When one reads that the anticipated deficit of $300,000, in the budget of federal expenses for the year of 1923 actually resulted in a surplus of $500,000,000—only a little difference of $266,800,000—one is justified in smiling at the value of prophecy. After all isn't the importance of prophecy greatly overated? From its very nature can it have any reliable foundation of fact? Deductions are simply drawn from certain trends of indications. A thousand things may arise to switch the prophecy into other channels. Because of this obvious fact, modern scholarship is not putting so much stress on the prophecies of the Bible as formerly. It is very doubtful if any of the predictions of the Old Testament—except those relating to the birth and life of Jesus—were intended to carry beyond the age in which they were uttered. It is like juggling with Scripture to say that Biblical names stand for modern persons and places. If the ancient prophets could have foreseen what was going to happen in the modern world, they would have been able to use modern names, such as America, Germany, France and others.

On Monday last, in all parts of the country, there was a general recognition that another Labor day had arrived. The usual way in which it is generally celebrated is by refraining from the ordinary toil. Sometimes it is quite difficult to see just what relation the observance of the day has to labor. Picnics, clambakes, excursions to the seashore or to inland lakes and ball games do not set before the public in clear and tangible form just what Labor day stands for. Has the setting apart of the first Monday in September a clearly-defined idea like that of Armistice day, Thanksgiving, Forefather's day, Christmas, Easter, Memorial day and the Fourth of July? Each of these days puts definite emphasis on some particular idea. Possibly Labor day does also, if so, what? Certainly no real purpose is brought out by the manner in which it is generally observed. If it is designed as a holiday in which the usual toil is suspended, well and good. One's circumstances and the nature of his work may make the usual vacation impossible, and such an outing as Labor day provides may be a godsend to many a family.

"Consistency, thou art a jewel" is exampled in political, as well as in individual, action. It is an historical fact that the Japanese were a very inclusive people until the western nations taught them its absurdity. It was their desire and policy to be let alone and work out their own destiny within intra-mural lines. This policy provoked the United States because it was unprogressive and heathenish, and undoubtedly the United States was right in taking that attitude. Hence Commodore Perry was sent to show this benighted nation that it was for its interest to get in touch with the great Occident for the purposes of commerce, education and the opportunity for Americans to reside in Japan to Christianize the nation. This was all very well and beyond all intelligent criticism. It is no more than the great western republic ought to have done. But more recently this benevolent policy has been reversed. We are no longer inviting them to study the splendid way in which we do things. We are now saying to them, "better stay at home and work out your political destiny in your own way; your coming will cripple our beautiful industrial order, but we continue to go to you to improve your manners, customs and morals."

In the meantime the Japanese, who are an acute and nimble-minded people, have become somewhat acquainted with English literature. They have learned what Shakespeare had to say about "consistency". They have also learned that it is not only a "rare jewel", but grows rarer as the leading nations advance in so-called civilization. This is not the only instance in which the United States has reversed its foreign policy. The time was when the white man went into the heart of the dark continent to prevail upon the black man to dwell in America, and the arguments he used were of such a nature that it was useless not to admit their logic. The advantages here were so superior to those which the black man enjoyed on the banks of the Congo that this high-handed justice was, of course, justified. Now we say to the black man/man "keep out!" Whether this reversal of policy is wise or not I am not here discussing. It is certainly right to the extent of keeping from our shores all undesirables. Still it creates the impression abroad that America as an asylum for all the downtrodden and distressed of other nations has been completely thrown into the discard.

There are times when all people long for quietude, but they don't want too much of it. Quietude resembles candy in that it is better nibbled than swallowed in big chunks. There is something in legitimate noise that acts as a nerve stimulant. I am careful to say "legitimate noise"; such as the rumble of trolley cars, motor trucks, the din of business activity and the voices of merry children. We are rarely disturbed by sound in which the musical tone predominates. What act like a file on our nerves and rasp us to the utmost points of endurance are squeaks, squawks, squeals and screams. These added to shouts, yells and groans could for the most part be cut out of human experience. When we have been filled to the outermost rim of this sort of bedlam, our jaded faculties yearn for a "lodge in some vast wilderness", but we don't want it too "vast". Roosters and cows keep the stillness from becoming painful. But the greatest help comes amazingly from Henry Ford for whatever wilderness we seek its vastness is broken up by his omnipresent flivver. This helps us to nibble away at quietude.

The writer of these paragraphs during his vacation wanderings fell into conversation with a man who completely paralyzed him with this sage remark: "We are living in very peculiar times". Is there a word in the English language that is more often and violently outraged than the innocent word "peculiar"? It ought to have a special body guard to save it from constant assault. "What a 'peculiar' summer we've been having", "Wasn't the sky very 'peculiar' last night?" "Didn't you notice what a 'peculiar' hat Mrs. Smith wore to church last Sunday?" "What a 'peculiar' twist Mrs. Van Alstyn-Brown has to her nose?", and thus on ad nauseum. As a matter of fact funny summers, skies, hats and noses have been duplicated again and again since the year 1 B. C. and will so continue up to the year 17,363 A. D. Isn't it true that men have been hating and killing one another since the golden days of Cain? The only peculiar thing about murder is we have become scientific experts at the business, and, from the present outlook, we'll be at the old job for the next million years.

WINTER RATIONS FOR ANIMALS AT YELLOWSTONE PARK.

An old buck antelope has been frequenting the hayfield down near the Gardiner Gateway arch of Yellowstone Park. In response to a tourist's inquiry as to the whereabouts of the remainder of the herd, one of the park old-timers insisted that this buck had been sent down from the high ranges as a scout to ascertain the prospects for free hay during the winter writes Harry W. Frantz of the national park service at Yellowstone park.

This report is not confirmed by rangers who insist that the antelope prefer sweet sage to hay any day, but at any rate calls attention to the fact that the hay-cutting last month assures a great reserve feed against any hardship that may befall Yellowstone's animals as a result of a hard winter. Hay for the game is either raised or cut wild at four separate areas within the park—on Slough creek, at the Buffalo ranch, at Yancey's place near Garnet peak and in the vicinity of Gardiner gateway. Approximately 1600 tons of rich timothy, clover and natural hay have been stacked this summer.

This haying operation is but one of many steps that are taken annually for the protection and preservation of the wild life of Yellowstone National park. This region is the greatest game preserve in the world, both in point of number and variety of animals. It is the home of the largest herd of elk, buffalo, antelope and mountain sheep within the United States. Several hundred moose range the park area. There are deer of white-tail and mule varieties, many beaver, fox, badgers, porcupine and lesser animals. Dozens of grizzlies and black bears which entertain the tourists during the summer sleep in Yellowstone's caves during the winter. The white gulls on Yellowstone lake leave in the fall for the Pacific coast or Great Salt Lake, but a great many geese and ducks and grouse winter in the park.

After the three-month tourist season, which ends on September 20, Yellowstone Park loses its summer aspect as a national playground and becomes essentially a great game preserve. The animals here are a great heritage to the nation, reminding of old days now vanishing forever. There was a time when, in the picturesque language of the Indians, the Western plains were "one great buffalo robe." Antelope and elk and mountain sheep were numerous beyond estimate. But now the lingering herds of these animals make their last stand in Yellowstone, aided by good-willed men who have their interests at heart. The park personnel appreciates this great responsibility and looks to the welfare of the animals with unlimited earnestness and devotion.

There are many great problems in the care of wild life in the Yellowstone. An important one of these is the provision of a reserve of feed which will be immediately available against any extraordinary conditions that may arise as a result of weather conditions. In 1918-19 there was a devastating storm in the early winter. This sent many animals, and particularly the elk, hurrying to lower areas outside the park in search of feeding grounds. Thousands were slaughtered by unscrupulous hunters. Other thousands were saved by emergency arrangements for feeding which prevented all the animals from leaving the park bounds. To prevent the recurrence of any such disaster hay now is grown regularly within the park.

Under even normal conditions approximately 1600 elk will in the late winter seek a government hay ration at Slough creek, while from 500 to 1000 are likely to appear in the Gardiner canyon. Deer also seek the friendly aid of man in subsisting through the winter. Besides the hay-eaters there are about twenty "beggar" bear which maintain themselves in part by backdoor handouts from residents at Mammoth hot springs.

The herd of "tame" buffalo, numbering nearly 700, grazes the Lamar valley until the natural feed is gone, and then goes to the Buffalo ranch for hay-feeding. In this spring these animals go between Slough and Hellroaring creeks for calving. Last year 115 calves were born. The wild herd of buffalo, numbering eighty head, maintains its existence without being fed.

The mountain sheep look entirely to their own welfare through the winter. The biggest herd assembles on Junction Butte, across the Yellowstone River, a few miles from Tower falls. The moose, scattered throughout the park, also are entirely independent. The bears of course, hibernate throughout the winter.

The antelope, whose preservation has been the chief game problem of the country during the last few years, require special care during the winter. The herd, numbering around 256, leaves the park area where feeding conditions are not favorable and grazes on the sweet sage in ranches to the north. Throughout the winter the herd is guarded constantly by two rangers, who protect against coyotes and wolves and other misfortunes. As a result of this careful nursing, last winter only five antelope were lost from age and all causes, and there was a natural increase of over fifty head.

Besides the emergency feeding, there are other problems in the care of the Yellowstone animals One of these is the elimination of predatory animals, which feed on the young of the elk, deer and antelope. Last winter 207 coyotes and twenty-one wolves were shot or trapped by rangers. The offensive will continue this winter. The mountain lions in the park have been virtually eliminated, reports last winter indicating the presence in the park of not more than four of these game-destroyers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Protecting the Children.

Mr. Editor: When a circus comes to town, we consider it prudent to accompany our children and select the side shows suitable for them because of the well known fact that some are questionable.

But, when we attend the New London County Fair we like to feel that all its exhibitions are clean and morally safe for all members of the family, especially the children.

It is, therefore, with regret that we note and criticize the whaling exhibition of the Mbboom Club, No. 1, of New London is having, not only an indecent side show marked "for men only," but that that show was open to children of tender years at half price!

Fancy the shock to young, unsophisticated boys who, interested in fishing, entered the whaling tent, and innocently took in the side show, being coarsely informed as to the display.

The New London County Fair has been clean in the past and the public has felt safe in letting the children run about unescorted to enjoy the midway until this year. We trust this will suffice to put the society on its guard and cause it to have some committee appointed to prevent a recurrence of the above.

A WITNESS.

Norwich, Sept. 7, 1923.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Zaghlul Pasha's return to Egypt next week, after a long enforced exile on account of his political activities, is likely to throw the Egyptian political world into a ferment, since his arrival will coincide with the begin-Egyptian Parliament. Zaghlul is the recognized leader of the Egyptian Nationalists. He is acknowledged to be the man who succeeded in getting the masses to stand together to make demands on the British Government. His objection to the reservation in the treaty granting Egypt its independence made him the center of a violent anti-British agitation, which resulted in disorders and bloodshed. In consequence he was deported to Malta, but was allowed to return to Egypt in April, 1921. The concession to popular feeling was followed by a series of outrages and toward the end of 1921 Zaghlul was again sent into exile, from which he is now returning.

Sophy.

Martha had been spending the day with her grandmother. She had played so hard that she was tired and out of breath. Grandmother suggested that Martha go and lie down on the couch. She noticed that Martha looked puzzled at the word "couch" and realized that it was an unfamiliar word. So she said, "Go and lie down on grandma's sofa."

A smile flashed across the child's face and she said: "Grandma, is your couch's name Sophy?"

Safety Last.

Armed with a short pole, string that had once served its purpose in the general store and a "bent pin" hook, no happier child could have be found. But his troubles soon began. He could not coax that wiggling worm to stay on the hook. There was no use in telling the other fishermen about it for all they did was give advice. Finally, having noticed that he was rather quiet, his busy father took time to see what he was doing. Imagine his surprise when he saw the wiggling fishing worm securely fastened to the line by a small safety pin.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

God's Love, God's Power.

God's people cannot always understand His dealings with them, but this we know, that they are all love-prompted and love-wrought; for "God is love." His love is strong like a father's. "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." His love is very tender, like a mother's. As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort thee." God's love goes out toward us continually; but as a father or mother shows special tenderness and heed to a sick or suffering child, so does God deal with us when we are in trouble. What blessed results would come if everywhere, the world over, we could get people to realize this one supreme, glad fact that God is love! How it would soften the hearts of all the sinning, cause all to yield who are resisting, and how it would bring cheer to the lonely, comfort to the sorrowing, strength to the weak, and fill us with joy and peace in believing! Besides this love of God is absolutely unvarying, so that we can rely upon it under all possible circumstances. It is related that a certain man placed on one of his buildings a weather vane, upon which were inscribed the words, "God is love." Some one criticized him, saying, "You have placed an immutable truth on a very changeful thing." "No; it is all right," he replied, "it means that God is love, whichever way the wind blows." Yes, it is a glad fact that His is a love that can be depended upon, and meets us in every condition and circumstance of life.

We are often like little children in our ignorance, crying for what would harm us. God is like an all-loving and wise parent who withholds the thing that would destroy. A sea captain allayed the fears of his ten-year-old daughter, on her first voyage with him by assuring her that he would be at the helm all night long. So Christ is our all-skilled pilot, and will wisely guide. It is not for us who are passengers to meddle with helm or chart or compass, we should let our all-wise Pilot alone with His work and trust. One so loving, so thoughtful of us, so wise, how well we can afford to trust Him!

A friend might be loving, sympathetic, willing to help us, wise enough to know just what ought to be done, and yet be absolutely unable, lacking in the power to help us. Not so with God. Nothing is too hard for Him. He is infinitely strong. He can put underneath us His everlasting arms and bear us up. He is able to make all grace abound toward us. He is able to fulfill His promise to make all things work together for our good.

How wonderfully, too, God does uphold His people in time of trouble. Multitudes of Christians, looking ahead, have seen troubles approaching that they have felt that they never would be able to pass through, but when the time came sustaining grace was given. They were privileged both to rest their hands on God's great, beating heart of love, and to feel that underneath were the everlasting arms.

A minister on his death bed was being tended by his daughter. She was very solicitous for his comfort, and spoke of placing additional pillows under his head. He said, "No, I have three pillows under me now. One is God's love, another is God's power." These are the pillows on which every weary, troubled or patiented Christian may rest and find truest comfort and sweetest consolation.
